NHS CLASS OF 1954 NOTES 50 YEARS – The Northern High School class of 1954 marked its 50th anniversary recently with a dinner gathering at Will 'O the Wisp. The event opened as classmates and guests were greeted by class president Allen Georg, then J.D. Williams led the group in prayer. A memorial service for deceased classmates featured the reading of their names by Arzona Keefer, while Edna Filsinger lit candles and a moment of silent prayer was held by the class. Class secretary Dorothy Spear conducted a business meeting, during which the classmates voted to have their next reunion in 2009. Pictured above are, from the left in Row 1, teacher Charles Strauss, Eileen (Frazee) Capel, Loretta (Butler) Miller, Arzona (Garlitz) Keefer; teachers Chauncey Friend, Vernon Robeson, and Anita (Tiano) Resetar; Iva Jane (Alexander) Sisler, Sara (Stanton) Jarrett, Mildred (Harman) Krommes, Norma (O'Brien) Green, Betty (Wilburn) Bowser, Alice (Friend) Spear, and Virginia (Minick) Hostetler. Row 2: William Capel, Douglas Schroyer, Allen Fratz, Donald Ringer, Allen Georg, Donald Glover, Donald Glass, Jack Warnick, Wilmer Miller, Wayne Glofelty, Donald Smith, Dale Friend, James Meese, Dale Frazee, Lambert Wright, Richard Teets, Dorothy (Shoemaker) Spear, Norma Jean (Taylor) Harsh, Doris (Duckworth) Schwinabart, Edna (Beal) Filsinger, and Lavona (Humberson) Shaheen. Row 3: Donald Bowman, William Emory, Dale Paugh, William Bowman, Paul McKenzie, Anthony Layman, and J.D. Williams.

Ask The Everyday Scientist

by Dr. Thomas P. Sheahen

MARGIN OF ERROR

Q. My grandmother has a "magnifying glass" that's about the size of a credit card, real thin, and not even made of glass. But it does magnify writing. What kind of scientific gizmo is that?

A. The thin plastic lens you're talking about is called a Fresnel Zone Plate (pronounced "frennel," ignore the s) or just Fresnel lens. They're really handy to carry around in a purse or wallet in case some small print comes along.

There are a lot of tricks that can be done with light rays, and one of them is magnification. A long time ago, the only way to do that was to have a curved piece of glass, called a lens, that bent light rays and focused them at one point to make an image of whatever was the source of the light. The process of bending light rays is called refraction. People have used magnifying glasses to focus the light rays from the sun onto one spot and thereby start a fire; but the most common use of such a lens is to make print appear bigger and therefore easier to read.

However, the key feature is not the fact that it's glass, but the fact that it bends the light rays and creates an image of the source. That can be done in other ways, too. One of these ways is by using the principles of interference and diffraction to make an image.

If you look carefully at the credit-card magnifier, you'll see that it has a zillion circular lines on it – lines even closer together than in your fingerprints. Each one of those lines is actually a groove cut into the plastic. Those grooves are the reason it works.

When light travels through air, it goes at "the speed of light." But when it goes into glass, plastic, water, etc., it slows down while inside, and speeds back up again upon emerging. If the glass is thicker in one place than in another, the rays emerging from the thin part have gotten a little ahead of the rays that went through the fat part, and that is called a change of phase. Simplifying a little, we can say that this change makes the light rays bend a little as they travel forward. This is where the interference comes in. All those bent light rays will constructively interfere at one position, and that is called the focal point.

For the plastic sheet with all the circular grooves cut into it, the light rays that pass through the full thickness of the plastic emerge a tiny bit later than the rays that passed through where one of the grooves was cut. Again, a change of phase occurs. Some rays will bend slightly, the same as from a glass lens. All the light rays that emerge from the surface go in a generally forward direction, but not in an organized way; most interference is destructive and nothing can be seen. However, at one particular focal point downstream, right along the axis of the center of the circle of grooves, a lot of the bent rays will come together (constructively interfere) and form an image of the source. The sum total of all the light rays going through all the pathways is called diffraction.

The idea is to put your eye exactly where that image forms. To see the image clearly, all you have to do is move the plastic lens up and down until it comes into focus, just as you would with a magnifying glass. If lettering appears about three times the actual size of the print, we say that the magnification is a factor of 3. That's good enough as an aid to reading.

The mathematics associated with Fresnel lenses was first worked out nearly 300 years ago. For over a century, very large Fresnel lenses made of glass have been used in lighthouses to keep the light beam focused and straight as it goes far out to sea; some are still in use today. But only very recently has it become possible to manufacture such things out of plastic cheaply enough to be credit-card-size.

Miller Hired As Assistant Admin. At Cuppett Weeks

Cuppett & Weeks Nursing and Rehabilitation Center (CWNH) in Oakland recently hired Kristine Miller as assistant administrator. She recently received licensure as a nursing home administrator from the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH) Board of Examiners of Nursing Home Administrator.

For the past year, Miller has been employed by CWNH as an administrator in training. To become eligible for licensure, applicants must have successfully completed a baccalaureate degree, completed a minimum of 100 hours in a course of study in health care administration approved by the board, completed the yearlong Administrator in Training program through DHMH, pass federal and state examinations, and be of good moral character.

Originally from Germantown, Miller currently lives in Grantsville with her husband Kevin and daughter Ashley. She received a master's in business administration from Frostburg State University in 2002 and a bachelor of arts in mathematics and political science from the University of North Carolina in Greensboro in 1992.

Miller is a member of the Cherry Glade Mennonite Church in Accident.

Seventh Annual Car Show Slated At Broadford Park

The Mountaintop Cruisers Car Club will sponsor its seventh annual Autumn Glory Antique and Classic Car Show at Broadford Lake Park on Sunday, Oct. 17, from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m., rain or shine. Admission is free for spectators.

The event will be a judged show with 12 classes. Dash plaques will be awarded to the first 100 cars. Registration will be held from 9 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. The cost is $10.

This popular event will also include a 50/50 raffle, Chinese auction, and door prizes. Food will be available as well.

The Mt. Top Cruisers Car Club selects several local organizations each year to receive donations from money earned at club events. The majority of the funds are raised at the annual show during the Autumn Glory Festival. Nearly 100 vehicles were on display at last year's event, according to a club spokesperson.

Vendor space is still available for those who sell car-related items. For more information, persons may call 301-334-2838 or 304-735-5226, or e-mail mttopcruisers@yahoo.com.

Swanton Resident Earns Prestigious Scholarship Award

Swanton resident and Allegany College of Maryland student Windi Tichnell is one of just 50 recipients nationwide who have been awarded scholarships targeting students pursuing associate degrees in medical lab science. The scholarship program was established recently by Dade Behring, a leading international manufacturer of products and systems for use in clinical diagnostic science, to help address a labor crisis in the field.

Tichnell, a Barton native and 1994 Westmar High School graduate, is a dean's list student in ACM's medical laboratory technology program, which prepares graduates for a wide range of careers including health care, research and applied science.

She was drawn into the clinical diagnostic field as a result of her own health care challenges. An extended illness ultimately diagnosed as Hodgkin's lymphoma put her in close contact with clinical diagnostic medicine and medical laboratory technology. When her illness went into remission, Tichnell saw her opportunity to return to college to earn an associate degree in med lab tech.

"The types of things that I've learned have been tremendous," Tichnell said. "This is such a fascinating field. It's incredibly challenging. There is a lot to learn. If I can be part of the diagnostic process, it'll be worth it."

Tichnell, the daughter of Sharon Reese of Barton and the late Thomas Reese, is the mother of a 9-year-old son, Brandon.

MBNA AMERICA 400 REVIEW

Ryan Newman celebrates in Victory Lane after his No. 12 Dodge led 325 of 400 laps to win the MBNA America 400 at Dover International Speedway.

NASCAR

NEWMAN dominates at Dover

Jeff Gordon takes the lead in the Chase with eight races to go

By AL LEVINE
Cox News Service

Dover, Del.

In NASCAR's version of "Survivor," here's the latest fallout from the pothole-laden Nextel Cup obstacle course that leads to the championship:

• Jeff Gordon is the new leader with eight races remaining, mainly because he stayed out of trouble for the second consecutive race.

• Six of the 10 contenders have now encountered problems ranging from wrecks, a blown engine, speeding on pit road, and Matt Kenseth's costly crash Sunday into a tire barrier designed to protect the entrance to pit road.

• And, once again, Robby Gordon was voted off the island. This time, Tony Stewart visited the NASCAR trailer after Sunday's MBNA America 400 to protest Gordon clipping the right front corner of the No. 20 Chevrolet just 22 laps into the race.

Ryan Newman was an important footnote to all of this, winning Sunday's race in snooze-inducing fashion. He led 325 of 400 laps in the No. 12 Dodge and began his climb back into contention for the season championship.

Newman moved from ninth to eighth and gained 29 points back that he lost when his engine died late in the race at New Hampshire. In two weeks he's gone from 45 points out of first, following the resetting among the leaders, to 136 down to now 107 behind.

It was a huge turnaround from Newman's 33rd-place finish at New Hampshire. He said consistency is what his team is after, mainly top-five finishes, which he claims will result in a championship. He guaranteed it.

"We've got to keep the top fives going," Newman said. "If we can finish in the top five in these last [eight] races, then I can pretty much guarantee us a championship."

That seems to be the winning formula each of the contenders is seeking.

Jeff Gordon agrees with those numbers.

"What more can you ask for than top fives every weekend?" Gordon said.

"That would do it. We talked about if you have one bad race, you're out of it," Gordon said. "But if Ryan Newman does what he did today anymore then he'll be right back in the thick of things. You can afford to have a bad weekend if you can come back and dominate like that.

"Other than that, I think it's absolutely about consistency. Ten races are a lot of races, believe it or not. We finished seventh last week, third this week and we're leading the points right now. That pretty much says it right there."

Lurking ahead are the challenges and hazards at Talladega on Sunday, the tight quarters of Martinsville three weeks later, and the scary speed at Atlanta on Halloween weekend.

DOVER NOTEBOOK

Stopwatch gets best of Johnson

By AL LEVINE
Cox News Service

Dover, Del.

Twenty-eight races into the Nextel Cup season and the fates of some in the billion-dollar stock car racing industry might come down to 1960s technology.

Jimmie Johnson's No. 48 Chevrolet was taken out of contention not quite halfway into the MBNA America 400 when NASCAR officials claimed he was speeding on pit road. It said so right on their stopwatches.

JOHNSON

The penalty dropped him from fourth to 19th. He worked his way to a 10th-place finish, moved from fifth to fourth in the championship standings but slipped from 30 points out of the lead to 57.

He visited the NASCAR trailer after the race with team owner Rick Hendrick for an explanation. Johnson said it was his first such violation in six years.

"I don't think we were speeding and I don't think it was right," Johnson said. "They don't have any computer system in place to back it up. It's just a stopwatch."

Johnson said he is surprised NASCAR still uses such an antiquated system.

"I'm just dumbfounded," he said.

Kenseth's wild ride

Matt Kenseth slid from fourth to seventh in the standings when he lost control of his No. 17 Ford early in the race. He went sliding into a barrier protecting the entrance to pit road.

Kenseth was attempting to make a green-flag pit stop on Lap 120 when he lost control, began spinning and smacked into the protective tire barrier filled with sand. Kenseth returned 52 laps down, managed to complete 319 laps and finish 32nd.

"I was on the brakes plenty early and when I got on the apron it was real sandy.

"It was the dumbest thing I've ever done in a race car," he said.

Evernham denounces 'payback'

By AL LEVINE
Cox News Service

Dover, Del.

Ray Evernham, whose No. 19 Dodge was dealt a serious blow in the Nextel Cup championship playoff at New Hampshire when it was victimized by Robby Gordon's retaliatory wreck of Greg Biffle, believes there's no place in racing for paybacks.

"That's the old school in me. That's something the drivers need to settle," Evernham said. "I know people don't like it when I talk like that, but when it happens on the race track, it doesn't affect drivers as much as people who own the cars and people who work on them.

"When one driver takes out another driver, neither one of them have to worry about the car. All these guys who are already working 12, 16 hours a day have to work on it. The sponsors pay for it. If the drivers have a problem with each other, they need to settle it off the racetrack just like Jeremy [Mayfield] said," he added.

He said he hopes NASCAR gives the drivers a little talk about conduct.

Evernham also said Gordon's team owner, Richard Childress, sent a clear message that rough driving won't be tolerated.

"I think Richard Childress set a good example by putting Robby on probation," Evernham said. "I think the sponsors and owners are going to take care of that themselves. My guys both know that I won't tolerate anything like that. I think if the other owners and sponsors take a stand, I think it'll take care of itself. Guys like that will work their way out of the sport. If you're going to do things like that, you won't be at this level."

Gordon made another round of apologies over the weekend at Dover. He again said he is sorry for causing the damage to championship contenders Tony Stewart and Mayfield at New Hampshire.

He also apologized to reporters who saw him make an obscene gesture in their direction as he left the track. He also agreed to a radio interviewer's suggestion to treat the media to dinner.

Special guest: Deidre Downs, Miss America 2005, prepares to sing the national anthem during pre-race activities before Sunday's MBNA America 400.

Truex Jr. wins another Busch race at Dover

Cox News Service

TRUEX JR.

Martin Truex Jr. took the lead with 12 laps to go and went on to an easy victory Saturday in the Stacker 2 Hundred Busch race at Dover International Speedway.

The win was the fifth of the season for Truex, who holds the top spot in the Busch Series standings. His victory tied him with rookie Kyle Busch and Greg Biffle for the most wins on the circuit.

"Winning at Dover means everything to me," said Truex, a native of Mayetta, N.J. "I've got a lot of fans in the stands."

Truex led three times for 47 laps and averaged 122.013 mph. There were five caution periods covering 18 laps. There were seven lead changes among four drivers in a race that finished under caution.

Mike McLaughlin finished second in a Ford in his fourth start since replacing Bobby Hamilton Jr., who moved up to the Nextel Cup series.

Kasey Kahne placed third in a Dodge, followed by Jason Leffler and Johnny Sauter, both driving Chevrolets.

Local Youth To Be Honored During Autumn Glory Festival

by Jo Donaldson
Garrett County
Chamber of Commerce

Members of the Southern Rams girls' basketball team are among the young people being honored during Autumn Glory with a new "Garrett County Salute to Youth." Also being recognized are state champion wrestler Scott Wildesen of Southern High School and state champion wrestler, Casey Kamp of Northern High School, who led the way not only in his division but all state divisions in his weight class.

The Southern Rams were state class 1A champs. They were led by Robbin Gregg, Justine Pagenhardt, and Becca Flanagan. Gregg was Cumberland Times-News Area High School Girls Basketball Player of the Year. Other team members were Sabrina and Jasmine Scheffel, Roxanne Hoalcraft, Julia Bosley, Kayla Nazelrod, Ashley Stuck, Kendra McLaughlin, and Caitlyn Brown

Garrett County Salute to Youth is a new recognition for outstanding youth in a variety of fields, said Mayor Asa McCain. "This year we are recognizing these youth. In future years we will take people's recommendations and open the recognition to students in all areas."

Decisions will be made by an Autumn Glory panel, established to choose youth to be honored. Formal procedures are still being established.

"People say the youth of today don't accomplish things like they did in the past. That definitely is not true," he said. "These young people being recognized are proof that is not true."

The students performed well academically as well as athletically. "That's what made them such a successful team," said coach Don Stemple. "They picked things up quickly, cared about one another, worked together and taught each other."

When one person found something that worked, they would pass it on to their teammates. They realized that if they all were good, the whole team would be better, he said.

Their dedication started long before they found success this year. For many it began in sixth grade. Each year they learned a little bit more until they took the state championship.

"They were dedicated year round," said the coach. "They attacked their academics the same way they attacked basketball. I will be proud to see them go through the parade."

"Garrett County's future is its youth, but the achievements of youth also exist today and that is what we want to recognize," said Charlie Ross, president of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce. "These young people will lead well tomorrow and that is why we honor them today."

Young people have been involved in Autumn Glory activities from the beginning. Besides the Autumn Glory royalty, youngsters were serving turkey dinners for their local church or helping with the Turkey Growers dinners and bag lunches.

"Quite a few students are involved with Autumn Glory," said Karen Ray, coordinator for Student Service Learning with the board of education. They help set up chairs along the parade route, assist the fire department with Oktoberfest and work at local booths and special events such as the Tournament of Bands.

There are a wide variety of activities in which young people are involved. Students involved in Lifeskills help decorate floats. Scouts help with parking and other activities.

It is important that students learn how much of what happens depends on volunteers, said Ray, who tells students "You live in an area where giving is a part of life."

They are proud when they realize they earned money that will go to help others. Many do several hundred hours, far more than required, said Ray. "They are learning what it means to go the extra mile."

"Young people have played a big part in the Autumn Glory celebrations since the early days," said McCain.

Northern and Southern High School bands marched in most Autumn Glory parades. Outstanding high school bands from around the region compete in the Western Maryland Tournament of Bands held Saturday at 6 p.m. at Southern High School football field. Field show competition is sponsored by Southern Garrett Band and Band Boosters.

The "Autumn Declares God's Glory" musical presentation is the work primarily of young people from Pleasant View Baptist Church. The music and puppet show at 11:30 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 16, has entertained festival-goers for years.

For more information about Autumn Glory, persons may contact the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce at 301-387-4386 or visit www.garrettchamber.com.

Yard, Craft Sale Scheduled By Beacon Outreach

A fundraiser yard and crafts sale has been slated for 9 a.m. Friday, Oct. 8, at the Garrett County Lighthouse, located just west of downtown Oakland along Route 39. Sale items include wood and craft projects made by mental health consumers.

Proceeds from the sale will benefit the Beacon Outreach, a consumer-run walk-in mental health center and support group.

For information, persons may call 301-533-0998 or 301-334-8685.

Glendale Church Sets Revival Svcs.

The Glendale Assembly of God Church has slated revival services for Wednesday through Sunday, Oct. 6-10, with weeknight services beginning at 7 p.m. and Sunday's services set for 10 a.m. and 6 p.m.

The revival will be led by Rev. Robert Fletcher, former pastor of the Loch Lynn Church of God, and will feature special singing at each service.

The Glendale Assembly of God Church is located along Glendale Road between the Glendale Road Bridge and Bittinger Road. For further information, persons may call 301-245-4443.

Beacon Outreach Sets Literacy Event

Garrett County Literacy Council tutors will be at the Garrett County Lighthouse at 9:30 a.m. Friday, Oct. 1, to meet with any mental health consumers interested in improving their literacy skills.

"[Fewer] consumers attend the Beacon than the Lighthouse, primarily because no transportation is provided in outlying areas," a Beacon Outreach spokesperson said. "This provides more time and space for one-on-one sessions from Literacy Council tutors."

For further information, persons may call the Beacon Outreach program at 301-533-0998 or 301-334-8685.

TV PIPELINE

Soap veteran has had an expansive career

Peggy McCay

Q: What can you tell me about Peggy McCay of NBC's "Days of our Lives"? She and I were neighbors as teens in New York, back in the good old days (I am 82). –Mary Kennedy, Manchester, N.H.

A: McCay, who turns 74 in November, can look back on a career that started back in TV's Golden Age. A native Manhattanite, she landed her first television role just two weeks after graduating from Columbia University.

After touring in a Tennessee Williams play, McCay embarked on an extensive and varied career encompassing multiple soaps ("Love of Life," "General Hospital") and primetime series ("Gibbsville," "The Lazarus Syndrome"), a long list of TV movies and miniseries, as well as roughly 100 guest appearances, including recurring roles in "Lou Grant" and "St. Elsewhere."

McCay joined "Days of our Lives" in her current role as Caroline Brady in the early 1980s, and she won an Emmy in 1991 for a guest appearance in "The Trials of Rosie O'Neill." She has a featured role as Aunt Margaret in – I am not making up this title – "The Irish Vampire Goes West," a horror fantasy due in theaters next year.

Q: Is Leslie Uggams still in show business? I used to admire her gorgeous voice but I never see her on TV anymore! –Jesse Dean, Pickerington, Ohio.

A: That's partly because the variety shows that used to be Uggams' bread and butter have all but vanished from the tube.

Don't worry, though: Still a knockout at 61, Uggams spent several weeks in the spring dazzling audiences in the Tony-winning Broadway musical "Thoroughly Modern Millie." A couple of seasons earlier, she starred in "King Hedley II," a new play by August Wilson. She also is among the stage legends interviewed in the critically acclaimed 2003 documentary "Broadway: The Golden Age."

Uggams is still a concert favorite in clubs and other music venues around the country. For her schedule of upcoming appearances, check the "Leslie Uggams – Online!" Web site at http://www.lesliеuggams.com. Her new compact disc, "On My Way to You," is due for release on the Blucello label on Oct. 14.

Q: When will the new season of "American Idol" begin on Fox? –Marti Miller via e-mail.

A: Not until January 2005.

SWANTON NEWS

The Swanton Community Association will be traveling to Springs, Pa., Oct. 1 and 2, where members will make doughnuts at the Springs Folk Festival. Anyone who can help with this is welcome. Persons who wish to help should call Art at 301-387-7231.

There were approximately 65 in attendance at the Swanton Community Sing on Sunday afternoon. Singers were Jack Cornwell, Jim Lohr, Kathy Davy, Lynn and Mary Beckman, Bill Brenneman, and player Pat Skipper, Kenny Kooken, and Dave Brenneman, Charlotte Carr, Harold Fike, Stan Skidmore, Rodney Durst, little John Beckman, Ray and Carol Sweitzer, Marty Duncan, and Jim Miller. Art Lake entertained with jokes. Refreshments were served and more singing and playing finished out the day.

Otterbein United Methodist Church acknowledges all who helped in any way making the hoagie sale a success.

Otterbein Church is sponsoring the Barbara Fairchild concert on Oct. 24 at the church. Tickets are free, but seating is limited. Persons may get tickets by calling Carol at 301-387-6864. There will be two performances: 2:30 and 7 p.m. A free-will offering will be taken at each performance. Everyone is welcome.

Those traveling to Burlington on Saturday to help get apples ready for apple butter making on Monday were Melvin and Dotty Beckman, Mary June Harvey, and George and Freda Rexroad. Thursday is Otterbein Church's day to make apple butter beginning at 11 a.m. Those going that day should be at the church at 10 a.m.

Md. General Assembly Graded 'D' on Financial Disclosure Rules

by Joseph Bacchus
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS — The Maryland General Assembly does a poor job of ensuring that legislators' personal business stays out of State House business, according to a study released Friday from the Center for Public Integrity.

"Our Private Legislatures" ranked 47 states on financial disclosure requirements for lawmakers. Maryland received 68.5 out of 100 possible points – a "D" grade. That puts the state at 18th in the nation, and is a "marginal" score by the study's grading standard.

Maryland's grade is a two-place improvement from a similar 1999 study by the center, where Maryland ranked 20th nationally with an overall score of 71 out of 100.

Washington state scored the best, with 93.5 points, and Utah fared the worst with only 6.5. Idaho, Michigan, and Vermont have no mandatory financial disclosure rules, and were given failing grades. Virginia also failed, ranking 27th with 59.5 points.

The study comes several years after the Maryland General Assembly revamped its ethics requirements in the wake of scandal.

In January 1998, Sen. Larry Young, D-Baltimore, was expelled from the Senate for "conducting private business out of his district office," according to a Capital News Service story.

Later that year Delegate Gerald Curran, D-Baltimore, resigned "after being accused of using the power of his office to secure state contracts for his private insurance business," according to CNS.

While at the time many said the post-scandal legislation was merely "feel good," Sean Dobson, deputy director of Progressive Maryland, said it did help stop financial conflicts in the Assembly.

"We're glad that the ethics legislation was passed," he said.

"It required a lot more disclosure of what lobbyists could do and how much they could spend" when trying to influence legislators.

Dobson added that there was a lot more "sunshine" in the Maryland General Assembly now, a reference to the sunshine laws many states have to guard against potential financial conflicts for their legislators.

The Center for Public Integrity, a nonprofit dedicated to scrutinizing the workings of government, examined each state's disclosure requirements, looking at 43 key questions about the information. The questions dealt with four main areas: the frequency of filing, the extent of the information requested, the ease of public access to the information, and the enforcement of the regulations.

The study concluded that while Maryland does a good job of enforcing its regulations, the regulations are lacking. The state received only 57 of 83 available points on questions about the extent of information requested of its legislators.

William Somerville, ethics counsel to the Maryland Department of Legislative Services, said the score is unfair to the state system.

"I can't imagine how they got a 'D'," he said. "My feeling is that the disclosure requirements (in Maryland) do ask for all the necessary information."

Somerville added that while the financial disclosure forms get into specifics, there are legal limits to what can be asked. For instance, the form does not ask lawyers for details about clients because that would be a violation of attorney-client privilege.

James Browning, executive director of Common Cause Maryland, said he's not surprised at the grade. "(Maryland's) requirements are pretty good, but compliance is bad," he said. "Many legislators file late or fail to disclose outside sources of income."

Maryland also scored poorly in terms of public access to information. In fact, Maryland was the only one of the 47 examined states that requires residents to physically show up at an office to request legislators' disclosure records.

Browning said many of the potential financial conflicts are because General Assembly positions are not full time. The average annual salary of a legislator in 2004 is $37,500, and the Senate president and the House speaker each earn $50,500, according to the General Assembly Compensation Commission Web site. Therefore many legislators have other jobs to supplement their income. Browning said Common Cause Maryland worries about this conflict.

"We think it's too perilous," he said. "There is potential for abuse."

However, Somerville said it is often these outside influences that make people good legislators. "The thing that a lot of people don't understand is that when you have a citizen legislature — where you have legislators with outside jobs — conflicts are inevitable," he said. "But then you have the choice between letting them bring their outside expertise to the table, or making them keep quiet on issues they know a great deal about."

Somerville said there are rules in place to automatically disqualify legislators because of some personal conflicts, but for the most part the decision to abstain from a vote is left up to the individual representative.

He said abstaining happens hundreds of times a year, but there are usually only about 10 automatic disqualifications annually. Senate President Thomas V. Mike Miller, D-Calvert, and House Speaker Mike Busch, D-Anne Arundel, could not be reached for comment.

In A Heartbeat

In this age of the internet, the world has become small indeed. We can converse with someone in China just by turning on the computer. The power of a "search engine" surpasses the speed of any vehicle of transportation...literally, "in a heartbeat". We need not feel alone, even if we are unable to leave our homes.

As miraculous as this technology appears to be, why do so many of us still feel empty and alone though the entire world is at our disposal?

Perhaps we need to divert our focus from without to look within ourselves...within our hearts. Long before the advent of modern communication and sophisticated transportation...when we were far more isolated than today...we learned to look within ourselves for comfort and assurance. We read in Psalm 77:5-6..."I consider the days of old, I remember the years long ago. I commune with my heart in the night; I meditate and search my spirit."

You need not look far for one who will be your friend. God is as near as your heartbeat. Won't you visit God's House this week?

Compassion & Responsibility

Though compassion can sometimes be difficult, more often than not it accords with our natural inclinations. For example, seeing a child cry can melt even the coldest heart, and in general, when we see the suffering of others, we are often moved powerfully by our emotions to reach out and help. This mere act of reaching out with compassion can be very gratifying and is certainly a reflection of God's providential hand; however, taking responsibility is often a thankless task with little emotional appeal. There is often nothing particularly satisfying in the daily attention to duty and responsibility, whether it is the doing of one's chores or the simple attention to doing the right thing morally, such as being obedient and adhering to the letter of the moral law. Because of this, compassion can take care of itself, while responsibility must be nurtured. We should ask ourselves daily whether we are living obediently according to God's will.

So Samuel said: Has the Lord as great delight in burnt offerings and sacrifices, as in obeying the voice of the Lord? Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice, and to heed than the fat of rams.

ALOE VERA GEL HAS MANY USES

The aloe vera gel obtained from a plant whose leaves are filled with a jelly-like substance has been used medicinally for centuries. There is a salicylate component of aloe gel that inhibits one of the body's pain-producing agents. Another component called magnesium lactate can inhibit a body chemical known to produce itching. For these reasons, applying aloe gel topically seems to enhance the healing process of skin inflamed with frostbite, sunburn, or regular burns. It is thought that topical use of aloe gel can also aid the clearing of psoriasis plaques. While there is some evidence that topical use might help minor skins wounds heal, more medical research is needed in this area. Some evidence also suggests that aloe gel may have antibacterial and antifungal properties as well.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• Polish burglar Torge Czar came up with an elaborate plan to rob a jewelry store: He planned to tunnel through a wall into the safe, thereby retrieving the valuables stored there. He made a slight miscalculation, though; when he had tunneled through the wall, he found himself in a food factory. In fact, he fell into a vat of spinach, where he drowned.

• Famed author and adventurer Jack London claimed, "You can't wait for inspiration. You have to go after it with a club."

• It's been estimated (although it's not entirely clear by whom) that during Colonial times, a male in America who was more than 15 years old would consume the equivalent of 60 six-packs of beer every year.

• The land on which the headquarters of the CIA is located was once the family estate of Robert E. Lee.

• It's still not known who made this pithy observation: "If you don't have an education, you've got to use your brain."

• The word "pizza" first appeared in the year 997. It was contained in a text written in Latin.

• Weather watchers say that at any given moment, there are approximately 2,000 thunderstorms occurring around the world.

• The English language adopted the word "ketchup" from Malaysia. Oddly, in Malay it means "fish sauce."

• Shelters are supposed to be surrounded by 4 inches of concrete in order to protect the inhabitants from fallout. If you don't have that much concrete, though, the Federal Emergency Management Agency has offered suggestions for alternatives that provide the same amount of protection: 14 inches of books or magazines, 6 inches of sand, 7 inches of dirt or 10 inches of water.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Oct. 6, 1847, Charlotte Bronte's "Jane Eyre" is published under the pseudonym Currer Bell. The book, about the struggles of an orphan girl who grows up to become a governess, was an immediate popular success.

• On Oct. 8, 1918, during World War I, U.S. Corporal Alvin C. York is credited with single-handedly killing 25 German soldiers and capturing 132 in the Argonne Forest of France. The action saved York's small detachment from annihilation and won the reluctant warrior from backwater Tennessee the Congressional Medal of Honor.

• On Oct. 9, 1940, John Lennon is born in Liverpool, England. As part of the Beatles and as a solo artist, Lennon became one of the most influential musicians in rock history.

• On Oct. 4, 1957, the Soviet Union inaugurates the "Space Age" with its launch of Sputnik, the world's first artificial satellite. The spacecraft, named Sputnik after the Russian word for "satellite," had a diameter of 22 inches and weighed 184 pounds.

• On Oct. 7, 1960, the TV program "Route 66" airs its first episode. The show followed the roadside adventures of Buz and Tod as they cruised Route 66 in Tod's Corvette. Americans tuned into the popular program for four years, continuing their love affair with the "Mother Road," nation's most celebrated highway.

• On Oct. 10, 1973, Spiro Agnew becomes the first U.S. vice president to resign in disgrace. The same day, the former Maryland governor pleaded no contest to a charge of federal income-tax evasion in exchange for the dropping of charges of political corruption.

• On Oct. 5, 1989, the Dalai Lama, the exiled religious and political leader of Tibet, is awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in recognition of his nonviolent campaign to end the Chinese domination of Tibet.

Cat Is Loving but Skittish

Q. My beautiful part-Siamese cat "Lily" is a puzzlement to me. She is an abandoned cat, about 8 years old, whom I adopted almost a year ago. Lily is loving and wants lots of attention, but she is afraid of anyone other than me and will hide for hours when visitors come. Also, sometimes she will walk about the apartment, meowing and howling as if searching for someone or something. Any suggestions as to how I can get her over this fear and loneliness? — Ivy S., Chicago

A. Abandoned and/or abused cats present a special problem for their owners: They will often bond with one person but refuse to come near anyone else. Pets who are abandoned can suffer from deep emotional trauma — their "mom" or "dad" was there for them, and suddenly they weren't!

Lily has a few issues that she's dealing with. First, she was abandoned; then she had to adjust to a new and unfamiliar home. The fact that she's wandering the apartment, meowing, makes me think she lived with other animal companions and is searching for them. Her constant need for attention reinforces the trauma she suffered and the loneliness and worry she still feels.

Don't be concerned about her hiding from visitors. Even cats that have never been abandoned or abused will be shy around strangers. Over time (years, possibly) she may become less skittish and even allow herself to be petted by strangers.

A more important issue to address is her need for attention and companionship. You can ease her loneliness by scheduling active playtime at several intervals during the day. This way she is engaged in interesting, challenging activity. Also establish a regular feeding routine. When you're out for long periods, turn on a radio at low volume so the apartment doesn't sound empty. Over time, as she starts to believe you won't leave her, she will settle down.

Lily may never be a totally relaxed, sociable kitty cat, but the two of you can still develop a rewarding relationship.

Collecting

by Larry Cox

Q. I have a large collection of advertising tins. I don't have a computer and cannot use eBay. Can you put me in touch with a club or collector who can help me? — Ruby, Sanbarn, Iowa

A. Pat Dowis is the owner of Tin Lizzie's, a store that specializes in tin advertising collectibles. The address is 6448 Dearborn Drive, Acworth, GA 30102. Michael Reilly is also a collector. His address is W259 N9116 County Road J, Hartland, WI 53029.

Q. Where can I find information about Elvis Presley collectibles and values? — Bev, Cabot, Vt.

A. I'd be a hound dog if I didn't tell you that I get this question at least a dozen times a week. Since the values of Elvis collectibles are always changing, let me recommend Jerry Osborne, who conducts several Presley-related auctions each year. He is a recognized expert in the field and might be able to help you. His address is P.O. Box 255, Port Townsend, WA 98368.

TIP OF THE WEEK: At a recent antique show, I saw what at first glance had to be vintage quilts. On closer inspection, however, I quickly realized that the fabrics were old but the needlework was not. Quilts are being cranked out in Asia, and many of them mimic classic American quilts. Be cautious and aware that the reproduction elves never sleep.

Nat'l Residents' Rights Week To Be Observed

Oct. 3-9 has been designated National Long-Term Care Residents' Rights Week, "a time to acknowledge the contributions and sacrifices that many long-term care residents have made to better their communities."

This year's theme – "Spotlight on Quality: Focus on Residents' Rights" – emphasizes the fundamental rights of all nursing home residents "to be treated with dignity and respect and to have a say in decisions affecting their care."

"These rights include freedom of choice, the right to participate in community acitivities, and the right to vote," noted Garrett County's long-term care ombudsman Beverly Wyatt of the Area Agency on Aging. "Please join with me in celebrating and affirming these rights through participating in one of the many events scheduled at one of Garrett County's nursing homes."

As local long-term care facilities celebrate Residents' Rights week, Wyatt encourages families and friends to visit comeone they know, volunteer at an event, or inquire about how to help with the Ombudsman Program.

"Your assistance and attention demonstrates to residents that they have not been forgotten," she said.

For more information, persons may call Wyatt at 301-334-9431, ext. 119.

4-H Club News

RED HOUSE
by Brittany Green

The September meeting of the Red House 4-H Club was called to order by Stephanie Brenneman. Catlin Jones took roll and read the secretary's report, Nathan Sines read the treasurer's report, and Rachel Friend led pledges.

The 4-H club's community service project for September was the Skippers, and October's project is the Green Boys.

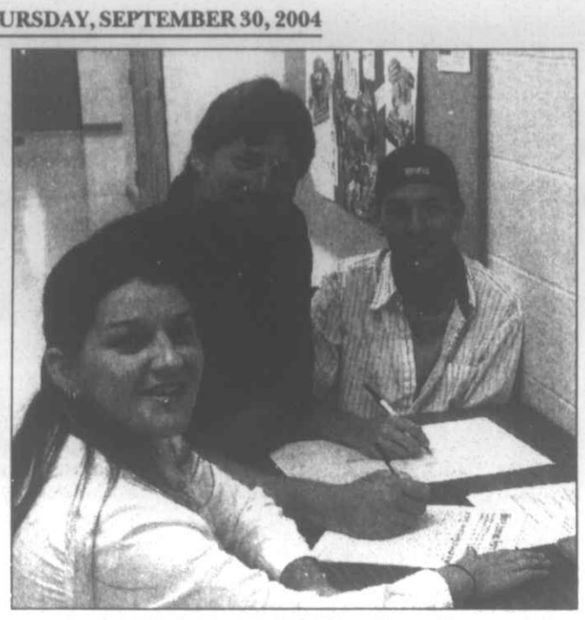
The club received an award for its rodeo sponsorship, which Eli Green accepted on the club's behalf.

Several members were on hand for the recent Maryland State Fair, where the club sponsored its own fair booth. Michelle Holler entered her steer in the state competition; Cain Sturm participated in the small engine contest; and Jordan Skipper took part in the tractor operator's contest.

The monthly activity for September was a club picnic hosted by the Mike Harvey/ Savage families.

The club will sponsor a buckwheat cake and sausage supper from 4 to 7 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 30, at the Pleasant Valley Community Center.

September's demonstrations were presented by Cody Friend, Catlin Jones, and Anthony Green. Scheduled for demonstrations in October are Levi Green, Jacob Stahl, and Ryan Miller.



GARRETT SGA AT WORK – The officers of the Garrett College Student Government Association have swung into the new semester by undertaking projects and planning activities. Two SGA officers are pictured above assisting at the college's recent Red Cross blood drive, as treasurer Jeanine Cummings and secretary James Michaels flank faculty advisor Tim Foster. Rounding out the SGA ranks are president Amo Oliverio, vice president Beau Emerson, historian Sonja Hollenthoner, and sophomore representatives Marci Biggs and Steve Zorn. Two new representatives from the freshman class will be elected next week. Among upcoming SGA-sponsored activities is the annual Halloween Haunted House, which benefits the House of Hope. In the spring semester the SGA officers plan to attend a leadership conference.

Paugh Receives Allegany College Of MD Scholarship

Jackie Paugh of Oakland was one of eight recipients of a scholarship from Allegany College of Maryland that was established as a memorial to tristate-area individuals, according to the ACM Foundation.

Paugh received the Mildred M. Ott Memorial Scholarship. She is enrolled in the associate degree nursing curriculum. Paugh completed pre-nursing studies at Garrett College, where she was a dean's list student. After becoming a registered nurse, she said her goal is to be a nurse practitioner or physician.

A 1999 merit diploma graduate of Southern High School, she is the daughter of Jack and Aida Paugh. She is engaged to Jack Funhouser, who has two sons, Allen and Jonathan.

Open House Set For GC Ag, Wildlife Programs

An open house at the Center for Adventure and Outdoor Studies at Garrett College is slated for Friday, Oct. 22, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The event is being sponsored by the Agriculture Club and the Wildlife Club of the college and is open to all interested persons.

According to Beau Emerson, president of the Ag Club and vice president of the Student Government Association, several contests will be conducted during the open house, including a livestock judging and a contest to identify forage and grain samples. The Wildlife Club, whose president is Amo Oliverio, is planning a presentation on the Kempton mine drainage project.

Area schools will be contacted to invite students interested in agriculture and wildlife technology to attend the open house. Lunch will be served. Anyone desiring further information about the event may call Linda May at 301-387-3045.

LAND TRUST MEETING

The September meeting of the Garrett County Forestry Board took place at New Germany State Park, where a guest speaker discussed land trusts in a joint session with the Allegany Forestry Board.

Meredith Lathbury, director of Land Protection programming for the Potomac Conservancy, told board members that her organization is committed to "protecting forests for the long haul" by creating land trusts with, and providing conservation services to, private landowners of both forest and farm lands. She then led a discussion concerning land trusts – agreements between private forest or farm land owners and the Potomac Conservancy to keep the land in forests or farm in perpetuity while keeping the land economically viable and sustainable.

The Forest Conservancy Board members on hand agreed with the objectives of the Potomac Conservancy, voiced their hopes that private landowners would consider land trusts as part of their management objectives. Further information can be obtained by calling Garrett County forester Ernie Metz at 301-334-3296.

OTHER MEETING ITEMS

The Garrett County Forest Conservancy Board covered several other items of discussion during its recent session, as board members:

•reviewed the 2004 Forestry Week at the Hickory Environmental Education Center with 33 campers participating. Even though all agreed the camp was well run and had a value to the campers, it was noted that the 2005 camp is in jeopardy because of DNR budget constraints;

•decided to buy materials to laminate tree tags for affixing on arboretum trees around the county. These tags identify the tree species and describe its uses;

•voted to purchase a memorial tree for Josh Fike, to be planted at the Hickory Center;

•learned that the centennial of Maryland Forest Service will be commemorated in 2006;

•discussed plans to put in a display at the Oakland Library window commemorating both Fire Protection and Forest Products weeks in October; and,

•decided to salvage red spruce seedlings growing on the industrial park site on Keysers Ridge. These seedlings are to be outplanted at various county arboreta and nature conservancy swamps if such are desired.

FORESTRY'S ENVIRONMENTAL BENEFITS

Each month this column highlights a selection from the Society of American Foresters' "Top 10 Environmental Benefits of Forestry." The second Top 10 entry reads:

"Forestry helps water quality. Foresters carefully manage areas called watersheds (areas where we collect our drinking water) and riparian zones (land bordering rivers, streams and lakes). These are places where maintaining water quality is the primary concern for foresters.

"Forests actually help to clean water arid get it ready for us to drink. The trees, the soil, and bacteria are all part of the process. Forest cover protects and nurtures the soils that are the key to water retention, filtering and quality."

60TH ANNIVERSARY OF "ONLY YOU...."

This is the 60th anniversary of the Smokey Bear Forest Fire Prevention Campaign, "Only You Can Prevent Forest Fires!"

ARE WE GUILTY AS WAS THE RICH MAN??

WE ARE GOING TO SPEND 10 MILLION DOLLARS ON SPORTS ACTIVITIES HERE IN GARRETT COUNTY--WHEN SO MANY ARE DYING IN HAITI !! THEIR SITUATION IS DESPERATE- WILL WE CLOSE OUR EYES TO OUR NEIGHBORS AND CONTINUE TO SPEND OUR GREAT FORTUNES WITHOUT CARING ABOUT OTHERS?? WILL GOD NOT HOLD US ACCOUNTABLE?

PLEASE READ WHAT JESUS TOLD US IN LUKE 16:19-

"There was a rich man who was dressed in purple and fine linen and lived in luxury everyday. At his gate was laid a beggar named Lazarus, covered with sores and longing to eat what fell from the rich man's table. Even the dogs came- the time came when the beggar died and the angels carried him to Abraham's side. The rich man also died and entered hell, where he was in torment, he looked up and saw Abraham far away, with Lazarus at his side. So he called to him "Father Abraham, have pity on me and send Lazarus to dip the tip of his finger in water and cool my tongue, because I am in agony in this fire"

But Abraham replied, "Son remember that in your lifetime you received your good things, while Lazarus received bad things, but now he is comforted here and you are in agony. – The rich man answered "Then I beg you father, send Lazarus to my father's house, for I have five brothers. Let him warn them, so that they will not also come to this place of torment"

Abraham replied "They have Moses and the prophets, let them listen to them" "No father Abraham, if someone from the dead goes to them, they will repent"

Abraham said "If they do not listen to Moses and the Prophets, they will not be convinced even if someone rises from the dead"

My good people of Garrett County- I urge you, leaders and citizens, to listen to what Jesus said. We will be held accountable-we cannot close our eyes to the world situation and enjoy the continued selfish indulgence and wild spending without one day facing the ultimate Judge. Stop and awake ! Building multi million dollar buildings and tearing them down, and building multi million sports centers when others suffer (such as Haitians) is unconscionable, reprehensible and totally irresponsible. The Bible is still fresh today. Jesus is, was, and always will be. He is unchanging. Please reconsider! T.E. Doyle

Oakland Man Handed Five Months In Jail

An Oakland man who entered a not guilty plea to charges stemming from a June domestic-related incident in Deer Park was nonetheless convicted by Garrett County District Court Judge Ralph Burnett recently.

William Thomas Sachs, 44, had been jailed by Garrett County sheriff's deputies after he had harassed a woman and her neighbors by repeatedly yelling obscenities outside her apartment. He was charged and convicted on charges of disorderly conduct, harassment, and failure to comply with a peace order, and Burnett handed down a 150-day jail term.

Sachs pled not guilty and was exonerated of charges stemming from two other incidents, each of which had also resulted in his arrest by sheriff's deputies. The first had taken place in May, when he was accused of disorderly conduct and failing to comply with a lawful order after allegedly making threats and yelling loudly outside a local residence. The other incident took place in June, when he was jailed after he reportedly entered an area home and refused to leave. Sheriff's deputies cited alcohol as a factor in all three incidents.

In other District Court news, an Oakland man pled guilty to marijuana possession and was handed a 30-day sentence, all but two days of which were suspended.

Joseph Michael DeWitt, 42, was behind the wheel of a car that was parked at Gibson's Store along Hutton Road after business hours in March. Sheriff's deputies who checked the vehicle noted the odor of suspected burnt marijuana coming from the car, and an ensuing search uncovered burnt and loose marijuana.

Dewitt was the driver of the vehicle. In addition to the jail term, Judge Burnett imposed a $255 fine, one year of supervised probation, and 30 hours of community service. Two passengers in the vehicle, Timothy David Ford, 44, and Albert Neil DeWitt, 38, both of Oakland, were not prosecuted on respective marijuana possession charges.

Travis Mark Digruttolo, 24, Augusta, W.Va., pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana and was handed a 30-day sentence, all but two days of which was suspended, fined $200, placed on six months' unsupervised probation, and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service. His August 2003 arrest stemmed from a traffic stop on Interstate 68, which stemmed from a 9-1-1 call made from a cell phone by another motorist. The caller reported that a car was driving extremely erratically on the highway, to the point of putting her in fear for her own and other drivers' safety. Maryland State Police troopers who stopped Digruttolo's car reportedly noted a strong odor of alcohol, and an ensuing search led to the discovery of a bag of marijuana in the vehicle.

Terry Lee Rodeheaver, 25, Friendsville, pleaded guilty to possession of drug paraphernalia and was fined $200, placed on six months of unsupervised probation, and ordered to complete 20 hours of community service. His April arrest by state troopers stemmed from an underage drinking party in the Friendsville area. As police officers were investigating at the scene, Rodeheaver was observed surreptitiously dropping a smoking pipe on the ground. That action led to a search that located a second smoking pipe in his pocket.

A second Friendsville resident arrested at that same party, Daniel Ward King, 24, was handed a probation before judgment (PBJ) ruling after he pled guilty to marijuana possession, along with a 30-day suspended sentence, a $100 fine, six months' unsupervised probation, and 30 hours of community service. King was jailed when state troopers noted the odor of burning marijuana coming from a truck parked at the party, and it was determined that he was the only individual with access to the vehicle.

Adam Franklin Law, 22, Morgantown, W.Va., pled guilty to drug paraphernalia possession and was fined $240 and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service. His February arrest by state troopers came after a traffic stop on I-68, when the odor of burnt marijuana was noted coming from his vehicle. A search uncovered some loose marijuana and a pill bottle containing marijuana was discovered in the car.

Samuel Ray VanSickle, 40, Accident, pleaded guilty to marijuana possession and was handed a PBJ, a 30-day sentence with all but two days suspended, a $300 fine, six months of supervised probation, and 30 hours of community service. An additional charge of second degree assault was not prosecuted. The charges stemmed from VanSickle's June arrest by state troopers, when a reported domestic assault led to a search that located a bag of marijuana in his pocket.

Donald Wayne Care, 49, Loch Lynn, was handed a PBJ in connection with a marijuana possession charge, along with a 30-day sentence, all but two days of which was suspended, a $300 fine, six months' supervised probation, and 30 hours of community service. An additional charge of paraphernalia possession was not prosecuted by the State Attorney's Office. Care's April arrest by sheriff's deputies came during a traffic stop on Maryland Highway. A search that followed an alert by a K-9 dog led to the discovery of a tin of marijuana and a BONES FOR PHONES — Partners for Animal Welfare and Safety (PAWS) will be helping the Dove Center collect used cell phones at the Volkswaggle fundraiser, which is slated for Sunday, Oct. 3, from noon until 4 p.m., at the Mtn. Fresh Pavilion in Oakland. Any dog-owner who turns over an old cell phone to the Dove Center at this event will be given a free bag of homemade dog biscuits for his or her pet. The "Bones For Phones" exchange is meant to help the Dove Center provide cellular phones to local victims of domestic abuse, as well as to draw attention to the link between animal cruelty and family violence, a PAWS spokesperson said. Because the used cell phones can be programmed for "9-1-1" emergency use, they provide a valuable means of getting immediate aid during a violent family crisis, a spokesperson said. For more information, persons may visit the PAWS web site at www.garrettpaws.org.

AURORA/EGLON

BARN DANCE

Everyone is invited to the Aurora Barn Dance on Sunday, Oct. 3, at 1:30 p.m. to be held at historic Brookside Farm (behind Cathedral State Park). The afternoon's activities will feature music by "The Remedy," free food and refreshments, fresh pressed apple cider, and a raffle of the Volkmar Wentzel photograph, "Quilting Bee On Stemple Ridge." Admission is $5 (children under 10 are free), and tickets will be sold at the door.

The Aurora Barn Dance is sponsored by the Aurora Project to benefit its Artists' Residency and Educational Programs opening in fall 2005. For information, persons may call Michele Moure at 735-6344.

TA Civic Club To Sell Chances On Log Cabin Quilt

The Terra Alta Civic Club is selling chances on a queen size Log Cabin quilt, which is on display at the Terra Alta Bank, and all proceeds will support club projects such as scholarship, food pantry, and school groups. Tickets are available from any club member.

The club will have a booth on Brown Ave. at the Preston County Buckwheat Festival Thursday through Saturday across from the Community Building. Chances are $1 each or six tickets for $5, with the drawing to be held on Sunday, Oct. 3, at 3 p.m.

QUILT SHOW TO END OCT. 10

The Union District Quilt Show will end October 10. The sponsors, Aurora Area Historical Society and Aurora Community Education Outreach Service, express appreciation to everyone who came to the show and those who participated. Those who have not already seen the quilts, may come on Oct. 9 or 10 from 1 to 4 p.m.

CLUB PROGRAM TO BEGIN OCT. 6

Pioneer Clubs and local churches of Union District are sponsoring a weekly club program for boys and girls at Aurora School beginning Oct. 6, and for all children in grades K-6. This will be held each Wednesday after school until 5 p.m.

The Pioneer Club is a Christ-centered program that gives children opportunities to learn new skills, make new friends, have fun and, develop Christian values. There will be classtime, crafts, games, singing, and snacks. For more information, persons may contact Debbie Strawser at 735-5439.

50TH ANNIVERSARY

In recognition of the 50th wedding anniversary of Junior and Alma Knotts, their children and grandchildren are requesting family and friends join them at a reception on Sunday, Oct. 10, from 2 until 4 p.m. This open house will take place at the Union Ambulance squad hall on U.S. Rt. 50 in Aurora. The couple will be renewing their vows at 2:30 p.m., and request that there be no gifts.

60TH ANNIVERSARY CARD SHOWER

Lawrence and Lucy Calcamp will be observing their 60th wedding anniversary on Oct. 7 at their Horse Shoe Run home. Cards may be addressed to them at RR 1 Box 254-1, Horse Shoe Run, WV 26716.

67TH ANNIVERSARY

Lorain and Mary Jane Hanline observed their 67th wedding anniversary on Sept. 29. Cards may be addressed to them at RR1, Aurora, WV 26705.

EGLON CLINIC

Dr. Robert Coughlin will spend his last day at the Eglon Clinic today, Thursday, Sept. 30. He has been the physician here for the past 18 years and he will not be retiring, but moving into a position at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Medical services continue to be offered at the Eglon Clinic with Kenny Hawk, a nurse practitioner, coming to the area from Ruby Memorial Hospital's emergency room. Hawk is moving his family back to the area and will plan to be in the office five days a week after October. During that time, Dr. Diane Rader of Davis will be in the office on Mondays, while Hawk works with his supervisor, Dr. Davenport, at Rowlesburg. On Monday, Oct. 4, Hawk will be at the Eglon site.

Persons may call the office to make appointments for continued coverage and hours.

CLASS OF '74 HAS REUNION

The Aurora High School Class of 1974 met for its 30th year reunion on Sept. 4, at the Amboy Church Fellowship Hall. A meal was catered and served by Eleanor Brewer. Guests were teachers, Mrs. Fern Jamison, Mrs. Virginia Martin (class sponsor), Russell McConnell, Martha Bolyard, and Melvin Jackson and his wife, Sharon.

AURORA CEOS

The Aurora Community Education Outreach Service (CEOS) met Sept. 21 at the Aurora Community Building, amid their project, the Community Friendship Quilt Show. Twelve members and one guest heard devotions led by Martha Bolyard. She read "Celtic Country" and comments from Paul Harvey.

Dee Douglas was lesson leader for "Fix it Fast, Fix it Healthy," providing shortcuts to preparing healthy meals.

Ceremonies were held Sept. 27 at the Preston County Courthouse for Breast Cancer Awareness Day. Pink ribbons will be distributed at the Aurora Post Office and at some churches.

Wilda Harsh, Ressie Conrad, Opal Myers, Keith and Dee Douglas will sell Buckwheat Festival car tickets in the booth on Saturday, Oct. 2. The Festival of Ideas project will continue on Oct. 26 at the Extension Office.

Fall Conference is being held at Jackson's Mill, Oct. 12-14, and planning to attend are Ressie Conrad, Opal Myers, and Wilda Harsh. Nine members plan to participate in the Santa Tree project, helping provide gifts for children at Christmas.

The nominating committee presented the following slate of officers for 2005, which was accepted: president, Opal Myers; vice president, Ressie Conrad; secretary-reporter, Dee Douglas; treasurer, Wilda Harsh; and historian, Virginia Martin.

Christmas dinner will be catered by Union Ambulance members on Dec. 10 at 6:30 p.m. The annual Christmas Tree lighting, in cooperation with the Aurora Pioneer 4-H Club, will be on Dec. 5, at 5 p.m., at the Aurora Community Building. Everyone is welcome to attend.

The pig-in-the-poke was won by Mary Kelly. The vice president's feature by Opal Myers was a description of the meaning of and reasons for holding a dainty fan. Viewing and discussing the Friendship Quilt Exhibit provided the special feature.

The next meeting will be Oct. 19 at 7 p.m. at the Community Building. This meeting closed by the serving of refreshments to Martha Bolyard, Ressie Conrad, Dee Douglas, Mary Jane Hanline, Kathy Hardesty, Mary Kelly, Wilda Harsh, Virginia Martin, Opal Myers, Dean Sisler, Dorothy Spaid, Mildred Teets, and guest, JoAnn Helton.

PERSONAL MENTION

Allen Hartsell celebrated his 21st birthday with a dinner in his honor at the Eglon Home of his parents, Claud and Brenda Hartsell. A birthday cake was baked by his grandmother, Rose Ina Harsh. His other grandmother, Hallie Hartsell, is now living with the family here.

Carolyn Wotring of Aurora had to be hospitalized for several days at Ruby Memorial Hospital.

Guy Slaubaugh of Silver Lake was taken Sunday to a local hospital for treatment.

A fire on Sunday evening damaged the upper story bedrooms at the Mark Teets farm on the Terra Alta Pike. The house had recently been rented by the Pumphrey family.

Relatives here were notified of the Sept. 25 death of Ruth Bolyard Christman of Lima, Ohio. She was the only daughter of the late Raymond and Alta Teets Bolyard of Aurora, and her husband, Clifton Christman, survives her.

Eileen Rembold was a weekend guest of Mary, Shawn, and Craig Rembold, Aurora, and returned Sunday to her home in Pittsburgh.

Miss Moreland Marries Mr. Warsaw In July Ceremony At Fairview Church

Marcella Nikkol Moreland, daughter of Royce and Vonda Moreland, Oakland, became the bride of Bruce Alan Warsaw II, son of Bruce Warsaw, Table Rock, and Cindy Warsaw, Oakland, on Saturday, July 10.

Rev. David Moon performed the double-ring ceremony at Fairview Church of the Brethren. Michael Rohrbaugh, pianist, accompanied Amy DeWitt, who sang "The Rose," and Brett Lambert, who sang "Keeper of the Stars."

Escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore an ivory gown of satin. The bodice was adorned with lace, tiny seed pearls, and sequins. The gown featured an A-line skirt with champagne colored Victorian roses on the back, sweeping to a chapel train. Her hair piece was a tiara adorned with pearls and rhinestones. She carried a cascading bouquet of ivory, pastel pink, and blue roses trimmed with baby's breath and ivory satin ribbon.

The bride wore a diamond necklace, a gift from her father to her mother on their wedding day, and diamond earrings. In her shoe she carried a $20 gold piece given to her by her father.

Bruce Warsaw lighted a memorial candle for Madison Hope Warsaw, deceased infant daughter of the bride and groom. Two taper candles were lighted by Dale Hutzel, uncle of the bride, in memory of deceased grandparents.

The maid of honor was Laura Lower, fiancée of the bride's brother. The bridesmaids were Jackie Tasker, cousin of the bride, and Jennifer Calcamp, friend of the bride. The junior bridesmaid was Michaela Warsaw, sister of the groom. All wore blue gowns with Victorian rose accents at the bustlines and carried cascading bouquets of pastel blue, pink, and ivory roses with satin ribbons.

The flower girl was Lyndsay Moreland, cousin of the bride, who wore a white floor-length gown designed similarly to the bride's, with tiny seed pearls and sequins. She carried an ivory basket with ivory rose petals and wore a halo headdress made of pastel pink, blue, and ivory roses with ivory satin ribbon.

The best man was Brandon Moreland, brother of the bride, and the groomsmen were Waylon Kitzmiller, cousin of the groom, and Justin Alexander, friend of the groom. Ushers were B.J. Upole, cousin of the bride, and Charlie Sisler, friend of the groom.

Barry Upole, cousin of the bride, served as ring-bearer and carried a heart-shaped pillow from the bride's grandfather's funeral.

The groom, father of the bride, and ring-bearer all wore matching tuxedos with tails. All the men in the ceremony wore Victorian style rose boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride wore a champagne colored floor-length gown of satin with lace overlay trimmed with sequins and rhinestones. The groom's mother chose a knee-length layered blue dress.

After the vows were exchanged, the bride and groom presented each of their mothers with a long-stemmed red rose.

A reception followed at the Mt. Storm fire hall. Millie Hutzel, aunt of the bride, catered the dinner, and baked and served a six-layered waterfall cake. She also was in charge of the church and fire hall decorations, videotaping, and making all of the flower arrangements.

Larry Meeks, uncle of the bride, blessed the meal. Patty Chapman was the DJ for the evening. Jenny Moreland, cousin of the bride, registered guests. Carolyn Lower, friend of the bride, was the photographer, and Tracey Slagel styled the bride's hair, as well as her mother's and all attendants'.

Out-of-town guests were from Eastern Maryland, Michigan, Virginia, Ohio, West Virginia, and Illinois.

The couple honeymooned at Smokehole Caverns.

The bride is a 2000 graduate of Southern High School, and is employed full time at Naylor's Contracting and part time at the Table Rock Inn. She is a full-time student at Allegheny College majoring in physical therapy.

The groom is a 1998 graduate of Southern High and is employed by the Nu-Finish Collision Center.

The couple now reside in their home near Table Rock.

90 YEARS TO CELEBRATE – Deer Park resident Ruth Broadwater celebrated her 90th birthday recently as several guests made a surprise visit to her home with a cake on Wednesday, Sept. 15. Five of Mrs. Broadwater's six children, three girls and two boys, are still living.

Harvey-VanMeter Couple Set To Wed

David and Sharrol Harvey and Joseph and Karen Tyree, all of Oakland, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their children, Connie Harvey and Abraham VanMeter.

Miss Harvey is a 1998 graduate of Southern High School and a 2001 graduate of Garrett College. She is currently attending Frostburg State University and is majoring in psychology. She is employed by Reel Video/Four All Seasons Gift Shoppe.

Mr. VanMeter is a 2000 graduate of Southern High School and will be a 2005 graduate of Garrett College. He will attend Frostburg State University and major in accounting. He is employed by Deep Creek Foodland Fresh.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, Jan. 8, 2005, at 5 p.m. at the Loch Lynn Church of God. A reception will immediately follow.

Invitations will be sent; however, the couple invites all family and friends to attend.

Ms. Meeks-Upole, Mr. Aronhalt To Exchange Vows

Daneille Meeks-Upole, White Church, and Shawn Aronhalt, Elk Garden, W.Va., have announced their engagement and forthcoming marriage.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Dale and Millie Hutzel, White Church, and Larry and Nancy Meeks, Chestertown. She attended Southern High School and graduated from the Pleasant Valley Christian Academy in 1998. She is presently a full-time homemaker.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Vernon and Becky Aronhalt, Elk Garden. He attended Union High School and is presently employed by Dale Hutzel Trucking.

The couple will exchange their wedding vows in a 4 p.m. ceremony on Saturday, Oct. 9, at the Fairview Church of the Brethren, with Rev. David Moon officiating. A reception will follow immediately at the Mt. Storm fire hall.

Although some invitations have been sent, all friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Miss Crosby To Wed Mr. McRobie

Terri Lynn Crosby and Adam McRobie will exchange their wedding vows this Saturday, Oct. 3, in a 3 p.m. ceremony at the White United Methodist Church.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Greg and Mary Susan (Mousch) Sines, Oakland, and Ronald Crosby, formerly of Oakland. She is a 1999 graduate of Southern High School and is employed at the Data Entry Company, Oakland.

The prospective bridegroom is a 1990 graduate of Elk Garden High School and is employed by Allegheny Wood Products, Kingwood, W.Va.

The ceremony will be followed immediately by a reception at the Loch Lynn Community Building. Although no invitations have been sent, all friends and relatives are invited to attend.

The church is located along White Church Steyer Road, a quarter mile off Rt. 560.

Grantsville Youth Receives GED

C. Adam Cosner, a 16-year-old youth from Grantsville, received his GED in August. Along with his diploma, he was awarded a 3000-Plus certificate of achievement. This is a special recognition for receiving a perfect score from the Maryland State Department of Education.

Upon completing eleventh grade in home school, Adam attended the Grantsville Outreach Center, where he took a pretest and was encouraged to apply for his diploma.

Adam enjoys video games, reading, music, and learning to play the guitar. He is active with his youth group at the World Lighthouse Worship Center.

Planning to attend college in the spring, he is currently volunteering at the Maryland Salem Children's Trust, where he helps out in the school and office.

Adam is the son of Dwight and Karen South.

AG Parade Road Closings Announced

Several Oakland roads will be closed before and during the Autumn Glory Grand Feature Parade, which begins at 1 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 16.

Second Street will be closed to traffic from Liberty Street to Center Street at 9:30 a.m. Saturday for the Garrett College Pipes and Drums 10 a.m. concert of Scottish and Celtic music in front of the viewing stand. At 11:30 a.m. the Pleasant View Baptist Church will present music, puppetry, and drama along Second Street in front of the Post Office.

Both Third and Second streets from Omar Street to Alder Street will be closed to all vehicles at 10:30 a.m. Traffic needing to bypass Oakland will be directed to detour along Fourth Street until the parade ends. Center Street will remain open until 12:45 p.m.

Memorial Drive also will be closed to through traffic from Eighth to Fourth streets.

No one will be able to turn onto Fourth Street from Memorial Drive. No left turns will be allowed from Fourth Street onto Memorial Drive. Barricades will prevent access to Fourth Street.

"This is one of the worse areas of traffic control," said Major Gary Berkebile of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office. "When Fourth jams, no one moves."

Because of construction at the hospital, as well as the congestion during Autumn Glory, the officials felt the change was necessary for safety of area residents.

Emergency vehicles should use Kings Run or Eighth Street to Memorial Drive.

Parking along the parade route, which includes sections of Second and Third streets, will be prohibited prior to and during the parade. Business owners or employees should contact town officials or the Chamber of Commerce in advance for a pass. Anyone who needs access inside the parade route will need a pass. This includes those using the handicapped parking area.

"At least Oakland Rosedale Bridge is open," said Mayor Asa McCain. "That will help keep through traffic moving during the parade."

"Come as early as possible," said Oakland Police Chief John Sines. He encourages anyone coming to the parade to arrive in Oakland by 9:30 a.m. on Saturday. "If you come early, you can find a good parking space, enjoy the entertainment. Autumn Glory is a perfect time to show all the visitors what Oakland and Garrett County has to offer."

"Sheriff Sanders and his deputies, along with Barrack Commander Resh and his troopers, have always been willing to assist us with traffic control during the parade," Sines said. "No way can six officers from a small police department handle 40,000 to 60,000 people alone. It takes all of us working together to get the job done."

Free parking will be available in the town parking lot at the end of Second Street. Parking for handicapped persons will be provided in the lot of the Masonic Hall located at 3 First Street, Oakland. For questions concerning parking and road closing during Autumn Glory, persons may call the Oakland Police Department at 301-334-2100 or Oakland City Hall at 301-334-2691.

For a complete listing of Autumn Glory activities, persons should visit the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce web site at www.garrettchamber.com.

Krispy Kreme Sale Slated To Benefit Broad Ford School

Students at Broad Ford Elementary School will once again be selling three types of Krispy Kreme doughnuts during the weekend events of Autumn Glory to raise funds for new playground equipment.

The students, along with parents and teachers, will be selling doughnuts and refreshments throughout the Autumn Glory festivities. The doughnuts are being delivered fresh from a Krispy Kreme store. This sale is one of the first activities of the BOBCAT group, a parent-teacher organization at Broad Ford.

This year, there are three types of doughnuts being sold: a dozen glazed are $6, a dozen glazed with chocolate icing are $6.50, and a dozen glazed crème filled are $7.

Doughnut sales will take place at two different locations on Saturday, Oct. 16. The tasty goodies will be sold at the craft fair at Broad Ford Elementary School following the parade and at a residence along Route 219 across from The Christmas Chalet at Deep Creek Lake.

Any person or business interested in ordering a dozen or two doughnuts in advance can call Kim Smith now to place an order at 301-387-7134. All orders must be pre-paid and will be delivered to the school on the afternoon of Wednesday, Oct. 13.

THOMAS RETIRES AFTER 35 YEARS WITH OAKLAND – Roger L. Thomas was given special recognition for his 35 years of service to the town of Oakland recently. Thomas retired as superintendent of the Oakland Street Department and was presented with a plaque as well as other gifts in recognition of his faithful service. The council expressed their appreciation and congratulations to Thomas for his achievements. Pictured above, from the left, are Jay Moyer, councilman and chairman of the street department; Peggy Jamison, council president; Thomas; and Asa M. McCain, mayor.

Christine Elizabeth Warner, 31, Terra Alta, W.Va., pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana and was handed a PBJ, a 30-day suspended sentence, all but two days of which was suspended, a $200 fine, and one year of unsupervised probation. Her May arrest stemmed from a traffic stop on Route 39, when a smoking pipe was observed in plain view as she was retrieving her license from her purse. An ensuing search recovered a small quantity of marijuana from the purse.

Frederick Edward Helbig Jr., 24, Oakland, pled guilty to failure to obey a lawful order and was handed a PBJ, one day of unsupervised probation, and 30 hours of community service. His March arrest came after he refused to cooperate with sheriff's deputies' requests to be quiet during their search of a Lewis B. Naylor Drive residence.

A woman who was jailed at the same time of Helbig's arrest, Kristina Lynn Green, 24, faced charges of possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia that were placed on the stet docket along with an order to complete the Reality Program of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office. Deputies who had responded to her home to check on a reported disturbance undertook a search after noting the odor of suspected burnt marijuana, and located a bag of suspected marijuana and several items of drug paraphernalia from her bedroom.

West Virginia residents Alicia Faith Huffman, 24, Rowlesburg, and Jessica Lynn Gaither, 22, Bayard, both pleaded guilty to marijuana possession. Each woman was handed a 30-day sentence, fined $200, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service. The charges stemmed from a March traffic stop on High Street, when sheriff's deputies discovered two bags of marijuana and several items of drug paraphernalia in their car. Additional charges of possession of paraphernalia were not prosecuted.

Two counts of reckless endangerment and one count of second-degree assault faced by Antonio Pellot Riveria, 59, Oakland, were placed onto the stet docket, while an additional charge of first-degree assault was not prosecuted. Riveria had been jailed by sheriff's deputies following a May incident when he allegedly threatened two women with a knife at an Oakland residence.

A charge of failure to register a new address for a convicted child sex offender faced by Howard Anthony Alvey, 34, Oakland, was stetted. The charge was filed by sheriff's deputies after Alvey reportedly moved away from Garrett County to St. Mary's County without making required notification.

Ruben James Everett, 24, Oakland, faced a second-degree assault charge that was stetted. Sheriff's deputies had arrested him in June following an altercation at a Loch Lynn area residence, after he had allegedly fought with two women while he was reportedly intoxicated.

Russell Joseph Rounds, 44, Oakland, and Shelley Marie Rounds, 36, Midland, both faced charges of possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia that were placed on the stet docket. The pair's April arrest by sheriff's deputies came when a smoking pipe was observed in plain view at the Oakland area home they were sharing at the time. A search uncovered a second smoking pipe, and the defendants both claimed the paraphernalia belonged to the other individual.

Tammie Doreen Gonzalez, 30, Aurora, W.Va., each faced charges of second degree assault and malicious destruction of property that were placed onto the stet docket, while a second degree assault charge faced by Jeffrey Earl Liller, 39, Oakland, was also stetted. The charges were filed by sheriff's deputies who investigated a July domestic altercation between the two in the Wal-Mart parking lot. The destruction of property charge was filed after Gonzalez allegedly kicked Liller's car, leaving a visible dent.

Joshua Mark Junkins, 21, Keyser, W.Va., faced one count each of first-degree felony theft and felony theft scheme, and two counts of misdemeanor theft, each of which was stetted. The charges were filed by sheriff's deputies in April after Junkins allegedly pawned some items that he knew his girlfriend had stolen from her mother.

Delmar Elvis Moats, 26, Oakland, was not prosecuted on charges of possession of hydrocodone and drug paraphernalia filed during a March traffic stop in Oakland. Sheriff's deputies reportedly located a plastic straw bearing suspected hydrocodone residue in the car's glove box.

Charles Eugene Estill III, 23, Oakland, was not prosecuted on charges of felony theft and second degree burglary filed by sheriff's deputies after he allegedly broke into a lake area home last December, and reportedly stole a television and a DVD player.

FRIENDSVILLE NEWS

ASHER GLADE CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN

The Asher Glade Church of the Brethren will hold World Communion Services on Sunday, Oct. 3, at 7 p.m.

The women of the church will be cleaning at the church on Tuesday, Oct. 5, starting at 8 a.m. All who help are asked to bring a bag lunch with them. All ladies are welcome to help.

On Sunday, Oct. 17, the church will be in charge of nursing home visitations.

Revival Services are scheduled for the first week in November. Pastor Phillip Matthew will be the special speaker. There will be special music every evening. More information will be posted at a later date.

BLOOMING ROSE METHODIST CHURCH

There will be a joint worship and communion service for all three churches held at the Blooming Rose Methodist Church on Sunday, Oct. 3, in observance of World Communion Sunday. Sunday school will be held at 10 a.m. and worship services will begin at 11 a.m.

The Blooming Rose United Methodist Women will meet on Thursday, Oct. 14, at 7 p.m. at the church.

HONORED FOR 48 YEARS OF SERVICE – Janet Paugh, office manager, was honored recently with a surprise celebration for her 48 years of service to the Department of Assessments and Taxation. Paugh was hired shortly after graduating from high school by the late Steven R. Pagenhardt, and is the employee in that department who has worked there the longest. Four employees from the state headquarters arrived to express their appreciation and congratulations. Along with other gifts, Paugh received a Governor's Citation. "I have known her since 1974, and I can't think of a person who is nicer. I have known lots of state employees, but she is someone I'd like to work with every day," said Bill Stansbury, state superintendent. "This is only an anniversary. I hope there are many more to come." Pictured above, from left to right, are Roger Staggs, commercial assessor for Garrett and Allegany counties; Joe Keating, current supervisor; Jim Margroff, former supervisor and current Orphans' Court judge; Jerry Moyer, former supervisor; Paugh; and C. John Sullivan Jr., director of the Department of Assessments and Taxation. Below are three current employees of the department whose years in the department total 128 years. From the left are Paugh and 40-year employees Staggs and Sullivan.

FRIENDSVILLE UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

There will be no services this Sunday, Oct. 3, at the Friendsville United Methodist Church. Instead there will be a combined service for all three churches to celebrate World Communion Sunday at Blooming Rose Methodist Church. Sunday school will begin at 10 a.m., and church services will be at 11 a.m.

The Friendsville United Methodist Women will meet on Monday, Oct. 4, at 7 p.m. at the church. Discussion will include the Harvest Dinner and if it will be held this year. A donation of food is greatly needed to make the Harvest Dinner a success, and as of now there is a strong possibility that this event may not be held this year. Anyone who is willing to donate food and has not already signed up may contact Janis Fisher at 301-746-5302 or Carol Frazee at 301-746-5416 before the Monday night meeting.

The women are now cleaning the church. A sign-up sheet is in the entrance to the church. The completion date should be Oct. 15.

RUSH BAPTIST CHURCH

The Rush Baptist Church will have communion this Sunday, Oct. 3, during the morning worship. Jean Selby will also be attending church. After church, there will be a covered dish dinner. Everyone is welcome to come worship with us and share fellowship with Ms. Selby. Rev. Ray Perkins is in charge of the Sunday services.

SAND SPRING CHURCH OF GOD

Primetime for Children and Youth will begin on Monday, Oct. 11, and continue every Monday from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Operation Hope Puppet Ministry will be participating each week. For more information, persons may contact Nevin Umbel at 301-746-4084.

BUCKWHEAT AND PANCAKE DINNER

The Snowy Creek 4-H Club will be holding a buckwheat/pancake/sausage dinner on Sunday, Oct. 3, beginning at 11 a.m. at the Friendsville Elementary School cafeteria. The cost is $5 per adult and $2.50 for children 12 years and under. The public is welcome to attend this event.

HOAGIE SALE

Mary Mickle Ministries studio of vocal and piano performance is holding a hoagie fundraiser. Orders are being taken until Oct. 8. Delivery date is Oct. 15. The hoagie price is $3.50 and the choice is Italian, ham, cheese, roast beef, or turkey. Anyone interested in placing an order can contact the studio at 301-387-0295.

SMOKING CESSATION PROGRAM

Mike Wilburn from the Garrett County Health Dept. will offer a smoking cessation program at the Friendsville Senior Center every Monday through Nov. 30 from 6 p.m. to 6:45 p.m.

All participating will receive encouragement and support to help quit. Nicotine patches will be provided at no cost. Financial assistance will be available for Zyban. Friends and family members are also welcome to attend. For more information or to register, persons may contact Brenda Frazee at 301-334-7730, ext. 6534.

LIBRARY NEWS

On Wednesday, Oct. 13, the library will present a puppet show for children, "Three Little Pigs," at 10 a.m. The show will be performed by Operation Hope Puppet Team. The public is welcome to attend.

The Friendsville Library Quilters are currently working on a new quilt. Patches may be picked up at the library Mondays and Wednesdays 2-8 p.m., Tuesdays and Thursdays noon-5:30 p.m., and on Saturdays 9 a.m. to 2 p.m..

FRIENDSVILLE VOL. FIRE DEPT.

The Friendsville Volunteer Fire Department is accepting bids for weekly cleaning personnel. For more information or to submit a bid, persons may contact Keith and Joy Fisher at 301-746-5928.

SCHOOL NEWS

The Friendsville Elementary School is once again participating in the Campbell's Labels for Education Program for free educational equipment. Persons can help the students earn free merchandise such as computers, audio/visual equipment, sports equipment, reference books, musical instruments, and a minivan simply by collecting the labels from Campbell products and forwarding them to the Friendsville Elementary School. Participating products include all Campbell's soups, Supper Bakes, beans, gravies, and canned pasta, as well as tomato juice. Other name brands include Franco-American Spaghetti-O's, Prego pasta sauces, Swanson broths and canned poultry, Pace salsa and picante sauces, V8 juices, and Pepperidge Farm breads, cereals, crackers, frozen products, and Goldfish crackers. For more information, persons may contact Jenny Schroyer at 301-746-4527. The program will run until June 1 of 2005.

RECYCLING NEWS

Curbside recycling will be held on Friday, Oct. 1, with pick-up beginning at 9 a.m. Acceptable items are newspapers, aluminum cans, colored glass, clear glass, and cardboard. Cardboard boxes should be cut open and laid flat. The participation of everyone is appreciated.

MAPLE GROVE CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN

The public is invited to the Maple Grove Church of the Brethren on Sunday, Oct. 10. The services on Sunday will be to celebrate the homecoming. The morning service is at 10:30 a.m. with guest speaker, Rev. Lawrence Nealis followed by a covered dish dinner.

The Anchor Quartet will have special music at the 2 p.m. service with guest speaker William (Bill) Sheimer. Everyone is invited to come and help celebrate this special occasion. The church is located two miles south of Grantsville on Maple Grove Road.

EMMANUEL LUTHERAN CHURCH

On Sunday, Oct. 10, the blessing of celebrating Appalachian Sunday will be held at 9:45 a.m. A joint parish worship service will be held with Bishop Ralph Dunkin presiding at the service and Bishop Emeritus Alex Black serving as preacher for the day. Included in the celebration will be a thanksgiving for the retirement of the debt on Emmanuel's new sanctuary and a burning of the loan for the new church. There will be a meal after the service. Many will wear clothing that reflect the history we share in Appalachia. Special music will be provided before the service, borne in Appalachian history. The loose offering for the day will support the ministry of our synod Rostered Leaders' Debt Reduction Fund, which collectively helps those who come to small and rural church congregations to reduce the large debt load they carry from seminary.

Emmanuel's Olde Fashioned Hymn Sing and Ice Cream Social was held at the church on Sunday night. The offering was taken for the ELCA Domestic Disaster Fund to aid Florida Hurricane Victims. Altar flowers for Sunday were given to the glory of God by Judy Perkins and family in honor of the birthday of her mother, Ethel Buckel.

MY NOTES

Here comes the rain again. It will take more colored leaves off our trees before October even begins. Sheila Southerly noted to me that the red leaves fall off the fastest. But my own maple trees also have shed plenty of golden yellow leaves, too. It has not yet come into its peak color, which is a kind of pinkish peach. During our recent sunny days, my bird feeder was again busy with plenty of gold finches. I even caught a quick glimpse of a lone hummingbird. At least I think that was the vibrating blur I saw out of the corner of my eye while I was busy doing another autumn painting.

As spectacular as our scenery is, it does not come up to the brilliant display at Northern High School football field last Saturday afternoon. It was a perfect day for the NHS Fall Band Spectacular. Northern was abuzz with many buses and six regional bands warming up and assembling, along with many loyal parents and other band supporters. It was as good a showcase as you could want. It is clear that the seven schools represented by their marching bands are a source of pride for their communities and have plenty of community support. However, not enough, unfortunately, as I did not see a single local political figure among the crowd. It seems that rarely do they show up for art events. But there were lots of little siblings of band members all glowing with pride for their big brothers and sisters. The audience, with supporters from rural schools, only show friendliness and support to their rivals. The same thing goes for the band members themselves. I heard many comments of "good job," etc. Of course, it is about winning. Keyser's drum major cradled their trophy. But more important, it is to get a higher score than the other competitors. What a hard job it is for a judge in this kind of event. They push our kids to try harder and be even more excellent.

I admit I am prejudiced, but I have rarely seen a more beautiful sight as the NHS drum major, my niece, Blakely Glotfelty, as she conducted the Husky Marching Band. I was not the only one moved by her, as the other band members were also inspired by the sight of that lovely young lady's gown and hair blowing in the breeze. Actually, the whole event caused an overflowing of emotion in us. It was an inspiration to see the effort of the band boosters membership. It takes quite a bit of serious baking to load the baked goods table with such a luscious assortment of goodies. It did my heart good as a Husky football player expressed deep regret and disappointment at having to be loaded on a bus with his teammates to play a game at Turkeyfoot High School instead of getting to watch the band show.

It was a long hot sunny afternoon for many parents and the young musicians, and their day continued at another show at Allegany High School in Cumberland. Personally, I was glad to stay home for some precious time with Claire, who was home for a weekend from W.Va. University. So far her freshman year is going great. It was a beautiful sight for my eyes to see all three of my wonderful daughters cuddled together on one small couch. Beside the couch was Boo, pressing her head against Claire's leg with an absolutely adoring look in her eyes. Whatever we do not have at my house, we do have plenty of love.

A reader got in touch with me and scolded me, feeling that I am not radiating a pure sense of Christian joy because I feel sadness or loss or regret. However, I am still on earth and can't avoid noticing the things I have lost. Or regret the things I wish I could still experience, like an autumn ride on horseback in the wild wonderful countryside. I know too well that I used to have everything anyone could desire. I am thankful for everything I had, still it is only human nature to regret what is gone or be content with what I still have. I do not think that my feelings show that I do not have Jesus Christ as my savior. I am sorry that my writings reflect that to some of you.

I still hope and pray for a miracle which would change everything for me. It is a small miracle that I am still rolling along. That is one good reason to keep on trying.

The Railey end-of-summer party for employees and their families was held at Smiley's Fun Zone recently, and included a pizza buffet, go-carts and bumper boats, mini-golf, and Laser Tag. Donna and Tim Glotfelty and Linda Oester were among those attending. Employees of Railey's were also recent luncheon guests of the owners of Peregrine's Perch at their Mountainside home overlooking Deep Creek Lake.

Mary Lou, daughter of the late Leo (Boots) and Marion Reckner, of Brownsville, Pa., recently visited Ida Reckner. She was accompanied by her husband, daughter, and granddaughter. Harvey Reckner, Confluence, Pa., was a Sunday afternoon caller.

William and Linda Oester recently entertained family members at their Salisbury, Pa., home. Luncheon guests included Jeff, Sheli, Ashlin, and Abbie Gray, Ashburn, Va., Julius and Karmen Carey, Frostburg, Warren and Josephine Oester, Salisbury, Pa., Betty Bittinger, Grantsville, and Donna Glotfelty and Ida Reckner.

Julius Carey has improved following a logging accident.

Karmen Carey and Donna Glotfelty traveled to Smithsburg Saturday afternoon, where they viewed a parade in which Amanda Platter participated as a Smithsburg Middle School band member.

Parties were held recently to celebrate the birthdays of 1-year-old Laci Carey and 2-year-old Allison Carey, attended by family members and friends. Laci is the daughter of Anthony and Amanda Carey, Frostburg, and Allison is the daughter of Chris and Janelle Carey, Longstretch. They are the granddaughters of Julius and Karmen Carey, also of Longsatretch.

COMMISSIONERS SUPPORT RECOVERY MONTH – The Garrett County commissioners last week signed a proclamation declaring September as "Join the Voices of Recovery . . . Now!" Month. The aim of the National Alcohol and Drug Addiction Recovery Month is to promote the societal benefits of treatment, laud the contributions of treatment providers, and promote the message that recovery from alcohol and drug abuse is possible. The proclamation encouraged all residents to take immediate action to guide those who need treatment toward the path of recovery. On hand for the proclamation signing were representatives from local treatment programs. Pictured, left to right, in the front row are Commissioners Ernie Gregg and Fred Holliday. In the second row are Melissa King and Patty Sines, Garrett County Health Department Substance Abuse Program; Kerrie Margroff, Addictions Advisory Board and Parole & Probation; and Madonna Pool, GCHD Substance Abuse Program. In the third row are Pastor David Martin, Faith Evangelical Church; Bob Stephens, GCHD Community Health Program; Jansen Judy, GCHD Substance Abuse Program; Lisa Jones, Addictions Advisory Council; Susan Mills, Ed Campbell, and John Hughes, GCHD Substance Abuse Program; Nancy Brady, GCHD Prevention Program; and Dr. William Pope, deputy health officer. Unable to attend the proclamation, but supporting the programs, are Captain Larry Gnegy, Jail Treatment Program; Henry Brown, Family Therapy Services (private sector), and Lynn Bell, Board of Education and Drug Free Schools. DONATION MADE TO QUILT SHOW – Simon Pearce has donated a item of glass work for the People's Choice prize at the second annual Heritage Quilter's Quilt Show, which will be held at the St. Peter's Church social hall during Autumn Glory. Persons wishing to show a quilt must enter it on Friday, Oct. 15, between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Aside from the People's Choice, which is determined by the viewers, this is not a judged event. On the right is Arlene Holzmann of Simon Pearce donating the glass to Martha McGettigan of the Heritage Quilters. For more information, persons may call 301-387-4959.

DON'T JUDGE A BOOK BY ITS COVER!

Ready to begin your home search? You probably have a good idea of exactly what you want and which amenities are most important to you. However, be prepared to compromise, because there's a chance you won't find the "dream home" you've imagined with everything you desire.

Be careful not to avoid looking at a home because you're not impressed by the exterior. Not every seller takes the time to repaint siding and landscape the yard before putting the For Sale sign out.

In many cases, the sellers have done work on the interior first, so give it a chance and take a peek. Remember that your own paint and landscaping can transform an otherwise wonderful home into exactly what you want. If nothing else, use it as a basis for comparison when you look at other homes!

What if you find a nice home that needs some repairs? Don't let worn carpeting or loose tiles stop you from making an offer. In many cases, you can get the sellers to repair mechanical and structural problems, but don't sweat the little stuff.

Remember too that repairs or cosmetic improvements that you handle yourself will be done exactly to your specifications and wishes. Try to be flexible and look at a variety of homes that the agent believes will meet your needs. It will be time well spent!

If you'd like to buy a home, but feel "out of touch" with what's happening in real estate, give me a call today!

Farming On The Mountaintop

Planting of Small Grains Under Way

Farmers have begun planting barley and wheat for the 2005 crop season. Barley was 13 percent planted, 11 percent above last year and 10 percent above the five-year average. Wheat was 4 percent planted, above last year and the five-year average. Weather conditions have been very favorable for planting small grains and harvesting corn and sorghum. There were 6.2 days suitable for field work for the week ending Sept. 26.

Corn harvest advanced 18 percent this week to 36 percent, 19 percent above last year and 5 percent above the five-year average. Soybeans are making good progress, with 57 percent turning color and 25 percent dropping leaves. A few farmers are starting to harvest their soybean crop. Cutting of fourth crop alfalfa and other hay increased to 72 percent and 40 percent, respectively.

CONTRACT: SR-03-05 KEYSER'S RIDGE
STANDING TIMBER FOR SALE

The Maryland State Forest and Park Service is offering for sale the following timber on 25 acres of Compartment #1 of Savage River State Forest. This sale is estimated to yield 441,520 Bd. Ft. of measured and marked live hardwood sawtimber according to the International ¼" Saw Kerf Rule (FC=78), and 265 cords of hardwood pulpwood, more or less.

This timber is located approximately one mile north of Route #40 back a state forest access road from a point approx. two miles west of the intersection with Route #219 in Comp. #1 of Savage River State Forest.

1. Timber will be shown at 9:00 a.m. on TUESDAY, October 12, 2004. Interested persons should arrange to meet at the Keyser's Ridge Truckstop (Rts. #40 and 219), at the above date and time.

2. Contract/Bid forms will be available at the showing or from Savage River State Forest Headquarters, 349 Headquarters Lane, Grantsville, MD 21536, 301-895-5759.

3. A Security Bond in the amount of 10% of the bid submitted must be posted as bids are submitted to the MD State Forest and Park Service.

4. The operator must be a registered Forest Products Operator in Maryland for the current year and hold a Certificate of Erosion and Sediment Control training to be awarded a State Forest Timber Contract.

5. A Performance Bond in the amount of 10% of the bid amount must be posted upon notification of bid acceptance. The Security Bond may be applied to cover the Performance Bond.

6. All timber volumes noted in this offering are estimates. Parties bidding on this timber should determine such volumes to their own satisfaction. NO adjustments on the basis of volume will be made under any circumstances.

7. The successful bidder may make payment as follows: (1) make full payment upon notification of bid acceptance, or (2) select to make a 50% payment upon notification of bid acceptance, with the remaining 50% payable and due within 90 calendar days of the bid acceptance. If the buyer selects this option, the delayed payment must be covered by a payment surety bond in a form acceptable to the state of MD.

8. Bids will be received up until 1:00 p.m. on MONDAY, OCTOBER 25, 2004.

Officials Approve Amendments To GC Master Plan

The Garrett County commissioners unanimously approved two amendments to the county's water and sewer master plan this week, following a public hearing. The plan now includes infiltration and inflow study findings and collection system rehabilitation projects for the Trout Run Treatment Facility and Friendsville.

County administrator Monty Pagenhardt noted that the projects needed to be included in the plan to apply for funding for them.

Director Mark Tonkovich, Garrett County Public Utilities, outlined the Trout Run treatment facility project that was added to Chapter IV under "Sewer: Mountain Lake Park/Loch Lynn Heights" in the county's master plan. The director said Whitman, Requardt, and Associates recently completed a study of the towns' sewer system and recommended that funding be obtained to replace the 24-, 27-, and 30-inch clay gravity interceptor sewer lines with polyvinyl chloride lines of the same diameter.

The estimated cost of the replacement project is $2,054,000, according to the director. Mtn. Lake Park and Loch Lynn have already obtained some funding to rehabilitate collection systems for the two towns, he noted. Garrett County has also pre-applied to the Maryland Department of the Environment (MDE) for funding of this project.

MANY MORE THAN A PECK of peppers are on colorful display this week by the Swartzentruber family in Pleasant Valley. This wagon of peppers upon peppers can be found parked along Rt. 219 south of Oakland, near the Saffiticker's ice cream stand. The vegetables are being sold by Ruth Ann (at left) and Ella Mae Swartzentruber, daughters of David and Sylvia. A box, containing about a bushel, is $6, or one may purchase 10 peppers for $1. Can't really beat that, especially for such beautiful red and green specimens. There are pumpkins available, too. 'Tis the time for a bountiful harvest in Garrett County, with plenty to share. Accidental Fire Damages House In The Valley

A problem with a wood stove flue pipe was ruled responsible for a fire that resulted in an estimated $10,000 in damage to a small one-story house in Pleasant Valley Tuesday morning.

Firefighters from the Oakland, Deer Park, Gorman, and Deep Creek fire departments were summoned at 11:07 a.m. to respond to the residence of Crystal Bolyard, located at 132 Sunny Valley Lane off Paul Friend Road. Upon arrival of the first units, heavy smoke was observed coming from the eaves and roof of the brick structure.

Ms. Bolyard was not at home at the time of the fire. The house is owned by Harvey Yoder.

It took only about 15 minutes for firefighters to bring the blaze under control. According to John Feather, chief of the Oakland VFD, the fire started in the wall at the flue pipe and advanced into the attic and roof area.

The Southern Rescue Squad also responded. No injuries were reported.

Queen City Funk & Soul Set To Jump Start AG Kick-Off Dinner

Queen City Funk & Soul will perform at the Autumn Glory kick-off dinner Wednesday, Oct. 13, providing a "high energy package" of dance and party music, according to the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce.

"The Cumberland group entertains with strong vocals and exciting instrumental soloists and has performed to capacity crowds throughout the area," said Charlie Ross, chamber president. "Queen City Funk and Soul is an impressive addition to our kick-off and will certainly add to the energy level and excitement.

"This impressive event is a great way to kick off our Autumn Glory events. This is Garrett County's leading event for our most important festival. From our music, announcements and delicious food, this promises to be an exciting, fun-filled evening."

The group's repertoire includes music from many soul artists of the 60s and 70s including James Brown, Wilson Pickett, Sam and Dave, Earth, Wind and Fire, Al Jarreau, Stevie Wonder, and Steely Dan, and features music from horn bands of the 60s, 70s and 80s.

Queen City Funk & Soul members include Fred Sullivan, vocals; Michelle "Mindy" Walters, vocals; Autumn Smith, vocals; Tom Harrison, keyboards and arrangements; Jim Roderick, guitar and arrangements; Steve Everett, bass; Chip Buck, drums; Adam Mason, percussion; Fred Kesner, lead trumpet and chief horn arranger; and Tom Simpson, trumpet.

Several different saxophonists have been featured with the group including Curtis Johnson, professor of applied saxophone at West Virginia University, and Rich Norwood of Elkins W.Va.

Several members of the band hold degrees in music and are in demand as arrangers, composers, and performers for a wide variety of musical services. This group released its first CD We've Got It Covered on July 4, 2000.

"I am very excited to have the honor and privi-

Charges Filed Against Another Garrett Builder

For the second consecutive week, the Maryland Attorney General's Office has filed charges against a local home construction firm alleging that it took deposits and payments from a consumer and failed to complete construction or refund the payments.

C&S Construction, an Oakland-based firm owned and operated by William D. Cook and Mark R. Shrout, entered into a contract to construct a home in Garrett County and accepted advance payments of $23,304. The charges allege that the firm never completed the home and failed to return the consumer's payment.

The attorney general's Consumer Protection Division alleges that, as C&S Construction, Cook and Shrout violated the Maryland Custom Home Protection Act, the Home Builder Registration Act, and the Consumer Protection Act by failing to place the $23,304 into an escrow account or having a surety bond to cover the deposit, and by failing to complete

SOON THE CROWDS WILL GATHER -- Indeed, the streets of Oakland will be abuzz next week, as the Autumn Glory Festival reaches the fever pitch of pre-parade activity on Saturday, shown here in a photo from last year's event. The festival will be officially launched on Wednesday evening with the annual Kick-Off Reception, to be held at Wisp in McHenry. The long series of activities will follow, all of which are described in detail in Splendor, a special AGF supplement in today's issue. There is truly something for all throughout the five-day, all-county party. Come celebrate the season! Photo by John McEwen.

Public To Flu Shot Shortage

The Garrett County Health Department issued a notice this morning alerting the public to the fact that a vaccine shortage will occur during this year's flu season. Officials of the Chiron Corporation, which is one of two manufacturers of influenza vaccine, made an unexpected announcement on Tuesday that they will be unable to supply the United States with 48 million doses of flu vaccine, a health department spokesperson reported.

The only other flu vaccine maker, Aventis, manufactured 54 million doses. According to the Centers for Disease Control (CDC), an estimated 90 to 95 million individuals have high-risk conditions that make them eligible for the vaccine, but only about 50% will come forward to receive it.

In response to Chiron's Oct. 5 announcement of its inability to supply vaccine, the CDC released newly revised recommendations.

"This creates an urgent situation that will affect residents in the county and across the country," said Rodney Glotfelty, health officer for Garrett County. "A real need exists to prioritize who receives flu vaccine this year."

The county health department is currently assessing the flu vaccine inventory among the local healthcare community, Glotfelty said, and the preliminary assessment indicates the inventory level is "extremely low" among all healthcare pro-

Highway Officials Slated To Be In County Tomorrow

Maryland Department of Transportation officials will be in Oakland tomorrow, Friday, Oct. 8, to meet elected representatives, local officials, and Garrett County citizens for the annual DOT "Tour" meeting, slated for 10 a.m. in the courthouse meeting room of the county commissioners. DOT and State Highway Administration leaders will be presenting the agency's draft of its six-year capital expenditures program, focusing on projects currently under way or proposed for Garrett County.

Input generated at the meetings is considered for incorporation into the department's final report, which will be submitted to the Maryland General Assembly in January. Copies of the draft program will be distributed to all those in attendance at the meeting.

Garrett County officials have compiled a list of their own priorities that they will pitch at the meeting. These are:

Woman Killed In Grantsville Collision Yesterday Morning

A Pennsylvania woman was killed in a collision between her minivan and a dump truck yesterday morning on the western end of Grantsville, according to the Maryland State Police. Investigators are asking any witnesses to call them at the numbers listed below.

Kathleen M. Wengerd, 70, of Springs, was traveling south on Springs Road (Route 669), when she apparently pulled onto Route 40 in an attempt to continue east. In doing so, she pulled into the path of a westbound 1998 Mack dump truck operated by Timothy Humberson, 44, Grantsville. The truck skidded and struck the driver's side of Wengerd's 2002 Chevrolet Venture.

Wengerd was pronounced dead at the scene, according to state police. The Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad and Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department assisted at the scene, and MSP medevac helicopter Trooper 5 and a crew from Verizon were also summoned.

State police are asking anyone who witnessed the accident to call the McHenry barrack at 301-387-1101 or 301-895-1101.

Community Action Gets $2.65M Loan For Economic Dev.

A guaranteed loan of $2,650,000 has been granted to Garrett County from the USDA Rural Development program to construct and equip a pump station to support development of the Adventure Sports Center on Marsh Mountain.

The loan will be borrowed by the Garrett County Community Action Committee. It will be used to supply water to private and public enterprises to assist in the economic development of the area, noted Congressman Roscoe Bartlett.

"This $2,650,000 loan will greatly benefit the people of Garrett County by delivering programs to support increasing economic opportunities and improved quality of life for residents," he said.

Commissioners Review BOE Capital Projects

The Garrett County commissioners this week reviewed the Board of Education's seven-year capital improvement program with Superintendent Dr. Wendell Teets and Mike Sines, supervisor of maintenance and operations.

Included in the 2006-2013 program are boiler replacement at Southern Middle School (FY 2006), roof replacement at Southern High (2006), boiler replacement at Kitzmiller Elementary (2006), roof replacement at Crellin Elementary (2007), renovation of Northern Middle (2007-09), renovation of Dennett Road Elementary (2008-10), and replacement/renovation of Kitzmiller Elementary (2011).

Sines noted that 25-year-old facilities that are considered "new" now were going to need repairs within the next 10 or 15 years.

Another priority for the Board of Education is constructing a new warehouse. The board is currently using two unsightly, deteriorating storage buildings near the National Guard Armory in Oakland.

Commissioner Dave Beard said the buildings were an embarrassment in the neighborhood, adding that surely the county could come up with a solution.

"I'm just glad we don't have to identify those buildings as Garrett County government property," he said.

Commissioner Ernie Gregg noted that because the buildings were classified as "non-conforming use," town zoning regulations prohibit any work being done on them other than general maintenance.

Sines said the board has identified its basic needs for CREATING LEAF ANIMALS AT CRELLIN ELEMENTARY - Kevin Dodge of Garrett College helped students in kindergarten through second grade at Crellin Elementary School gather and identify leaves which they then made into leaf animals. Some of the leaf animals will be on display during the Autumn Glory celebrations at the school and at the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce's office. The chamber gave the students and teachers some small souvenirs that celebrate the festival's natural beauty, as well as the county's railroad and coal heritage.

GC Partnership Receives Funds For Youth Initiative

The Governor's Office of Crime Control and Prevention and the State Advisory Board on Juvenile Justice have awarded the Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families Inc. $88,227 for year three of its Garrett Youth Development Initiative.

This initiative is multi-faceted but operates under two primary core efforts, the Garrett Leadership Alliance and Garrett Youth Connections, according to Susan Athey-Oxford, executive director of the Partnership.

The Garrett Leadership Alliance promotes activities that enhance community protective factors and reduce community risk factors simultaneously through two science-based prevention models, Healthy Communities Healthy Youth (HCHY) and Communities Mobilizing for Change on Alcohol (CMCA).

HCHY is community-focused and is designed to ensure a common vision of what is needed to nurture and promote the healthy development of youth using a developmental assets approach from birth to adulthood, said Athey-Oxford. CMCA is a community-level intervention designed to influence community norms and attitudes regarding underage drinking as well as alcohol abuse in general.

The Garrett Youth Connections promotes empowering youth, particularly at-risk youth, to succeed. The activities associated with this core element include the planning and policy recommendations made by the Garrett Youth Development and Prevention board and the interventions provided by the Family Support specialists, she said.

The board is advisory in nature and makes recommendations to the county commissioners and the local management board concerning matters related to youth development and prevention. The board, chaired by Dave Beard, is continuing to develop a county-wide youth development strategic plan with the assistance of national experts from Communities That Care™.

The board is composed of 25 interagency partners from law enforcement, C-Safe (formally, HotSpots), Safe and Drug Free Schools, Pupil Services, Mental Health, Community Outreach and Education, Head Start, Social Services, Dove Center, Juvenile Justice, Healthy Families Garrett County, Substance Abuse Program, County Extension Services, and the Partnership.

NEW NHS GYMNASIUM UNVEILED – Numerous dignitaries showed up for Wednesday's dedication of Northern High School's newly renovated lobby areas, one of which is the gym lobby. Speakers included Senator John Hafer, Delegate George Edwards, and Dr. Wendell Teets, school superintendent. Also in attendance were school board members, county commissioners, the architect, and the builders. The new gymnasium wall is now adorned with a drawing of a husky, seen above. Construction began in the spring and continued throughout the summer. Pictured above, not necessarily in this order, are Joe Gaudio, foreman of Carl Belt Construction; Brian Marker, vice president of RH Lapp & Sons; Adam Sterne, project manager of Carl Belt Construction; Michael Gehr, BMGM Architects; Richard Lawson, president of RHL; Hafer; Teets; Monty Pagenhardt, county administrator; Commissioners Fred Holliday and Dave Beard; BOE member Charlotte Sebold; Commissioner Ernie Gregg; Edwards; Laura Costa, student board member; Mike Sines, director of maintenance/operations/facilities; school board members Madeleine Collins, Camilla Rawe, Jim Raley, and Rodney Durst; Dr. David Lever, executive director of Public Schools Construction Program/MSDE; Gary Reichenbecher, principal; and Dr. Brenda McCartney, assistant superintendent.

lege to announce the 2004 Honorary Golden Ambassador on this, the 50th anniversary of the Turkey Growers Association," said Jeff McCauley, last year's Golden Ambassador.

The evening also includes the coronation of the Autumn Glory Royal Court and recognition of the Parade Marshals. The court includes Eric M. Johnson and Erin Ashley Rhodes as king and queen and Andrew Goad and Blakely Glotfelty as prince and princess.

This year organizers of the first annual Garrett County Turkey Growers' Festival will serve as 2004 Grand Parade Marshals for the Autumn Glory parade on Saturday, Oct. 16. This selection recognizes the county's rural heritage and the importance of events leading up to the founding of the Autumn Glory Festival, now in its 37th year.

The evening starts with a 6 p.m. cocktail hour. The sit-down dinner begins at 7 p.m. The reception ticket includes an open bar, hors d'oeuvres, sit-down dinner, and first class entertainment.

Each attendee to the kick off reception receives a collectible Autumn Glory pin and Golden Ambassador pass. The pass entitles the holder to admission and priority seating at the Ronnie Reno and the Reno Tradition Concert and the Banjo Contest on Friday night and the Fiddle and Mandolin Contest on Saturday night, as well as priority seating on the bleachers near the reviewing stand for the Grand Feature Parade Saturday afternoon.

"This gift from the business community underwrites a good portion of the festival expenses," said Ross. "On Wednesday, this is the place to be."

The kick-off dinner will be held at the Lodge at Wisp. Tickets are still available. To make reservations, persons may call Lynne Crehan at 301-387-4386.

viders, including hospital and long-term care facilities in the county. The department, in conjunction with the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene and CDC, will continue to monitor the situation.

An attempt will be made to have vaccine supplies reallocated to high-risk areas across the state of Maryland, such as hospitals and long-term care facilities that ordered vaccines from Chiron and did not receive the shipments. Because the flu vaccine supply is not expected to increase, the status of scheduling flu clinics in the county is on hold.

The newly revised CDC "Interim Influenza Vaccination Recommendations: 2004-05" are as follows:

Priority groups for vaccination with inactivated influenza vaccine this season are: all children ages 6-23 months, adults ages older than 65 years, persons ages 2-64 years with underlying chronic medical conditions, all women who will be pregnant during influenza season, residents of nursing homes and long-term care facilities, children 6 months to 18 years of age on chronic aspirin therapy, health care workers with direct patient care, and out-of-home as well as household contacts of children younger than 6 months.

Other persons recommended for vaccinations are as follows: Healthy persons who are 5-49 years of age and not pregnant but who are health-care workers (except those who care for severely immunocompromised patients in special care units) and persons caring for children younger than 6 months – these individuals are encouraged to be vaccinated with the intranasally administered live, attenuated influenza vaccine.

Persons in priority groups identified above should be encouraged to search locally for the vaccine if their usual health-care provider does not have it available.

Many children older than 9 years require two doses of vaccine if they have not previously been vaccinated. All children at high risk of complications from influenza (including those ages 6-23 months) who present for vaccination should be vaccinated with a first or second dose, depending on vaccination status. However, doses should not be held in reserve to ensure that two doses will be available. Rather, available vaccine should be used to vaccinate persons in priority groups on a first-come, first served basis.

Persons who are not included in one of the priority groups above are asked to forego vaccination in light of the urgent vaccine supply situation, the CDC recommends.

Persons in the following groups should not get flu vaccine before talking with their doctor: Those who have a severe allergy (an anaphylactic allergic reaction) to hens' eggs; and those who previously developed Guillain-Barré syndrome (GBS) in six weeks after getting a flu shot.

To avoid getting infected with the flu, persons are advised to avoid close contact with people who are sick; stay home when they themselves are sick; cover one's mouth and nose with a tissue when coughing or sneezing; wash hands often; and avoid touching one's own eyes, nose, or mouth with one's hands which could be contaminated with germs.

Miss Maryland Tiffany Jenkins To Attend AGF

Tiffany Jenkins, Miss Maryland 2004, will be one of many distinguished guests at this year's 37th annual Autumn Glory Festival. Her attendance is once again being sponsored by Gregg's Pharmacy, Oakland.

Miss Maryland is a graduate student at Howard University pursuing a master of arts in counseling degree. She is a graduate of Hampton University with a bachelor of arts degree in psychology. Her career ambition is to obtain a doctorate degree in clinical psychology.

Her platform issue is "Relay for Life: Helping Kids Fight Cancer, One Step at a Time."

Jenkins, who is from Silver Spring and performed a pop vocal performance in the competition, had earned the local title of Miss Gaithersburg.

REL Children's Hour Puts Kids In Touch With Braille Reading

A recent Children's Hour program at the Ruth Enlow Library featured volunteer reader Robin Fife, who read two books written in Braille as the youngsters listened attentively.

While Fife was reading, the children sampled the touch and feel of Braille from several books circulated by reference librarian Dorene Rogers. Fife, who has been blind since birth, read The Very Busy Spider by Eric Carle and Caps for Sale by Esphyr Slobodkina. "I chose The Very Busy Spider because it shows children about nature," Fife said. "The spider lives near a farm, so the story has different animal sounds in it. Caps for Sale tells a tale of an unusual peddler who carries the caps he is selling on his head instead of on his back. He must move slowly so as not to upset his caps."

A client at Appalachian Crossroads, Fife says she prefers to think of her blindness as a physical challenge as opposed to a disability. She received most of her training in Braille from the Maryland School for the Blind in Baltimore. "I like to read inspirational books, and I developed my joy of reading from the Bible," she stated.

When the program concluded, Fife donated her copy of The Very Busy Spider in Braille to the Oakland library. She also donated several other books, including Nutty Nutty Knocks!, Cricket's Jokes, Riddles & Other Stuff, Do You Remember the Color Blue? And Other Questions Kids Ask About Blindness, and Gift from the Sea. Each of those donated books were transcribed into Braille by Seedlings, a non-profit organization dedicated to providing high-interest, low-cost Braille books for children.

For further information on Children's Hour and other offerings of the Ruth Enlow Library, persons may call the Oakland library at 301-334-3996.

Southern Band Takes First At Westminster

Recording a score of 79.50, the Southern Garrett Marching Band captured first place in the group I division of the Westminster Band Classic, held Saturday in Westminster.

Besides defeating nine other bands in the division, Southern also captured specialty awards for Best Color Guard and Best Music. In addition, Allison Richter finished second in the judging for Best Drum Major among all 18 drum majors in the competition, placing just 1/10 point behind Brunswick's drum major.

Brunswick finished second in group I with a score of 79.50, while Northern High School (not Northern Garrett) finished third with a score of 76.05. The Northern Garrett High School band finished fifth in group I with a score of 75.2.

"We are exceptionally happy with the performance of our students," stated Richard Clever, SHS band director. "Each week they are improving their personal and collective efforts. Our music and our drill package are challenging and exciting, and our kids are having a great time with the program. All of that has translated into a great deal of success so far this year."

The band will perform again this Saturday, Oct. 9, in a competition hosted by Francis Scott Key High School in Union Bridge. It will begin at 6 p.m.

Single-Vehicle Crash Injures LaVale Woman

An Allegany County woman was airlifted from the scene of a single-vehicle crash near Friendsville last Thursday, Sept. 30. Maryland State Police troopers stationed at the McHenry barrack reported the woman's injuries were not life threatening, and attributed that to the proper use of a seatbelt.

At approximately 11:01 a.m., Ashleigh Love, 21, LaVale, was approaching Friendsville on westbound Interstate 68 when, three miles east of the town, she lost control of her car. The 2002 Volkswagen Jetta skidded off the roadway and struck a tree.

Love, the vehicle's only occupant, was flown to Cumberland Memorial Hospital by MSP medevac helicopter Trooper 5. The Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad and the Friendsville Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the scene.

Charges are pending, according to the press release from the McHenry barrack.

Grantsville Woman Arrested Following Police Car Pursuit

A Grantsville woman who drove off during a traffic stop was arrested minutes later when she stopped a second time, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Donna Lee Knauff, 43, Grantsville, was charged with driving under the influence, driving while impaired, attempting to elude police, violating a license restriction, negligent driving, failure to drive right of center, and second-degree assault.

According to the report, the deputy activated his emergency equipment and Knauff pulled the Chevy S-10 Blazer over on Maryland Highway near Leon White Road, but before the deputy exited his vehicle, the Chevy left the scene. A brief pursuit ended on Gorman Road near the intersection of Maryland Highway after the Chevy stopped for a second time.

According to police, after Knauff was arrested she became disorderly and kicked one of the responding deputies.

Knauff was released Friday on her personal recognizance, police said.

Two Injured As Van Flips On Interstate 68

Two Virginia residents were injured Friday when their van was struck and thrown out of control by another vehicle operated by a driver who had reportedly fallen asleep at the wheel, according to the McHenry barrack of the Maryland State Police. The 9:17 p.m. mishap occurred near the Route 219 North exit of Interstate 68.

Harold Lash III, 23, Ephrata, Pa., was traveling west when he apparently fell asleep. His 1992 Ford Mustang drifted into the slow lane and struck the left rear of a 1996 Ford Aerostar van operated by Meredith Lehmer, 56, Manassas, Va. Lehmer's van skidded off the right shoulder, struck an embankment, and overturned, injuring the driver and her passenger, William Lehmer, 58, also of Manassas.

Lash's Mustang veered off the left side of the road, through the median, and crossed all three lanes of the eastbound interstate before coming to a stop facing the wrong way on the right shoulder.

The Lehmers were transported to Cumberland Memorial Hospital by the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad, while Lash refused treatment.

The Grantsville and Eastern Garrett volunteer fire departments also responded.

Lash was charged with negligent driving by investigating officer Tfc. M. DeValk.

•Receiving more detailed information regarding scheduling of funding and progress of right of way acquisition, design, engineering, and construction of the Oakland bypass.

•Similarly, more detailed information will be sought regarding the Rt. 219 North project (linking Interstate 68 at Chestnut Ridge to the Meyersdale, Pa., bypass) for the proposed North/South Appalachian Corridor.

•Continue to evaluate the existing Rt. 219 Corridor, emphasizing planning for improvements to the existing corridor throughout the entire county, including the Accident bypass.

•Clarify the status of project to replace the Rt. 219 Bridge over the Youghiogheny River south of Red House – is replacement still slated to take place within five years?

•Correction of a sight distance problem at Rt. 560 and Baker Farm Road (scene of a fatal accident two year ago) is requested.

•Clarify status and funding for the construction of a sidewalk between Southern High School and Mtn. Lake Park.

•Improve the angular intersection of Md. Rt. 495 and New Germany Road to make it a perpendicular intersection.

•Correct a sight distance problem (due to vegetation) at the intersection of Rt. 495 and Spring Lick Road.

•Ask for consideration of installing a southbound left turn lane from Rt. 219 to Kings Run Road (scene of a recent fatal accident.

•Excavate "for visibility of shopping plaza" along Rt. 219 near Pysell Road.

State Traffic Law Changes Affect Crosswalk, School Bus Violations

Two changes to Maryland's motor vehicle regulations that went into effect at the start of this month have major implications for drivers who fail to yield to pedestrians in crosswalks, and for those who pass stopped school buses operating flashing red lights as children are boarding or disembarking.

The new crosswalk law requires the motor vehicle driver to stop when a pedestrian is in a marked crosswalk approaching from an adjacent lane on the opposite half of the roadway. Any person convicted of a violation of pedestrian right of way is subject to a fine of up to $500 and possibly two months in jail or both.

"The new law removes the mandatory appearance in court for violators as part of the penalty, making the law more enforceable and keeping more police officers on the streets," said Maryland State Highway administrator Neil J. Pedersen.

For failing to stop or remain stopped for a school vehicle with actively flashing red lights, the maximum fine has been doubled, and can be applied up to $1,000.

"There is too dear a price to pay for not following these critical traffic safety laws–the cost of life," Pedersen stated. "In Maryland we've been working hard to raise traffic safety awareness with the ultimate goals of changing behavior, reducing crashes and saving lives. Our '12 Months of Safety' program focuses on school zone safety and school bus safety in October. With school children back in force and dusk coming earlier, we must remain vigilant in looking out for school children and all pedestrians."

More than 100 pedestrians are killed each year in Maryland, and motorists must be especially careful in towns and in school zones. In 2003 there were a total of 109,130 police reported crashes in the state, 1,607 of these crashes involved school buses, which contributed to four fatalities.

"These types of crashes are preventable," AAA representative John White said. "Hopefully, these new laws will remind motorists to slow down and be more aware of their surroundings, so more drivers will be able to stop and prevent these crashes from occurring."

AAA and Maryland State Highway Administration offer the following advice to motorists.

When driving near school buses, remember:

•It is against the law to pass a stopped school bus while its lights are flashing and its stop arm is extended.

•On undivided roadways, with no physical barrier or median, vehicles must stop on both sides of the roadway.

•Yellow flashing lights indicate that the bus is preparing to load or unload children. Motorists should slow down and prepare to stop their vehicles.

•Red flashing lights and extended stop arms indicate that the bus has stopped, and children are getting on or off. Motorists approaching from either direction must wait until the red lights stop flashing before proceeding.

Tips for parents and other motorists:

•Stop for pedestrians at crosswalks–it is Maryland state law. Crosswalks exist at all intersections, even if they are unmarked.

•Remember, pedestrians have the right of way at crosswalks; motorists must yield to them when turning. Stop for pedestrians when making a right turn on red or left turn on full green, leaving enough room at intersections so that pedestrians can cross safely.

•Drivers must vigilantly watch the roadway at all times, and always follow the speed limit, which may be lower in designated school zones.

•Drivers need to remember the unpredictability of children and look out for all pedestrians.

•And make sure you and your passengers are buckled up properly. Seat belts are your number one defense in a crash.

A Looming Catastrophe...

Obviously a long list of difficult challenges awaits either President Bush or Senator Kerry following the November election, and few are any more challenging than the spiraling, out-of-control costs of medical malpractice insurance for physicians and liability insurance for hospitals. Nowhere is the problem any more pronounced right now than here in the state of Maryland.

Physicians practicing in Maryland were slapped with a 28 percent hike in their already high malpractice insurance premiums this year, and it was just announced a couple weeks ago that Medical Mutual, the company which covers the majority of Maryland doctors, won approval from the state insurance commissioner for another 33 percent rate increase next year. This will raise the annual premium for an obstetrician, one of the highest-risk specialties, to approximately $150,000.

Meanwhile, it was announced yesterday by the Maryland Hospital Association that hospitals, many of which are already struggling to meet costs, are paying 34 percent more for liability insurance this year than last, adding a total of $40 million to Maryland hospital costs. The overall cost for the insurance in 2001 was $67 million; in 2003, $104 million; and this year, $144 million. No wonder hospital rates for patients have to be so high.

Nearly 40 percent of over 700 doctors questioned by MedChi, Maryland's medical society, said they are considering closing their practices, moving to another state, limiting their services, and/or retiring early.

The children of two different Garrett County physicians were asked recently if they were going to follow their parents footsteps into a career in medicine, and without exception — without hesitation — they all said no. The cost of going to medical school, the horrendous hours that most physicians keep, and the outrageous cost of malpractice insurance were their primary reasons for pursuing different careers.

The end result of this will be absolutely catastrophic for our nation if extreme measures are not taken, and taken soon, both at the state and federal levels. Governor Ehrlich appointed a task force just yesterday, and a special session of the state legislature to deal with this specific issue is being considered for either November or December.

Tort reform, including limiting the size of monetary awards granted in medical malpractice cases, is one thing that must be accomplished before this pending calamity can be effectively addressed.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I agree with the editor in his Sept. 23 editorial that Americans, other nations, and the media should be appalled at the gruesome beheading of two American contractors two weeks ago. However, I take offense at your presumption that anyone who dislikes President Bush would say that we [America] are only getting what we deserve. No one deserves this type of inhuman treatment.

What I question though is our administration's unyielding position not to negotiate with terrorists. I can only imagine the helplessness the families of these two contractors felt, knowing no one would come to their loved ones' aid. In a recent NPR interview, an international expert in terrorist negotiations said that in a hostage situation, one never puts himself in this position. That is, these situations require a willingness to explore all possible avenues until the outcome is certain. The fact that the British contractor, Kenneth Bigley, taken hostage at the same time as the two Americans, is still alive may be attributable to the fact that there are interested parties negotiating for his life. Over the past week other hostage negotiations have helped to win freedom for two Italian AID workers and six Egyptians.

Robert Vagnetti
McHenry

Dear Mr. Vagnetti,

First of all, I made NO such presumption; I have no clue how you came to that conclusion. This was in no way a pro-Bush or anti-Kerry editorial. Are you sure that you're not thinking of some other editorial you may have read?

Secondly, only a fool negotiates with terrorists. To do so even once would result in an endless stream of future kidnappings and beheadings.

Editor

To the Editor:

My compliments to you and to David Foster for the three-part series about the wreck on the highway. Perhaps other reporters have done this, but it is the first time I've ever seen reporting in such detail – about what happened, why it happened, and what happened at the accident scene, how the emergency personnel worked, how volunteers helped, and how the family came through the ordeal. It is a remarkable "investigative" report, and David Foster (and his newspaper and its editors) should know they have done something special.

Thank you,
Nada D. Poole

To the Editor:

We need a change of presidents and I will tell you why I say this.

I. Several people I have spoken to say, "I'm not going to vote"!

II. The other day I called the Democratic Committee asking them for a sign to be placed on my lawn. The sleepy voice there said, "we don't put the presidential signs on the lawns; you have to come and get them"!

III. I ask you, what has happened to the American spirit? The spirit, which Roosevelt and Kennedy passed on to us?! There would be lawn signs everywhere and their speeches would remind us, we are living in the best country of the world. As Kennedy said, "Ask not what your country can do for you. Ask what you can do for your country."

That's the spirit we need today! We need a change, and that change needs to take place in the November elections! Kate Smith said it all, "God Bless America!"

To the Editor:

My mother loved her independence; however, there came a time in her life when she was no longer self-sufficient. I had to use a lot of persuasion to convince her to move from her home in Cumberland to mine in Garrett County, as she was gradually going blind and experiencing some senility.

I found the National Family Care Giver Program, created by U.S. Senator Barbara Mikulski, to be of great help, by having someone come in to bathe her and monitor her blood pressure.

Senator Mikulski also worked hard to secure funding for home-delivered meals for those who need them in Garrett County. For a period of time we had meals delivered and, believe me, that was a great help.

As time went on, my mother's eyesight deteriorated so much that she began to fall. Although she was of smaller stature than I, it was impossible for me to pick her up. She was a dead weight. At various times I had to get family members to come help me.

Knowing she needed more care, I asked if she would consider going to the local nursing home to get help with her needs. My daughter-in-law, who is director of nurses at Dennett Road Manor, spoke with her and suggested she try it. Reluctantly, she consented and remained there until her death three years later. There, she received quality care, good meals, and there was always something scheduled to entertain the residents. It was, in essence, "a home away from home," where she was content and I could visit her daily and feel at ease that she was getting the best care that could be received. Senator Mikulski prevented nursing homes from closing by fighting to stop proposed cuts in Medicare funding. For this I am very grateful.

I am reminded of a quote from the senator: "I carry with me the belief that 'Honor thy Mother and Father' is not only a good commandment, but good public policy. Our 'Greatest Generation' deserves the respect and support of its federal government. I take your fight to the Senate with me each and every day."

We all want what is best for our families, and to Senator Mikulski I say, "God bless you, and keep up the good work! You have my vote for another term as U.S. Senator in the November general election!"

Sincerely,
Doris J. Goldsborough

To the Editor:

John Kerry showed a mastery of the issues, quick thinking ability, and presented strong alternatives to President Bush's war policy during Thursday's debate. I was impressed with Kerry's factual knowledge and his courage in stating his positions clearly. I appreciated his persistence in rebutting President Bush's misleading statements.

Kerry correctly stated that the 9/11 Commissio confirms there was no cor nection to 9/11 itself an Saddam Hussein. While Kerry asserted his commitment to complete the work in Iraq, he pointed out that attacking Iraq actually diverted U.S. attention and resources away from many of the real issues with terrorism and Osama bin Laden. Kerry also made clear the need for greater involvement of other nations, cited methods of fighting terrorism in more effective ways, and articulated the importance of leaving no doubt that Iraq is to be free and independent.

Kerry's approach offers a thoughtful and detailed plan for completing the war in Iraq and using our resources in more effective ways. Kerry's approach makes me feel more optimistic about a safer and better world.

Sincerely,
Vicki L. Carlson

To the Editor,

I was so relieved last night to see what an outstanding job John Kerry did in the presidential debate. Senator Kerry showed that he can talk intelligently about real truths, not getting upset, angry, or petulant. He was far more like a president than the president, and I believe that, as he spelled out, he does have alternatives to Bush's Iraq policy of bullying ahead regardless, and saying, "I'm right, I'm right, I'm right."

From the very start, I found the Bush invasion of Iraq incomprehensible. Somehow, after Afghanistan, he equated 9/11 with Iraq, Saddam Hussein with bin Laden, and used the guise of "weapons of mass destruction" to take up where his father left off. I have never figured out Bush's motivations; his reasoning is bogus. His deliberate use of young men and women's lives to fight in an Iraqi war that is not justifiable is criminal.

I believe in exhausting all means of communication and peaceful negotiation, cooperating with the other nations of the world and creating alliances, and finally taking reasoned actions as an alliance of nations, not as self-seeking bullies and cronies. Kerry echoed these sentiments (or I am echoing his), and by taking the above measured responses, we seldom, if ever, would find ourselves at war with the wrong enemy.

However, it is not only Iraq. It is also the other issues facing us here at home that I am dismayed about – the deficit, the collapse of Social Security and Medicare that loom in the near future, the jobs we have lost to foreign countries, the lack of a meaningful wage for the jobs that do exist, the lack of health insurance and lack of a meaningful drug plan, the ever widening gap between the haves and the have-a-littles and the have-nots, and I do not see GWB and the Republicans doing anything for the good of the future of the world, much less the future of myself and my family and friends.

I look forward to the next debates to see if the candidates will address any of these issues. I feel confident that Kerry will once again be able to present a more reasoned debate. I encourage everyone to vote; I especially encourage you to vote for Senator John Kerry to be the next president.

Sincerely,
Judy Sconyers
Terra Alta, W.Va.

To the Editor:

We have a sitting president, steadfast and committed, with religious conviction and an unshakable will to protect this country, who understands the threat of global terror and the consequences it could have on our freedom.

We also have the most liberal senator in America who is almost comically naïve. The Democratic presidential nominee in his latest speech declared that he never would have invaded Iraq. He added that he would save America from isolation and ruin by training his "formidable" diplomatic skills and "whuppin" bin Laden. Does that mean that he will say "pretty please" to France? He must have been told already that France and Germany are not going to send troops to Iraq with or without Teresa and John in the Whitehouse. France is so top-heavy in scandal with ties to Iraq and the "oil for food" fiasco that they have become a world embarrassment, not to mention the UN that they embrace.

Kerry's inconsistent campaign-trail pronouncements have left him with the title of "fallacious flip-flopper." He changes positions almost as often as he takes a stance. Do he and his advisors believe that all of Americans are "politically Neanderthals?" I believe the same as many in America do – that Kerry is as much a flip-flopper as he is fundamentally dishonest.

Of course, the partisan media, i.e., "Dan Rather and company," prefer to play up to his policy changes, citing them as evidence of his mental "acuity." Now that's a stretch even for CBS. CNN reported that Kerry's "flip-flopping" flows from his sophistication and ability to appreciate "nuance." Stop; I'm getting sick. There is a big difference between changing your mind to accommodate changed circumstances, but Kerry's positions change with the political wind, showing him as politically reckless. John Kerry is a "narcissist" whose policy positions are based on the potential impact on his political future.

Just like Dan Rather is "unfit for journalism," John Kerry is "unfit for command."

"A GARDEN AND A GRAVE"

"Are you an American?" It was the concierge of the house where I live. She knew full well that I am an American, and I knew that she knew that. So why was she asking me?

"Oui," I replied, "je suis un Américain."

She proceeded to tell me that on the coming weekend the gardens of Paris would be open for free public visitation. This was a once-a-year festival of gardens.

The great gardens of Paris are open to the public year-round. At many of them there would be special events. The gardens of government departments, religious orders, and a few private or specialized gardens would be open just this one weekend.

It was not the gardens; however, that precipitated her question. She had in mind the possibility that I might like to visit the grave of the Marquis de Lafayette who played a personal role in the American Revolution and who symbolized French support for our cause.

Two hundred years ago Picpus was a village to the east of Paris where there was located a convent of Carmelite nuns. In the convent garden during the summer of A.D. 1794 there were erected two guillotines where 1,306 French were executed, including the 16 nuns of the convent.

The French composer Francois Poulenc paid his tribute to them in his powerfully evocative opera, Dialogues of the Carmelites. As they await their turn at the guillotine, the nuns sing Salve Regina together. The movement of the guillotine is represented by a roll on the tambourine, if I remember correctly, concluded with a resounding thud at the end. The choir diminishes until there is only one voice, and then none.

Only a few feet from the site of that atrocity lay the mortal remains of the Marquis de Lafayette and his wife. They chose to be buried near the victims of the French Revolution. The Lafayettes survived the reign of terror, and played their part in establishing a constitutional democracy in France. The Marquis died in A.D. 1834.

As I read the memorial plaques setting forth the horrors of 1794, the stillness became eerie. Visitors to that place whispered, and whispered only a little. The silence was not that of peace, rather of anguish.

In the quiet of that place physical objects became icons. An American flag, fresh and crisp, stands sentinel over the Marquis's grave. There are bronze markers from various chapters of the Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution and from other organizations which perpetuate the memory of that great moment in history.

A stone doorway stands in the middle of the garden, last remains of some venerable building. I walked through that doorway expecting to discover myself in another time or place, like the wardrobe in the Narnia Chronicles of C.S. Lewis. Perhaps I was in another time, though in that place.

Five hives of honey bees were hard at work completing their rounds before the onslaught of truly cold weather, reminder of how near neighbors the bitter and the sweet can be.

A young mother attended her toddler on the edge of the grass, an image of hope in all ages and places.

A statue of St. Michael the Archangel is also there, lancing the dragon, as described in Revelation 12. What was different in this sculpture from so many others I have seen was the sadness in the face of St. Michael. Destroying Satan is necessary, but St. Michael does not forget that this enemy of God was once his captain.

Perhaps St. Michael says of Lucifer what George Whitefield said on seeing a man go to the gallows, "There but for the grace of God go I."

The graveyard and garden at Picpus remind Americans and French alike that our countries do best when we attend to each other's opinions and insights. When either of our nations goes its way alone, it tends to bloody excess. That was true in 1794, and it remains true 210 years later.

French support during our Revolution, alliance during two world wars and cooperation in many other causes small and great all point to the wisdom of mutual reliance and understanding.

The French nation presented the Statue of Liberty to the American nation as a gift to mark one hundred years of American independence. Has it ever happened in the history of the world that one country has invented and presented another country with one of its foremost symbols?

Such were the ponderings of my reverie as I stood by the grave of Lafayette, and read the historical markers which explained much about his choice. All who would come to honor him in death must read this warning of history: excess renders good evil.

His grave is a signpost in the wilderness of politics and war, urging moderation even in the most important and noblest of causes.

Yes, I am an American.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Private William Michael LaRue Jr. is serving with the U.S. Army National Guard Service Battalion 1, 201st Field Artillery unit, based in Kingwood. The 2004 Preston High School graduate joined the National Guard in Sept. 2003, and graduated from basic training at Fort Benning, Ga., in August.

During the nine-week program, LaRue completed a variety of training which included first aid, drill and ceremonies, tactical communications, weapons and artillery, and hand-to-hand combat training, along with other training information.

While at Ft. Benning, LaRue earned sharpshooter designation in rifle marksmanship, and expert designation in the use of hand grenades. He also served as a squad leader and platoon guide.

After graduating from basic training, LaRue was stationed at Fort Bliss, Texas, where he completed his advanced infantry training as a motor transport operator.

LaRue is the son of Robert and Karen Paugh, Deer Park, and Bill and Carol LaRue, Terra Alta.

Navy Chief Petty Officer Harold J. Wilt, son of Lavna J. Cummings of Oakland, was recently selected for promotion to that rank while assigned with Naval Security Group Command, Detachment Potomac, Naval Research Lab, Washington, D.C.

While serving in the ranks of petty officer first class, Wilt became a candidate for promotion to chief petty officer by passing a written exam. A selection committee, composed of other chief petty officers and commissioned officers, then selected Wilt from among other top candidates based upon his leadership and professional abilities.

Promotion to chief petty officer marks a major step in Wilt's naval career, a Navy spokesperson said.

The ranks of chief petty officers are composed of only top sailors who are technical experts within their job rating. Wilt was recently designated an enlisted surface warfare specialist (ESWS). To earn his ESWS designation, Wilt had to demonstrate a basic working knowledge of the ship's damage control, engineering, operations, weapons, supply, and administrative systems.

Wilt is a 1983 graduate of Southern High School. He joined the Navy in May 1989.

Laura Stutzman Is Illustrator For B Is For Blue Crab

A book-signing featuring local artist Laura Stutzman will be held at the Book Mark'et in Oakland on Saturday, Oct. 16, 10 a.m. until noon. Stutzman is the illustrator of a new book titled B Is For Blue Crab, A Maryland Alphabet. It is a publication of the Sleeping Bear Press.

The children's book celebrates the state of Maryland from A to Z, with poems written by Shirley Menendez describing the traditions, locations, natural treasures, and famous sons and daughters of the state. Laura Stutzman's "rich and evocative illustrations provide playful color as she takes the reader on a visual tour across the state," the publisher said.

A feature story about the publication will appear in next week's issue of The Republican. The Book Mark'et also plans to host additional book-signings, with the dates to be announced.

SPRINGS FEST HELD — Visitors had the opportunity to learn about the arts, skills, and labors of our forefathers at the 47th annual Springs Folk Festival, held last weekend in nearby Springs, Pa. Crafts and activities included bread baking, spinning, weaving, hewing logs, and threshing grain. Over 140 artisans demonstrated their art, including slate painter Peggy Nixon from Spruce Forest Artisan Village, above left, and spinner Sheila Elliot of Aurora, W.Va., above right. Below, a youngster learns the art of rail splitting.

Charges Filed

the home as promised.

The Consumer Protection Division's charges seek an order barring C&S Construction from acting as a builder in Maryland and requiring Cook and Shrout to pay restitution to consumers who have been harmed by their alleged unlawful practices, including the $23,304 collected from the consumer identified in the charges. The Division is also seeking a $1,000 civil penalty per day of unlawful practice and the costs of the investigation.

The Consumer Protection Division has issued a notice seeking to revoke the home builder registration of C&S Construction, and immediately suspend the firm's registration.

"Consumers should protect themselves by ensuring that their deposit will be protected before writing a check to a builder," Attorney General J. Joseph Curran Jr. said. "Builders who collect deposits from consumers are required to protect those deposits by posting a bond or letter of credit with the Division or having consumers make deposits payable to an escrow account separate from the builder's operating account."

A public hearing on the charges faced by C&S Construction, and similar charges brought last week against Garrett County-based Corby Construction, will be held at the Consumer Protection Division, 200 Saint Paul Place, Baltimore, on Monday, Nov. 1.

Consumers who may have had problems with C&S Construction, Corby Construction, or any home construction firm should contact the Home Builder Registration Unit at 410-576-6573 in Baltimore, toll-free at 877-259-4525, or via e-mail at homeuilder@oag.state.md.us.

Other consumers can check the method their builder has reported using to protect deposits by contacting the Home Builder Registration Unit at those same numbers.

a warehouse. "We need to get together with the county and come up with a plan," he said.

The supervisor added that he has come up with a half dozen options for a new warehouse during the last 10 years. "We have never had this off our radar screen," he said, "but at this point it's critical."

Gregg said they would "brain storm" the idea for possibilities. One possible solution would be constructing a "shared-use" warehouse at the yet to be constructed Garrett County Public Works park off Rt. 135 and behind 84 Lumber. Construction of the park may begin next spring, noted Gregg.

Master Plan

"The study is on the 2003-2004 amended project priority list in the amount of $60,000 for the study, and on the 2004 Water Quality Intended Use Plan waiting list in the amount of $2.2 million for engineering and construction, which was the amount originally presented in the pre-application for funding," said Tonkovich.

The completed study and an environmental report will be submitted to the MDE so that the loan money can be secured, he added.

Another amendment was also added to Chapter IV under "Sewer: Youghiogheny River Drainage Basin – Northern Section."

"The Friendsville area has been targeted for commercial development projects due to its proximity to I-68," the director said. Public Utilities had also been approached by individuals in that area who requested sewer capacity, which is currently not available on the town's system.

Permitted for 100,000 gallons per day of wastewater flow, the Friendsville Wastewater Treatment Plant has also been experiencing problems.

"Infiltration and inflow problems are so significant that during heavy rain events, flows may exceed 1 million gallons a day," said Tonkovich. The department contracted EADS (Engineering and Architectural Design Services) to define the sources of the problems and recommend solutions.

Flow monitoring and smoke testing within the town were completed last month, and EADS delivered the completed study to Public Utilities last Friday.

Friendsville mayor Spencer Schlosnagle said the last time smoke testing was conducted in the town was in 1991.

The study indicated that it would be beneficial for Garrett County, depending on funding capability, to implement a U-liner process for Phase I and II rehabilitation at an estimated cost of $1,963,000, according to Tonkovich. The county will evaluate the study and provide it to the MDE to secure funding for this project.

ROTARY FRIES PAY OFF FOR CHILDREN – The Oakland Rotary recently donated a portion of the proceeds from its Garrett County Fair french fry sales to the local Big Brothers Big Sisters organization, which assisted at the Rotary concessions booth at the fair. The funds will be used for BBBS's community- and school-based mentoring programs, including the Lunch Buddy Program. Studies reveal that students enrolled in the Lunch Buddy Program show marked improvement in self-confidence and trust in teachers and other adult role models. The rest of the French fry sales proceeds will go to the Rotary's Christmas project. Pictured is Rotary vice president Ken Witte, left, presenting the donation check to BBBS county coordinator Shannon Brode.

Awarded Three FSU Scholarships

Bobb Webb, a former Oakland resident and a current student at Frostburg State University, was recently awarded three scholarships, according to the university.

Webb earned the Mary Stevens Scholarship, the Frank A. Farano Business Scholarship, and the Henry and Edith Gehauf Scholarship. He is majoring in business management and pursuing a minor in accounting, and is a member of the Sigma Beta Delta international honor society for business.

Webb is the husband of Garrett County native Holli (Stemple) Webb.

A VISIT TO THE SHERIFF'S OFFICE — Wolf Cubs of Grantsville Cub Scout Pack 49 visited the Garrett County Sheriff's Office last week. Corrections Officer Jim Tichnell spoke to the boys about various issues, then escorted them through the dispatch room, 9-1-1 emergency center, and the jail, where they were reportedly amazed at the weight of the handcuffs and the size of the door keys. Pictured above, front row, from left, are: Patrick Baker, Cody Platter, Jimmy Redmond, David Vitez, Joseph Burdock, and Jacob Williams. In the back row, same order, are: Mikolas Ruggiero, Jordan Howard, and Cpl. Tichnell.

Adorable Adoptables

TANNER, a male orange cat with long hair, is neutered, declawed, and ready to be adopted from the Garrett County Animal Shelter. He was brought in with Zoe, a female tabby who is spayed and declawed. Their owner has allergies and could not keep them anymore. Both felines must be kept inside. Also looking for homes are this black/white tuxedo male with long hair, a calico female, and two tuxedo kittens. "There are loads of kittens at the shelter who need homes," said a Humane Society spokesperson. "Also, a adult gray male, a black/white feline and her calico sister, and a brown tabby whose time has almost run out. The shelter is full, and there is not room to keep them all. Please call or visit if you are interested. Adopt from the shelter and save a life." For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553.

Dear Neighbors in Garrett County and Friends in West Virginia –

We write this open letter as parents and grandparents extremely concerned about the legacy we are leaving our children and grandchildren. The 9/11 Commission Report leaves no doubt that countering terrorism has become the chief national security priority for Americans. In this context, we raise two fundamental questions whose answers should clarify our thinking before we vote on November 2, 2004:

1. IS THE WORLD SAFER SINCE THE U.S. INVADED IRAQ AND REMOVED SADDAM FROM OFFICE?
2. IS CURRENT HOMELAND SECURITY ADEQUATE TO PROTECT US FROM ANOTHER ATTACK ON OUR SOIL?

Our group, Parents and Grandparents for a Safer Future, is concerned with gleaning fact from fiction in the politically polarized climate that exists prior to the upcoming election. We gathered information from a number of official reports and articles.

We learned the following from the 2003 Annual U.S. State Department Report on International Terrorism:

1. In 2000, three-fourths of the casualties from terrorist attacks were in Asia; in 2003 two-thirds of the casualties were on our doorstep in Western Europe and the Middle East.
2. Globally, casualties from terrorist attacks totaled 1,212 in 2000.
3. Casualties from terrorist attacks totaled 3,072 in 2002 (the year we invaded Afghanistan).
4. Casualties from terrorist attacks totaled 4,271 in 2003 (the year we invaded Iraq – a 40 percent increase over 2002) – not including combat casualties from the war in Iraq.

We learned the following from the U.S. Conference of Mayors, Council on Foreign Relations and other sources:

1. 95 percent of goods are shipped to the U.S. by sea – over 8 million containers a year – but only one in fifty (just 2 percent) receive anything more than a cursory inspection.
2. The Coast Guard needs $5.5 billion to fully secure U.S. ports. The White House says seaport security is a top priority in keeping the nation safe, but President Bush's 2005 budget includes only $46 million for port security grants – an increase from zero in the 2003 and 2004 budgets.
3. The Bush Administration approved just $26.4 million of Energy Secretary Spencer Abraham's request for $379.7 million for added security measures at the country's nuclear facilities.
4. The Bush Administration approved just $27 billion of the $97.4 billion a Council on Foreign Relations task force estimated was needed by emergency responders in the U.S. for programs and equipment necessary for a minimum response to another terrorist attack in the U.S.
5. The 2004 U.S. Conference of Mayors survey of 215 cities revealed that 76 percent of those cities had received no funding from Washington for first-response units.

Conclusion:

We conclude from these facts that the world is less safe since we invaded Iraq and deadly terror attacks shifted from Asia to our doorstep in Europe and the Middle East.

We conclude these facts are consistent with the Council on Foreign Relations' 2003 report's conclusion that "the United States remains dangerously ill-prepared to handle a catastrophic attack on American soil."

We believe that our nation's safety and reputation in the eyes of the world have been undermined by the Bush Administration's preemptive invasion of Iraq and that desperately needed funding for homeland security has been diverted to the Iraqi war and reconstruction effort, compromising our safety at home.

We feel no more protected or safe than we did on 9/11.

We believe it is time for a change in our strategy for fighting the war on global terrorism, and that requires a change from George W. Bush to John Kerry.

Smoke Alarm Testing Focus Of Fire Safety Week

The Office of the State Fire Marshal, along with Maryland's fire service, is joining the National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) and other safety advocates this fall to remind children and adults about fire safety during Fire Prevention Week, which continues through this Saturday, Oct. 9.

This year's theme, "It's Fire Prevention Week: Test Your Smoke Alarms," highlights the importance of all families installing and maintaining smoke alarms in the home.

Smoke alarms are the most effective early warning device available for the home, according to the NFPA. Since being introduced to consumers in the 1970s, smoke detectors have helped to reduce the home fire death rate by one-half. Even though smoke detectors are now widely popular, roughly 70 percent of home fire deaths result from fires in homes with no smoke alarms or no working smoke alarms.

Fires can spread through a home rapidly, and in some cases, individuals may have as little as two minutes to escape to safety once the alarm sounds. State Fire Marshal William E. Barnard encourages residents to keep smoke alarms working and to leave immediately when a smoke alarm sounds.

In addition, the fire marshal strongly urges residents to develop and practice a home fire escape plan. Residents should identify escape routes in the home and to choose an outside meeting place where everyone can gather after they've escaped. Practice ensures that everyone in the home knows the fire escape plan, they're familiar with the sound of the smoke alarm, and they know how to exit quickly.

Here are some key smoke alarm installation and maintenance tips:

•Install at least one smoke alarm on every level of the home and outside each separate sleeping area.

•Mount smoke alarms on ceilings or high walls.

•Test smoke alarms once a month, following the manufacturer's instructions.

•Replace batteries once a year or as soon as the device "chirps," indicating that the battery is low.

•Replace all smoke alarms after 10 years, even those that are hard-wired or smoke alarms with "long-life" (10-year) batteries. Smoke alarms with longlife batteries also need to be replaced when the alarm "chirps" or fails to respond to periodic testing. The batteries in these units cannot be replaced.

•Alarms that are hard-wired to the home's electrical system should be installed by a qualified electrician.

For more information on fire and life safety, persons may call the Office of the State Fire Marshal at 1-800-525-3124, or visit the agency's web site at www.firemarshal.state.md.us

HARVESTING A FINE CROP – The 2003-2004 kindergarten class at Route 40 Elementary planted sunflowers and pumpkins as a part of their science unit. This fall, the first graders and the new kindergarten classes harvested the crop. "The kids get so excited about the size and number of pumpkins they get. I love to watch them," said Betty Burdock, kindergarten assistant. The sunflower seeds will be used to feed the birds, and the students will use the pumpkins to complete the math activities and decorate for the yearly Halloween Social. The seeds will be replanted in the gardens in the spring. "Our school has been working with an environmental theme for years now. This is a hands-on way for our students to get involved," said kindergarten teacher Dot Minick. Pictured above with the sunflowers are members of the kindergarten class. From left to right are Olivia Bennett, Denver Glotfelty, Emily Blubaugh, Blair Willey, Abby Burdock, Caleb Murray, Hunter Crowe, Samantha Phillips, Keygan Broadwater, Sergio Howard, David Whitaker, Marco Howard, Jinny Warn, Mason Keister, Cayleb Broadwater, Steven Yutzy, Shelby Crowe, Rian Bittner, Nick Harris, Jacob Terry, McKenna Fazenbaker, Robert Bittinger, Tristin Hobell, and Sara Weimer. Behind the students are Mrs. Burdock and Mrs. Minick. Pictured below are Hunter Crowe, Ben Beeman, David Whitaker, Noah Werner, Emily Blubaugh, Blair Willey, Marco Howard, Mark Clise, Bradley McKenzie, Wesley Minnick, Amanda Redman, Samantha Phillips, Nick Harris, Steven Yutzy, Abby Burdock, Nick Turner, Adam Platter, Cayleb Broadwater, Allison Paul, Olivia Bennett, Rian Bittner, Shyanne Yutzy, Jinny Warn, and Ally Faner.

GATORS PLANT NATIVE FLOWER MEADOW – In the spring of last year, the fourth graders at Yough Glades Elementary School planted a native flower garden on the school grounds with a grant from the Chesapeake Bay Trust. This fall, fourth and fifth graders planted a native flower meadow containing the same plants used in the garden in the spring, but in a more natural setting. These gardens were planted to improve schoolyard ecology, to protect the wetland areas and environment, to attract native wildlife, and to provide an outdoor classroom for learning. The students were assisted with the planning and financing of this project by PIERS (Partners in Ecology and Restoration of Schoolyards) and Elk Ridge Nature-Works.

GC Pipes And Drums Major Takes His Talents To Estonia

PIPER AT THE GATES OF DAWN – Garrett College Pipes and Drums pipe major Gerald McGee is shown practicing during a recent trip to Estonia. McGee was invited to the Baltic nation to take part in the annual Folk Music Festival in the city of Viljandi, and made time to find a secluded country lane where he could prepare to introduce the Scottish bagpipes to practitioners of the Estonian pipes, which have a softer tone than their Scottish cousins. See story.

by Joan Crawford

Gerald McGee, director of music at Garrett College and pipe major of the Garrett College Pipes and Drums, acquired international recognition recently when he was invited to appear at the annual Folk Music Festival in Viljandi, Estonia, where he performed as a soloist and conducted a workshop in Scottish bagpiping. The trip was funded by a grant from the Maryland-Estonian Educational Consortium as part of the cultural exchange program. Viljandi is a "sister" city to Frostburg.

"It was an enriching and wonderful trip," McGee said, "a unique opportunity to hear authentic folk music of many nations, and especially of Estonia, where people speak freely about their love of country. It is remarkable that the Estonian people have retained their sense of nationalism and pride in their heritage through the years of oppression and occupation. They are a singing nation, and their pride shows in their music."

According to McGee, Viljandi is a charming, medieval town of 20,000 residents whose population nearly doubles during the five-day festival every summer. He described the opening ceremony of the festival:

"From behind an existing wall of the 13th century castle ruins, I began to play "Scots wha' hae'" on the great highland pipes. As I approached the stage, the full-capacity audience began to cheer – quite a thrill! I then introduced myself with the help of an interpreter, and brought them greetings from the Garrett College Pipes and Drums, Garrett College, and Frostburg. I ended by playing "Garrett Highlands," a tune I composed and which has now been adopted as the college's alma mater."

On the day of the workshop he conducted, McGee drove into the country to find a secluded gravel road where he could practice, concerned only that he might irritate a farmer or a moose. His workshop in the large performance hall of the Arts Center drew an audience of about 150 people who were fascinated by the fact that he was an American playing Scottish bagpipes. He spoke of the history of the bagpipes, demonstrated various techniques, and explained the difference between the highland pipes and the Estonian pipes which are softer and are usually played with other folk instruments.

At the conclusion of the festival, McGee delivered gifts from Mayor James Cotton of Frostburg to the mayor's office at Viljandi City Hall. He is hoping that the director of the festival will visit western Maryland in the spring as part of a cultural exchange program.

McGee, who has been a teacher of music, band director, organist and choral director most of his life, and who is the conductor of the Garrett Community Concert Band, never played the bagpipes formally until 1997, when he enrolled in the class taught by the Honorable Fred Thayer, former pipe major and founder of the Garrett College Pipes and Drums. He admits that playing the bagpipes was a long-time desire of his, and that he had taught himself to play the practice chanter years ago.

He expresses his appreciation for the opportunity to take this trip. "I am very grateful to the college and to the underwriters of the grant," he said. "The trip was truly inspiring."

GAITHERS EARN CGMA AWARDS – Kempton husband and wife gospel music duo Chester and Isolina Gaither won five major awards at the Eastern U.S. Country Gospel Music Association (CGMA) Convention, held recently in Seaford, Del. The Gaithers were named Duo, A cappela Vocalists, Promoters, and Recruiters of the Year, and Isolina earned the Esteemed Servant Award. The duo will be on the ballot for each of those categories at the upcoming International CGMA Convention, set for later this month in Branson, Mo. In the meantime, the Gaithers will be ministering in song this Sunday, Oct. 10, during an 11 a.m. service at the Elk Garden Assembly of God, and again at 6 p.m. that same day at the HiWay Assembly of God. The couple will perform on Thursday, Oct. 14, at a 7 p.m. program at the Glendale Assembly of God.

Paintings By Sue Arnson Now On Display At GC

Recent paintings by local artist Sue Arnson are currently on exhibit in the Garrett College Art Gallery, and will remain on display through Oct. 29. The public is invited to an artist's reception on Saturday, Oct. 9, from 7 to 9 p.m.

As a special feature of this event, the artist will donate one of her paintings for a raffle to benefit the art department of Garrett College. Raffle tickets will be $1 each or 6 for $5, available from Arnson, Ron Skidmore at the college, or from the Garrett County Arts Council Gallery in Oakland. The winner of the raffle will select a painting during the evening of the reception.

As part of the monthlong exhibit, the artist will present a "gallery talk," which will include a painting demonstration and a discussion of her work. This will take place on Tuesday, Oct. 19, from noon to 1 p.m. in the college art gallery.

Arnson has been a resident of Garrett County since 1987. She began her career in the arts by opening the Loft Shop in Bittinger. Her work in watercolors started in 1995 with a workshop taught by renowned artist Alexis Lavine. Since then she has studied with other well-known watercolorists such as David Daniels, Jim McNeil, and Frederik Graf.

She is active in the local arts community as a long-time board member and the current president of the Garrett County Arts Council, and her paintings are on display at the Garrett County Health Department, Garrett Memorial Hospital, the Gallery in Oakland, the Loft Shop, Rocky Gap Lodge, and the Manhattan Center in Cumberland.

"This show is a celebration. A celebration of color, Garrett County, and life," Arnson said.

Most of the paintings in this show represent scenes in Garrett County, with some as direct observations and others as impressions from her memory, an art department spokesperson said. The main focus of her images ranges from the deep spatial vegetation of the forests and the lake to interesting barns and designs of walls.

"I love color, the pigments, how they mix and what they say," Arnson said. "I particularly like bright, vibrant colors and the happiness they bring."

She recently began painting on illustration board rather than paper because of the way colors blend and flow, and for the challenge of controlling the colors in this medium.

The artist is dedicating her show to those people who have enhanced her life in the past year.

"My paintings celebrate living in western Maryland. I celebrate it daily by painting either in my mind or on paper," she said.

This exhibition is made possible in part by grants from the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council. Gallery hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, and on evenings and weekends during special events.

For more information, persons may contact the art department of Garrett College by phone at 301-387-3024, or by e-mail at rskidmor@garrettcollege.edu.

RONNIE RENO TO PERFORM AT BANJO CHAMPIONSHIP – Ronnie Reno and the Reno Tradition will once again be featured at this year's Official Maryland State Banjo Championship. The concert is set to begin at 7 p.m. on Friday in Southern High School's gymnasium. The Reno Tradition band members include Danny Roberts, Jackie Miller, Heath Van Winkle, and Mike Scott. During the championship, contestants of all ages from the five-state area will compete in various categories including best "old-time" banjo player. The event is presented by the Dove Center, along with numerous sponsors. For more information regarding tickets or contest participation, persons may call 301-334-6255. Refreshments will be available for purchase, and doors open at 6 p.m.

OTT To Provide Food And Parking During AG Festival

Our Town Theatre (OTT), located along Center Street in Oakland, will be selling hot dogs and apple cider at the theatre and will be providing parking at the backstage lot on Saturday, Oct. 16, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. during the Autumn Glory celebration.

OTT will also present Ghostwalk IV on Oct. 28, 29, and 30, at 8 p.m., at the theatre. Performers will portray spooky characters from Garrett County's past as they meander through the aisles. Tickets for the Thursday performance are $5, and $8 for the Friday or Saturday performance.

For more information or reservations, persons may call the theatre at 301-334-5640.

Loretta Hummel Releases Album

Loretta Hummel has released a new studio album, Lovin' Country, recorded by Stony Mountain Studio based in Shanks, W.Va. Hummel recorded this second album recently with the help of local musicians Harry Minnick, Walter Dixon, Bill Nelson, and Wayne Weimer. Under her direction and supervision, the album was recorded and mixed by Joe Crawford.

Hummel said she loves the style of old country music. "If you enjoy the music of Hank Williams Sr., Patsy Cline, and Dolly Parton, then you will like this album," a spokesperson said. "The album represents a sought-after vocal harmony of old country music intertwined with the dobro, acoustic guitar, fiddle, and harps."

Cuts from the selection of the album's 16 tracks include "I Fall To Pieces," "Old Flames," and "The Rose."

Born near Grantsville, Hummel bought her first guitar at the age of 16. Growing up in the 1950s and 60s, she sang at a small local Mennonite church and, surrounded by the influences of gospel music, she developed her voice. In her early 20s she sang and played country and gospel music at picnics, reunions, and receptions. During the next several years, Hummel put aside her music career to concentrate on rearing a family and managing the family business, Hummel's Furniture.

Professional local musician Ellinor Benedict, who instructs students near Grantsville, speaks highly of Loretta.

"Her voice is clear and she sings with feeling," Benedict said. "The whole album is great for either attentive listening or for background music. The fiddle has the authentic old-time sound and style, and there is almost always a change of key from one tune to the next. I like the dobro and the harmonica, too. The whole impression of the album, Lovin' Country, is very professional."

Featured in the Mountain Discoveries magazine, Hummel has performed in a variety of places, including Renfro Valley, Ky., Sage Brush Round-Up, W.Va., Chautauqua 2002, Spruce Forest Village in Penn Alps, and Accident Days. She has performed in several events, including the Autumn Glory Heritage Craft Fest, Somerset County Gospel Festival, Maplecity Blue Grass Festival, Pattyfest, and the Old Time Music Fest.

Hummel also volunteers to perform her music at the Goodwill Mennonite Home and other care facilities, the VFW in Deer Park, in local churches, at reunions, and occasionally wedding and anniversary receptions, and funerals.

For further information, persons may contact the musician at 301-689-8160.

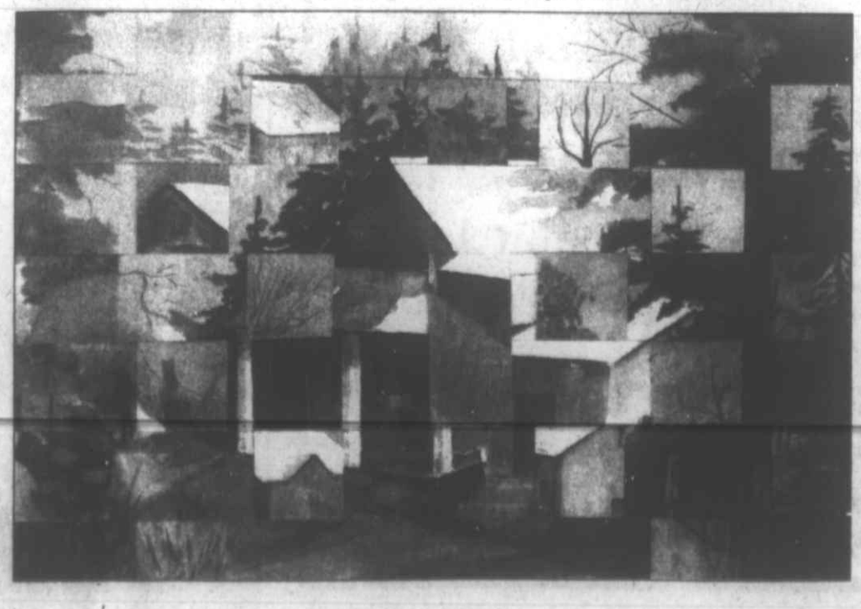
SUE ARSON PAINTINGS ON DISPLAY AT GARRETT COLLEGE – Recent art works by local painter Sue Arnson are now on display in the Garrett College Art Gallery, and will remain on exhibit through Oct. 29. The public is invited to an artist's reception on Saturday, Oct. 9, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the gallery. These are two of her paintings, inspired by her Garrett County surroundings. "Big Lake" is shown above, and below is "Country Road," a unique work involving two paintings literally cut into wide strips and woven together. See story for exhibit details.



OTT Notes Cast List For Two Fall Productions

Our Town Theatre in Oakland has announced the cast lists of two forthcoming autumn productions, the fourth Ghostwalk, which will consist of five new monologues about Garrett County's "spooky history," said Jane Avery, director, and Henning Nelms's old-time melodrama, Only an Orphan Girl, a "soul-stirring drama of human trials and tribulations in four acts."

This year's Ghostwalk will be held at the theatre, where the seated audience will be visited by ghosts played by Gail Herman, Richard Hill, Carol Peracchio, Aaron White, and Erin White. The spirits will walk among the audience, Avery said, telling their "woeful tales of the past."

Performances are scheduled for Oct. 28, 29, and 30, all at 8 p.m. Admission is $5 per person for Thursday night and $8 for Friday and Saturday nights. On and after Oct. 15, reservations for Ghostwalk may be made by calling 301-334-5640.

OTT's production of Henning Nelms's Only an Orphan Girl will involve the following players: Chelsea Davis, John Armstrong, Richard Hill, Donna Miller, Anthony Oliverio, Lyndsie Rush, Bruce Steele, Krystle Towne, and Taylor Upole. Director Avery will be assisted by stage manager Diane Alexander, and Ben Sincell will design the scenery and lighting.

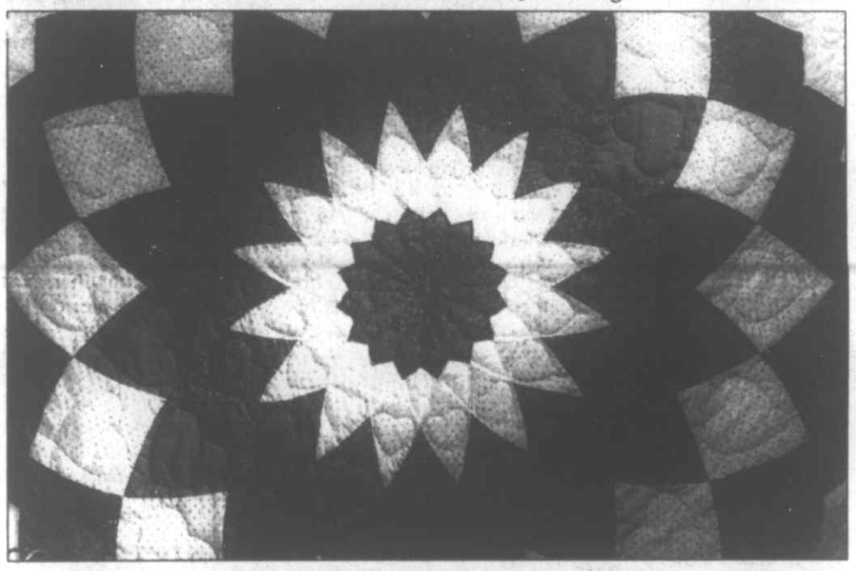
"Only an Orphan Girl will delight audiences of all ages," Avery said. "We intend to include 'olios' and a piano player to enhance the production, and the audience will be encouraged to boo, hiss, and cheer the various characters and their actions."

The melodrama will be presented five times in November. Running Nov. 17-21, all shows will begin at 8 p.m., with the exception of the Sunday performance, which will start at 2 p.m. General admission is $5 per person for the Wednesday, Thursday, and Sunday shows, and $8 for the Friday and Saturday performances.

Reservations can be made on or after Nov. 1 by calling the theatre at the noted number.

Only an Orphan Girl is produced by special arrangement with the Dramatists Play Service and is funded in part by the arts councils of both Maryland and Garrett County.

KATIE ROSS, one of five finalists in the Creative Arts Institute 2004 Storyteller of the Year Contest, will tell her prize-winning story, "Haunted House Bend," at the Tall Tales Storytelling and Book Festival during Autumn Glory on Saturday, Oct. 16. Student tellers kick off the event at 9 a.m. in the fellowship hall at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland. Adults will begin their tales at 10:30. Admission is $2 for students over $5 years of age, $3 for seniors, and $4 for other adults. Proceeds from the event benefit the American Association of University Women Scholarship Fund at Garrett College. Katie's husband, Otto Ross, will play the banjo during the program. They live in Cumberland.



"DAHLIA" is the name of the pattern in this queen-size, hand-stitched, machine-pieced quilt crafted by Elizabeth Zook of the Pleasant Valley Amish community. The Garrett County Arts Council is raffling it off during the Autumn Glory Festival. Tickets are available until Oct. 15 at the Gallery in Oakland and during the Heritage Craft Festival at Broad Ford Elementary School until Sunday, Oct. 17, at 3:30 p.m., when the winning ticket will be drawn. The cost is $1 each or $5 for 6. Ticket holders need not be present to win. All proceeds benefit the Garrett County Arts Council. Nearly 100 traditional and contemporary artists and artisans will sell their products at this year's Heritage Craft Festival, which will be held Saturday, Oct. 16, from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m., and Sunday from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Other talented artists and artisans will also display their work during Autumn Glory at the Gallery, which will be open Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Admission is free. For more information, persons may call 301-334-6580.

State Arts Council Chair To Speak At At GLAF Meeting

David E. Phillips, chair of the Maryland State Arts Council, will speak at the annual membership meeting of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF) on Monday, Oct. 25, at 7 p.m. in the Garrett College art gallery. The meeting is open to all donors and volunteers who support the GLAF organization throughout the year.

Phillips was elected chair of the Maryland State Arts Council in 2004, and is the director of the Lockheed Martin Foundation, with responsibility for the corporation's $20 million corporate contributions program. He joined the Corporation's Corporate Communications and Community Relations division in 1993.

His first Gubernatorial appointment to the Council was in 1998, following his experiences as an applicant and grant recipient in the Grants for Organizations program, and following three years of service as a music panelist. In his six years as a councilor, he has chaired the Grants Committee and the Program, Planning and Evaluation Committee. He has also served on grants review panels for the Ohio Arts Council and the National Endowment for the Arts.

ROUND ROBIN PROJECT LAUNCHED — The Heritage Quilters group recently participated in a "Round Robin" project, a first for the group. Each member made the center for a wall hanging. The hanging was then passed to another member of the group, who then added to the original center. After the hanging was passed on three times, the final project was returned to the original owner. One member remarked, "This was quite a challenge for all, but the fruits of each member's labor was well worth it." Pictured above with their wall hangings, front row, from left to right, are Melissa Bergstrom, Norma Hesen, and Karen Reckner. In the back row is Karen Beck.

Doobie Brothers Among Highlights Of FSU Homecoming Weekend

Frostburg State University's Homecoming Weekend 2004 will feature a "Rockin' Down the Highway" concert by the Doobie Brothers, slated for Saturday, Oct. 23, 9 p.m. in the Main Arena of the Cordts PE Center.

"This distinguished rock and roll group will entertain the masses with their smooth collaboration of country, blues, jazz and rock," a spokesperson said. To purchase tickets, persons may call 301-687-3137 or go online at ces.frostburg.edu.

FSU will be celebrating Homecoming from Thursday, Oct. 21, through Sunday, Oct. 24. The celebration will include events from carnivals and concerts to exhibits and campus mixers, the spokesperson said.

The weekend will open on Thursday, Oct. 21, with the annual Delta Chi "Lip Sync," beginning at 8 p.m. in the Cordts Physical Education Center Main Arena. Tickets will be available at the door.

The events will continue Friday, Oct. 22, starting at 5 p.m. with the photography exhibit, "A Particular Truth," in the Stephanie Ann Roper Art Gallery in the Fine Arts Building. The Bobcat Hall of Fame dinner will begin at 5:30 p.m. in the Appalachian Station, located in the Lane University Center. Tickets are $18 and can be purchased by contacting the FSU athletics department at 301-687-4371. The deadline for ticket purchase is Oct. 11.

FSU will host comedian Lil' JJ at 8:30 p.m. Friday in the Alice R. Manicur Assembly Hall, Lane University Center. A campus mixer will follow at 11 p.m.

Events on Saturday, Oct. 23, will begin with the Homecoming Parade at 10:30 a.m. on Main Street, Frostburg. The parade will include a homecoming float competition and an assembly of marching bands. The annual Campus Carnival will follow, to be held on the second floor of the Lane Center at 11 a.m. The carnival will include balloon artists, face painters, and caricaturists.

"For the adults, it will offer a trip down memory lane at the yearbook corner and fun and games in our FSU game room, located on the first floor of the Lane Center, the spokesperson said. Persons may also tour the campus in a horse-drawn carriage.

Guests are then invited to come to the lower P.E. Center parking lot for tailgating. In what has become a popular event, the spokesperson said, FSU will set up tailgating for all guests while they watch any of the many sporting events of the day. Parking spaces will only be available through Internet registration for a fee of $20. Persons may log on to www.alumni.frostburg.edu.

Sporting events are slated throughout the day. At 1 p.m. on the field hockey field, the FSU Women's Field Hockey team will take on Catholic University. Also at 1 p.m. the FSU 2004 Homecoming football game will begin, with Frostburg challenging Maryville College. The game will be held at Bobcat Stadium, and tickets will be available at the gate. During halftime, the FSU Alumni Band will perform, and the Homecoming Court Coronation will take place. This show is expected to begin at approximately 2 p.m.

Also taking place on Saturday will be the National Pan-Hellenic Council Step Show at 5:30 p.m. in the Alice R. Manicur Assembly Hall, Lane Center. The doors will open at 5:30 p.m. and the competition will begin at 6 p.m. Tickets will only be available on Saturday, and seats are limited.

The Doobie Brothers concert will begin at 9 p.m. One of the many hits of this two-time Grammy Award winning rock group was the inspiration for this year's Homecoming weekend theme.

Homecoming activities will continue on Sunday, Oct. 24, beginning at 12:30 p.m. with the Student Government Association's Big Event Frostburg City Clean Up. For more information or to set up an alumni team, persons may contact the SGA at 301-687-4304.

The President's Concert in the Pealer Recital Hall, Performing Arts Center, will begin at 3 p.m. Alumni, faculty members, and current students are scheduled to perform.

You can get Maryland Tax Credits!

In a competitive grant application, Our Town Theatre received an allocation of Maryland Tax Credits for 2004 from the Department of Housing and Community Development. These tax credits are available to any business that pays Maryland State Tax and makes a donation to the theatre. The program works like this: A business donates $1000 to OTT and receives a tax credit equal to 50% of the donation—$500. The company receives this credit in addition to approximately $220 of federal and state charitable tax deduction, meaning that the actual out-of-pocket expense for the $1000 gift to the theatre is $280! The tax benefit is greater depending on the size of the business and the amount of the donation. This is a wonderful way to help OTT build its Backstage, which will house our Scene Shop and The Prop and Costume Shop, and is vital to maintaining and improving our service to the community.

Anyone interested in learning more about this program should call the theatre (301-334-5640) or Project Coordinator, David Bertsch (301-334-6563).

If you believe Our Town Theatre has been a wonderful addition to our community, this is a great way to help us grow!

VanBogelen Leads Rams To Win Over Tucker Co.

After nearly upsetting Allegany the previous Friday, the Southern High School varsity football squad carried that momentum with them to Hambleton, W.Va., last Friday night and handed Tucker County a convincing 30-12 defeat. The Mountain Lions were 4-1 coming into the contest and were considered the favorite by most area fans in their game with the Rams.

Junior running back Andrew VanBogelen had his best game of the season, as he recorded 148 yards and two touchdowns on 19 carries. He also ran successfully for a two-point conversion.

A 38-yard touchdown pass from Cory Bosley to Ryan DeWitt with 5:48 remaining in the first quarter, followed by the two-point conversion run by VanBogelen, put the Rams on top 8-0. They would never trail, even though the two teams traded touchdowns in the first and second quarters.

The Mountain Lions came back for a six pointer just two minutes later, with Derrick Stemple scoring on a five-yard carry. The conversion attempt failed, leaving the Rams up 8-6.

It was at the 8:20 mark of the second quarter that the Rams struck paydirt again, with Bosley scoring on a three-yard run. He then passed to Anthony Schrock for the extra two points, giving Southern a 16-6 advantage.

Tucker County answered once again with a touchdown, scored via a four-yard pass from Corey Gsell to Zach Woodyard with 4:40 left in the half. Again the two-point conversion attempt failed, allowing the Rams to take a 16-12 lead into the locker room at intermission.

A 43-yard touchdown run by VanBogelen with 6:37 left in the third quarter gave the Rams their third touchdown of the evening, and Nick Gregg ran for the extra two points to make the score 24-12.

The Lions were driving for yet another corresponding touchdown late in the period, but Ram Bret Dewitt stopped that effort by picking off a Gsell aerial. The Rams then capitalized on the turnover by scoring an insurance touchdown in the first minute of the fourth quarter. It came on a four-yard run by VanBogelen at the 11:10 mark.

The rest of the contest was scoreless defense.

The game was closer than the score would indicate, as the Rams finished with a modest 300-278 advantage in total yards. The majority of Southern's yardage was gained on the ground (244), while Tucker gained 166 of its yards through the air.

The win improved the Rams' record to 2-3.

"We feel like we really turned the corner with this win," stated Ram coach Fred Gregg. "Even though we lost to Allegany the week before, we gained a lot of confidence in playing them as close as we did. Our kids are starting to believe in themselves.

Gregg noted the performance of VanBogelen, but was quick to point out that the line play of the Rams was key to his success.

"Andrew ran very hard, and once he gets into the secondary it takes a lot to stop him," he said. "But our line did a good job up front, which gave Andrew some opportunities that he didn't get earlier in the season.

"It was a good team effort."

The Rams will need another good team effort this week, even though they are going to be facing a team that has a 1-4 record. They will travel to Kingwood to take on the Knights of Preston.

"Believe me, Preston is a lot better than their record indicates," Gregg said. "They are a triple-A team that plays an absolutely brutal schedule, against the likes of Morgantown and Parkersburg, who are consistently two of the very best high school teams in West Virginia."

The Knights are "fast, strong, and huge," Gregg said.

"This will be yet another team that is so much bigger than we are," he said. "They average 280 pounds on their offensive line, which is between 80 and 100 pounds man-for-man bigger than we are. That's a major difference.

"Their skill players are very talented and have good speed," he added.

The Knights' multiple-I offensive is led by senior running back Chad Chambers (6-1, 185), senior quarterback Dane Greaser (6-0, 190), and junior receiver Davey Shaffer (6-0, 180).

"Chambers is a very fast, tough running back who has played just about every position on the field at one time or other," Gregg said. "He is an extremely talented, all-around athlete.

"Greaser can run well, he throws well, and is a real calming force on their offense, and Shaffer seems to be able to catch every ball that is thrown remotely close to him."

The massive Preston line in front of Chambers and Greaser features a 6-6, 308-pound junior tackle.

Preston's 4-3 and 5-2 monster defense is led by senior middle linebacker Mike Whetsell (6-3, 235); senior lineman T.C. Barnett (5-10, 230); and junior defensive back Seth Wheeler (5-11, 170).

"From a physical standpoint, this is going to be a real mismatch," Gregg said, "and that's why we are going to have to be technically and fundamentally sound, and have a good game plan, plus the desire to go with it, if we hope to win. We have had similar physical mismatches the past two weeks, one of which we won and one of which we almost won. We can't be any bigger or any faster than we are right now, so we have to play smarter."

Gregg added that this is a key game for two reasons: "It's always a big feather in your cap when you as a single-A team defeat a triple-A team, but more importantly, a win over a triple-A team would give us a huge number of points in the playoff race."

Gregg said that his team is "generally healthy," with one exception. Jeremy Gregory is definitely out this week with injury.

"We have other guys who are a little banged up, but right now Jeremy is the only one we know of who won't play this week," he said.

Friday's kickoff in Kingwood is set for 7:30 p.m.

Huskies Fumble Away Alco Showdown In 39-12 Defeat

A Friday night showdown between two undefeated high school football squads, the Northern High School Huskies and the Allegany Campers, resulted in a 39-12 Alco home field win. The Huskies basically handed the game to their hosts, as NHS turned the ball over five times over the course of nine fumbles, and Allegany mounted touchdown drives after recovering each of those five turnovers.

"We basically killed ourselves with turnovers," Northern coach Phil Carr commented. "All but one of their touchdowns came on drives that resulted from our fumbles, and their sixth TD came on a kickoff return when we mistakenly put the ball in the hands of their best returner. I was pleased with our physical effort, but we just didn't execute in any phase of the game."

The player Carr referred to on the kick return was the Campers' Donavin Vinson, who scored a total of three touchdowns as he established himself as NHS halfback Michael Wolf's biggest rival for league Player of the Year honors to date. Vinson snagged touchdown catches of 61 and 30 yards, and followed a perfect special teams wedge 80 yards for his touchdown on the opening kickoff of the second half, a blow that knocked the Huskies for a loop.

The sound of hard hits reverberated throughout mammoth Greenway Stadium all night, with one of the biggest hits coming on the game's opening kickoff. Allegany's Jeff Link put his helmet on the ball as an NHS ball carrier was making his way up field with the opening kick return, and the hit knocked the ball loose for the Huskies first fumble on the night. Alco took over on the Huskies' 15-yard line, and it took just three plays for the Campers to score on a 9-yard carry.

The two teams exchanged possessions before the Huskies' ball-control offensive game plan paid off with a 14-play, 80-yard scoring drive that began in the first quarter and consumed 6½ minutes of the clock. Northern fullback Tyler Warn was the workhorse of the march as he plowed for 44 yards on five carries, and Wolf capped it off with a one-yard scoring plunge with 8:50 left in the second stanza. The kick was blocked, however, and Alco clung to a slim 7-6 lead.

Allegany capitalized on another NHS fumble late in the quarter, when Vinson made his first big play of the night. The junior split end gathered in an Austin Scell pass and, after juking a would-be tackler in the secondary, sped 61 yards to score the TD that put the hosts ahead for good at the 3:07 mark.

Neither team scored for the remainder of the half, as Northern's Robert Stark intercepted an Alco pass, and Vinson picked off an NHS pass to end the half.

"We were only down 13-6 at the half, and I thought we had weathered the worst of the storm," Carr said.

"We really had a good chance to put ourselves back into the game, but on the opening kick of the half we kicked a low line drive directly to Vinson, which gave him time to get moving and his teammates to set up a wedge. We just didn't have time ourselves to get down there and get into our coverage. So right away we were down 21-6."

Six minutes later, after another Husky fumble, the Campers scored on an 11-yard run to take a 21-point lead. Northern responded late in the stanza when Wolf reeled off a 36-yard touchdown run, but a little more than a minute later Vinson gathered in a 30-yard scoring strike from Scell that wowed the crowd and the coaches. Carr termed the toss "an absolutely perfect throw deep into the corner of the end zone – you won't see many throws like that on a Saturday or Sunday on television."

The Campers took a 33-12 lead into the fourth quarter, and a 3-yard TD run with 8:52 remaining capped the evening.

"We could have won the game but we lost our focus when we got behind, especially after Vinson's second-half kickoff return," said Carr. "I was disappointed that our older guys didn't step up like we know they can. It was a pressure atmosphere, but if we get to the playoffs we're going to have to do better than that."

Wolf was the game's leading ground gainer with 104 yards on 18 carries, and Warn rushed for 77 yards on 16 carries.

Northern will try to get back on the winning track tomorrow night, when Bishop Walsh (3-3) brings its no-huddle, passing-oriented West Coast offense to the Cove. "BW will throw the ball 50 times or more per outing," Carr said, "and have the tools to do it successfully. We have to control the ball and keep it out of their hands."

The Spartans field a potent weapon at quarterback, as senior Chris Hendershot (6-3, 210) has already tallied over 5,000 passing yards in his varsity career. Hendershot's favorite targets are his split ends, junior Jeremy Sneathen (6-0, 175) and sophomore Brandon House (5-9, 165).

Maddawgs Maul LaVale Lions In Pee Wee Action

The Northern Maddawgs Pee Wee Football League team hosted LaVale Saturday at Northern High School, and the A & B squad bagged the Lions by a 58-6 margin.

The B team started off in the first quarter with a big defensive stance on LaVale's opening drive. Northern's first possession resulted in a 43-yard touchdown run by Seth Layton. Robert Hill added a 49-yard run to close the first quarter scoring at 12-0.

The A team took the field for the second quarter and scored 27 unanswered points of its own on a 45-yard run by Alex Baker, a 33-yard scoring carry by Kameron Kamp, a 37-yard gallop by Tyler Bittinger, and a 5-yard scamper by Cody Rodeheaver. Northern's defense dominated the stanza, holding the Lions to no first downs. By the half, Northern had taken a comfortable 39-0 lead.

The Maddawgs changed their entire backfield for the second half, and Charles Hanek reeled off a 43-yard touchdown run. LaVale got on the board with a 15-yard TD run, and the third quarter ended with the score 45-6.

Northern's A team continued its strong performance with the changed backfield. Matt Thomas charged 19 yards for a TD, then Jason Opel rumbled 18 yards for a touchdown.

Although the Maddawgs' entire defense played well, Zack Meyers, Jason Opel, Adam Finzel, Sean Kamp and Austin Tombley stood out for the A team defense. Colton Grove, Tristen Devaulk, Seth Layton, Tyler Ireland, Chris Murdock, and Robert Hill turned in fine efforts for the B team defense.

Northern's C team played hard through a scoreless 50 minutes, but LaVale's bigger line weighed in and scored three unanswered touchdowns late in the game. The Maddawgs lost by a 20-0 tally.

Northern hopes to remain undefeated in conference play when the Maddawgs travel to Cumberland to take on the Saints for their last in conference game this Saturday, Oct. 9, at 9:30 a.m.

Steelers Drop Pair To Pats In CAYFL Play

The Northern Steelers were downed by the visiting Personal Best Patriots Sunday as the Division I Steeler squad dropped a 34-20 contest while Northern's Division II team fell by a 26-18 tally. The Cumberland Area Youth Football League games took place at Northern High School.

The Division I Patriots took their sixth straight win in as many outings behind a 175-yard rushing performance by Michael O'Kelly.

After Personal Best scored the first touchdown, Northern's Nick Graham pulled the Steelers to within two when his one-yard plunge made the score 8-6 in the second quarter. A Patriot TD pass gave visitors a 14-6 halftime lead.

The guests scored two touchdowns in the third quarter to take a 28-6 lead into the final stanza. Kyle Gillum gathered in a 31-yard touchdown pass from Randy Wiley, but the Pats answered with a 50-yard TD carry by O'Kelly. A 14-yard keeper by Wiley put the game's final points on the board.

Bobby Wingrove led the Northern defense. Nick Payne recovered a fumble.

Another big rushing game spelled doom for the Steelers' Division II unit, as the Pats' Devin Lee rushed for 184 yards on just 14 carries and scored three touchdowns.

Lee's effort and the Northern defeat overshadowed a superb effort by the Steelers' Teddy Linton, who racked up 136 yards on a mere eight carries and scored three TDs.

Northern plays Oakland Sunday in a 2 p.m. cross-county showdown.

Ram Jayvees Crush 'Cats, Tie Mounties

The Southern High School junior varsity football team walloped Westmar 50-0 last Wednesday, Sept. 29, then were handed a controversial 14-all tie Monday night against Beall.

Six Rams scored touchdowns in SHS's big win over Westmar. Justin Ratliff scored first on a 26-yard carry, then Brandon Roberson reeled off a 33-yard interception return to put Southern up 14-0 at the end of the first quarter.

Southern scored twice again in the second quarter, as Adam VanBogelen hit Dean Hoffman with a 35-yard scoring pass before Ratliff rushed 36 yards for a TD with less than a minute remaining in the half.

Tommie Reams had a 10-yard touchdown run, and Vince Harmon rambled 65 yards on a scoring carry in the third stanza. Corey Broadwater scored on a 46-yard sprint in the fourth.

Monday night's contest with Beall was a hard-fought affair, and the Rams appeared in danger of dropping the contest. However, a gritty SHS fourth-quarter touchdown drive knotted the score at 14-all and set up a clutch conversion play that could have claimed the win for the Rams. On a quarterback keeper, VanBogelen appeared to have crossed the goal line on the try for the two-point conversion that would have given the Rams the lead. An officials' conference decided that the SHS ball carrier had not crossed the goal line, and the contest ended in the tie.

Southern (4-0-1) hosts Preston Monday at 7 p.m.

Punt, Pass, Kick Results Noted

The Oakland Youth Football League hosted a local competition of the nationwide NFL Pepsi Punt, Pass, and Kick program on the Southern High School football field recently. The youngsters were scored in age divisions on their distance and accuracy for punting, passing, and kicking.

In girls' competition, the 8-9-year-old winner was Amanda Sweitzer, Deer Park; the girls' 12-13-year-old winner was Shayna Sweitzer, Deer Park. (There were no entrants in girls' 10-11- or 14-15-year-old divisions.)

In boys' competition, the 8-9-year-old winner was Kevin Colaw, Oakland; the 10-11-year-old winner was Jakob Scheffel, Oakland; the 12-13-year-old winner was Ryan Sweitzer, Oakland; and the 14-15-year-old winner was Jason Ashby, Oakland.

These top scorers advance to a sectional competition, set for this Saturday, Oct. 9, in Carroll County. The sectional winners will advance to the team championship at Baltimore's Ravens Stadium later this fall.

Reeves Earns Win For FSU Tennis Team

Garrett County resident Charlena Reeves took a collegiate women's tennis match victory Monday for the Frostburg State University. The Bobcats were on the road in Altoona, Pa., where they were taking on the Penn State-Altoona Lions.

Reeves, a graduate of Southern High School, took a 7-5, 6-0 win in No. 5 singles play. Reeves and fellow FSU senior Aimee Mendoza were downed in No. 2 doubles play, and Bobcat junior Amber Stewart and her partner, senior Rachel Sooy, were edged in their doubles match.

METTIKI TAKES SIXTH STRAIGHT SOFTBALL CROWN – The Mettiki team snagged its sixth consecutive title in the annual Mountaintop Women's Softball Tournament title recently. Mettiki took first place in both the regular season and the tourney, while Aurora finished post-season play in second place, the Esquires were third, and Kitzmiller came in fourth. Shown above are, from the left in Row 1: Ronda Smith, Jenni Bird, Stacy Scripp, Leonora Wilt, and Joyce Crawford. In Row 2: Carolyn Metheny, Melody Friend, Katherine Everly, Jane Scripp, Stacy Sypolt, Barb Baker, Lois LaSalle, and Stephanie Sypolt. In Row 3: Sharon Rinker, Kelly Johnson, Jon Cline, Charlotte Strawser, Chris Flanagan, scorekeeper Donna Sypolt, and Pam Glotfelty. Not pictured is Denise Householder. The Mettiki women shared the joy of their victory by donating all $250 in tourney winnings, plus $150 in additional player contributions, to the Western Maryland Make-A-Wish Foundation in honor of Jedidiah Crawford. Last month Crawford's Make-A-Wish to meet Tiger Woods became a reality (see feature story).

Garrett Native Moving Up In Racing's Ranks

Garrett County native Jeremy Murphy, has helped top ARCA (American Race Car Association) class racer Frank Kimmel to three consecutive ARCA championships since joining Kimmel's pit crew in 2002.

After Kimmel recently claimed the 2004 ARCA crown, his sixth straight, Murphy made the jump up to a Busch Class race team owned by James Finch, which also fields a Craft race truck and a Nextel race car. The 2000 Southern High School graduate has moved from Indiana to South Carolina to join the Finch team.

Murphy is the son of Mona and Randy Murphy of Underwood Road.

Women Golfers Wrap Up Season; Elect '05 Officers

The Women's Golf Association met for a season-ending business session and luncheon at the Oakland Golf Club clubhouse recently.

The Ladies' Tournament flight winners were announced by golf pro Pat Warren. Winners for Fourth Flight were Debbie Weissgerber, low gross, and Rita Humberson, low net. Third Flight winners were Diane Winters, low gross, and Sandy Bello, low net. In the Second Flight, Pat Filsinger won low gross, while Jessie Stuart, Annie Colaw, and Marianna Naylor tied for low net. First Flight winners were Natalie Winters, low gross, and June Bray low net.

Bray was named the Women's Association Club Champion.

Oakland Golf Club board president Gordon Stetz addressed the group about activities and improvements made during the summer, and the club's plans for next year.

The membership of the Women's Golf Association elected the following officers for 2005: Sherry Grant, president; Betsy Polce, vice president; Marianna Naylor, treasurer; Rosie Versteegan, recording secretary; and Cheryl Wotherspoon, corresponding secretary.

The 2004 Northern High School Volleyball Team would like to thank the following individuals and businesses for their outstanding support and contributions. We were able to collect enough contributions to purchase new uniforms for the entire Varsity and Junior Varsity Teams. We would also like to thank all of the customers who participated in our car wash that was held on September 4, 2004.

SPRINTING DOWNFIELD with hopes of scoring a goal Monday evening against Beall are these three Southern Rams; however, their hopes were dashed repeatedly, as the Rams were not only unable to record a goal, but gave up seven goals to the powerful Mountaineers. In the foreground mid-kick is Southern's John Ross. Fellow Rams also in the photo are Bruce Deal (#25) and Matt Burton (#16). Ram goal keeper Drew Proudfoot, below center, was kept extremely busy, and while he gave up seven goals, he also stopped 15 other shots by the undefeated Mountaineers. Also in the photo at right is Southern defender Logan Craig. Photos by John McEwen.

Ram Booters Blanked By Sentinels, Mountaineers

It was a tough week on the soccer pitch for the Southern High School boys' varsity, as the Rams were shut out by visiting Fort Hill on Saturday, 4-0, and then hammered by undefeated Beall, 7-0, on Monday, also in Oakland.

The pair of defeats dropped the Rams' overall record to 4-6 and their Western Maryland Interscholastic League mark to 1-5.

In Saturday's match against Fort Hill, the Sentinels put all four of their goals on the board in the first half. Getting on goal apiece were Brooks Ingram, Carson Sommerall, Adam Lonigro, and Brian Jeffries.

The Rams were out-shot by a 20-5 margin and trailed in corner kicks, 3-1.

Credited with 15 saves between them were Ram keepers Michael Edwards and Drew Proudfoot, while Tyler Reed was credited with four saves for Fort Hill (4-3 overall, 3-2 WMIL).

The Rams were simply outmatched on Monday by the Beall Mountaineers, who scored four goals in the first half and three in the second while limiting the Ram offense to just eight shots on goal and turning away all eight.

Mark Bowling opened the scoring less than two minutes after the kickoff, connecting off a feed by Brent Walker at the 38:34 mark.

Just over two minutes later, Matt Fiorita made it 2-0 with an unassisted goal, carter Dickel scored unassisted at the 26:23 mark, and a second goal by Bowling, also unassisted, with 15:37 remaining in the first half made it 4-0.

Bryon Folk scored the first of his two goals about 5½ minutes into the second half off an assist by Walker.

Bryan Cunningham gave the Mountaineers a commanding 6-0 lead with a goal at the 22:24 mark off a feed by Adam Sommers.

Folk concluded the scoring with an unassisted goal (time not reported).

Proudfoot had 15 saves in goal for the Rams, while Beall's Chris Fike turned away five shots.

The win stretched the Mountaineers' unbeaten WMIL streak to 8-0. They are 10-0-1 overall.

The Rams did record a victory the previous week over Keyser, a win that was not reported at the time. They whipped the Golden Tornados by a 6-1 margin behind a hat-trick performance by Ethan Chorpenning.

Sean McCreery finished with two goals and an assist, and Joey Simpson accounted for the Rams' sixth goal. Logan Craig also had one assist.

Scoring Keyser's lone goal was Aaron Harris.

The Rams will play again this Saturday when they host Westmar in a 3:30 match. They will travel to Allegany next Tuesday for a 7:30 match, and play at Northern next Thursday evening, with that kickoff also set for 7:30.

Huskies Rally To Whip Elks, Then Thrash BW

A come-from-behind, overtime win over visiting Salisbury and a convincing victory over host Bishop Walsh this past week improved the overall record of the Northern High School boys' soccer team to 5-2.

The Huskies trailed Salisbury 3-1 at halftime last Thursday, but rallied for a pair of goals in the second half to knot the score and send the match into overtime.

Senior Scott Pusateri brought an end to the contest and gave the Huskies the 4-3 win when he connected for a goal off an assist by Derek Cutter with just 1:21 left in the first OT period.

Tim Root of Salisbury put the first goal in the net about 10 minutes into the first half when he scored off a feed by Aaron Dom.

Dom then made it 2-0 with a goal off an assist by Tyler Harvey at the 24:47 mark.

Northern's Aaron Rawe cut the Elks' lead in half with an unassisted goal at the 8:50 mark, but Mike Podlesnick gave the visitors a 3-1 advantage with a goal off Dom's second assist with 5:40 left in the half.

The Husky defense stiffened in the second half and kept the Elks scoreless. A goal by Northern's Gonzalo Velasquez off a feed by Cutter at the 22:15 mark made it 3-2. Chris Speicher's unassisted goal just two minutes later tied the score and ultimately sent the match into overtime.

The Huskies dominated the match statistically, finishing with a lopsided 38-14 lead in shots, but Elk keeper Erik Minnik did an excellent job by personally stopping 25 of the Huskies' attempts. Chris Fickes recorded four saves for Northern.

The Huskies had little trouble disposing of once almost omnipotent soccer powerhouse Bishop Walsh, as Derek Cutter recorded a hat trick in Tuesday's match.

Cutter needed just 26 seconds after the kickoff to put the Huskies on top for good, as he dashed straight down the field and scored unassisted.

Teammate Aaron Rawe followed with another unassisted goal 6½ minutes later to give Northern a 2-0 advantage, and Rawe added a successful penalty kick goal at the 15:46 mark to make it 3-0.

The Spartans (7-5-1) avoided a shutout when Joe Pecoraro scored an unassisted goal with 11:39 left in the first half.

Cutter completed his hat trick with unassisted goals at the 21:46 and 3:12 marks of the second half.

The Huskies were edged in shots by a 21-19 margin and finished with a 2-0 advantage in corner kicks.

Fickes was credited with 11 saves in goal for Northern, while Cameron Sell had eight and Zach Clark recorded one for the Spartans.

The Huskies will go to Cumberland this evening to take on Allegany at Greenway Avenue Stadium. The junior varsity match will begin at 6 p.m., and the varsity clash will kick off at 7:30.

They will travel to Westmar next Tuesday for just a varsity match at 7 p.m., and then host Southern next Thursday in a 7:30 p.m. varsity contest.

SHS Girls Mauled By 'Cats, But Then Upset Bishop Walsh

After enduring a 4-1 defeat at the feet of the Westmar Wildcats on Saturday in Lonaconing, the Southern High School girls' varsity soccer team recorded a major upset in Cumberland yesterday afternoon, where the Rams edged Bishop Walsh, the area's second-ranked team, 1-0.

The split left the Rams and Coach Ron Petrella with an overall record of 3-4-1, and they will get another shot at Westmar this Saturday.

Southern just could not get on track against the Wildcats on Saturday, and found themselves down 4-0 before scoring a goal to avert a shutout.

Opening the scoring for the Wildcats was Mariah Fitzgerald off an assist by Katie Sloan at the 24:25 mark of the first half.

Amanda Ziler followed with a goal off a feed by Katie Nelson with 7:58 remaining before intermission, and an unassisted goal by Sloan with just 59 seconds left put the 'Cats up 3-0.

Sloan recorded her second goal of the night at the 26:41 mark of the second half off an assist by Ziler to give the home team a commanding 4-0 lead.

Southern finally got on the board when Lauren Shue scored off an assist by Jasmine Scheffel with 25:01 left in the match.

Even with the convincing margin of victory, the Rams out-shot the Wildcats by a 17-16 edge, while Westmar finished with a 5-3 advantage in corner kicks.

Jessica Petrella recorded eight saves for Southern, while Rae Fazenbaker had 13 for Westmar (3-5 overall, 2-3 WMIL).

The Southern junior varsity won the preliminary match, 1-0.

An unassisted goal by Melissa Ray at the 25-minute mark of the first half in yesterday's match against the favored Spartans of Bishop Walsh would prove to be the game winner, as Jessica Petrella recorded a 10-save shutout in goal for the Rams.

The Spartans finished with a 13-9 lead in shots, while Southern had a 2-0 edge in corner kicks.

Brittany Riley had four stops for BW, which fell to 7-6.

The Rams will host Westmar in a 1:30 p.m. match this Saturday. The junior varsity contest will kick off at noon.

They will then go back on the road for their next two matches, at Northern on Monday (5:30 and 7 p.m.) and at Beall (6 and 7:30 p.m.) next Wednesday.

Kamp Records Hat Trick For Allegany Trojans

Karie Kamp, a graduate of and former athletic standout for Northern High School, has recorded her second hat trick of the season as a member of the Allegany College of Maryland's women's soccer team.

Kamp put three of the Trojans' five goals on the board in a 5-0 Maryland JUCO victory over Frederick Community College yesterday on the Cougars' field.

Kamp, a freshman who was a key player on the Northern Huskies' team for four seasons, scored her goals on assists by Karla Shaffer, Bethany Sindy, and Anna Squires.

The Trojans are currently 6-3 overall and 4-2 in the conference. They will host nationally ranked Montgomery-Rockville this Friday.

Northern Girls Fall To Alco

The Northern High girls' varsity soccer team stayed close statistically to visiting Allegany on Tuesday, except on the scoreboard, and was handed a 3-0 defeat by the once-beaten Campers (8-1).

The Huskies were outshot by a narrow 11-9 margin, but the Campers managed to find the back of the Northern net three times while the home team was held scoreless. The Campers finished with a 6-2 advantage in corner kicks.

After a scoreless first half, Becky Mathews scored two Alco goals in a row, the first off an assist by Jaclyn Braithwaite at the 37:00 mark.

Just two minutes later she took a feed from Tamra Hott and scored to put the Campers up 2-0.

Braithwaite capped the scoring with an unassisted goal midway through the half.

Kayla Kipp had four saves in goal for the Huskies, who fell to 5-3. Lindsay Twigg recorded eight saves for Allegany.

The Huskies will try to get back into the win column this Saturday when they play at Bishop Walsh in Cumberland. That kickoff is set for 4:30.

The Huskies will host county rival Southern on Monday, with the junior varsity match slated to get under way at 6 p.m. and the varsity at 7:30.

Northern will travel to Westmar next Thursday.

Naylor Scores Game Winner For RW Hawks

Sophomore midfielder Brittany Naylor, a former standout on the Southern High School girls' soccer team, scored at the 80:47 mark to give the Roger Williams University women's soccer team a huge 3-2 victory over conference rival Salve Regina on Monday. The goal was the second of the game for Naylor, who recorded the Hawks' first goal of the match in the 28th minute of play.

With the score knotted at 2-2, Naylor blasted her game winner from the 18-yard line with just under 10 minutes remaining in the contest. The win upped the Hawks' record to 7-5.

Naylor, a 2003 graduate of Southern, is the daughter of Paul and Teresa Naylor, Oakland.

Roger Williams University, which competes in Division III of the NCAA, is located in Bristol, R.I.

Rams Sweep Alco, Raiders; Run Victory Streak To Eight

The Southern High Rams are establishing themselves as the premier program in area high school volleyball play, and to date no opponent – varsity or junior varsity – has been up to the task. SHS's varsity unit strolled through another pair of sweeps this week, over Allegany Monday and Meyersdale last night, to up its perfect season record to 8-0. The Ram jayvees also won twice to match their elder counterparts with an identical record.

The varsity Rams rolled to 25-15, 25-11, and 25-14 wins over the host Campers Monday behind senior setter Bethany Steyer, who tallied 13 service points and seven assists. Classmate Julia Bosley, an outside hitter, scored 10 points and netted six aces, and senior middle hitter Kayla Nazelrod recorded eight kills and two blocks. Junior middle hitter Chelsea Wassell had six kills, and senior Sarah Bittinger dished out five assists.

SHS's junior varsity swept to a 2-0 victory as sophomore Adrian Yoder had 10 points, seven aces, and three assists.

Last night's home court match against Meyersdale proved to be much more difficult, as the tenacious Red Raiders fought hard in losses by 25-11, 25-23, and 25-21 margins. Senior Sarah Bittinger and sophomore Sarah Stephens tallied 15 and 13 points, respectively. Bittinger also netted a pair of kills while handing out nine assists, and Stephens bagged four kills. Steyer recorded 10 assists, Bosley contributed six kills and four digs, Nazelrod had nine kills, and Wassell had four kills and a pair of blocks.

The Ram JVs took a 2-1 victory as Yoder netted nine service points, six aces, and five assists, and fellow sophomore Natalie Rohrbaugh recorded three kills.

The Rams' upcoming slate features a Monday home court match against Keyser, and a Wednesday showdown at the home of powerhouse rival Fort Hill. The Sentinels are 7-1 so far, with their only loss coming at the hands of the Southern squad two weeks ago in Oakland. The contests begin with JV play at 6 p.m., and varsity play follows immediately thereafter.

Husky Duffers Sink Spartans At Wisp Resort

Northern High School's varsity golf team downed the visiting Bishop Walsh Spartans Tuesday by a 16-stroke margin, 191-207.

Husky senior Michael Bergstrom took low medalist honors with a 40, and classmate Ben Margroff and junior Dave Vagnetti both carded 49s for NHS.

Bishop Walsh's low scorer was Griffith Seifarth, who shot a 49.

Northern (6-30) and Southern (36-4) will battle for the Garrett Championship in a 4 p.m. showdown today on the Wisp course.

Runnin' Rams Vie In Meets At Broadford And At Keyser

The cross country teams of Southern High School competed in a pair of multi-team meets this past week, hosting Allegany, University, Beall, Preston, and Tucker County at their Broadford Park course last Thursday, and traveling to Keyser on Monday to vie in another six-team competition.

The Southern girls' team placed third in last Thursday's meet, finishing with 65 team points behind first-place Preston with 17 points and second-place University with 65 points. Allegany had an incomplete score, and Tucker County and Beall did not field girls' teams.

Junior Sarah Cosner paced the Runnin' Rams with a ninth place finish in 23 minutes, 43 seconds, while Elizabeth Thayer, Melinda Smith, and Courtney DiSimone placed 13th, 14th, and 15th, respectively. Leah Warnick and Emily Bowman finished 19th and 20th, respectively, followed by Rachelle Sweitzer in 25th place, Rikkilee Rose in 28th, and Rachel Skipper in 32nd.

Preston's Amber Riley and Kaylyn Christopher led six Knights who finished among the top 10 by placing first and second with times of 20:03 and 20:06. Karly Hamrick of Preston was fourth, behind Allegany's Lauryn MacFawn.

The Southern boys placed fifth among six teams, recording 116 points. Preston and Beall each finished with 34 points, but Preston was declared the team winner because Preston's sixth-place winner had a time that was faster than Beall's sixth-place finisher.

University was third with 75 points, followed by Tucker with 106, Southern, and Allegany with 180.

Leading the Southern boys was sophomore Caiden Shaffer, who placed 15th with a time of 18:44. Derrick Upperman finished 22nd, Andrew Goad was 26th, Michael Murphy placed 28th, Michael McConnell was 34th, Andrew Kight and Tim Preston were 45th and 46th, and Andrew Sauder finished 55th.

Beall's Dan DeWitt won the boys' race with a time of 17:08, and his teammate Scott Bonnett was third. Eric Ryan of Preston placed second with a time of 17:12.

In the meet at Keyser on Monday, the Southern girls finished fourth among five teams and the Southern boys placed fourth among six teams.

Doddridge County swept the meet, with the girls recording 17 points, followed by Keyser with 53, Frankfort with 67, Southern with 94, and East Hardy with an incomplete score.

The Doddridge County boys won with a score of 44, followed by Tucker County with 57, Keyser with 72, Southern with 86, Frankfort with 83, and East Hardy with 147.

Sarah Cosner again led the SHS girls with a 12th place finish in 24:07. Melinda Smith and Courtney DiSimone placed 18th and 19th, respectively, Emily Bowman was 22nd, Rikkilee Rose and Krista Hanline were 25th and 26th, Leah Warnick placed 30th, and Rachel Skipper finished 34th.

The top four individual races were recorded by Doddridge County runners, with Claira Grandt finishing in 19:46 for first place. Teammates Jenny Spencer, Ali Beck, and Kylee Boring placed second through fourth, respectively.

Caiden Shaffer and Derrick Upperman again led the Ram boys with respective finishes of seventh (18:34) and ninth (18:49).

Michael Murphy and Michael McConnell placed 22nd and 23rd, Andrew Goad was 26th, Tim Preston and Andrew Kight finished 33rd and 34th, and Andrew Sauder placed 38th.

Levi Grandt and David Orejuela, both of Doddridge County, finished first and second with times of 17:56 and 17:59. Tucker County's Ian Beckner and Lucas Warner were the third- and fourth-place finishers.

The Runnin' Rams, coached by Steve Cosner and Jamie Beeman, will compete in the Area Meet this afternoon at Rocky Gap State Park, host Tucker County on Monday at 4 p.m., and vie in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League Championships next Thursday at Allegany College of Maryland.

NHS Squeaks Past Beall Before Falling To Fort Hill

The Northern High School varsity volleyball team took a narrow 3-2 victory over visiting Beall Tuesday, before dropping a narrow 3-1 contest to Fort Hill last night in Accident. NHS's record stands at 4-7.

Beall took the first pair of Tuesday's games, 28-17, 25-17, but the Huskies stormed back to take three straight, 29-19, 25-23, and 15-7, to claim the match.

Northern senior Lakin Weimer paced the Huskies with 33 attacks and five kills, while classmate Jayme Miller contributed 11 attacks, 15 points, and one kill. Junior Kerri Bachtel bagged a pair of kills and 14 attacks. The Mounties were led by 12 points scored by Amy Ferris.

NHS's junior varsity swept to a 2-0 victory over Beall. Sophomore Emily Sisler netted eight points, and freshman Emily Rosser contributed seven points and six attacks.

Last night the Huskies took on the powerful Fort Hill Sentinels at home, and held firm through two narrow defeats, 25-21, 28-26, before claiming the third game 25-19. FH then closed the door with a 25-18 win.

Weimer recorded 33 attacks for the second straight match, and Miller netted 17 attacks and 13 service points. The Sentinels' Erin Van Meter had 25 assists and nine points.

NHS's junior varsity was downed by 25-17, 25-16 margins. Freshman Lindsay Wolf led the Huskies with five points.

Northern visits Meyersdale Monday and Allegany on Wednesday.

Fishing Contest Winners Named

The winner of the Garrett County Fishing Contest, sponsored by Deep Creek Outfitters Hardware and Bait House and the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, for the week ending October 3 is:

Chain pickerel, 3 lbs. 8 ozs., 24 ins., caught by Michael Clapsaddle, Taneytown, MD.

Weekly winners are awarded a certificate, and plaques are awarded for the season's largest catches of bluegill, brown trout, chain pickerel, crappies, largemouth and smallmouth bass, northern pike, rainbow trout, walleye, and yellow perch. To enter the contest, anglers are invited to register their catch at Deep Creek Outfitters at 32 Outfitters Way, McHenry. The fishing contest runs from the first weekend in May through the first weekend in October.

end in order to spread a defense out and put as many receivers into passing routes as possible," said Carr. "That makes their blocking a little suspect, and if we can get a good rush going we can pressure Hendershot into making some mistakes, like we did last year."

The Spartans will stack the line on defense, at times putting nine players up front. Despite that kind of wall, Clay-Batelle was able to accumulate 400 rushing yards when they met the Spartans recently. "We think we can put together a good ground game against them, and need to in order to keep the ball out of Hendershot's hands as much as possible," said Carr.

Kickoff is slated for 7:30 p.m. on the NHS field.

JED CRAWFORD AND TIGER WOODS

Oakland Youth Granted Wish For Golf Lesson With Tiger Woods

by Brenda Ruggerio

After going through two rounds of chemotherapy followed by radiation treatments, a day with golf pro Tiger Woods sounded pretty good to Oakland teen Jed Crawford.

He and his parents, Joyce and Mark, traveled to San Diego, Calif., last month courtesy of the Make-A-Wish Foundation. The organization granted Jed's wish for a private golf lesson with Woods.

Joyce explained that Jed was 15 when he was diagnosed with Hodgkin's lymphoma. "It was back in October of 2002," she said. "He had been treated for bronchitis, because he was on the soccer team for Southern, and had gotten colds. Then in January...he just thought he had a touch of the flu, so I took him in, thinking that maybe it was bronchitis again that had flared up. They said it wasn't that – they thought he had mono."

But further testing revealed that it was something far more serious. He was diagnosed with Hodgkin's lymphoma, and was told he was a full-blown 4-B.

"They said it was fast-acting on him," Joyce explained, "so they figured that if they got him started on chemo right away, he had a good chance of it reacting just as fast. Basically, that's what happened. The chemo went to work right away."

Jed then had an extra round of chemo to make sure that they had gotten all the cancer. This was followed by radiation treatments, which finished in July 2003.

Joyce noted that while she had heard of the Make-A-Wish Foundation, she thought that it was only for kids who didn't have a chance. In reality, wishes can be granted for children with any type of life-threatening illness. So Jed and his parents met with volunteers from the western Maryland field office to discuss his wish.

According to Jed, his first choice was to receive a kit car for a 1966 Cobra, which is a fascination of his. However, when he learned that cars were not an option, he chose a private lesson with Tiger Woods. However, he requested that it not happen right away, because he wanted to have time to heal and have his energy back to where he could enjoy the trip.

Jed has been playing golf since he was about 12 years old, and developed an interest because of the enthusiasm exhibited by his father and uncle. He currently plays golf for Southern High School.

The visit was arranged last month, and Jed spent most of a morning with Woods.

"It was exhilarating," Jed said. "I wasn't really nervous. He was really laid back – the kind of person you can hold down a conversation with. It was a great experience. He fixed my swing and was telling me about the game."

Jed also received a limo ride and got to attend a press conference with Woods and his sponsors, including Nike and Delta.

Besides attending high school, Jed works part time at the Wisp as a golf attendant and has a junior membership in the Oakland Golf Club. He will graduate in 2006, and plans to attend college at either Fairmont, West Virginia University, or the University of Maryland. He is interested in aeronautic maintenance, nuclear physics, and biological engineering.

Cathy Roman, office coordinator for the western Maryland field office of the Mid-Atlantic Chapter of the Make-A-Wish Foundation, explained that her office grants an average of six wishes a year in Allegany and Garrett counties.

Nationwide, more than 100,000 wishes have been granted since 1980.

The Make-A-Wish Foundation of America finances its work through individual contributions, corporate donations, foundation grants, planned gifts, and memorials. The foundation does not solicit for contributions over the phone or door-to-door.

Any child between the ages of 2-1/2 and 18 who has been determined by a physician to have a life-threatening illness is eligible. For more information, persons may call the western Maryland office at 301-729-6571.

Lakers Stymied By Trojans, Sweep AA, Fall To Rockville

A busy week for the Garrett College women's volleyball team resulted in one win – via a sweep – and two losses. The Lakers were downed by Allegany College of Maryland last Thursday, Sept. 30, vanquished visiting Anne Arundel Sunday, then fell to Montgomery-Rockville last night.

Garrett nearly took the first game over Allegany last Thursday, falling by a narrow 36-34 margin, then the Trojans rolled to a 30-18 win in the second contest. GC roared back to take a 30-25 victory before ACM claimed the match with a 30-24 nightcap victory.

Northern High grad Tabitha Beitzel paced the Lakers' performance with eight points, a perfect 27-for-27 serving tally, 11 digs, and a pair of aces. Fellow NHS alumna Amanda Frantz bagged 15 kills, eight points, and two aces, and Baltimore native Cornelia Hilton added nine points with two aces. Sophomore Autumn Beavers, a Keyser, W.Va., resident, recorded 20 digs, 23 kills, two aces, and two blocks. Former NHS Husky Molly Wolf handed out 23 assists.

The Trojans' Becky Vance turned in 18 kills, an ace, a block, and 17 digs for the victors.

Frantz was on fire Sunday, and her 26-point tally, along with five aces, eight digs, and four kills, put Garrett on the path to straight set 30-15, 30-16, and 30-15 victories. Beavers had eight points, four aces, and 19 kills, and went 29-for-33 on attacks; and freshman Yolanda Anthony contributed eight points and one block.

The Lakers opened with a 30-23 win last night against Rockville, but the guests roared back to take 30-23, 30-20, and 30-20 wins that sealed GC's fate. Beitzel netted a dozen service points, seven digs, and three aces, while Beavers matched her 12-point tally and added 17 kills. Anthony had five aces and two blocks, Frantz had eight digs and six kills, and freshman Johnna Newby recorded nine kills.

The Lakers (5-11) host Allegany tomorrow night in a 6 p.m. rematch, then travel to Hagerstown on Wednesday.

SPIKE IT, LAKERS! Making a powerful play on the Garrett College court is Laker Jhonna Newby, a freshman from McKeesport, Pa., who recorded a total of nine kills in the game against Montgomery-Rockville, held last night. The first match was the home team's, but Rockville won the next three. See story. Laker Molly Wolf is also pictured above (#11). A graduate of Northern High School, she is a GC sophomore. Humberson Rolls A Perfect Game

While representing Par-Matt Lanes in the Western Maryland Bowling Association All-Star Tournament on Sunday, local bowler Mel Humberson recorded his first-ever perfect game of 300. This was the second game of his three-game set, which he finished with a score of 683.

Humberson bowls in and sponsors the Mel's Truck Service team in the Wednesday Civic League at Par-Matt. His average from last season was 196, which earned him fourth place on the all-star team.

Hunting Safety Reminders Issued

The Maryland Natural Resources Police (NRP) has released several basic tips for hunters that could help make their hunt safe and enjoyable. "Hunters should remember that their actions in the field and in public reflect on all hunters and the sport of hunting," an agency spokesperson said.

The NRP has issued this list of hunting safety reminders.

•Familiarize and practice firearm proficiency before the hunting season.

•Treat every firearm as if it were loaded by always keeping the muzzle pointed in a safe direction, and never point a firearm at anything other than an intended target.

•Never take drugs or use alcohol before or while hunting, as vision, coordination, and senses can be affected. Alcohol will intensify the effects of hypothermia.

•Know physical limitations, and be physically able to hunt the game and travel the terrain, whether it is the marshes of the Eastern Shore or the mountains of western Maryland.

•Follow the laws and safety rules for hunting, and make sure that all hunting partners do so also.

•Respect the rights of private landowners to privacy and safety by obtaining written permission prior to the hunting season.

•Respect the rights and beliefs of non-hunters by covering harvested game while transporting from the field to home.

To purchase a hunting license or to hunt in Maryland, state law requires persons to take a hunter safety education class. These classes are offered year-round throughout the state. For the complete listing of times and locations persons may visit the DNR website at www.dnr.state.md.us/nrp/education.

The goals of Maryland's Hunter Education programs include the reduction of hunting accidents and violations; promotion of safe, responsible and knowledgeable hunting activities; and continuing the traditions of the hunting experience. In 1966 Maryland started with a voluntary program of hunter education. In 1977, the Maryland legislature made it mandatory for all first-time hunters to complete a hunter education course.

There are now more than 600 volunteer instructors teaching over 200 hunter education courses each year. Over 7,200 people take the Maryland Hunter Education Course every year.

Message from the Dean's Desk — Garrett College

by Dr. Virginia Broaddus
Dean of Academic Affairs

This time of year, we in Garrett County see change occurring seemingly every minute. That's the glory of our autumn. Yet as much as we welcome change, we also welcome the fact that some things stay the same, particularly at Garrett College.

Our focus on both change and stability has been the subject of conversations we've recently had with members of our local community. Thanks to Joan Crawford and Dr. Nancy Priselac, dean of student development, we've brought back our Community Advisory Network. With representatives from local agencies helping us and our college community brainstorm, we're a-buzz with new ideas for programming at Garrett as well as continuing to build on our strengths, and we're excited about some of the possibilities we've discussed. In fact, look for evidence of some of the network's ideas to appear in our community in a very visible way just as we gear up for our celebration of Autumn Glory.

We're gearing up in other ways as we help our local high school juniors and seniors get moving toward college with our Mountain Top College Expo, slated for Oct. 11 at Garrett College. Thanks to a team from the Board of Education and GC, students will meet with representatives from many colleges and universities. They'll learn about financial aid opportunities and potentially win scholarships ranging from $200 for our county's high school juniors to $500 for Northern and Southern's seniors. Students from other high schools will be eligible to win a free course, and we at Garrett are pleased to cosponsor some of these prizes and grateful to local businesses for helping provide the scholarships too. We appreciate knowing that our community's network reaches out to promote learning for all students in our county.

Networking was in action last week as Garrett County welcomed over 100 western Maryland guidance counselors for their annual meeting. We at Garrett College were glad to host these individuals, many of them our longtime friends, graduates, or adjunct instructors, at a breakfast. We shared information about our new offerings, including our Mountain Top Truck Driving Institute, our Agribusiness and Agriculture and Environment options, and our Cybersecurity certificate, as well as the Franklin University degree that students can earn at Garrett programs such as Natural Resources and Wildlife Technology, Adventure Sports, and Juvenile Justice. The room's energy was contagious, both from the guidance counselors as well as from GC's program directors. Listening to Nancy Priselac, Mike Logsdon, Kevin Dodge, Lyz Biser, and Rick McCrobie, I was reminded of just how lucky our students are to work with dedicated professionals committed to providing a stellar education. What's more, we were particularly proud to note that all 11 of this year's Honors Program students are from western Maryland, with 10 hailing from Garrett County and 1 from Frederick.

Speaking of honors, we're also proud of the excellence that some of our students have achieved in being nominated for Phi Theta Kappa, the prestigious national honor society for select community college students. Once students join PTK, they'll become eligible to earn a variety of scholarships and other major awards. Although the initiates change each year, our pride in Phi Theta Kappa members always stays the same.

Our Student Government Association's officers change annually, too, and we've recently congratulated Lisa Bernard and J.P. Plaugher, who will serve as freshman representatives. They join SGA president Amo Oliverio, vice president Beau Emerson, secretary James Michaels, treasurer Jeanine Cummings, historian Sonya Hollonthoner, and sophomore representatives Marcie Biggs and Steven Zorn. Working with SGA advisor Tim Foster and various campus clubs, they'll sponsor super events ranging from a Haunted House for community children, one that benefits a local charity, to a Spring Fling celebrating year's end. While the SGA's enthusiasm for student initiatives has stayed the same, we've had a neat change this year with the advent of Club Pulse, run by Brendan Spear and open to students 17 and older, featuring music, lights, and the chance to socialize in a safe setting here at Garrett.

By the time my next "Message from the Dean's Desk" appears, the leaves will have nearly all turned, Autumn Glory will have ended, and we at Garrett College will be finishing mid-term exams. Much will have changed, but our pride in our students, our faculty, our staff, and our community will, as ever, stay the same.

Computer Skills For Seniors Class Slated

"NOAH'S ARK" will be just one of many displays featured in "Mountain Reflections – A Community Celebration in Lights." Sponsored by the American Red Cross, the holiday themed, outdoor light show will be held at Rocky Gap State Park, just east of Cumberland, between Nov. 19 and Jan. 9. Sponsorships for major displays are currently being sought. See story for details.

Red Cross Seeks Sponsors For Mtn. Light Show

The American Red Cross is seeking sponsors for its "Mountain Reflections – A Community Celebration in Lights," which is a holiday themed, outdoor light show, held at Rocky Gap State Park, just east of Cumberland, between Nov. 19 and Jan. 9.

Patrons drive their cars through a mile-long route within the park to view 60-plus displays of varying heights and lengths, many with spectacular animation. Last year alone, over 28,000 people visited Mountain Reflections, said a spokesperson.

The event is sponsored by the Western Potomac Chapter of the American Red Cross. The chapter serves Allegany and Garrett counties in Maryland and Mineral County in West Virginia. Mountain Reflections is completely planned, coordinated, and staffed by volunteers with the help of some paid staff members of the chapter. It is the agency's major annual fundraising event, added the spokesperson.

Sponsorship of major displays are sold to local businesses, whose names are prominently illuminated at the site of their light displays. Companies and individuals may also choose to sponsor the cost of electricity or tree lighting for one evening at $150.

"The 2001, 2002, and 2003 shows have been successful thanks to partnerships formed with businesses and leaders of the communities of Allegany, Garrett, and Mineral counties," said Kasey Pelphrey, regional program coordinator. "Marketing is growing each year, reaching farther to attract patrons from four states, and beyond."

Rocky Gap State Park was chosen because of its size and proximity to Interstate 68, added Pelphrey.

The funds generated from Mtn. Reflections stay in this area to help the chapter fund its life-saving, family-enriching programs.

"The money raised through our fundraisers helps us serve our nearly 130,000 residents by providing disaster relief, emergency communications for members of the armed services and their families here in this area, the collection of enough blood for all four hospitals in our region, and public education in CPR, first aid and water safety," said Bill Crawford, executive director.

The agency also receives financial support from the United Way campaigns in all three counties, but according to Crawford, "fundraisers like Mtn. Reflections and the annual Homes Tour in Garrett County are extremely important components of our funding base."

Dinner To Benefit New Grantsville Museum Slated

A benefit dinner for the new Grantsville Community Museum will be held Friday, Oct. 29, at 6:30 p.m. at the Grantsville Senior Center, 125 Durst Court. Tickets are $21 per person.

The dinner will include turkey, roast beef, stuffing, mashed potatoes with gravy, green beans, rolls, drinks, and homemade pie.

Windy Ridge will provide the entertainment for the evening.

Advance tickets are available at Gregg's Pharmacy and the Garrett County Historical Society Museum in Oakland and Beachy's Pharmacy in Grantsville, or by calling Alice Faith-Trauger at 301-687-0333 or Maxine Beachy Broadwater at 301-895-5124.

Donations are also welcome. Persons may make checks payable to the Grantsville Community Museum and mail them to Grantsville Community Museum, P.O. Box 413, Grantsville, MD 21536.

Yough River Fall Foliage Canoe Trip Scheduled

Deep Creek Lake State Park staff will lead a fall foliage canoe trip down the scenic Youghiogheny River on Friday, Oct. 15.

Prior canoeing experience is preferred for participants. Persons will encounter Class I and II whitewater rapids. Participants must be at least 10 years old, and those under 16 must be accompanied by an adult. The cost is $10 per person. Participants may wish to bring snacks and drinks.

To register for this activity, or for more information, interested persons may call the Deep Creek Lake Discovery Center at 301-387-7067. Space is limited.

Spaghetti Dinners To Be Served At Northern High

Spaghetti dinners will be served at Northern High School during the Autumn Glory Festival on Friday, Oct. 15, from 5 until 7 p.m. in the cafeteria.

"Come out and eat spaghetti before the Northern Huskies take on the Beall Mounties," said an event spokesperson.

The dinner includes spaghetti, tossed salad, roll, dessert, and a drink.

The cost is $5 for adults and children over 12 years of age, and $2.50 for those under 12. Proceeds benefit the boys' and girls' basketball team.

Alzheimer's Assn. Group Changes Meeting Date

The Alzheimer's Association's Garrett County Family and Caregiver Support Group will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday, Oct. 18, at the Garrett County Health Department, located at 1025 Memorial Drive, Oakland. This is a change from the group's usual meeting date of the last Monday of each month.

The topic for the evening's program will be "Wandering and Solutions," with Mountain Glade Adult Day Care representative Joanne Harsh and local Seniors and Law Enforcement Together (SALT) representative Bill Heise.

The Garrett County Family and Caregiver Support Group meets January to June, and September to November. For more information on the local support group, persons may contact Donna McClintock Fost at 301-334-7740.

For information about other services available through the Alzheimer's Association, Western Maryland Region, persons may call 1-800-443-CARE (2273) or visit the association's web site at www.alzgmd.org.

Talladega, Ala.

It's become a given that Dale Earnhardt Jr. has the best car at Talladega Superspeedway. The new Nextel Cup points leader's come-from-way-behind victory in Sunday's EA Sports 500 shows that his driving skills are as impressive as the performance of his No. 8 Chevrolet.

A relatively ho-hum race turned dramatic when Bobby Labonte and Sterling Marlin crashed on the frontstretch on Lap 179 of 188, just as the leaders, including Earnhardt, headed for pit road for a green-flag pit stop.

With eight laps to go, Earnhardt was 24th. When the green flag was displayed for a five-lap dash to the checkered flag, several other drivers had made pit stops, moving him to 11th.

Two laps later, having dispatched 10 other drivers, he surged past Kevin Harvick into the lead and held on to win for the fifth time this season and for the fifth time in the past seven races at the Alabama track.

Harvick finished second, ahead of Dale Jarrett, Brendan Gaughan and Kurt Busch.

It wasn't just the partisan Talladega fans in the grandstands who recognized that Earnhardt Jr. is just as good — or maybe better — than his late father at negotiating the draft on the giant track. He now trails only his father, who has 10 Talladega victories, on the career list.

Jarrett said young Earnhardt's skills showed when the race was on the line.

"He's got a fast car, but he does a good job of driving it," he said. "I'm not sure he gets enough credit for that because he's a heck of a young driver."

Busch agreed: "Dale Jr. is awesome when you come to restrictor-plate races."

Like the Aaron's 499 in the spring, a late-race wreck put NASCAR officials on the spot. Should they throw the caution flag for the last-lap wreck involving Kasey Kahne and Greg Biffle and force a reduced-speed, yellow-flag finish? Or should they let the drivers continue at speed and hope they slow down enough to avoid the wreckage on the cool-down lap?

Unlike the spring, they opted for the latter, which suited the red-clad fans who drank their beer in celebration of an Earnhardt victory instead of tossing it onto the race track in protest as they did in April, when Jeff Gordon beat Earnhardt in a race that ended under caution. NASCAR has since adopted a green-white-checkered flag policy to ensure that most races end under green-flag conditions.

Leaders shuffle in standings

By RICK MINTER
Cox News Service

Talladega, Ala.

Dale Earnhardt Jr.'s victory boosted him from third to first in the standings, and while the 500 didn't have the big wreck that everyone figured would occur and scramble the points standings, there was a significant shuffle among the top 10 drivers who are competing for the championship.

It could change again before next week's race at Kansas Speedway if NASCAR penalizes Earnhardt for uttering an expletive in his post-race TV interview.

A similar incident in March cost Busch Series driver Johnny Sauter 25 points plus a $10,000 fine and probation.

Earnhardt, who was visibly upset by the possibility of losing points in the middle of a tight championship race, said the circumstances were different.

"Johnny said it in a fit of anger; I said it in Victory Lane," he said. "If anybody was offended by that, I can't imagine why they would tune into the race in the first place."

Busch maintained his runner-up spot, while Jeff Gordon dropped to third after finishing 19th in the 500.

Labonte cutting back

Terry Labonte is expected to announce at an Oct. 12 press conference that he'll cut back to a part-time schedule, running 10 races in 2005 and 2006. That opens the door for Busch Series driver Kyle Busch to move to the Cup level on a full-time basis in a Hendrick Motorsports entry.

Litter warning

Talladega Superspeedway President Grant Lynch nipped littering the track in the bud before the EA Sports 500. Speaking over the track's public address system, Lynch warned fans that throwing objects onto the track, as some of them did at the conclusion of the previous race at Talladega, would not be tolerated.

"If we catch you, we are going to prosecute you to the full extent of the law," he warned.

Mayfield's season, car take a hit

Chase competitor caught up in wreck

By AL LEVINE
Cox News Service

Talladega, Ala.

It looked like a scene from "ER." Surgeons hovering over the patient, tubes going in and out of the main cavity. A mad scramble to save an ailing body.

The tools were passed about with yells and fits.

Air.

Clamps.

Reciprocating saw.

Duct tape.

And all Jeremy Mayfield could do was watch, knowing full well that even if the operation were a success, the patient — his No. 19 Dodge — would, sadly, die.

The scene in the Nextel Cup garage after a wreck is one of intense activity as crewmen work feverishly to patch a damaged machine. That intensity has multiplied in the last two months of the Cup season.

Sunday at Talladega Superspeedway, the chances are the No. 19 Dodge team took a probable fatal hit on Lap 143 of the EA Sports 500. Mayfield was involved in another one of those no-way-to-avoid/innocent-victim situations.

Jeff Green's No. 43 Dodge appeared to start it and collected Jimmy Spencer's No. 4 Chevrolet, the No. 32 Chevy of Bobby Hamilton Jr. and Mayfield, who was 29th.

MAYFIELD

Mayfield was already behind the eight-ball, ranked 10th among 10 championship contenders, looking at a 157-point gap from the points leader. His was the feel-good story of the Cup chase, winning his way into the playoff in the 26th race of the season.

But it all went sour when the No. 19 was pushed to the garage by its crew, the acrid odor of burning rubber coming from a crushed nose. The wheels came off, literally. Then the radiator, hoses, hood and fenders. So this is what 38th place smells like.

Mayfield sat in the car as the team hustled to do its repairs. All he could do was run a hand idly over his buzz-cut and drum his fingers on the steering wheel.

He could hardly explain the disappointment.

"It's pretty unbelievable," Mayfield said. "Two big deals that happened to us [the other, a wreck at New Hampshire two weeks ago]. It's just unfortunate. We thought we were doing the right thing, just planning to go racing at the end."

Mayfield had started ninth but spent most of the day in mid-pack waiting for the right time to make a move.

"I'm not sure what happened to the 43 [Green's car]," Mayfield said.

"Somebody must have turned him because he turned right in front of us. We were just sticking to our game plan, to either be up front or stay in the back to the end. That's what we were doing. What do you do? You can't really predict what's going to happen here."

The point of all the repairs was to make another lap or two, gain a couple more points, then call it a day.

The No. 19 rolled back into the garage looking rather unfinished, nearly half its sheet-metal gone.

Suddenly, Mayfield's season has the look of finality.

Group says tracks not safe for minorities

By RICK MINTER
Cox News Service

Talladega, Ala.

A group representing the National Association for Minority Race Fans attended a news conference at Talladega Superspeedway Sunday to say NASCAR races aren't safe places for women or minorities.

Spokespersons for the group wouldn't cite specific incidents but said they will release a documentary-type film in February that will prove their point.

"It will shed light on NAMFRA's quest for safety for minorities, including women, at NASCAR races," said Shawn Griffith, who identified himself as a producer and member of NAMFRA. "I think the results are shocking."

Jirard Brown, a director of NAMFRA, said his group chose not to carry out a planned protest at Talladega because the site they were offered was unacceptable and because officials could not guarantee their safety.

Patrick Manning of the Alabama State Patrol disputed those claims.

"If they had security concerns, they would be in a location where we could provide them with whatever security was necessary," he said.

TORNADOES AND HURRICANES

Q. I thought tornadoes happened in the springtime. How come there are tornados coming with the hurricanes?

A. Tornadoes and hurricanes have one very important thing in common: rotation! In both cases, air is moving around in a circle. That's the key to understanding how tornados can be "spawned" by hurricanes.

In an average hurricane, there is circulating air perhaps 100 miles from the center, and there is all sorts of turbulence taking place within the hurricane. There are whirlwinds hidden in some parts of the hurricane where the wind might be 200 miles per hour, even though the main "hurricane force winds" are only about 100 miles per hour. As long as the hurricane is out at sea, over the open ocean, those interior cells of whirlwinds aren't really noticed: they're not visible on satellite images, and forecasters tracking the path of the hurricane don't focus on the whirlwinds.

When the hurricane comes ashore (landfall) the various circulating winds start to run into objects (like buildings) and so the smooth wind patterns are interrupted. At this stage, a general property of turbulent flow comes into play: there is air circulating in big loops, medium loops and small loops. We say there is turbulence on different scales. The smaller-scale movements inside the large-scale patterns are known as eddies. The largest scale is the hurricane itself; the medium scale the embedded whirlwinds, and the loops of the smallest scale might be only a quarter mile across. In each case there is still air going around in a circle.

Meanwhile, it is a basic principle of physics that when anything is going around in a circle, it has angular momentum. It is the product of the mass times the velocity times the distance from the center of rotation: A.M. = r x V x m. That angular momentum doesn't want to change – it is conserved. Because of that law of physics, something far from the center might be moving with a slow velocity, but when it comes in close to the middle (where the radius is small), it has to speed up in order to conserve angular momentum. There is a nifty exhibit in many science museums where you can demonstrate this by allowing pennies to roll around in a cone, watching them speed up as they spiral into the middle. (For moving air, the principle is exactly the same, but the mass is replaced by the density of air.)

Now let's put all those pieces together: Once onto the land, the large-scale turbulence (the hurricane) runs into things and starts to break apart, and pieces get separated here and there. The smaller-scale turbulence carries away its angular momentum during the breakup. Those smaller-scale units containing circulating air will have some of the air pulled in very tightly toward the center, where the velocity becomes very high. The standard "funnel cloud" might not even be visible with all the rainfall going on, but still the wind speed at the center is very high. It's a real tornado. It was "spawned" by the hurricane as it broke up and released various fragments to do their own thing, so to speak.

The scale of the hurricane itself covers hundreds of miles, but a tornado will typically be under a quarter-mile across. Because of the conservation of angular momentum, the velocity of air inside the small tornado can easily be double or triple the wind speed of the large hurricane. Moreover, there can be many intermediate-sized whirlwind eddies, and lots and lots of tornados. What's more, there is almost no hope of predicting anything about the small-scale rotating eddies (the tornados). Consequently, people may think they're riding out a hurricane successfully, but then all of a sudden they get hit by a tornado.

Wherever there is a lot of energy in the atmosphere, powerful forces can be found. Circulating air offers the opportunity for those forces to get organized, and that's where hurricanes come from. The spawning of tornadoes is a further concentration of a lot of energy in one very small place, and that can be even more dangerous.

Health Insurance Premiums Rose Faster Than Income in Maryland

by Linda Nishida
Capital News Service

WASHINGTON – Health insurance costs for Maryland workers rose almost 37 percent over the last four years, more than twice as fast as the state's average 15 percent income increase during the same period, according to a national report released Tuesday. Maryland did better than most: The report by the nonprofit consumer group Families USA said that premiums grew at an even faster rate in 34 states, and in many states premiums rose three times as fast as income from 2000 to 2004.

But state health consumer groups said that Maryland's rankings are no reason to celebrate. "Maryland is an extremely wealthy state. How is it that we have so many uninsured and underinsured in our state?" asked Glenn Schneider, executive director of the Maryland Citizens' Health Initiative and Maryland Health Care for All Coalition. "It doesn't matter what the national rankings are. It matters what these people are going through day after day."

State regulators and industry representatives declined comment Tuesday, saying they had not been able to review the report. But Schneider said the major culprit in Maryland's price hikes is prescription drug costs. And Ron Pollack, executive director of Families USA, said that mirrors a national problem.

"The fastest rising component is pharmaceutical costs," Pollack said. "Working families fell further behind and health costs became even more unaffordable."

Schneider's group has been working in the General Assembly for a range of initiatives that would provide affordable health care for all Marylanders. But Pollack said the long-term solution is going to have to come from the national level.

"Ultimately, this needs national leadership, and although the impact is somewhat different from one state to another, this needs to be dealt with on a national basis," he said. The report also said the number of uninsured Marylanders under age 65 rose from 1 million in 2000 to 1.4 million in 2004 – a 4.2 percent increase.

The uninsured now make up 27.8 percent of state residents under age 65, the report said. Part of that uninsured group is children living in poverty. Maryland was one of the states that froze enrollment in recent years in its State Children's Health Insurance Program (SCHIP), which provides children with health coverage if their families' income falls below 200 percent of the poverty level. Children's advocacy groups say the report confirms a disturbing trend – lack of coverage for one of the state's most vulnerable groups.

"Those kinds of numbers are exactly the reason why any retreat of SCHIP would be terrible for the health of Maryland's children," said Sharon Rubinstein, spokeswoman for the Baltimore-based Advocates for Children and Youth. "That's not the right direction to be moving in with a state as wealthy as Maryland."

For Schneider, the most disturbing aspect of the report is that health insurance is becoming something that he said only the rich can afford, depriving the rest of the population of what he called a necessity. "The worst thing this report says is that it's making health insurance look like it's something of the past," he said. "It's becoming more and more of a luxury for people who can pay."

Masterson played Baranski's 'Cybill' son

By Taylor Michaels
© Zap2it

Danny Masterson

Q: Please give me any info you have on the actor who plays Steven Hyde on "That '70s Show." He's cute! –L. Williams, Columbus, Ohio.

A: A native of Long Island, N.Y., Danny Masterson, 28, made his TV debut at age 11 with a 1988 guest appearance on "Jake and the Fat Man." He attracted more serious notice with his 1993 series debut in the short-lived 1993 ABC sitcom "Joe's Life," in which he played the first in a series of mischief-making characters.

Masterson completed 10th grade in public school, but had to switch to tutoring at that point because his acting career was kicking into overdrive. Between "Joe's Life" and "That '70s Show," he co-starred with James Brolin and Cameron Bancroft in ABC's 1995 adventure series "Extreme," and played Christine Baranski's character's teenage son Justin in "Cybill."

His TV guest appearances include "Roseanne," "NYPD Blue," "American Gothic," "Party of Five," "Sliders," "Grounded for Life" and "King of the Hill."

Film and TV movie credits include "Beethoven's 2nd," "Bye Bye, Love," "Seduced by Madness: The Diane Borchardt Story," "Her Last Chance," "Face/Off," "Trojan War," "Star Kid," "The Faculty," "Wild Horses," "Too Pure," "Dracula 2000" and "Strange Frequency."

As you probably know, Danny is the older brother of Christopher Kennedy Masterson of "Malcolm in the Middle." The brothers are co-owners of Ashton Kutcher's upscale Los Angeles restaurant Dolce, along with "'70s Show" co-star Wilmer Valderrama and actor Jamie Kennedy. The eatery was in the news recently when it was burglarized twice over the Labor Day weekend.

Q: John Ritter played a priest on either "Judging Amy" or "Family Law." Which one was it? –L.E., Wood-Ridge, N.J.

A: Ritter played Father Andrews in a 2000 episode of "Family Law" titled "Possession Is Nine Tenths of the Law."

Q: I never read anything about Lou Diamond Phillips' private life. Is he married? Children? –Lillian Hicks, Alpena, Mich.

A: Evidently you don't remember, but the public read quite a bit about Phillips' private life back in 1990, when his first wife, director Julie Cypher, announced that she was leaving him after four years of marriage to have a relationship with lesbian singer Melissa Ethridge.

Now 42, Phillips has been married since 1994 to makeup artist Kelly Phillips, with whom he has three children.

What's Happening at the Drane House?

By Becky Aiken and Sherry Georg

To let you know what is happening at the Drane House we must first let you know what has happened. On Sept. 22 history came to life for the 4th grade students at Accident and Grantsville elementary schools. Through grant funding and the collaboration among the Garrett County Board of Education, Accident Cultural Society, and Flowery Vale Garden Society we were able to bring West Virginia University Extension Service's "History Hitting the Road" exhibit to the Drane House.

Students were able to learn the history of the house and garden, and take part in demonstrations by a blacksmith and weaver, and grinding corn at the covered wagon exhibit.

It was an exciting day for the students, and even more exciting for those were involved in making it happen. The planning for this event started well in advance of the day. Copies of the newly developed curriculum on colonial life were distributed to the 4th grade teacher in advance of their visit. These curriculums contained pre- and post-visit classroom activities designed to help students get the most from their visit.

Barbara Law's Northern High School student service class prepared corn bread for the elementary students to sample as they learned to grind corn. Law along with Northern High School students Jessica Harvey, Kara Bowser, Nikki Bender, Mariel Vallano, Courtney Bowman, and Jeffery Smith attended the day's activity to pass out corn bread, act as time keepers, and assist as needed.

The newspaper staff of Northern Middle School under the direction of Carolyn Tice was instrumental in making the day a success. They not only took pictures, and conducted interviews for their school paper, they also acted as docents and escorted the groups of elementary students to each station. Our thanks to Jesse Biser, Kristen DeWitt, Dylan Gallagher, Lindsey Glotfelty, Kevin Knox, Sarah Wampler, Ian Aiken, Marley Kamp, Susan Jedlowski, and Mrs. Tice.

Pictured assisting students at candle making are Susan Keller, vice director of the Accident Cultural and Historical Society. Members of the Accident Cultural and Historical Society were excited to assist the docents from West Virginia University with their stations. We are even more excited to announce the launch of our own docent program. It is the hope of the Accident Cultural and Historical Society to develop a group of docents of all ages to assist with activities and tours of the house and grounds, while costumed in 1800s clothing.

Through the winter months we will be planning for the 2005 activities. Our costumed docents will be an integral part of these activities. If you are interested in becoming a docent or would like to help with the project in any way please give us a call. We would especially like to encourage high school students to consider earning their hours for service learning credit by acting as docents.

Those who are interested in any of our projects should contact Sherry Georg at 301-746-8766 or Becky Aiken 301-746-8427.

Parking Meters To Be Decorated Before Festival

Those who adopted a parking meter during the Autumn Glory season as a fundraiser for the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department are reminded that the meters must be decorated before Tuesday, Oct. 12.

Decorations can be any style, but should reflect the season and be in good taste, according to a spokesperson.

Decorations must be removed between Nov. 1 and 3. This is the second annual parking meter fundraiser.

4-H Club News

FRIENDSVILLE FIREFILES

by Teresa Friend, reporter

The September meeting of the Friendsville Fireflies was opened by President Bradley Friend. The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Jamie Lewis, and the 4-H Pledge was led by Brian Friend. We answered roll call by saying what our favorite thing was from the fair.

We also did demonstrations at the meeting. Christan's was about her fair project; Joyce her dog; Jamie his dog; Bradley lamb and wildlife, and Teresa her pig.

We talked about doing some community service and about selling beef tickets. We also talked about trips, agreements, and by-laws.

The snack was provided by Jamie and Joyce Lewis.

If anyone is interested in joining the club, please call Alice at 301-746-8924 or Lu at 301-746-5616.

Twice Blest

During our lives, some of us might have a conflict unique to those who live in this country...perhaps deciding whether to purchase a larger home or to use that money to help others who do not have even the basic necessities. Helping others, even in the smallest amount, is another way showing appreciation that we were born in this land of plenty.

In Matthew 19:21, our Lord commanded, "If you would be perfect, go, sell what you possess and give to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven..." Though we would probably not have to sell our possessions, when we give, we instantly receive the gift of warmth and establish the kind of spiritual equilibrium that comes from putting others first. Yet, where do we begin?

Most of our nation's churches and synagogues provide the opportunity for giving, many sending volunteers and material gifts. Why not visit your local church or synagogue this week? Not only can you help the poor, but you will enrich your soul as well. You will be twice blessed.

Love God and Your Neighbor

In the Gospel of Mark, we are told that the "Great Commandment" to love God and your neighbor is more important than offering sacrifices to God. And although there are many ways in which we can make sacrifices to God, these are all secondary to this "Great Commandment." Furthermore, if we do not possess a love of God and our neighbor, our sacrifices are ultimately in vain and self-serving. Supporting your place of worship, helping the unfortunate, fasting, and prayer are all worthwhile sacrifices that are indeed beneficial in building our relationship with our Heavenly Father. However, we are told that before we offer our gifts to God's altar, we should make peace with those with whom we have issues (Matthew 5:24). Surely, it is not always easy to love everyone, and it is virtually impossible to make everyone love us; still, we gain more grace and mercy when we try to love those who are most unlovable. We should never let another person's unpleasant character or actions affect our sentiments. Simply stated, we can disapprove of a person's actions or words, but we should not hate the person. Nothing is impossible with God, and loving Him and our neighbor is always possible because God is love and He is always extending this great gift to us.

But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, and self-control. Against such there is no law.

Products With Cancer-Fighting Potential

After conducting a five-year study at MD Anderson Cancer Center, researchers have concluded that a high intake of one form of vitamin E called alpha-tocopherol significantly reduced that risk of developing cancer of the bladder. Unfortunately they also found that the more common forms of vitamin E including gamma-tocopherol had no effect on the rates of cancer developing in the bladder. Previous studies had reported that vitamin E reduced bladder cancer but they did not distinguish between its different forms.

Although beta-carotene, a form of vitamin A, does reduce the incidence of certain cancers, studies evaluating it suggest that it does not have activity specifically against bladder cancer. Regularly drinking green tea, however, does appear to reduce the risk of developing bladder and other cancers. While lycopene does appear to prevent cancers of the prostate, research has shown no association between lycopene intake or levels in the body and the risk of bladder cancer. The same holds true for the popularized notion of consuming a tomato based diet.

Paw's corner

Leash Outlaw

Q. My 4-year-old mixed-breed dog becomes unmanageable if another dog on a leash gets close. I am 82, and "Jayne" is ruining my hikes with this behavior. She bolts toward the other dog, and if I hung on to her leash, I would be dragged. What can be done? I have never had her learn "sit, stay, down" commands, and sometimes at home she refuses to come when I call her. — Olive M., Prescott, Ariz.

A. It sounds like you have a dominant dog on your hands — one who wants to assert her authority over other dogs, and possibly over you. Jayne's actions in the park are typical of many dogs that rush to check out others of their own species (or, occasionally, humans, cats or deer), dragging you along in her wake. When not pulling away from you or refusing to obey your commands, dominant dogs are vying for your attention — barking while you are on the phone or eating dinner, leaning against you, even jumping up when you walk in.

To counter this, you need to establish yourself as the unquestioned leader of the pack (even if the "pack" is just you and Jayne). You eat first; you go through doorways first; you control when treats and toys are distributed. Jayne does not sleep in your bed or on the furniture. This doesn't seem fair, does it? But don't worry. Your dog wants to be led. She needs to be led.

Undoing Jayne's dominant behavior will take time and effort, using a program that combines specific control techniques with basic obedience training. Yes, she'll have to learn the "sit, stay, down" commands at the very least.

I recommend reading "Breaking Bad Habits in Dogs" by Colin Tennant (Barron's Educational Series) to learn more. You should also talk with a professional trainer in your area and consider either group or private lessons so that you and Jayne can have a truly peaceful walk in the park.

Collecting

Q. I have a small pin cushion made of sea shells. It is in the shape of a bed. The mattress and pillow are velvet and form the actual cushion. It is a beautiful thing, but I have no idea of how much it might be worth. — Lohva, Willmar, Minn.

A. Two collectors who specialize in sewing collectibles are Wynneth Mullins, P.O. Box 381808, Duncanville, TX 75138; and Denis Hamilton, 899 Latta Brook Road, Elmira, NY 14901.

Q. I have some champagne bottles that I've had for many years. They still contain spirits, and I would like to find out both age and values. Can you help me? — A.W.T., Fenton, Mo.

A. William H. Edgerton is an appraiser who specializes in wines and wine-related items. His address is P.O. Box 88, Darien, CT 06820.

Strange BUT TRUE

• The Japanese evidently take their golfing very seriously. A 43-year-old man named Takeo Niyama was outraged when a companion giggled after Niyama sliced a stroke. So outraged, in fact, that he bludgeoned the companion to death with his club. He was subsequently arrested for murder.

• A giraffe's neck is about 6 feet long and, if average, weighs 600 pounds.

• It was American writer Helen Hathaway who observed, "More tears have been shed over men's lack of manners than their lack of morals."

• The original name of Elmer's Glue was "Cascorez."

• Those who study such things claim that honeybees fly 80,000 miles and visit 2 million flowers, collecting 4 pounds of nectar, in order to make a single pound of honey.

• Luxury-car makers Rolls-Royce, Lamborghini and Bentley are all owned by the Volkswagen company.

• The most common color found in national flags is red.

• Reportedly, Winston Churchill's last words were "I'm bored with it all."

• The astronomers who name planetary features must have other things on their minds besides science. In fact, seven of the craters on the planet Mercury were named after great men of the arts: Shakespeare, Chopin, Monet, Michelangelo, Bach, Beethoven and Mark Twain.

• In medieval times, vegetables were considered to be food fit only for the poor.

• Everyone knows that the president of the United States gets a 21-gun salute, but did you know that the vice president, the secretary of the Navy, the chief of naval operations and the Marine Corps commandant all get a 19-gun salute?

Joins Loch Lynn Church Staff

Brenda G. Bernard has joined the staff of the Loch Lynn Church of God, Pastors Ivan and Cindy Ackerman have announced. Bernard will serve as children's minister for children up through the age of 11, and she brings 15 years of experience working with children to her new position.

Bernard and a staff of volunteers will provide children's instruction on Sunday mornings at 8 and 11 a.m., and Wednesday evenings at 7 p.m. The children's ministry is called J.A.M. (Jesus and Me) Zone, and includes Bible lessons, songs, puppets, and "Rovercomer, the Faith Dog." Bernard will also serve as director of the church's vacation Bible school, plan children's field trips, and coordinate all areas of children's ministry.

Children from the area may attend these activities. For further information, persons may call the office of the Loch Lynn Church of God at 301-334-3221.

AG Fundraisers To Benefit Local Meals On Wheels

Community Action's Area Agency on Aging will conduct two fundraisers to benefit the Meals on Wheels Program during the Autumn Glory Festival Grand Feature Parade.

Parking will be available for parade watchers at the Community Action parking lot, located at 104 E. Center Street in Oakland, starting at 9 a.m. The cost is $5 per car.

"There is plenty of parking available," said an agency spokesperson. But reservations for spots are available by calling 301-334-9431,ext. 134.

In addition, the agency will be selling handmade Swarovski crystal jewelry by the Northern Lights Jewelry in a booth near the food vendor area on Green Street. The jewelry pieces cost between $25 to $45, and $5 of each purchase will be donated to the Meals on Wheels Program. Cash or Visa will be accepted.

T-SHIRTS FROM THE DOVE CENTER'S CLOTHESLINE PROJECT were on display during an Awareness Ceremony today, Oct. 4, at the Oakland Train Station. Holding some of the shirts are Dove staff members Gina Bender, left, and Brenda LeMay. The center will facilitate a support group for domestic violence victims beginning Thursday, Oct. 28, from 10 until 11:30 a.m. Along with support, the group helps victims with various dynamics of domestic violence, such as the cycle of violence, safety planning, and the effects on children. The Clothesline Project is an activity performed by group members and others who have been affected by violence. The project was created in Massachusetts in 1990 with 31 shirts. The shirts represented survivors of assault, rape, and incest. Now known internationally, various groups have started Clothesline Projects, with more than 35,000 shirts having been displayed, according to a Dove Center spokesperson. "These shirts bear witness to the survivors as well as the victims of family violence," said the spokesperson. "The shirts are used as a tool to assist with the healing process of those affected and to raise awareness of this societal problem." For more information about the support group, persons may call the Dove Center at 301-334-9000 by Oct. 21.

Addison Group To Present "Ghostly" Front-Porch Tours

The Old Petersburg/Addison Historical Society will present "Addison Apparitions" on Sunday, Oct. 17. The event is a "front-porch" tour through the village of Addison.

Beginning at the Addison Methodist Church, tours start promptly at 1:45, 2:15, and 2:45 p.m. Participants will stop at 14 locations, learning about the history of the village from characters out the town's past.

"You'll see and hear costumed apparitions speak of the exciting episodes that took place during their days in the village," said a society spokesperson.

Participants will see travelers on the National Pike, a bank robbery in progress, characters taking part in the infamous Whiskey Rebellion, and ordinary people going about their daily activities.

Tickets are $10 for adults and $3 for children.

Food will be available at the Addison Methodist Church, along with a bake and craft sale.

The public is also invited to attend the Speaker's Program, featuring folk musician and historian Paula Parnell, at 6:30 p.m. in the church. This event is free.

For more information, persons may call 814-395-3405, 814-395-5585, or 814-395-5291.

Smoking Cessation Classes Offered In Grantsville Area

The Garrett County Health Department will begin smoking cessation classes at the Grantsville Community Outreach Building on Tuesday, Oct. 12, at 6 p.m. The classes are free to residents of Garrett County and will include an educational support group, nicotine replacement therapy, and the opportunity for pharmacological treatment.

Mike Wilburn a health educator with the Health Department has been conducting classes throughout the community for the past three years.

"The classes have been a real success," Wilburn said. "We have had over 250 smokers participate, and we have a much higher success rate than those interventions that only focus on counseling or nicotine replacement."

The success of the program, according to Wilburn, lies in the combination of education and other cessation aids.

"The support of other smokers who are going through the same process is a key to success," he said.

The classes will be offered every Tuesday for 10 weeks, and typically last 45 minutes to one hour. Persons interested in preregistering for the classes may call Wilburn at 301-334-7730 or 301-895-3111.

OVERLOOK HELPING TRANSITIONING CHILDREN – In an effort to ease local youngsters' transitions into kindergarten and from kindergarten into first grade, the Overlook Judy Center in Oakland sponsored camps over the summer at Dennett Road and Yough Glades elementary schools. The transition-to-first-grade camps, held in June, focused on reinforcing skills learned in kindergarten and promoting the process into first grade. Transitioning-into-kindergarten camps, held in August, gave children a boost by allowing them to meet other students and teachers, become familiar with the school, and follow a routine school day. Pictured above are parents, children, and teacher Patrick Damon as they look at the "class book" they made together in kindergarten camp. Yough Glades principal Keith Harvey said educators at the school level appreciate these programs, as well as special funding to the schools provided by the Overlook Judy Center. "We didn't have any criers at all at the beginning of the school year," Harvey said. "I did have one parent who cried instead of the child, though." The Overlook Judy Center is part of a statewide effort to promote school readiness and is operated by Garrett County Community Action in partnership with the Garrett County Board of Education.

Transportation To Flowery Vale Being Offered To Seniors

Community Action's Area Agency on Aging has arranged with Garrett Transit Service to transport seniors who wish to attend the Flowery Vale Health and Fitness Center in Accident. Beginning Oct. 19, a bus will leave the Mary Browning Center in Oakland every Tuesday and Thursday at 9:30 a.m., returning at noon.

The cost is $3 per trip, based on 10 passengers. The bus will hold 15 passengers, and if it is filled, the cost per person will decrease, noted an agency spokesperson.

"Many seniors have expressed the desire to attend the Flowery Vale Health and Fitness Center," she said, "but because of the distance and, at times, weather conditions, are reluctant to drive."

Elaine Kackley, director of Flowery Vale, said she was excited about the opportunity to serve more seniors from the Oakland area. Kackley is a personal trainer and older adult fitness specialist.

"Each member at the center receives a personal fitness assessment and will be guided by Elaine to reach his/her own fitness goals," said the spokesperson.

Membership cost is $15 a month or $150 a year.

For more information about the bus or membership at Flowery Vale, persons may call 301-334-9431, ext. 134.

Swanton Man Arrested After Alleged Assault

A Swanton man was arrested after police responded to a reported assault at a residence on Vindex Road in Kitzmiller, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Randall Frye, 34, was charged with second-degree assault following the 11:50 p.m. incident.

In other police news, Brandon Lohmeyer, 26, Odenton, was injured when his ATV hit a rock and overturned Friday night on private property near Kitzmiller.

Lohmeyer was transported by private vehicle to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment of injuries.

No charges were filed by police in the 11:02 p.m. incident.

Garrett's Co-Curricular Events Open To Students And Public

The list of co-curricular activities available to Garrett College students this fall semester was released this week by program coordinator Sally Staley. All co-curricular events are open to the public, and many are free of charge.

Two free presentations in the college auditorium highlight the remainder of the October calendar. "Estonia: Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow" will be presented by Garrett College president Dr. Steve Herman at noon on Wednesday, Oct. 20. "Put Down the Remote and Vote," a discussion regarding voter apathy among youth and minority cultures, will be facilitated by Cameron Miles, outreach director of Advocates for Children and Youth in Baltimore, at noon on Wednesday, Oct. 27.

Students may also participate in the annual Autumn Glory Tall Tales Festival beginning at 10 a.m. on Saturday, Oct. 16, at St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Oakland. Admission is $2.

Five co-curricular activities appear on the November calendar.

The Garrett Community Concert Band will perform in the auditorium at 2 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 21. Admission is free, but a free-will donation will be taken.

The Our Town Theatre production of Only an Orphan Girl is scheduled for 8 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday, Nov. 17-20, and at 2 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 21. Student admission is $5.

The Kolonists by Steven Dykes will be presented in the West Virginia University Creative Arts Center at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 18. The play depicts the emergence of Estonia as a free democracy after 50 years of Soviet occupation. Admission will be charged.

The annual Tellabration at Traders' Landing Coffee House is set for 7 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 20.

Concluding the fall semester events will be a trip to New York Wednesday through Sunday, Nov. 24-28 for a student charge of $300. Interested persons may contact Lonnie Brewster at 301-387-3017.

Persons desiring further information about these co-curricular events may call Staley at 301-387-3102.

Talent, Speakers Sought For ARC Veterans Salute

The annual American Red Cross salute to veterans program will take place at 2 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 7, at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Oakland. Organizers are seeking local talent and speakers for the event, which has a theme of "Standing Watch."

There will be no admission charge for the program, which is sponsored by the Garrett County ARC Chapter Veterans Day Committee. A freewill offering will be taken in the form of monetary donations toward the efforts of the local Red Cross Chapter, and phone cards that will be sent to service men and women. The cards will make it easier for members of the military serving overseas to contact their families back home.

To volunteer for the program, persons or groups may contact ARC Veterans Day Committee chairpersons Bea Crosco at 301-334-3153, or Donna Cook at 301-334-4465.

HUTS AND HIKES go together in football and on the Appalachian Trail's New Hampshire segment, where hikers can trade chilly tents and dehydrated food for a warm bunk beds and hot home-cooked meals in huts such as the aptly named Lakes of the Clouds Hut, shown above resplendent in the setting sun. The state's White Mountains compose what many AT sojourners call the most beautiful portion of the 2,170-mile trail. The segment includes the Presidential Range, featuring Mounts Adams, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, John Quincy Adams, Pierce, Eisenhower, and the world-famous 6,288-foot summit of Mt. Washington, noted for its bizarre weather and wind gusts that have been clocked at a world-record 231 miles per hour. See the latest installment in the AT thru-hike feature series by McHenry resident Julia Geisler, pictured above right traversing Franconia Ridge, located south of Mt. Washington. Photos by Michael Snyder.

Hiking The Appalachian Trail

Editor's note: The following is another in a series of articles by McHenry resident Julia Geisler as she and her friend walk the entire length of the Appalachian Trail.

Rain. Rain. Rain. Rain everyday for a month straight. Then, miraculously, the sun came out. We were rewarded for our month of misery with a week of absolutely gorgeous weather as we walked through the White Mountains of New Hampshire. They were the kind of days that tell you fall is on the way. Crisp, clear, sunny, with light and variable winds. The news broadcaster reported on the radio that it was to be the best week of the year for a vacation. The alpine coniferous trees were silhouetted against a baby blue sky, and descents into the lower elevations brought deciduous trees with hints of new colors. Among the familiar green, now we walked through yellow, orange, and red.

Some say that the White Mountains are the most beautiful section of the Appalachian Trail, and I would have to agree. We took advantage of the hut-to-hut system and thoroughly enjoyed our time in these famous mountains that began with Mount Moosilauke, then on to Franconia Ridge and the Presidential Range.

As we approached the Whites, we were greeted with our first real mountain since the South–Mt. Moosilauke. Our ascent lead us to a most breathtaking alpine summit with a 360-degree above-alpine view of what we had just walked, and also what lay ahead for the coming week. We were told that we could see all the way to Maine and back to Killington, Vt., from the top of that mountain. Then the descent was 3,000 feet straight down, gripping rebar and literally having to sit down and slide over rocks in order to keep going, a cascading waterfall beside us the entire way.

A day later we were on Franconia Ridge, and this was my most favorite part thus far on the AT. The beauty was comparable to the grandeur of Yosemite Valley. Green, green lichen covered the rocks, contrasted against a blue, blue sky along the ridge. The Franconia Ridge led us on a winding and rocky path over peak after peak with views of Mt. Washington in the distance, its cog railroad puffing up the side.

Mt. Washington is the tallest mountain in New England (6,288 feet), and it is mighty impressive to view from afar, shooting up above the rest of many stately surrounding mountains–and quite a sight to behold. Lathering on suntan lotion, we walked with our mouths agape the rest of that day. We arrived at Galehead Hut as the colors of sunset illuminated the forest and the sky. A most extraordinary hut, all stone outside and wood inside.

The White Mountains are maintained by a non-profit organization called the Appalachian Mountain Club (AMC), which has been the caretaker of a hut-to-hut system that has existed in the Whites since the early 1920s. The AMC is focused on not only preservation and conservation, but also on bringing people to the Whites to experience its beauty. The huts are $80 per night per person including a bunk and two meals, thus exceeding the limits of a thru-hiker's budget, and so the AMC allows a few hikers a night to do work for stay. At Galehead Hut, Mike and I participated in a "work for stay," and did a presentation on thru-hiking for the 32 guests (the smallest hut in the Whites). We shared our stories from the trail and our theories on lightweight backpacking in a cozy atmosphere of happy people.

Nestled at the base of the tree line on Mt. Washington, nearing the end of the Whites, is the Lakes of the Clouds Hut. We arrived too late to do work for stay, and were showed "The Dungeon" for our place to sleep. The dungeon is famous among thru-hikers, as it is a moldy-smelling, concrete room, smaller than my closet, with two wooden-planked bunk beds three berths high pushed against the damp rock walls. The greatest part about the dungeon was its heavy green metal door and crank lock that shut us in our little, cozy prison.

We enjoyed the sunset and gazed at the stars for a while and then locked ourselves into the dungeon for a night that I anticipated as being torture, full of snores and mice running over my head, but it turned out to be a good night of rest. We awoke with the first rays of sun and climbed Mt. Washington, watching the Lakes of the Clouds Hut be eaten for breakfast by huge billowing clouds.

I knew from the moment I woke up on that last morning in the Whites and looked outside Madison Hut to see gray swirling mist that the day was going to be hard. It was, as our bodies were beginning to feel the strain of the tough terrain from the past few days.

We labored hard that day, climbing the exposed mountain range in 60-mile-per-hour winds, clinging to rocks as we scuttled along. The Whites are known for their extreme weather changes–Mt. Washington itself claims fame to the greatest wind speed ever recorded on earth, and so we knew that a week of good weather was too good to be true and that we must experience the Whites' true colors soon enough.

Thus ended our main trek through the Whites, preceded and followed by that miserable rain. Pleased, yet exhausted, we now look forward to Maine and a change of scenery.

AT Thru-Hikers To Share Story At Wisp Event

The Adventuresports Instatute (ASI) of Garrett College will host a public reception for Appalachian Trail "thru-hikers" Julia Geisler and Michael Snyder beginning at 6 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 20, in Shenanigan's at the Wisp at Deep Creek Lake Mountain Resort in McHenry.

The one-hour reception will be followed by a one-hour presentation, including a slide show of photographs taken by the pair during their six-month, 2,174-mile journey, which Geisler chronicled in a feature series for The Republican.

This summer, Geisler, a McHenry resident, and Snyder, Frostburg, completed one of the 7,830 successful thru-hikes recorded since 1936. Only 24 such feats were accomplished prior to 1970. A "thru-hike" is defined as an Appalachian Trail hike from its southern terminus at Springer Mountain, Ga., to its northern terminus at Katahdin Mountain, Me., (or vice-versa) in one continuous journey.

ASI, the Adventure Sports Center, High Mountain Sports, and the Wisp are sponsoring the reception. Groups interested in attending are asked to provide prior notification by calling the ASI office at 301-387-3330.

SHS School Improvement Meeting Slated

The School Improvement Team at Southern Garrett High School will meet Monday, Oct. 11, at 3:30 p.m., in the Media Center. The public is invited at attend.

The minutes from the previous meetings can be viewed online by accessing the SHS web site.

Vision Screening Set By Somerset Co. Blind Center

Volunteers from the Somerset County Blind Center will hold a free vision screening for children and adults of any age.

The screening will take place at the Turkeyfoot School in the LGI Room at 172 Turkeyfoot Road in Confluence, Pa., on Tuesday, Oct. 19, beginning at 9 a.m. and continuing until noon. Volunteers will check vision and test for "lazy eye" and glaucoma.

For more information, persons may call the Salisbury Area Family Center at 814-662-2721.

LOW-COST WAYS TO PREPARE!

You know that you need to tidy up your home before you list, but what are good ways to prepare for your first showing when you're strapped for cash? There are several reasonable strategies that will help keep money in your wallet.

First impressions count, so take time to tidy up and to unclutter tabletops, counters, bathrooms and bedrooms. Don't have room to stash everything away? Ask your friends and family for some temporary storage.

Now that you've cleaned everything, make rooms look bigger by putting higher-wattage bulbs (the maximum the safety label allows!) in your lamps and adding inexpensive lamps here and there if necessary. You can also make small rooms look bigger by hanging some inexpensive mirrors. Make sure your windows are spotless and open to let in plenty of light!

Flowers and plants add a feeling of coziness and calmness why not pick a few things out of the yard and arrange them in some dollar-store vases and pots?

Finally, "show" your home for friends and family. Ask them to come over and help rearrange furniture, pick up the yard, and make suggestions. They can be a valuable resource by pretending to be potential buyers looking at your home.

Of course, even if money isn't an issue, these are all wonderful and easy ideas to prepare your home for a successful showing!

If you'd like to sell your home, but feel "out of touch" with what's happening in real estate, give me a call today!

TAKING OVER THE AIRWAVES –These 4-H'ers recently visited WKHJ Radio Station to produce some public service announcements (PSAs) with Lisa Skipper. They are promoting the "4-H Days" workshop scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 23, from 9:30 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. at Garrett College's agriculture buildings. Learning how to do PSAs to publicize the club's events is just one of the many workshops scheduled for all youth ages 5-18, not just youth in 4-H. Other classes include scrapbooking, sewing, photography, horticulture judging, cake decorating, woodworking, dairy judging, Legos, basket weaving, hemp jewelry, rabbits, beekeeping, felting with wool, stockman's judging, and all-day sessions for youth ages 5-8. These youth invite others to join them to learn more about what 4-H has to offer, said a spokesperson. Persons may contact the Garrett County Extension Office at 301-334-6960 for more details. In the front is Kelsey Skipper. In the middle, from the left, are Jessica Steyer, Levi Lantz, and Katelyn Gnegy. In the back are Aaron Lantz, Andrea Steyer, and Lisa Skipper.

STUDENTS RECEIVE A ROYAL WELCOME – Students from Southern Middle School recently attended the Pennsylvania Renaissance Faire's 19th annual School Days at the Faire. Classrooms from Southern journeyed to northern Lancaster County to the site of the 16th Century hamlet of Mount Hope, where they experienced a day of living history during the reign of Queen Elizabeth I. Throughout their visit, students encountered such notables as William Shakespeare, Sir Walter Raleigh, Sir Francis Drake, Mary Queen of Scots and, of course, Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth. During School Days at the Faire, schools are offered the opportunity to engage in spirited theater, heraldry and madrigal competitions; appoint students, also known as scribes, to attend the Royal Press Conference; and to otherwise experience life in Renaissance England interacting with 100s of guildsmen, traveling performers, troubadours, minstrels, and villagers from all walks of life. Among the workshop demonstrations are codes of chivalry, medieval arms and armor, stunts, and stage combat, plus the Faire's unique form of theatrical improvisation. Always highlights of the day are the Human Chess Match and Ultimate Jousting tournament, where students chose sides and cheer their favorite knights on to victory. The Faire remains open to the public weekends through Oct. 23 and 24. For further information, persons may contact 717-665-7021, or visit www.parenfaire.com. Pictured above, in the front from the left, are Ben Byrne, Heather Ahern, Brandi Collins, Trista Aronhalt, and Samantha Gibson. In the middle are Jeff Simpson, Aaron Mullenax, Tanner Polce, Vivian Geroski, Kaytie Riley, Marissa Aronhalt, Torri Riley, and Sue Lisantti. In the back are John Rolf, Brady Whealton, Alexis Brenneman, and Elizabeth Lantz.

BROAD FORD STUDENTS TO SELL KRISPY KREME DOUGHNUTS – Students at Broad Ford Elementary School will once again be selling Krispy Kreme doughnuts during the weekend events of Autumn Glory to raise funds for new playground equipment. The students, along with parents and teachers, will be selling doughnuts and refreshments throughout the Autumn Glory festivities. This sale is one of the first activities of the Bobcat group, a parent-teacher organization at Broad Ford. This year, there are three types of doughnuts being sold: glazed, glazed with chocolate icing, and glazed crème filled. Doughnut sales will take place at two different locations on Saturday, Oct. 16: at the craft fair at Broad Ford Elementary School following the parade and at a residence along Route 219 across from the Christmas Chalet at Deep Creek Lake. Any person or business interested in ordering a dozen or more doughnuts in advance may call Kim Smith now to place an order at 301-387-7134. All orders must be pre-paid and will be delivered to the school on the afternoon of Wednesday, Oct. 13. Pictured above are first graders in Rhonda Sweitzer's class. In the front, from the left, are Courtney Sanders, Kyle Harbourne, Jacob Mayle, Jordan Dawson, Natasha Friend, Dalton Smith, and Maria Sisler. In the middle are Gavin McConnell, Rachel Harvey, Diamond Ervin, Sierra Boatman, Autumn Crosco, Rachael Friend, and Nicole Pysell. In the back are Hannah Schroyer, Angela Lowry, Michaela McRobie, Jordan Sweitzer, Evie Butler, Nicholas Beckman, Tyler Bowers, and MacKenzie Smith.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

MAPLE GROVE CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN

The public is invited to the Maple Grove Church of the Brethren on Sunday, Oct. 10. The services on Sunday will be to celebrate homecoming. The morning service will be held at 10:20 a.m., with the Rev. Louise Nealis as speaker. Special music at this service will be rendered by Jim Sechler and Nicole Stanczyk. A covered-dish dinner will be held following the service.

The Anchored Quartet will have special music at the 2 p.m. service, with guest speaker William (Bill) Shimer. The church is located two miles south of Grantsville along the Maple Grove Road.

EMMANUEL LUTHERAN CHURCH

The blessing of celebrating Appalachian Sunday will be held this Sunday, Oct. 10, with Bishop Ralph Dunkin presiding at the service and Bishop Emeritus Alex Black serving as preacher for the day. Included in the celebration will be a thanksgiving for the retirement of the debt on Emmanuel's new sanctuary and a burning of the mortgage for the new church.

Many members will wear clothing that reflect the history we share in Appalachia. Special music, borne in Appalachian history, will be provided before and during the service. The loose offering for the day will support the ministry of our synod's Rostered Leader's Debt Reduction Fund, which collectively helps those who come to small and rural church congregations to reduce the large debt load they carry from seminary.

There will be a meal at the Bittinger fire hall following the service.

An invitation is extended to attend this special service and luncheon.

UPCOMING SPAGHETTI DINNER

A spaghetti dinner will be served on Friday, Oct. 15, from 5 to 7 p.m. in the Northern High School cafeteria as a fundraiser for the installation of a new sound system in the gymnasium. Cost will be $5 for adults and $2.50 per child for all-you-can-eat salad, spaghetti, bread, drink, and dessert. Come out and support this event and then stay and cheer on the Huskies as they host Beall in a football game.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

Lenny and Sally Poholsky and Ferne Beachy recently visited Mel and Steve Presgraves at Fenwick Island, Del.

Ruth DiPaolo and friend Betty Sacra recently visited Bette Sisk and Jimmie Woodie in Heathsville, Va.

Robbie Glotfelty, College Park, spent the weekend with his parents and family. He, along with his parents, attended the band competition in Westminster on Saturday. The Glotfeltys visited with Helen Englar at her home in Westminster. She returned home from a week in the hospital following an unexplained illness. She is slowly recuperating now at home. Her sister, Dorothy Quaintance of New York state, spent several days with her last week.

Judy and Jack Perkins, from Fayetteville, Ark., are visiting her mother, Ethel Buckel, for several days.

Gary and Sharon Buckel also recently visited their daughters in mid-state Maryland.

Lottie Brenneman is recovering from open-heart surgery at Sacred Heart Hospital. As of now they don't know when she will be coming home. Ruth DiPaolo visited her last Wednesday, and she thought she was doing remarkably well following bypass surgery.

Beulah Moon accompanied Larry and Ellen Moon to Savannah, Ga., recently. They were guests of Jeff and Ann Klein and attended the baptism of Caleb Moon at the Kirk of the Isle Presbyterian Church in Savannah. Kaleb is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Moon, who are home on leave from the U.S. Air Force in Korea. Beulah flew home with her grandson, John Moon.

MY NOTES

Today, Oct. 3, I will be surprised if we do not get our first frost. Last evening the sky was so clear that I saw thousands of stars in the first few minutes that I looked the heavenly way. It is not hard to feel the chill through my windows. I see by the weather channel that the northern part of the Midwest is ready to get their first snowstorm.

However, you must remember a couple years ago we got that landmark ice storm when most of the leaves were still on the trees, which caused massive damage and a long stretch of time without electricity. I am not the only one who hopes we will not get a repeat of that storm this year. Even with my now functioning furnace my house still feels pretty chilly at my wakeup time of 5 a.m.

One sign of our changing season is that the first headlights to appear on Rock Lodge Road are waiting until almost 7 a.m. instead of during the summer hours when they usually appear at around 6:30 a.m. Although I often bemoan the heavy traffic on our road, I am always glad to see the first sign that I am not alone and awake at that time of the morning. Of course, the last few dairy farmers who are still around here are up and around and have about completed their milking by that time. Daybreak now is not until about 7 o'clock, which is a sign of our changing season. Meadow Mountain is now pretty light at this time.

Once it was light enough to see if we did get a frost, I was surprised to see that it did not look like we had. Maybe that will wait for full moon later this month. I heard from a friend that we are also due for a lunar eclipse at a nice early hour soon after 9 p.m. A few other sky-gazing friends are considering a bonfire and eclipse watching for that evening unless it is too cold.

I am totally sick of the day-long public events which are the kind that I must attend. Be there or be square. They are always a tremendous strain on me. The recent Northern Band Show and then last Saturday's Democratic Party Rally at the fairgrounds were too important for me to miss, even for the unsociable one that I have become. It is just almost overwhelming to be in a place with so many people with so much in common with myself, and each I must talk to. Both events moved me to tears – not sad tears, but tears of love. The music performance by our local band Remedy, which is composed of mainly health professionals, was great. Of course, they were missing a few members, as my brother Rodney was in Westminster for the band show competition. Gino Maricci, the sax player, was also absent, as I think he was in Florida visiting his mother.

Brother Barry was home for the weekend, and Barry and his gal Lisa joined some other folks for Cheri Ort's annual fall foliage trail ride in the Casselman area.

This coming weekend will not be a break for me either. Saturday evening between 7 and 9 p.m. another Bittinger artist, Sue Arnson, will have an opening night for her art show of watercolor at the Garrett College Gallery. Then the next day the joint service at our church will take place. You need to arrive by 9:45 a.m. if you want to catch the special performance of tradition Appalachian music. I hope our new bell tower will be completed for that celebration. I certainly miss the sound that old brass bell ringing.

I am afraid that very few colored leaves will still be on my trees for Autumn Glory weekend. They are too much in the open. At least this morning I am seeing a heavy shower of yellow leaves. I guess because the wind shifted direction again, the normal west wind returned. It is just as cold as when the north wind blows around here.

The trees in the heavy wooded area are faring much better. The stretch of Rock Lodge Road is just about at peak form. I was so dazzled by the gold and yellow shades of aspen, sassafras, and hickory trees along Pysell Road that I drove right past the Haydels' house on Saturday.

Today, Oct. 5, is my sister-in-law's birthday. It is not hard to remember because she was born exactly one month before me, and the same year, too.

On the way to deliver her present I was saddened to see a road-kill deer in my field. I guess it will be there all winter long, until Boo drags in the last remains. I covered my plants on the porch the last few nights and, sure enough, we had a hard frost Monday night.

My personal editor, who happens to be my mother, cut out my political feelings in this column. So I just will have to brood about them and keep them to myself. I don't like my taxes going to fatten the pockets of the big cats in politics, I do know that.

GCHD Event Set To Focus On Women's Health

A women's health event will held on Thursday, Oct. 28, beginning at 6 p.m., in the Garrett County Health Department conference room to celebrate Breast Cancer Awareness Month. Guest presenter will be Donna Walbert, who is a long-time resident of Garrett County.

Walbert's poetry, born after surviving treatment for breast cancer, evokes the triumph of survival, difficulties of the journey, and awakening of the spirit, according to a spokesperson. In addition to writing poetry, she said she finds artistic expression in painting and sketching in a variety of mediums.

Walbert donates the proceeds of her work to the Heart Speak Scholarship Fund, established by her at Allegany College of Maryland, to encourage health career students to study creative writing and visual art to expand their definition of health and healing and to honor all families who endure crisis together. Four of Walbert's artistic works are currently on exhibit at Rocky Gap Lodge and Resort in Cumberland and a sole exhibit of her work is currently under way at the Tenley Gallery in Everett, Pa., until Dec. 17.

According to Walbert, she describes herself as a wife, mother, college administrator, nurse, and artist who recently met her soul about the time she turned 50.

CELEBRATING WOMEN'S HEALTH – Donna Walbert, pictured above in front of one of her pieces of artwork, will be the guest speaker on Thursday, Oct. 28, at the Garrett County Health Department to celebrate Breast Cancer Awareness Month. In addition to painting and sketching, Walbert also writes poetry. See story for more details.

In addition to this presentation, there will be free cholesterol and blood sugar testing, self-breast exams, and other related screenings. The event will also feature door prizes from Four All Seasons, Uno's, Garrett 8 Cinemas, Flowers by Webers, Jan Florists, Fireside, Farmers Market, LaDonna's, Pine Accents, Country Treasures, Perkins, Bear Creek Traders, School House Earth, Smart Styles, Mane Attractions, Penn Alps, Simon Pearce, Perfection Plus, Bear Elegance, Hair'N'Phernalia II, Patsy McBride, Cutting Edge, Beauty Bar, and the Gazebo.

Refreshments will also be provided. The event and screenings are free but seating is limited to the first 50 women so registration is recommended.

Persons may call Robyn Bowman at 301-334-7769 or 301-895-3111 to reserve a seat. Agencies sponsoring this event are the Garrett County Health Department, American Cancer Society, Garrett County Memorial Hospital, University of Maryland Statewide Health Network, and Western Maryland Area Health Education Center.

Accepts Faculty Position At GC

Linda Griffith has accepted a position as assistant professor of science at Garrett College, where she is currently teaching chemistry and physics courses.

For the past four years, Griffith was an adjunct professor at Frederick Community College, where she taught chemistry courses and Principles of Allied Health. She was previously employed in the Frederick County School District, where she taught Advanced Placement chemistry and physics, as well as other science courses, and served as department chairperson. In 1981-82 she was supervisor of student labs at Hood College in Frederick.

In addition to her teaching experience, Griffith worked as an industrial research chemist for five years. She was a research assistant at West Virginia University Department of Chemical Engineering, a chemist at Texaco's Research Laboratory in Beacon, N.Y., and a guest scientist at the National Bureau of Standards Center for Chemical Physics. She has also authored and co-authored a number of articles that have appeared in various technical publications.

Griffith holds a bachelor of science in chemistry from Fairmont State College, and a master of science in chemistry from West Virginia University. She has also completed education courses and student taught at Hood College.

Curves Supports Breast Cancer Awareness Month

The world's largest chain of fitness and weight loss centers has announced plans to actively support Breast Cancer Awareness Month in October. Curves locations across the country will be participating in a promotion designed to encourage early detection.

Debbie Pfaff, a Curves franchisee in Grantsville and LaVale, said that her clubs will waive the initial service fee for women who join during the week of October 11 and show evidence of having a recent mammogram. For more information, persons may call the Grantsville location at 301-895-4267 or LaVale at 301-729-8001.

"Breast cancer is the most common cancer in women, aside from skin cancer," Pfaff said. "As an organization committed to improving the health of women, all of us at Curves feel strongly about helping get the word out about Breast Cancer Awareness Month."

Women who are interested in getting more information about breast cancer and breast cancer risk factors may visit the official National Breast Cancer Awareness Month web site at www.nbcam.com.

Northern GOP Women Meet

The Northern Garrett Republican Women met recently at the Hilltop Restaurant, with 11 members attending.

Guest speaker for the evening was Edith Friend, whose topic was same-sex marriages. She began her talk by reading "Christian 7-Ups." She also gave her views on the issue and referred to Biblical scriptures to support them. A group discussion followed Friend's presentation.

The women also discussed their upcoming annual action, which will be held Tuesday, Oct. 26, at 7 p.m., and the Christmas luncheon, slated for Saturday, Dec. 4, at noon. Both events will be held at Hilltop Restaurant.

Tomblin Earns Asthma Educator Certification

Garrett County Memorial Hospital pharmacist Frank Tomblin was recently certified as an asthma educator by the National Asthma Educator Certification Board.

"The NAECB exam is a voluntary testing program used to assess qualified healthcare professionals' knowledge in asthma education," a hospital spokesperson said. "It is an evaluative process that demonstrates that rigorous education and experience requirements have been met."

As an asthma educator, Tomblin is an expert in counseling individuals with asthma and their families, according to the GCMH spokesperson. He can assist them with managing their asthma and minimize its impact on their quality of life.

"As a parent of a child with asthma, I can relate how it affects daily life," commented Tomblin. "As an educator, I look forward to holding upcoming asthma camps for area children who suffer from asthma. The camps will educate children about the condition and ways to control it."

Tomblin has been employed at GCMH for three years, and resides in Friendsville with his wife Theresa and their two children.

•Sun. 10/10: A 45-minute "Seeds Galore!" seed-gathering hike will depart at 10 a.m.; a 75-minute "It's Bearly a Hike" black bear habitat exploration will depart at 1 p.m (in case of rain, a slide show will be presented in the Discovery Room); and a 20-minute "Critter Encounter" at the park aviary will get under way at 3:30 p.m.

Dove Center Offers Suggestions For Helping Domestic Violence Victims

October is Domestic Violence Awareness Month. In recognition of the event, the Dove Center has offered the public some advice on helping victims of domestic violence.

"Millions of people find themselves in controlling and abusive relationships," said a center spokesperson. "Even more common are those who have a loved one being abused and controlled."

She added that watching a family member or friend live with abuse can leave one feeling a wide variety of emotions – including sad, frustrated, and frightened – for that person. One may also feel helpless.

"You might even find yourself becoming distant with that individual as a way to cope," she said. "The dynamics of controlling, abusive relationships are complex, and often difficult for those experiencing the abuse to understand, and even more so for those not experiencing it first hand."

Support, she said, is one of the "most powerful" tools in helping an abuse victim. To help support victims, the Dove Center suggests the following:

•Listen to friends/family members and let them know you are there for them.

•Inquire about how safe they feel.

•Let them know you are concerned.

•Inform them of options and resources.

•Remind them of their good qualities.

•Let them know that the abuse is not their fault.

•Always keep yourself safe.

For more information, persons may call the Dove Center at 301-334-9000.

Nutrient Mgmt. Meeting Slated In Hagerstown

The Maryland Department of Agriculture (MDA) will hold a series of public meetings in October to receive public comment on proposed changes to Maryland's nutrient management regulations. The purpose of the meetings is to provide information about regulatory changes, receive comments, and answer questions from the public before the proposed regulations are submitted to the Maryland Register for finalization later this fall. The department also will accept written comments until October 30.

The meeting for western Maryland farmers will be held at South Hagerstown High School, 1101 S. Potomac St., Hagerstown, from 7 to 9 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 18.

"The proposed regulations spell out how the state will implement legislative changes to the nutrient management law that the General Assembly approved and I signed into law earlier this year," said Governor Robert L. Ehrlich, Jr. "The changes go a long way toward making the Water Quality Improvement Act of 1998 easier to implement and more effective at protecting the environment."

Amendments to the WQIA stemmed from recommendations made by stakeholders attending a Nutrient Management Summit initiated by Ehrlich last year. The changes are designed to make it easier for farmers to comply with the requirements of the WQIA by removing the right of entry signature requirement, reducing paperwork requirements, making it easier for farmers to write their own plans and streamlining the certification process for consultants.

"I encourage farmers and others with an interest in the proposed regulations to offer their comments at any one of the public meetings or through written comment to the department," said Agriculture Secretary Lewis R. Riley. "While we recognize this is a difficult time of year for farmers to take time for a meeting, it is important to make sure everyone is aware of the requirements and changes, prior to finalizing them. The proposed regulations are available from our office or our website."

Authorized by the Water Quality Improvement Act of 1998, Maryland's nutrient management regulations include requirements for most agricultural operations in the state, people who apply nutrients to both agricultural and non-agricultural land, and Maryland-certified nutrient management consultants, who are required to develop nutrient management plans based on both nitrogen and phosphorus levels in the soil.

For more information or copies of the regulations, persons may contact MDA at 410-841-5959. Copies of the regulations are also available on MDA's web site at www.mda.state.md.us. Written comments on the proposed regulations should be addressed to the attention of Louise Lawrence, Maryland Department of Agriculture, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, MD 21401.

Ag Commission To Tour County, Hold Hearing

The Maryland Agricultural Commission will tour Garrett and Allegany counties next Wednesday, Oct. 13, and Thursday, Oct. 14, respectively.

The commission is an advisory body which makes recommendations to the secretary of agriculture on matters affecting the agriculture industry.

While in Garrett County on Wednesday, the commission will hold a public hearing in the Perkins Restaurant meeting room at 7 p.m. The restaurant is located at 25484 Garrett Highway in McHenry.

On Oct. 14, the commission will hold a second public meeting at 1 p.m. at the Allegany County Fairgrounds in Cumberland.

Members of the public are welcome to attend to learn more about the commission, voice their concerns, and make suggestions about agriculture.

For more information, persons may call Buddy Bowling, executive director of the commission, at 410-841-5882.

Wet Week Slows Harvest Progress

Rain showers and mild air temperatures resulted in 4.4 days unsuitable for field work for the new week ending Oct. 3. Wet fields delayed harvest for corn silage, apples, alfalfa hay, and other hay. Corn for grain harvest increased to 51 percent, 22 percent above last year and a 9 percent above the five-year average. Corn for silage harvest was 89 percent complete, compared to 62 percent last year and 81 percent for the five-year average. Approximately 70 percent of the soybean crop has turned color and 40 percent has dropped its leaves. Harvest has started with 7 percent complete.

Alfalfa hay's fourth cutting increased 3 percent from last week to 75 percent complete. Other hay's fourth cutting was 46 percent complete, compared with 35 percent last year and 54 percent for the five-year average.

INVITATION TO BID
DEEP CREEK LAKE WASTEWATRE TREATMENT PLANT EXPANSION

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners will accept sealed bids for furnishing all labor, equipment and materials to complete all work required for the expansion of the Deep Creek Lake Wastewater Treatment Plant. The work consists of the following tasks: construction of one new headworks building and associated equipment; construction of one new oxidation ditch and associated equipment; construction of two new clarifiers and associated equipment; construction of one laboratory addition; construction of one new ultraviolet disinfection facility, including plant process water pumping station, effluent meter, and post aeration cascade and all associated equipment; construction of one new electrical/chemical building and associated equipment; construction of one aerobic digester, blower building and associated equipment; and associated site work, electrical service and utility piping. The successful contractor will be required to complete the construction of the expansion project within five hundred forty-eight (548) calendar days after issuance of the Notice to Proceed. A bid bond in the amount of 5% of the total bid amount shall be submitted with each bid. A performance/payment bond in the full bid amount will be required of the successful contractor.

A Pre-Bid Meeting will be held at 10:00 a.m. on Wednesday, October 20, 2004, in the Commissioners' Public Meeting Room located at 203 South Fourth Street, Room 209, in Oakland, Maryland.

Bid documents and specifications may be obtained in person from the Procurement Office of the Garrett County Department of Financial Services, 313 East Alder Street, Room 105, Oakland, Maryland 21550. The cost of the bid specifications and drawings is $150.00 per set and is nonrefundable. All out of town contractors must pre-pay for shipping and the cost of the plans. Inquiries may be made by calling 301-334-5003.

Sealed bids must be submitted to the Procurement Office of the Garrett County Department of Financial Services, Courthouse Room 105, 313 East Alder Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, on or before Tuesday, November 16, 2004, at 1:30 p.m. (local time). Sealed bids will be publicly opened and read aloud in the Commissioners' Meeting Room at 2:00 p.m. on November 16, 2004. All bidders are required to submit three (3) copies of their bid documents at the time of submission. All bids submitted should be enclosed in a sealed envelope and should be clearly marked "Deep Creek Lake Wastewater Treatment Plant Expansion Bid" on the outside of the envelope. Any bids received after the time due will not be considered for award and shall be retained as documentation for the bid file.

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids, to cancel this invitation to bid and to waive technicalities in any part deemed to be in the best interest of Garrett County.

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT
WATER MANAGEMENT ADMINISTRATION
NOTICE OF TENTATIVE DETERMINATION
Garrett County
Application for State Discharge Permit 04-DP-0598, NPDES Permit MD0020761:

Town of Grantsville, P.O. Box 296, 171 Hill Street, Grantsville, Maryland 21536, applied for renewal of the permit to discharge an average of 600,000 gallons per day of treated domestic wastewater for the Grantsville Wastewater Treatment Plant (WWTP) located at National Pike (Alternate Route 40) ¼ mile east of town limit, Grantsville, Garrett County, Maryland 21536, to the Casselman River which is designated Use IV waters protected for recreational trout fishing.

Tentative Determination:

Reissue the discharge permit with the following effluent limitations for existing Outfall 001: BODs, 30 mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic mean, 45 mg/l maximum weekly arithmetic mean, total suspended solids, 30 mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic mean, 45 mg/l maximum weekly arithmetic mean; total kjeldahl nitrogen (TKN), 15 mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic mean, 23 mg/l maximum weekly arithmetic mean from May 1 through September 30; E. coli, 126 MPN/100 ml maximum monthly steady state geometric mean value; total residual chlorine, 0.027 mg/l maximum when chlorine or chlorine compounds are used in any treatment process; dissolved oxygen, 5.0 mg/l minimum at any time; and pH maintained between 6.5 and 8.5. Ammonia nitrogen limits of 3.9 mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic mean, 9.4 mg/l maximum daily arithmetic mean from May 1 through October 31 will become effective three years after the issuance of the permit and replace the TKN limitations. Regular effluent monitoring and reporting is required. The effluent limits reflect water quality based requirements necessary for compliance with the state water quality standards.

A public hearing on the tentative determination will be scheduled if a written request is received by October 28, 2004. The request should be sent to the Maryland Department of the Environment, Water Management Administration, 1800 Washington Blvd., Baltimore, Maryland 21230-1708, Attn.: Stephen Luckman, and must include the name address, and telephone number (home and work) of the person making the request, the name of any other party whom the person making the request may represent, and the name of the facility and permit number. Failure to request a hearing by October 28, 2004, will constitute a waiver of the right to a public hearing on the tentative determination. Written comments concerning the tentative determination will be considered in the preparation of a final determination if submitted to the Department, to the attention of Mr. Luckman at the above address, on or before November 8, 2004. Any hearing-impaired person who requests a hearing may also request an interpreter at the hearing by contacting Mr. Luckman at 410-537-3671 or 1-800-633-6101 by written request to the above address at least ten working days prior to the scheduled hearing date.

Information supporting the tentative determination, including the draft permit and fact sheet, may be reviewed by contacting Mr. Luckman at the above telephone number to make an appointment or by written request to Mr. Luckman at the above address. Copies of documents may be obtained at a cost of $0.32 per page.

110 South Main Street, Accident, MD 21520

Pursuant to an Order of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, dated the 25th day of May 2004, Case No.: C-04-8281, the property contained in a certain deed from Clarence R. Glass to Ervin E. Deal, Gary Wayne Deal, and Brenda Overick dated June 13, 2001, and recorded in Liber 843, folio 218, among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, Co-Trustees will sell at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Courthouse Door, Oakland, Maryland, on October 26, 2004, at 10:30 a.m.

ALL THAT FEE-SIMPLE LOT OF GROUND and the improvements thereon situate in Garrett County, Maryland and more fully described in the aforesaid deed. The property is improved by a dwelling.

The property will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions, and agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of one fourth of sale price by cash or certified check. Balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash within ten (10) days of final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court of Garrett County. Interest to be paid on the unpaid purchase money at the rate of 8.00% per annum from the date of sale to the date funds are received in the office of the Substitute Trustee. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there shall be no abatement of interest. Taxes, ground rent, water rent, condominium fees and/or homeowner association dues, all public charges/assessments payable on an annual basis, including sanitary and/or metropolitan district charges, if applicable, to be adjusted for the current year thereafter by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes, and settlement expenses shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk or damage to the property from the date of sale forward. If the Substitute Trustees are unable to convey title, the purchaser's sole remedy in law and equity shall be limited to a refund of the deposit. If the purchaser fails to settle, the property may be resold at purchaser's sole risk and expenses forfeited and applied to the secured debt.

FORECLOSURE SALE
VALUABLE IMPROVED DWELLING
40 Church Street
Deer Park, MD 21541
(Referred to in the Deed of Trust as Deer Park, MD 21541)

Under and by virtue of the authority contained in a Security Instrument dated February 26, 1999, and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, in Liber 767 at folio 0516, granted by Robert Lindsey, the authority to sell having been vested in Jeffrey B. Fisher, Martin S. Goldberg, Marilyn Bennett, and Craig Ingram either by Deed of Appointment of Substitute Trustees duly executed and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, or by decree of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, default having occurred in the terms and conditions of said Security Instrument, the said Substitute Trustees will sell at public auction at the Courthouse entrance of the:

CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY AT 203 S. 4th Street, Oakland, MD 21550
on Wednesday, October 27, 2004, at 2:00 p.m.

All that property described in said Security Instrument, said land and premises being in the 10th Election District of Garrett County, Maryland, and being improved by a dwelling bearing the street address of 40 Church Street, Deer Park, MD 21541. Subject to all covenants, restrictions, and easements of record, if any.

TERMS OF SALE: A cash or cash equivalent deposit of $7,200.00 will be required at the time of sale, the balance to be payable in cash within ten (10) business days after ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, with interest on said balance from the date of sale to date of receipt of fund by the Substitute Trustees at the rate of 14.05% per annum. Failure of the purchaser to settle may result in resale of the property at the risk and cost of the purchaser, and forfeiture of deposit, at the election of the Substitute Trustees, who specifically preserve all legal and equitable remedies available to them. In the event of a resale, the defaulting purchaser shall not receive any benefit, profit or proceeds there from. The Substitute Trustees reserve the right to waive the deposit requirements if the noteholder is the purchaser. Sale is "AS IS" and Substitute Trustees make no warranty of any kind whatsoever regarding the physical condition, physical description, or title to the property. Taxes, rents, annually payable public charges and assessments, including the front foot benefit charges of the appropriate governing agency, if any, and condominium fees and/or homeowner's association dues, if applicable, will be adjusted to the day of sale and thereafter assumed by the Purchaser. All costs of conveyancing, including transfer taxes and recordation taxes, will be paid by the Purchaser. The Purchaser will pay a review fee of $250 at settlement to counsel for the Substitute Trustees. The purchaser shall have the responsibility of obtaining possession of the property. The Purchaser's sole remedy in the event the Substitute Trustees are unable to convey marketable title is the return of the deposit. Upon return of the deposit, the sale shall be null and void. By bidding, purchaser agrees that Purchaser is not entitled to any legal or equitable remedy in the event the Substitute Trustees did not have the right to sell.

PUBLIC NOTICES

Notice of Opportunity for a Public Hearing

The Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc. (GCCAC), a private non-profit organization located in Garrett County, is applying to the Federal Transit Administration and the Maryland Transit Administration for funding to meet the public transportation needs of the general public, senior citizens and disabled individuals of Garrett County.

Capital requests will be utilized to purchase three replacement buses; all buses will be designed to meet the special transportation needs of the elderly and persons with disabilities. Additionally, Federal and State funds are being requested for the design and construction of a transportation facility. The total capital request is $1,319,500, of which $1,187,550 is being requested in Federal and State funds. The balance will be funded by GCCAC.

Funds for operational assistance are being requested through Section 5311, Statewide Special Transportation Assistance, and Maryland Comprehensive Transit Plan Grants. The total net operational cost of these programs is estimated at $618,117, of which $315,016 is being requested in Federal and State funds. The remainder will be funded by GCCAC and Garrett County.

The detailed service plan is available for review at the GCCAC office from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. Any private citizen, public or private transit or paratransit operator wishing additional information, desiring to submit comments, or wishes to request a public hearing must contact GCCAC at 104 E. Center Street, Oakland, MD 21550. Comments and/or a request for a Public Hearing must be received by GCCAC, not later than three weeks from the date of this notice.

October Is AIDS Awareness Month

October is AIDS Awareness Month, and the Garrett County Health Department has released a list of updated statistical data, causes, risk factors, treatment, preventative measures, and services addressing the largely preventable disease.

By the Numbers

More than 27,000 people in Maryland are currently living with AIDS and 2,500 new cases are diagnosed each year. Maryland is ranked 19th of the 50 states in the US in AIDS cases.

Causes of AIDS

AIDS is caused by a virus called HIV (Human Immunodeficiency Virus) that infects and kills certain cells in a person's immune system called T-helper cells. This weakens the immune system so that opportunistic infections can occur. The HIV-infected person is said to have AIDS (Acquired Immunodeficiency Syndrome) when they become ill with other specific infections or the number of their T-helper cells have dropped below 200.

Risk Factors

People at highest risk of AIDS and HIV infection tend to be found in the following groups:

- •People who share needles.
- •Men who have sex with other men.
- •Babies born to mothers infected with HIV.
- •People who received blood transfusions or blood products before 1985.
- •Anyone who has sex with anyone who has, or is at risk for AIDS or HIV infection.

The virus is in blood, semen, menstrual blood, vaginal secretions, and breast milk of HIV-infected persons. The virus can be there even if the person has no symptoms and it can be spread to others during sex, by sharing needles to inject drugs or from mother to baby (before or during birth, or by breast feeding). The virus is not spread by casual contact like living in the same household or working with a person who carries HIV.

Treatment

There are drugs available for people with HIV infection that can help prevent them from getting sicker. There are also drugs available to treat the infections and cancers associated with AIDS.

Preventative Measures

HIV and AIDS are preventable, as persons can markedly cut the risk of contracting the virus by taking control of their own behavior. Some of these measures include:

- •Abstaining from sex, monogamy, (sex with only one uninfected partner who is also monogamous), and use of barrier protection (condoms) are the most protective prevention strategies.
- •People who use injection drugs should quit. Otherwise, they must never share needles.
- •People with HIV/AIDS should discuss their status with their doctors, dentists, and inform their sex partners.
- •Women who are pregnant or planning a pregnancy are encouraged to talk with their doctor about getting tested for HIV. If a mother is infected with HIV, there are treatment options to decrease chances of the baby becoming infected.
- •Universal Precautions and Standard Precautions, which includes the use of gloves, goggles, gowns, etc., are used by health care practitioners to prevent the transmission of any communicable disease, including HIV.

Help is Here for the Asking

Citizens can get tested for HIV through their doctor's office or at counseling and testing sites located throughout Maryland. Counseling and testing is done at Garrett County Health Department on Tuesdays, by appointment, and persons may call 301-334-7770 or 301-895-3111 to schedule testing.

The Garrett County AIDS Council meets the last Thursday of every month from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. at Garrett County Health Department, 1025 Memorial Drive, Oakland. Meetings of the local AIDS Council are open to the public, and citizens are encouraged to call 301-334-7740 for more details.

Additional HIV/AIDS information is available on the web site of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention at www.cdc.gov/hiv/pubs/facts.htm.

Accidental Fire Destroys Deer Park Residence

An overheated flue was ruled the cause of a fire that gutted a Deer Park house early Tuesday.

Volunteers from the Deer Park, Oakland, Gorman, and Deep Creek fire departments were summoned to the residence of Daniel and Lucretia Wotring at 3:52 a.m. and found a working fire upon their arrival.

According to a family spokesperson, the fire started around the flue of a wood/coal stove and spread into the wall of the wood-frame structure. The Wotrings were at home at the time, but both escaped the blaze without injury.

The house was declared a total loss, and the couple lost most of their possessions. The loss was estimated by fire officials to be $50,000. The spokesperson said that they had insurance on the property.

Units remained on the scene for over two hours. Also responding was the Southern Rescue Squad. No injuries were reported.

Jenkins Receives Four Years For Homicide Charge

A Grantsville woman, Julie Marie Jenkins, was sentenced last week in Garrett County Circuit Court to a total of five years in the Division of Corrections for two events that occurred a year ago. Judge Jim Sherbin gave Jenkins four years for homicide by motor vehicle while under the influence and one year, to be served consecutively, for a separate driving under the influence charge.

Jenkins, 24, had been charged by Maryland State Police with homicide and related charges following a motor vehicle accident last Oct. 15, in which 25-year-old Jody Lee Emerick, Grantsville, was killed. The accident occurred after Jenkins and her three passengers left the Wildwater Inn and traveled west on I-68. While exiting the interstate at Chestnut Ridge, Jenkins struck a tractor-trailer parked on the shoulder with the passenger side of her vehicle, where Emerick was seated.

Garrett Keith Barclay, 22, also of Grantsville was severely injured in the collision. Another occupant of the vehicle, Jarrod Olen Wilburn, 21, was treated at a local hospital. Jenkins was not injured, according to the Garrett County state's attorney.

Officers and others responding to the scene determined that Jenkins had consumed alcohol. Subsequent investigation revealed that her blood-alcohol content was above the legal limit.

Nine days after the accident, a Garrett County sheriff's deputy stopped a truck traveling south on Garrett Highway for crossing the center and edge lines of the highway numerous times. Jenkins was found to be the driver, and the officer immediately detected evidence of alcohol consumption and impairment, according to the state's attorney. Following field sobriety testing, Jenkins was arrested for

A CROWNING ACHIEVEMENT was accomplished at the Garrett County Historical Society Museum in Oakland this week, as the replicated cupola of the former Deer Park Hotel was placed atop the museum's replica of the hotel's façade. The structure was built and installed through hard, mostly gratis labor on the part of many local individuals. See story and additional photos in this section of today's paper. Photo by John McEwen.

Morgantown Man Gets Three Years For Drug Charge

A 24-year-old Morgantown, W.Va., man was sentenced last week by Judge Jim Sherbin to three years in the Division of Corrections for possession with intent to distribute marijuana. Jimmy Lee Barkley had pleaded guilty to the charge in August.

In January, officers with the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force initiated an investigation during which an officer purchased marijuana from a female in Mountain Lake Park.

"On the day he was arrested," said the Garrett County state's attorney, "officers had determined Barkley was bringing marijuana from West Virginia to the female."

The vehicle in which Barkley was a passenger was stopped and searched after a drug-detection dog gave a positive alert. Approximately ¼ pound of marijuana was found in the trunk of the car, according to the state's attorney.

Man Arrested After McHenry Bar Altercation

An Anne Arundel County man faces numerous charges following an altercation at a McHenry establishment this weekend, according to the Maryland State Police.

Philip John Schmehling, 23, Millersville, is accused of assaulting and injuring two Grantsville residents with a broken beer bottle during the 2:09 a.m. Sunday incident outside the Black Bear Tavern. The police report said Schmehling broke a beer bottle over the head of Shawn Eric Beals, 27, then allegedly used the broken bottle to cut the neck of Beals's friend, Travis Lee Buckel, 24, when Buckel attempted to intervene.

Beals and Buckel were transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad, then Buckel was subsequently transferred to Morgantown's Ruby Memorial Hospital.

Keyser Man Gets 18 Months For Heroin Possession

A Keyser, W.Va., man pleaded guilty in Garrett County Circuit Court last week to possession of heroin. Judge Jim Sherbin sentenced Joshua Mark Junkins to 18 months in the Garrett County Jail. All but 90 days of the sentence was suspended, and Junkins will be on probation upon his release from jail. A $500 fine was also assessed.

He was charged in May after officers when the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force executed a search and seizure warrant at a residence in Swanton, where Junkins was then staying with his girlfriend, said the Garrett County state's attorney. Drug paraphernalia, with traces of heroin and oxycodone, were located.

Deputies with the Garrett County Sheriff's Office had received information that initiated the investigation, and they also assisted in the search.

Influenza Vaccine Plans Being Developed By Health Department

Because of the critical shortage of flu vaccine, the Garrett County Health Department will not be able to offer its traditional schedule of public flu clinics this season. In order to get the current supply of vaccine in Garrett County to the most vulnerable individuals, the health department will be scheduling vaccinations by appointments only.

County residents who feel they fall into a high-risk group and wish to receive the vaccine should call the health department at 301-334-7695 and leave the information requested on the voicemail. Individuals are encouraged by GCHD officials to call as soon as possible, but no later than October 22. If requests for vaccine exceed the available supply, individuals may be re-contacted to provide additional information in order to prioritize those with the greatest need for the earliest immunization. Pneumococcal vaccinations will also be available for anyone wishing to receive this immunization.

A different option is available for healthy persons who are 5-49 years old and not pregnant, including health-care workers (except those who care for severely immunocompromised patients in special care units), and persons caring for children less than 6 months old. They are encouraged to be vaccinated with intranasally administered live, attenuated influenza vaccine (FluMist). This will help stretch the supply of inactivated vaccine that is available for those in other high-risk groups for which FluMist is not indicated, the officials said. Persons should call 301-334-7695 if interested in receiving the FluMist vaccine. Information is also available at the Health Department's web site www.garrett health.org.

According to Rodney Glotfelty, Garrett County health officer, the vaccine shortage is the result of a major vaccine supplier, Chiron Corporation, canceling all U.S. orders on October 5. Many parts of the country and the state were left

Baltimore Teen Is Sentenced For Escape, Carjacking

An 18-year-old Baltimore resident was sentenced last week in Garrett County Circuit Court to five years in the Division of Corrections on each of two charges, with the sentences to run concurrently. Trae Kevin English had pleaded guilty in August to first-degree escape and carjacking. Judge Jim Sherbin had requested a presentence investigation report be completed prior to sentencing.

English was charged by Maryland State Police in March after he escaped from the Meadow Mountain Youth Center. A counselor had been approached while entering her vehicle and was forced by English to drive him away from the center. The counselor had convinced English to stop for gas at the Chestnut Ridge Amoco station, where the counselor was able to alert employees of the situation, according to the Garrett County state's attorney.

English fled the station in the counselor's vehicle and was apprehended by Maryland State Police in Allegany County a short time later. He was taken into custody without incident and had been incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail since then.

"Although English was 17 years old at the time of the crimes, the Juvenile Court did not have the jurisdiction over these serious crimes," said the state's attorney. "English had unsuccessfully sought to have the case transferred to the Juvenile Court."

THE "FINZEL FIVE" are a fairly new addition to the northern reaches of Garrett County, but the Howard children have delved headlong into activities in and out of Route 40 Elementary School, Northern Middle School, and St. Ann's Catholic parish. The siblings were adopted en masse last December in San Antonio, Texas, by Michele and Tony Howard, and the seven-human, 11-pet clan loaded up their SUV and moved north in June when Tony accepted an employment offer with Garrett Container Systems. Oldest child Carlos watches over his siblings from behind, while seated in the front, from the left, are Marco, Sergio, Kristen, and Jordan. "There are a lot of good kids of all ages out there for adoption," Michele said. "All they want is a home, someplace where they feel safe, special, and cared for. We can't recommend adoption highly enough." For further information on adoption opportunities in Garrett County, persons may call the local Department of Social Services at 301-533-3000. The Howards' story is featured on Page C-1.

RT. 219 NORTH ALTERNATIVES – The upgrade of U.S. Route 219 to four-lane interstate highway status is well under way in Pennsylvania, and project planners released a newsletter recently that provide details on the proposed segment from Hunsrick Summit (Pa.) to the Maryland interchange with I-68 just east of Grantsville. The three alternative routes under study for the portion from the Maryland state line south to I-68 are shown above. Detailed Environmental Impact Studies for each of the alternatives are slated to be completed early next year, with a public meeting to discuss the possible environmental impacts to follow in the spring. In the meantime, a public meeting to provide an update on the status of the cooperative venture of the Maryland State Highway Administration and the Pennsylvania Department of Transportation is expected to be scheduled for next month at a date/location to be announced. Further details on these alternative routes are available on the project's web site at www.us219.com.

LIGHTS ON AFTERSCHOOL RECOGNIZED – The Garrett County commissioners have proclaimed Oct. 14 as 2004 National Lights on Afterschool Day in Garrett County. Lights on Afterschool is a nationwide event to recognize the efforts and needs of afterschool programs "to keep kids safe, help working families, and improve academic achievement." Pictured in the front row, left to right, are Commissioners Ernie Gregg, Dave Beard, and Fred Holliday. In the back row are representatives from after-school programs located throughout the county: Karen Wood, Grantsville; Heather Berg, Misty Sharpless, and Amy Brantner, Kitzmiller; Crystal Stewart, Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families; Sam Moon, Garrett County Health Department after-school program supervisor; Nicole Thayer, AmeriCorps member with the Accident program; Linda Green; Community and Emergency Services program director with Community Action; 4-H youth development director Ann Sherrard, JC Penney after-school program; Venessa Stacy, TAG After School at Southern Middle; and Patricia Faulkner, Loch Lynn. No Charges Filed In Single-Vehicle Mishap

No charges were filed in a single-vehicle accident on Hutton Road west of Oakland that sent the driver to the hospital this morning, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Martin Calvin Lowers, 67, Sterling, Va., was traveling westbound in his 1989 Dodge Caravan when it left the roadway, traveled into a culvert, and struck a telephone pole. Lowers was transported by Southern Rescue Squad.

Oakland firefighters also responded to the scene.

Drug Charges Filed Against Oakland Men

Two Oakland men were arrested during an early Sunday morning traffic stop carried out by Maryland State Police troopers near Deep Creek Lake.

The driver, Bryce Wilson Taylor, 21, and his passenger, Eric John Crawford, 20, were stopped when their vehicle was observed drifting across the center line of Garrett Highway north of Glendale Road. After Taylor was arrested for DUI, a search of the 1996 Subaru sedan the men were riding in revealed suspected marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

Both Taylor and Crawford were charged with possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia. They were each subsequently released on their own recognizance from the Garrett County Detention Center.

Two Local Men Arrested On Drug Charges

Two local men were arrested on drug charges following a traffic stop on Route 42 just north of Friendsville Thursday night, according to Lisa Thayer Welch, spokesperson for the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force.

After a positive canine alert for drugs was obtained on the vehicle in which they were traveling, a search of the vehicle and occupants revealed suspected cocaine and suspected cocaine paraphernalia.

Arrested were Matthew Gibellino, 40, Accident, and Karl Wascak, 25, McHenry. Both were charged with possession of cocaine and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Gibellino was also charged with possession with intent to distribute cocaine and maintaining a public nuisance

Both are being held in the Garrett County Detention Center pending a bond hearing with a District Court commissioner.

Task force investigators were assisted by uniform members of the Maryland State Police, McHenry barrack.

Frederick Man Charged With Burglary, Drugs

A Frederick resident was arrested and charged with fourth-degree burglary and other charges after he entered a residence in Deer Park through an unlocked screen door Saturday night, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Investigation revealed that Alonzo Morgan, 37, entered the residence and startled the occupants who were in the living room. After a conversation with the male occupant of the residence, Morgan left on foot. Deputies located Morgan a few blocks from the residence, police said.

In addition to the burglary charge, he was also charged with disturbing the peace, possession of marijuana, and possession of paraphernalia.

In a separate incident, deputies investigated a reported burglary at a residence on State Park Road Friday morning. According to police, an unknown person had unlawfully entered the residence and had been temporarily utilizing the residence. Police gathered information, but no suspect was located at that time.

When deputies and members of the Maryland State police returned to the residence Saturday morning, they arrested Dean Brent Johnson, 34, Milford, Del.

Johnson was arrested and charged with second-degree burglary and theft less than $500.

In other police news, Bradley Eugene Collins, 28, Oakland, was arrested following a traffic stop Sunday night along Snowy Creek Road in Crellin.

Collins was arrested on the strength of an outstanding bench warrant from Allegany County. He was also charged with possession of marijuana, possession of CDS paraphernalia, driving an uninsured motor vehicle, driving an unregistered motor vehicle, driving without a driver's license, and displaying registration plates issued to another vehicle.

In a separate Jeremiah Ferguson, 21, Oakland, was also arrested and charged with driving under the influence after a traffic stop on Steyer Mine Road. He was released on his own recognizance.

In other police news, Michael Paul Liller, 27, Oakland, was arrested and charged with driving while intoxicated and driving under the influence of alcohol after deputies made a traffic stop along N Street in Mtn. Lake Park just after midnight on Wednesday.

He was released on his own recognizance.

Two-Vehicle Accident Injures Both Drivers

Drivers involved in a two-vehicle accident Tuesday morning on Kitzmiller Road were transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment of injuries, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Investigation revealed that Dorothy Dell Barnard, 77, Swanton, pulled into the path of Julian Dominic Colluzzi, 18, Kitzmiller, when she was attempting to enter a private driveway.

Barnard was charged with failure to grant the right of way, police said. Kitzmiller firefighters also responded to the 9:30 a.m. incident.

An hour earlier, deputies responded to another two-vehicle accident on Maryland Highway at G Street in Mtn. Lake Park. According to police, Michael Christian Elliott, 32, Oakland, was operating a 2000 Chevy truck on G Street and pulled into the path of a 1997 Dodge Neon, operated by James Edgell, 43, Oakland, as he was traveling eastbound on Maryland Highway.

Elliott was charged with failure to grant the right of way. No injures were reported.

Southern Rescue Squad and Oakland firefighters responded to the scene.

In other police news, David Wayne Welch, 42, Oakland, was arrested and charged with second-degree assault after deputies responded to the area of Tannery Road for a reported domestic assault.

Welch is currently being held in the Garrett County Detention Center on $50,000 bond.

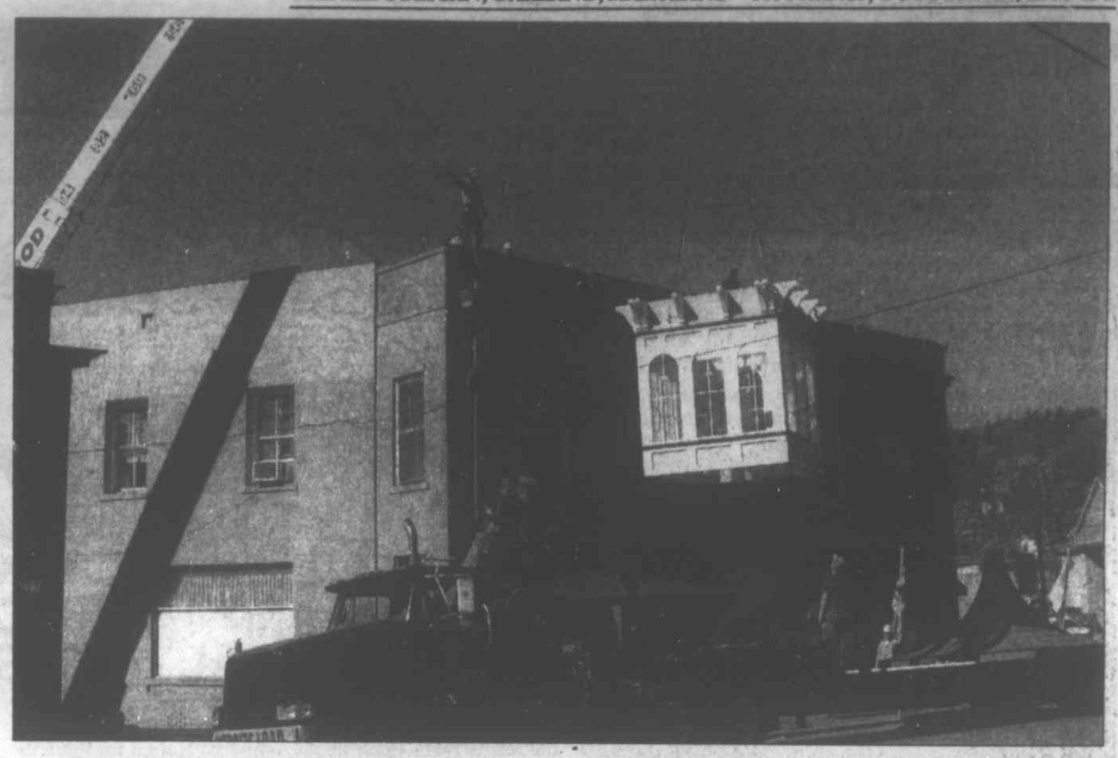
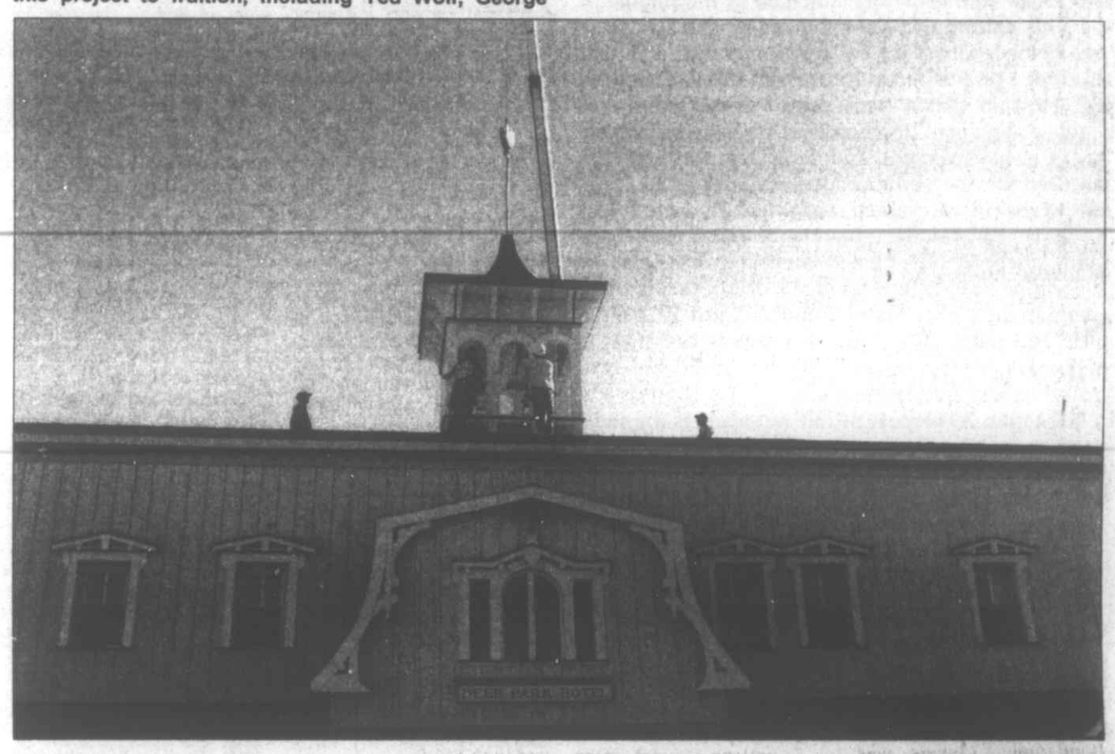
REMEMBERING THE DEER PARK HOTEL — Truly a magnificent place, the former Deer Park Hotel was patronized by presidents in the late 19th and early 20th century "heyday" of the Garrett County town. A piece of the famous place was brought back to life over the past many months, and can now be seen in downtown Oakland. The cupola, that square windowed structure on the top of the hotel, has been rebuilt, and, as of Monday, is situated above the Garrett County Historical Society's Museum's replicated façade of the hotel. It is located at the corner of Second and Liberty streets, in the background of the re-created Dailey's Park. Photo provided by the Garrett County Historical Society.



IT ONLY TOOK AN HOUR OR SO to lift and install the rebuilt copula of the Deer Park Hotel. Bob Boal, president of the historical society, expressed gratitude to a great many local people who brought this project to fruition, including Ted Wolf, George Scheffel, Frank Lewis Jr., Troy and Steve Gnegy, and several others. These photos show a few steps in the very careful process Monday afternoon. See story. Photos by John McEwen.



Health Dept. Notes Third Rabies Case

Environmental Health Services of the Garrett County Health Department has reported the third case of laboratory confirmed rabies in the county for 2004.

The third case of the year was reported on Wednesday, Sept. 29, in the Pleasant Valley area. The incident involved a raccoon that fought with two dogs in the yard. The owner of the dogs heard the noise outside and found the raccoon dead in the yard.

The raccoon was sent to the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene's rabies laboratory in Baltimore, and the rabies case was confirmed the following day.

The dogs involved in the incident were currently vaccinated for rabies, and were administered rabies boosters and will be closely watched for 45 days. The owner of the dogs, knowing not to handle either the dogs or the raccoon with bare hands, wore gloves, so there was no human exposure to the virus.

The Health Department recently concluded its final round of rabies vaccination clinics for this year, and the next clinic will be offered in May 2005. If any pets (dogs, cats, and/or ferrets) need rabies shots, their owners are urged to contact a local veterinarian to make an appointment to get their pets vaccinated.

Persons with questions regarding rabies may call Environmental Health Services at 301-334-7760 or 301-895-3111.

Deer Park Man Given 14 Months In County Jail

A Deer Park man was sentenced in Garrett County Circuit Court last week in a number of cases. Jason Wayne Hale, 28, was sentenced to 60 days in the Garrett County Jail for leaving the scene of an accident.

Hale had been charged by sheriff's deputies who were called last September to Shady Dell Road. Residents reported hearing a vehicle accident and found damage to a telephone pole and junction box. Evidence at the scene was later matched to damage to a 2002 Dodge Intrepid that Hale was reportedly driving, according to the state's attorney.

Hale was given a consecutive six-month sentence for driving under the influence for a separate incident that occurred last November. Hale was stopped by sheriff's deputies patrolling on Maryland Highway who observed a vehicle crossing the center line. After observing Hale's abilities and the results of field sobriety testing, he was arrested.

Hale had previously pleaded guilty in these two cases, and his sentencing had been continued.

In a third case before the Circuit Court, Hale pleaded guilty to another DUI charge. In March of this year, deputies were called to Hale's residence for a disturbance. They met with his wife, and while investigating the original complaint, Hale returned to the scene driving a truck.

According to the state's attorney, the deputies heard Hale's spinning tires and observed the tires to be completely flat as Hale drove the truck off the road and onto the grass, continuing until the truck would travel no farther. Hale was subsequently arrested after the officers observed his condition.

For this DUI charge, Judge Jim Sherbin sentenced Hale to an additional six months in the Garrett County Jail, making his total sentence 14 months.

Deer Park Hotel Replica Façade Is Crowned By Rebuilt Cupola

A project long in the making came to fruition Monday afternoon at the Garrett County Historical Society Museum, located along Second Street in Oakland. The Deer Park Hotel cupola, the crowning feature of the historic structure of Garrett County's past, was rebuilt and this week set atop the museum. It completes the museum's replicated façade of the Deer Park Hotel.

The structure, accurately rebuilt by Ted Wolf of Wolf Construction, provided a distinct skyline for the hotel, which was built in 1873 and razed in 1944. According to John Grant, local historian, it rested on the central building of the hotel complex and was reachable by a stairway from the top floor.

"From inside the cupola, a person could gaze over the grounds of the hotel, see the houses in Deer Park, and the farm land adjoining the hotel grounds," Grant said. "Undoubtedly, the cupola was graced with the presence of a few of the U.S. presidents who visited there in the summertime to get away from the heat of Washington."

Presidents who stayed in the Deer Park Hotel were Cleveland and Harrison, according to Bob Boal, president of the historical society.

"It was only proper that the Deer Park Hotel cupola be remembered by the historical society," Grant said.

Wolf, along with designers Troy and Steve Gnegy, used photographs and other information to recreate the square, windowed structure. It was built at the Simon Pearce building. The paint was applied by Rebecca Skidmore. Frankie Lewis Jr. built the structural base for the cupola, and Welding Rod Inc. secured it in place. George Scheffel was "very instrumental" in the project, Boal said, providing much assistance, including designing and building a brace to keep the windows from shattering during the installation process. He also provided the crane to lift it into place.

Boal said Bob Shaffer managed the entire project, assisted by building manager Junior Ferguson. Boal himself also played a major part in the completion of the project.

The structure stands in memory of Jim and Gladys ("Happy") Nordeck. A formal dedication ceremony of the cupola and Dailey's Park will take place in the spring, Boal noted.

Grant said the hotel model in Oakland is now finished. "With the cupola in place, people will now be more able to realize the grandeur of the old Deer Park Hotel," he said.

A Dark Omen...

It is painful to experience the closing of Oakland's Food Lion, which has succumbed to the giant just up the hill. At one time the Oakland area had at least a half-dozen grocery stores, a number that has now been reduced to two, not counting several convenience stores which aren't able to carry a large variety of items. Foodland and Wal-Mart are basically it now.

We hate to see this event for several reasons. Food Lion was generally a good store, usually with the best food prices in town. Its closing means the loss of choice, of variety. More significantly, it means the loss of quite a few jobs, which always has a negative impact on the community at large. For us personally here at the newspaper, the closing of Food Lion is the loss of one of our best customers — by far the best among the large local food stores.

Its closing also means a loss of competition, which is likewise not healthy for a community. We predict that the prices of food at Wal-Mart will be elevated within seconds after Food Lion closes its door for the last time on Oct. 31. Let's hope they prove us wrong.

This event is symbolic — a dark omen — of what is happening throughout the United States, as a handful of giant conglomerates are buying up, or putting out of business, virtually every independent operation. Another excellent example of this is taking place in the media business.

Walter Lippman, author and widely read political and social commentator, lamented in the middle of the 20th century that the independent and free press was being gobbled up by conglomerates, and that this was a serious threat to free and unbiased reporting. He said that a free press "should consist of many newspapers decentralized in their ownership and their management, and dependent for their support... upon the communities where they are written, where they are edited, and where they are read." At the time he said this, there were still several thousand independently owned media outlets. But by 1983, nine years after Lippman's death, media ownership in the Unites States dropped to just 50 companies, and today, Lippman's concern is becoming a nightmare, as the majority of our media are controlled by just five companies.

Less than 20 percent of our newspapers are independent and locally owned, with The Republican being among them. The independent newspapers, small and large, are rapidly disappearing, being sucked up like candy at a child's birthday party.

The results of conglomerate ownership of the media can be devastating, as money — the bottom line — becomes the primary and overriding concern. Quality becomes secondary, jobs are typically lost, and the owners, who are perhaps headquartered hundreds or thousands of miles away, have little knowledge of or concern for the welfare of the communities in which their newspapers are located.

The disappearance of the "mom and pop" businesses, and the power of what is now just a handful of monster conglomerates, are terrifying.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Determining how to vote on November is a very simple matter, a one issue situation. Are we going to continue trusting in God, or eliminate Him as a transcendent need? He can heal our nation/world or leave us to our own selfish desires and the resulting chaos. We are hearing from Him, and His message is becoming more adamant. He works even more slowly than governments, but He is sovereign.

Prayerfully,
Paul A. Eary

To the Editor:

Veterans deserve the best representation in the Senate in order to preserve and, if possible, restore their benefits, which have eroded over the course of the Bush administration. During the Bush administration, copayments for health care and prescriptions have increased, annual premiums for health care have been proposed, the length of time needed to get medical appointments has increased and – by limiting funding for the VA - research in prosthetics, spinal chord injuries, and other ailments particular to veterans have been reduced or threaten to be reduced. The House of Representatives continues to rubberstamp Bush proposals while only the U.S. Senate has succeeded in passing legislation to improve funding for veterans' programs.

Senator Barbara Mikulski is the ranking Democrat on the Senate Appropriations subcommittee that funds VA programs. She has been instrumental in combating the Bush administration's efforts to reduce the funding of VA healthcare on a per veteran basis. What veterans don't need is a senator who will simply rubberstamp the administration's poor funding of veterans' healthcare.

At the local level, largely through the efforts of Senator Mikulski, the region has obtained two VA clinics to serve 15,000 area veterans. She has worked hard to secure funds for a western Maryland outpatient clinic that serves thousands of veterans each year. Moreover, Senator Mikulski has protected National Guard units in the area from cutbacks.

Regarding women veterans' issues, Senator Mikulski has continued to support the construction of the Vietnam Women's Memorial on federal land and worked to extend the Clinical Laboratories Act to the VA to ensure the accuracy of lab tests, including those relating to a woman's health, such as Pap smears.

Veterans of this great nation who have served and fought bravely for the freedoms and rights we all enjoy deserve nothing less than Barbara Mikulski in the U.S. Senate.

To the Editor:

As a young voter, I have many issues that I am very concerned about. But none is so as important as the draft. Recently the Democrats have been spreading rumors, nationally and locally, that the president and the Republicans plan to reinstate the draft. This is totally false. The Democrats are the ones who actually have proposed such legislation.

Democratic Representative Charles Rangel of New York recently introduced HR 163, which would call to reinstate the draft for all males 18-26 and all females 18-26. So all young men and women would be included in this Democratic led draft. This plan calls for the draft to begin in the spring of 2005.

On Tuesday, October 5, 2004, this vote was brought before the House of Representatives and failed in the House by the overwhelming bipartisan vote of 402 to 2. So the facts are, the Republican-controlled congress will not allow the draft to be reinstated. It was a Democrat who started this, and he has Ted Kennedy introducing S89 in the Senate. So, the left is lying again about the issues to try to scare the young voters into voting for them. As a young person, I will not fall for their lies, and fellow young voters, don't fall for this left-wing scare tactic.

Please vote this November 2, 2004. If you want to risk putting our lives in jeopardy, ignore what the left is up to and vote for them. But if you don't want the draft imposed on you, vote for Republicans and President Bush.

To the Editor:

I am the "one" of the 1 in 7 American women diagnosed with breast cancer each year. I am "one" of the 200,000+ cases of breast cancer diagnosed in the U.S. last year. I could be your sister, friend, wife, mother, aunt, co-worker or neighbor.

Although I'd been getting mammograms since the recommended age of 40, my mammogram didn't find my cancer. According to the report from my mammogram, 8-10% of some cancers cannot be found by mammography alone. Like 70% of all discovered breast cancers, I found my lump through self-exam. Although 8 out of 10 lumps are not malignant, mine was.

During this time, my husband unexpectedly lost his job and our health insurance was stopped immediately. There were a few glitches and a wait to get on our new insurance. We were fortunate to receive help from Dr. Zakaluzny, my first surgeon, who was so generous with his time and services. Thanks, Dr. Zak and staff! Dr. Zak also helped by referring me to the Breast and Cervical Cancer Program through the Garrett County Health Department. They were extremely helpful in obtaining services for me during this interim time.

Because October is Breast Cancer Awareness month, I would like to encourage all women to follow the American Cancer Society guidelines for early detection. Women over 20 need to do monthly self-breast exams and get a clinical breast exam by a doctor. Women 40 and over should be getting mammograms. Talk to your doctor about additional precautions if you have a family history of cancer. If you need help getting these services please contact the Breast and Cervical Cancer Program through the Garrett County Health Department or the American Cancer Society.

Please take the time to make these important appointments. The best defense against breast cancer is to find it as early as possible. Don't wait to become the "one" of the 1 in 7 or "one" of the next 200,000.

To the Editor:

Following two presidential debates there is much speculation as to who won. I now see who is losing – the United States of America. Because, neither George Bush nor John Kerry can tell the truth to the American people about the war in Iraq. Like the Vietnam War, this war is an immoral war. Once again, innocent civilians are being maimed and killed in untold numbers, their land destroyed. Once again, our young military people are expected to do the dirty work of a horrible war – killing, being killed, maimed, psychologically damaged at the least, and having their hopes destroyed. Hatred for the U.S. government grows each day throughout the world, planting the seeds of violence for years to come.

The American people were misled in the 60s' by the administrations and the Pentagon, and it is happening to us again. George Bush has a failed record to run on and doesn't have the courage to admit mistakes. John Kerry doesn't have the courage to run on his compassionate liberal record and his past stand against the immorality of the Vietnam War. The truth about the lies that fueled that war is in the history books. Once again, those who fail to learn from history are doomed to repeat it.

Political fear tactics were used during the '60s, warning us that if we didn't fight to bring democracy to Vietnam we would be fighting next in Thailand and on and on through Southeast Asia. Here they go again. It seems to me that if the people of the Middle East are ready and anxious for democracy they will fight for it themselves. Our forefathers did, and that brought us to our strong love of democracy. It's time our politicians get straight with us, talk truth with courage, and stop distracting us from the issues with demeaning words and name calling. It's time to bring the focus back home to the needs of our own people and to the renewal of our own democracy.

Sincerely,
Cynthia Knight

To the Editor:

Your editorial last week succinctly summarized the growing crisis in medical liability insurance in Maryland. As you indicated, unless something is done quickly, our ability to get medical help when needed could be in jeopardy. Last year's 28 percent insurance premium hike led 44 doctors statewide to limit their services or close their offices. This year's rate hike of 33 percent is prompting hundreds more physicians to consider similar actions.

Hagerstown physicians will stop seeing patients, except on an emergency basis, beginning November 15. In Cumberland, of the eight local obstetricians, two plan to retire immediately, one will stop doing obstetrics, and two more plan to stop taking uninsured and Medicaid patients by the end of the year.

Rate increases have been precipitated in part by the growing size of claims, particularly in urban areas. Among the other factors driving up prices is a reduced supply of available coverage as insurers exit the business because of the difficulty of making a profit and rapidly rising medical care costs. This trend of rising costs may continue for some time.

The increasing loss of physicians is alarming. Maryland faces an immediate medical crisis. This impacts all health care providers and patients. Access to care for the poor is especially vulnerable. The cost of insurance premiums is quickly dismantling this state's high-quality health system. Our local leaders in the Maryland legislature, Senator John Hafer and Delegate George Edwards, are keenly aware of the need for reform and are strong advocates for Garrett County. They are working in the General Assembly to find a comprehensive solution that stops soaring lawsuit payouts and reduces

FRENCH MYSTERY

One of the great mysteries of France is how the country runs. It runs well, even beautifully, but without any apparent cause. The subway system, the famed Metro, is clean, punctual, convenient, and almost cheap.

The trash is picked up from the doors of every Parisian household daily. There's the daily baguette and the daily trash service. The men in green, the color of the uniform of those responsible for the cleanliness of the city, are out on the street throughout the day, sweeping, almost scrubbing the pavements. This city might not be quite clean enough for my grandmother, but in a pinch it will do.

While Parisian traffic is heavy, it moves right along even in the center of the city. When people park their cars where they should not, they are given tickets with remarkable promptitude by officers who travel in twos. Whether this is for their mutual protection, to prevent them from taking of bribes, or for some more esoteric reason I have no idea.

Why is it so surprising that France runs so well?

To begin with there is the 35-hour work week. Then there is the month's vacation which those who can, stretch into six or eight weeks. There is the fact that the French take that month's vacation all at the same time. In August only the businesses that tend to tourists and other vacationers run at full tilt.

I do not mean merely that people go on vacation but that whole businesses close their shutters for the month of August.

Then there is the way French businesses do business when they are open. The people assigned to wait on the general public may completely ignore that very same public, or tell them off for allowing dust to collect in the space next to them. They may suddenly absent themselves without any obvious or justified reason (such as lunch or the death of a near relative).

So when does all the work get done? And who does it?

I attended a solo piano concert by Philippe Entremont, arguably the greatest living French pianist and, at least, one of the most notable French musical figures of the past half century. He was a star before I was born.

The concert took place in one of the most hallowed buildings in France, the Cathedral of St. Louis within the confines of Les Invalides. The tomb of Napoleon is located in the rotunda of that cathedral.

Tickets were available for the concert by calling a number where an answering machine received reservations. There was no confirmation of the tickets. One left a message. That was all.

Hundreds of people appeared at the doors of the Cathedral, just the size of a fair-sized church, dressed to the nines, without certainty of having tickets for the program. The tickets were not even expensive, 18 dollars, the price of two movie passes in Paris.

The concert itself was superb. Entremont played Beethoven's Clair de Lune and Appassionata sonatas masterfully. He savored those staggering chords which Beethoven piles on top of each other. There was Debussy and Ravel after the intermission with a Ravel duet as an encore.

We were gathered in this extraordinary space of French history. Napoleon was on one side of the glass wall and Beethoven was on the other.

It was one of the most memorable concerts I have ever attended, and the reservations were taken by an answering machine.

I asked the women in charge of the concert how in the future I could be sure in advance that I actually had a ticket. She replied simply that I should leave a message on the answering machine.

One might suppose that this is a system which only seems idiotic to Americans without the necessary savoir faire. Not at all.

In French, I ventured to ask a very handsomely dressed couple standing in the line ahead of me whether they actually had tickets. They assured me that they had merely left a message on the answering machine, and knew nothing. I asked them if they were surprised. They were frustrated, but not surprised.

"This is France," the husband said loudly in English. "It was the same two thousand years ago. It was the same when Napoleon lived. It will always be the same. You are now in France." When the line advanced until we were right at the door, friends of theirs – who had arrived later than they – crowded in with them ahead of me. That too is France.

I left Les Invalides most of three hours later, deeply satisfied. I made my way to the Metro station by the light of the moon. The illuminated dome of St. Louis's rotunda and the Eiffel Tower too provided visual pleasure on my walk along the very safe streets of Paris, a city elegant, beautiful, and sophisticated.

Like the providence of God, Paris works without mortal man knowing how.

FOR CHRISTMAS — Each member of the Heritage Quilters recently made a Christmas stocking, which will then be filled with goodies and donated to the Dove Center. The stockings will be given to mothers and their children who will be housed at the center over the Christmas season. The Heritage Quilters will be sponsoring their second annual quilt show during Autumn Glory. The show will be held in the social hall of St. Peter's Catholic Church on Saturday, Oct. 16, from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. Pictured above are members with their stockings. From left are Peggy Close, Melissa Bergstrom, Kathy Vitek, Joan Chaney, Lottie Brenneman, Wilma Edwards, Maxine Legeer, Norma Hesen, and Karen Beck. The group meets on the second Tuesday of each month in the Continuing Education Building at Garrett College at 7 p.m.

Broad Ford Elem. School Named National Demonstration School

Broad Ford Elementary School is one of seven winners of Co-nect's annual National Demonstration Schools program. The Co-nect National Demonstration Schools program recognizes schools that have achieved excellence in six critical areas of preparations: test scores, teaching and learning, assessment practices, school organization, school community, and effective use of technology.

"Broad Ford has shown itself to be an outstanding example of a school that worked to employ reform strategies, centered around professional development, with great success," said Leslie Eicher, a Co-nect representative.

In celebration of this honor, the school will hold an open house on Monday, Nov. 1. Parents and community members are encouraged to visit the school that day and "look in" on the things happening at the school. The school will be open from 6 to 8 p.m., and a special presentation will be made at 7 p.m. in the cafeteria.

This year's winners were selected from more than 200 schools nationwide.

"The schools were chosen because they exemplify Co-nect's mission to drive whole-school improvement through the application of rigorous, research-based strategies designed to improve instructional practices in the classroom," said Andrew Skoler, president and chief executive officer of Co-nect. "They're simply best practice examples of schools with high quality instruction and continually improving student results."

Each school selected as a National Demonstration School must compete at least two years of implementation of the Co-nect solution and demonstrate an improvement in test results over the past two academic years.

To be considered for the honor, each school must either be nominated by a Co-nect school consultant or field manager or the school can elect to independently submit an application. Each application must be accompanied by a progress report supporting steady progress in seven of 10 distinctive areas, such as rich and stimulating classroom environment; coherent, focused instruction; thoughtful discourse; assessment for learning; and effective use of technology.

Following the successful evaluation by a cross- departmental review panel the selected schools are awarded $250, a personalized plaque and banner, and are asked to serve as reference sites for other schools and districts interested in observing Co-nect's research-based professional development practices in action.

"Let's not forget that teachers are the real reason for classroom successes, and that the real winners are the students who benefit from the talent, dedication, and commitment of their teaching staff and administrators," said Skoler.

The other winning schools were in Colorado, Georgie, Texas, and New Jersey.

Second Wind Power Facility Is Proposed

A second wind power facility has been proposed for southern Garrett County, a 24-turbine installation that Synergics Wind Energy has dubbed the Roth Rock Wind Power Facility. The Annapolis-based company has applied to the Maryland Public Service Commission (PSC) to situate the facility on approximately 20 acres of land to the north and south of Roth Rock, a 3,220 peak along the Backbone Mountain ridgeline approximately two miles east of the Gnegy Church section of Route 219.

The proposed project is in the early stages of PSC hearings, as the Audubon Society, the Sierra Club, and several citizens including Jon Boone, Daniel Boone, Thomas Eastman, and Paul Sprenger have filed requests asking that the PSC deny permission for the project to proceed.

The 24 towers, each 262-ft. high, are estimated by Synergics to be capable of producing 40 megawatts of electricity. They would be located approximately 10 miles southwest of the proposed Clipper Energy's 67-turbine Backbone Mountain wind power project, which gained PSC approval last year.

Construction of the Backbone Mountain facility was held up pending congressional renewal of the wind energy Production Tax Credit (PTC), which was reinstated three weeks ago as part of a major tax package. The 15-month PTC extension provides a 1½ cent per kilowatt hour tax credit for electricity generated by wind turbines.

The Synergics facility, like Clipper's Backbone Mtn. project, has been met with approval by local officials. "What it means in Garrett County is economic," said Commissioner Fred Holliday. "It's going to create a lot of construction jobs. It's going to create some full-time positions with decent salaries, and it's going to mean a lot to the land owners [who] get a decent rent for the property. We're looking at close to $1 million in county taxes."

If the Roth Rock project gains PSC approval, it and the Backbone Mtn. facility could both begin construction as early as next spring and be operational in the late fall of 2005. Clipper's project, which has already been approved by the PSC, is in the financing and contracting phase. Once those phases are completed, company spokesman Kevin Rackstraw said construction could take six to eight months.

The PSC hearing process for the Synergics proposal can be monitored on the state agency's web site at www.psc.state.md.us/psc, via a "Case Search" for Case 9008.

liability insurance premiums that are becoming unaffordable.

Applying a band-aid isn't enough. We need a comprehensive solution that addresses all of the complex aspects of the problem. We all need action before it is too late. While the solution must be multi-faceted, the outcome must result in lower premiums charged to providers. Otherwise Maryland will not be able to attract and retain physicians and medical personnel.

I urge you and all local citizens to express your concerns to Senate President, Thomas V. Mike Miller, Jr. and House Speaker Michael E. Busch for a swift and permanent solution to this growing crisis.

Sincerely yours,
Donald P. Battista

To the Editor:

What is a life worth in Garrett County, specifically in Grantsville? October 15, 2004, will be the one-year anniversary of the accident that changed the lives of three families forever: the Emerick family, the Barclay family, and the Wilburn family.

Jerry Wilburn, a passenger in the Jenkins vehicle, suffered mental scars that will never heal after losing one of his closest friends, Jody Emerick. Jerry is depressed and withdrawn. Garrett Barclay spent three months in the University of Maryland Shock Trauma Hospital in the head injury unit. He was in a coma for 12 days after the accident, he underwent numerous surgeries while his family did not know if he would live or die, and he incurred hundreds of dollars in medical bills. Today, basic life functions are a challenge to him. Jody Emerick is gone, and not a day goes by that we do not long to hear his voice and see his smile.

On October 5, 2004, all three families received letters from the parole board stating that Julie Jenkins will be eligible for parole in February 2005 from her district court sentence. How ironic, because that same day we were in circuit court for a sentencing hearing after Julie Jenkins filed an appeal. She pleaded guilty in her first trial at district court and was convicted and sentenced to four years for the vehicular homicide, one year for DUI, and three years of supervised probation. She appealed the district court's decision to circuit court. She pleaded not guilty in circuit court to the same charges that she pleaded guilty to in district court, and a jury came back with a unanimous verdict of guilty on all charges. She was sentenced to four years for vehicular homicide and one year for the second charge of DUI with no time served.

As mothers, we had faith in our judicial system, but we feel this was a waste of the taxpayers' money. We would like to impress upon the parole board to take into consideration all the facts in this case and the impact and future of our families. We hear about how Julie Jenkins is a "model prisoner" and about all the programs she is attending while she is incarcerated. Of course, what else can she do in prison, but abstain from drugs and alcohol? The offender seems to have more rights than the victims in this case. Did we get to file an appeal? No. How much remorse could she have had to be in an accident that killed and maimed her "friends," then go out nine days later and get another DUI while one of her "friends" was still in a coma? Luckily, she didn't kill anyone else on her second offense. Jody, Garrett, and Jerry were depending on Julie for their safety, and that is the responsibility a person takes on when getting behind the wheel of a vehicle. This is considered to be a non-violent crime. Tell us then, what is a violent crime? To the people that this accident did not affect, it may not seem violent. To us, the families of the victims, it is a violent crime. We hope and pray the lawmakers will change the law and decide that killing and disabling someone while drinking and driving should be considered a violent crime, and we should start with this one.

Was Julie's sentence enough for all the damage she has caused with her negligence? We do not think so. If you do the crime, you should do the time. We also ask the parole board to deny her request because while she is in prison, she does not have the opportunity to do this to other families — it could be yours next time. We are not asking for sympathy or pity, we are simply asking for justice.

We also thank the Northern Garrett Rescue Squad, Grantsville Fire Department, University of Maryland Shock Trauma, Cumberland Memorial Hospital, Kernan Rehab, Bob Lease, Lisa Thayer Welch, Mona Metz, Judge Burnett, Judge Sherbin, and Trooper LeMay for their time and efforts that they contributed throughout this entire ordeal. We are forever grateful for your help. We would also like to thank everyone for all the prayers we received from everyone, the cards, letters, the checks to help the Barclay family with their expenses, and to everyone who asked if they could help Garrett with his son Caleb's Christmas. Because of all the money the Barclay family was spending at that time, Caleb would not have had a good Christmas without all of your help. And last, but most important of all, we would like to thank God for answering a lot of prayers, especially for one little sweet boy named Caleb Barclay. He now has his Daddy, no matter what shape he is in, and he doesn't mind that.

To the Editor:

Exciting things are happening at Crellin Elementary School. Second graders are bringing in their piggy banks. Students from every grade are sacrificing their ice cream money. Allowances are being donated. Why would kids from kindergarten to fifth grade willingly give their money away? The immediate motivation is to see their principal get a pie in the face, but ultimately it is for a new playground.

There have been reports in this paper about the funding Crellin has received to reclaim the abandoned coal tipple and adjacent property behind the school. Under the guidance of Gary Yoder, Youghiogheny Watershed Association, Joe Mills, Bureau of Mines, Loring Young, Garrett County Community Action, and Dana McCauley, Crellin Elementary principal, the community of Crellin has received grant money to create an outdoor classroom and recreational area along the banks of Snowy Creek. This funding will not, however, cover the purchase of new playground equipment for the school.

That is why fundraising continues at a fevered pitch at Crellin Elementary. We have received generous support from local businesses, such as Craig Durst of Manor Home Builders and Brian Glotfelty and Steve Green of High Mountain Sports, who donated items to be raffled. We held a successful Family Fun Night where Mrs. McCauley did get that pie in the face from the second grade class. Selling funnel cakes at local events such as the Oakland Fire Department's Oktoberfest is our greatest source of revenue.

The playground equipment at Crellin Elementary is at least 30 years old, and several pieces have already been removed due to safety concerns. On October 19 at 7 p.m. at the school, the students will present a musical and dramatic history of Crellin. At that time the preliminary plan for the new playground will be revealed. A consulting engineer and the kids will develop this plan using Crellin in its heyday as the theme. Imagine a coal tipple scaled down to be a sliding board or the company store redesigned for imaginative play.

There are exciting things happening at Crellin Elementary School! We are grateful to the community for so wholeheartedly supporting our efforts.

Sincerely,
Mikal Ann Zimmerman

Dear Neighbors in Garrett County and Friends in West Virginia –

We believe there needs to be a change in the strategy for fighting global terrorism. A critical component of that strategy must be a strong and vibrant private sector and robust national economy. In an effort to glean fact from fiction in the politically polarized climate that exists prior to the upcoming election, we gathered information on our economy from the Bureau of Labor Statistics (http://www.bls.gov), an agency within the U.S. Department of Labor. Specifically, from the Bureau of Labor Statistics we learned:

- 8 million people are officially unemployed today compared to 6 million unemployed in January 2001 when Bush was inaugurated.
- To make ends meet and provide for their families, 7.7 million people hold more than one job today compared to 7.3 million in September 2001 – this includes a 21 percent increase in the number of individuals working 2 full time jobs to provide for their families.
- The number of discouraged workers, those who are unemployed and gave up looking for a job, increased 45 percent from September 2001 to September 2004.
- The number of people employed in the private sector declined by 1.6 million jobs from January 2001 to September 2004 – the first such decline in private sector employment over any president's 4 year term in 72 years; since Herbert Hoover. The Bush administration claims this happened because of the catastrophic events they dealt with including a very mild recession and the 9/11 attacks. But every president has faced similar, if not greater, challenges including World War II, the Korean War, Viet Nam, stagflation and the oil crisis of the mid-1970s, the most severe recessions since the depression.
- Adjusting for inflation, the average weekly wage of production workers in the U.S. is a mere 1 percent higher today than in January 2001 when Bush was inaugurated.
- There are 3 million more people living in poverty today than when Bush took office and the number of people depending on food stamps has increased nearly 40 percent since Bush took office.

We believe that irresponsible soaring deficits in the federal budget have made the situation worse. Specifically,

- 2003 and 2004 produced record deficits in the federal budget — $422,000,000,000 in 2004 alone.
- According to the Treasury Department, the national debt increased 22% from $5,943,400,000,000 in 2001 to $7,274,300,000,000 today; the debt is about $24,701 for every man, woman and child in the U.S., which drains resources from the economy that could be used to create private sector jobs.
- We are concerned that the majority of the increase in debt (53%) is owned by foreigners who now hold nearly 25 percent of our national debt. A 2004 report released by the International Monetary Fund indicated that in a relatively short time America's net financial obligations to the rest of the world could amount to 40 percent of the U.S. economy. This unprecedented and extremely dangerous situation could have a catastrophic impact on our economy and poses a major threat to our way of life. Continuing huge increases in the national debt make us more vulnerable to their control.

Ill-advised and poorly targeted tax cuts contribute to these record deficits. For example,

- According to a report from the Urban Institute-Brookings Institution Tax Policy Center, in 2004 the wealthiest 0.2 percent of households will receive 15.3 percent of the Bush tax cuts compared with the middle 20 percent of U.S. households who will receive only 8.9 percent of the tax cuts.
- These tax cuts, which a second Bush administration will make permanent, will give $30 billion to the nation's 257,000 millionaires. In this time of war and jobless economic recovery, does giving $30 billion to the nation's 257,000 millionaires make sense? Is that the best use of our limited resources?
- According to an editorial in the New York Times by David Cay, the top fifth of Americans pay, on average, 19 cents of each dollar of income in taxes compared with 18 cents per dollar of income for the poorest fifth of the population. Is this the progressive tax system we should have?

We believe our economy and society cannot afford four more years of economic decline, putting our future in the hands of foreign countries. To fight terrorism abroad, we must be strong at home. It is time for a change in our strategy for making our country secure by getting the federal budget deficit under control and providing economic opportunities for all citizens and that requires a change from George W. Bush to John Kerry.

Expect The Unexpected At Kitzmiller's Haunted House

by Lois Dever

Former sightseers know to "expect the unexpected" at the Kitzmiller Empowerment Group's annual Haunted House. This year the group is using the event to raise money for a youth center, which will be located in the same building as the Haunted House, at the corner of Rt. 38 and West Main Street in Kitzmiller.

"Our plan is to raise money for the youth center," said group member Mike Brady. "We currently use the Kitzmiller fire hall as a place for the youth to gather. I would like for everybody to come and to support us in our effort by purchasing a ticket and going through our Haunted House."

The center will be a good place for youth to hang out together. "We plan to have games, music, food, and eventually a computer room," said Nancy Brady, another group member.

"We are very excited about the youth center," added Amy Brantner, president of the group. "It is a long time in coming for the community, and it is going to be a great asset to the youth and the community as a whole."

Young people play a big role in the planning and in the actual event of the Haunted House. There are approximately seven middle- and high-school-age youth who volunteer on a regular basis.

"We help decorate and do things," said Demora Smith, one of the youth volunteers.

The young volunteers also make suggestions about what to put in the Haunted House. Josh Nesselrodt is one of the community's younger children who has shared some of his "scary" ideas. "I can't wait until I can work on it (the Haunted House) next year," he said.

There are also many adult volunteers putting much of their time into this project.

Also located in the youth center building will be an old company store. "We would like to make part of the building into a replica of the [town's] old company store, so that the older people can also have a place to socialize," Ms. Brady said.

"I envision the Company Store to be a place where residents and tourists can come, because Kitzmiller does not really have a place for people to come together. So, I would like to make it a gathering place of sorts," said Mayor Jim Browning.

At the replica of the old company store one will be able to sit down and have a cup of coffee or a sandwich, buy a souvenir, and browse around in a museum.

Before the Kitzmiller Empowerment Group fulfills its plans for the future, it must look at the present.

"We need to begin the restoration of the building, starting in the beginning of 2005," said Browning. "I hope we can start to use it right after getting that done. I would also like to work on the overall appearance of the town and to have new families move into the town."

Come visit the unique town of Kitzmiller, and expect the unexpected at its Haunted House during the nights of Oct. 16, 22, and 23, from 7 until 10 p.m., and Oct. 29 and 30 from 8 until 11 p.m. The cost is $5 per person. Groups of 10 or more will get $1 off the price of admission.

For more information, persons may call Mike Brady at 301-453-3193.

Sherrard Honored For Work With After-School Prog.

The Maryland State Department of Education last week presented an award to Ann Sherrard, Garrett County Extension Office, for her "outstanding" efforts with the Maryland 21st Century Community Learning Centers after-school program. Individuals and groups from throughout the state were recognized during the event.

Held at Wilde Lake High School in Columbia, the awards ceremony was part of the Lights On After-school Day celebration, a nationwide event to recognize the efforts and needs of after-school programs "to keep kids safe, help working families, and improve academic achievement."

During the ceremony, an exhibit featuring after-school programs from across the state was on display.

Sherrard was nominated by the Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families Inc., the local entity that administers funding for the 21st Century Community Learning Centers' Partners After School: Bridges to Learning Program.

"Ann has been a leader in the after-school efforts for a number of years and organized the first AmeriCorps-led program in the mid 1990s," said a Partnership spokesperson. "Her commitment to youth development has been outstanding."

Featured speaker for the awards ceremony was Marina Harrison, Miss Maryland 2003 and youth development specialist at MSDE. Also in attendance was Jo-Anne Carter, assistant state superintendent of the Division of Student and School Services, and Dr. Nancy S. Grasmick, state superintendent of schools.

"Students who participate in extracurricular activities have better grades, feel greater attachment to school, have lower truancy rates, and reach higher levels of achievement in college," Grasmick said. "Study after study shows this to be true. Our Maryland 21st Century Community Learning Centers program is making a difference in the lives of students, and we must celebrate the individuals and partners who make this possible."

Nationally, more than one-half of all students wish there were more community or neighborhood-based programs available after school, and two-thirds of those surveyed said they would participate in such programs if they were available, according to the U.S. Department of Education.

BEST BUDDIES IN NEED OF DONATIONS

Best Buddies, a program at Southern High School that seeks to develop friendships between regular education students and mentally disabled students, is seeking donations. This program was previously funded through a grant from Garrett Partnerships, but because of government spending cuts, the program is now in need of funds. Students participate in about 10 activities per year. Past activities include Southern basketball and football games, Baltimore Oriole games, luncheons at the school, and various craft activities. Persons wanting more information or to make a donation may contact the school.

One day at a time we make it through.
That is how each day was lived by you.
Although our hearts will never be the same,
Your spirit inside us will always remain.
The years we spent together
The happy times we knew
Are most treasured memories
With loving thoughts of you.
For you were someone special
So gentle, kind and true
You will never be forgotten
For we thought the world of you.
Life goes on, we know that's true
But it's not the same since we lost you.

General Assembly Members Could See Political Rarity: Special Session

by Ryan Spass
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS - If Gov. Robert L. Ehrlich calls a special session of the Maryland General Assembly to discuss medical malpractice, it will be the first such meeting in a dozen years. Ehrlich is facing pressure to resolve the controversy before January, when doctors' insurance rates will increase by 33 percent, following a 28 percent hike last year.

Maryland doctors are confronting several other malpractice insurance problems, including an increasing cap on pain-and-suffering damages and unlimited attorneys' fees.

The last time the Maryland legislature met for a special session was Nov. 18, 1992, to discuss the state's budget. It also met for a special session in April of that year for the same reason.

Ehrlich, Senate President Thomas V. Mike Miller, D-Calvert, and House Speaker Michael Busch, D-Anne Arundel, have repeatedly said a special session on medical malpractice is imminent, but they disagree on the details of a new bill. Each has established task forces to examine the issue. If Ehrlich calls a special session, a bill will most likely be in place before it begins, as has been the case in the past, said a state legislative expert.

"There is an agreement worked out ahead of time, which doesn't mean it can't be tweaked as it goes through," said Mike Volk, legislation and committee support coordinator for Legislative Services. "The general idea is to have something planned out ahead of time, so they're not wasting their time and energy."

Ehrlich and Busch favor a long-term solution that includes placing a hard cap on pain-and-suffering damages. Last year, the legislature rejected a malpractice bill, which called for a $500,000 cap on these awards. Ehrlich said a long-term solution is necessary because he doesn't want to "just throw money" at the problem.

"I want a bill now that's going to give relief to this premium increase now," he said to a group of doctors at Sinai Hospital in Baltimore last month. "We need to fix the problem — not just fund it — so it's a lasting fix."

Miller opposes a hard cap, but favors a freeze of insurance premiums.

Maryland malpractice law now allows victims to receive a maximum of $650,000 in pain-and-suffering damages, with that amount increasing by $15,000 every Oct. 1 to keep up with inflation. Some doctors are so concerned about the mounting problems that they've threatened to strike, but delayed to allow a special session to be organized.

Nicholas G. Manis, a lobbyist for Manis, Canning, and Associates, which represents companies such as Health South and Pfizer, said medical malpractice in Maryland "seems like a looming crisis" that needs a permanent solution, regardless of whether it comes about in a special or regular session.

Governors have convened special sessions less frequently since 1976. While eight have occurred in the 28 years since then, 22 took place during the same span from 1947 through 1975. But the General Assembly usually met for 60 days instead of 90 then.

"My guess is that since the legislature didn't meet for 90 days until the 1960's, they weren't going to be around enough to solve immediate issues," said Volk. "The view today may be that we can wait until the (regular) session."

According to Maryland law, a special session may not exceed 30 days. Of the eight held since 1976, six lasted one or two days, including both in 1992.

If this legislature meets before January, the session should also last only one or two days, said Karl S. Aro, Legislative Services executive director. He said a "full blown" special session costs about $45,000 per day, but shorter ones cost about $24,000 because most government offices don't need full staffs for the short period.

Nevertheless, "the idea is to get in and out as quickly as you can, but not to railroad it or anything," Aro said. Because these meetings cost time and money, Volk said it's practical to introduce additional bills on a variety of topics, but legislators try to finish as swiftly as possible.

By law, the governor has the power to call a special session, but only the Assembly can adjourn it. The governor would be forced to convene the Legislature if a majority of the members of both chambers petition to do so and agree on a date.

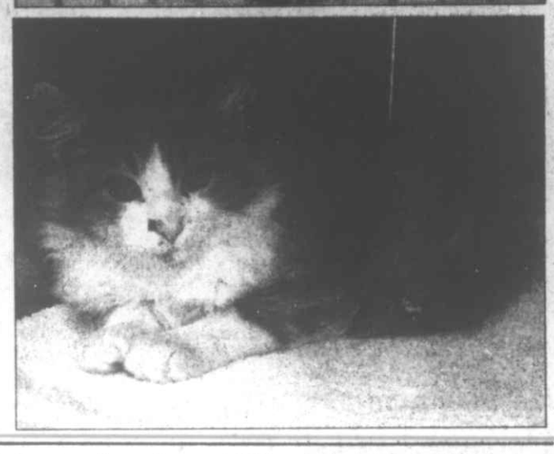
Adorable Adoptables



LOADS OF KITTENS IN LOTS OF COLORS and sizes are available now for adoption from the Garrett County Animal Shelter. Also looking for a home is an older orange/white longhair male cat, who is described as a "nice guy." Canines waiting to be adopted include a male golden retriever mix who was picked up as a stray near Hoyes Run, and Duke, a 1-year-old black Lab mix who was given up by his owner. He is neutered and up to date on shots. The two husky mixes who were featured recently are also desperately in need of homes. Last week's two cats, Zoe and Tanner, however, were adopted. "Please remember to have your pets spayed and neutered to help reduce the numbers of unwanted litters that are coming into the shelter," said a Humane Society spokesperson. "Also, put IDs on your pets so we can call you if they show up at the shelter." For more information, persons may call 301-334-3553.

Williams Set To Teach Marketing Courses At GC

The Continuing Education and Training Division of Garrett College will hold two marketing courses taught by Beverly Williams, a nationally recognized home-based business advocate.

The first course, "Doing Your Own Market Analysis," examines the market-oriented approach to planning, the use of market research in planning, and the components of a marketing plan. This course will be held Monday, Oct. 25, and Wednesday, Oct. 27, from 6 to 9:15 p.m.

The second course titled "Million Dollar Marketing on a Shoestring Budget" will be held on Monday, Nov. 1, and Wednesday, Nov. 3, from 6 to 9:15 p.m. This course focuses on the resources available to market a business effectively, including writing a marketing plan, identifying publicity methods, and identifying the most effective marketing tools.

Williams is the co-author of The Thirty Second Commute: The Ultimate Guide to Starting and Operating a Home Based Business. She is also an adjunct instructor in the Continuing Education and Training Division at Garrett College.

For more information on either of these courses, persons may call 301-387-3069 or 301-387-3101.

The Arts

Laura Stutzman Is Illustrator Of Book Celebrating Maryland

by Mary Sincell McEwen

Historical sights, people, and places of the state of Maryland are the focus of a children's book recently released, titled B Is For Blue Crab, A Maryland Alphabet. Published by Sleeping Bear Press, the picture book was illustrated by Mtn. Lake Park resident and artist Laura Stutzman. The author is Shirley C. Menendez.

The book is brightly illustrated and features one local site: "M for Muddy Creek Falls." In her work, Stutzman uses photographs of sights and people to create her realistic, lush paintings. Throughout the book there appears a number of familiar faces, as she used several local models as subjects for her photos. Individuals such as the artist's family members, husband Mark and son Ivan, are included, as well as Jamie Bosley, Bailey Michael, several members of the Strubin family, and Josey, Matt, and Brevin Redinger. There are others, too, all of whom Stutzman credited in the front of the book.

LAURA STUTZMAN

With regard to Maryland publications such as this, Garrett Countians are often disappointed to find that the western part of the state has been overlooked. It seems sometimes that "Maryland" to many state residents simply ends at Frederick, or maybe Hagerstown. However, as the illustrator hails from Garrett County, this part of the state was indeed included in the book, after some persuasion by Stutzman herself.

"In the first draft of the text, there was nothing included west of Frederick," she said. So she persuaded the writer and the publisher to adjust the list. "The saying is that Maryland is America in miniature," Stutzman said. "I felt it was very important to stay true to that. And Maryland is so linear — I could understand if it were a huge, square state and part of some corner had to be left out, but you just can't leave out a whole third of a state. That would just be too obvious. And besides," she added, smiling, "the illustrator lives in that part, and that couldn't really be ignored, either."

Author Menendez did indeed include the Muddy Creek reference, and that painting represents what Stutzman refers to as "the most exciting moment" of the process.

"I was walking around Muddy Creek at about 7:30 in the morning, all alone. There was not another footprint in the snow. It was very quiet and actually a little dangerous," she said, noting that the snowy ground was somewhat unsafe for hiking, yet she kept pushing herself to get the perfect shot for the painting. And the painting is indeed beautiful, and will be completely familiar to any Garrett Countian who has hiked to that majestic landmark.

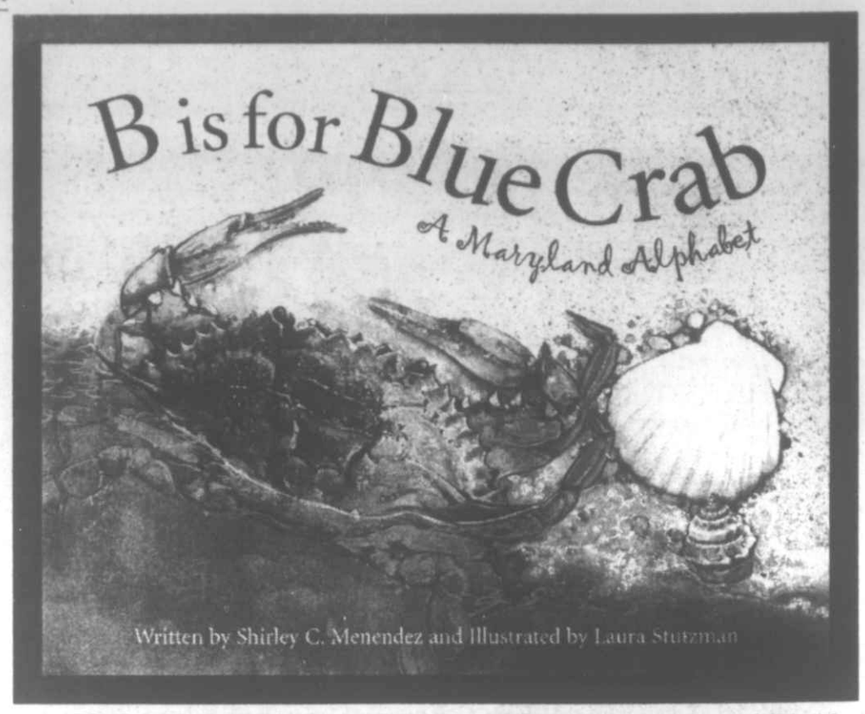
The book is designed for all ages, with Menendez's short poems written to engage the young listener or reader, along with sidebars providing detailed information about each particular subject.

B Is For Blue Crab is Sleeping Bear Press's latest release in its best-selling children's pictorial series, Discover America State by State. The writers and illustrators of the books are all residents of the states celebrated in each publication. The local artist was sought out by Sleeping Bear because the publisher was looking for realistic and rich images for the book, a style that Stutzman is known for.

She and her husband Mark own and operate Eloqui, an illustration studio in Mtn. Lake Park. Throughout her lengthy career, she has created imagery for books and magazines, corporations, and nonprofit organizations, and also paints privately commissioned portraits. B is for Blue Crab is her first children's book with Sleeping Bear Press. In addition to son Ivan, who is a student at Southern High School, she and Mark also have a daughter, Falon, who is currently a college student.

Menendez is the author of several books and a former librarian. She lives in North Potomac with her husband Albert.

B Is For Blue Crab, A Maryland Alphabet is now available at the Book Mark'et in Oakland. A book-signing with Stutzman is slated for Saturday, Oct. 16, from 10 a.m. to noon. An additional signing is being arranged as well, with the date to be announced.



TAKE A TOUR THROUGH MARYLAND — Readers may visit several (26 to be exact) places, persons, and things unique to the state of Maryland in a new children's book titled B Is For Blue Crab, A Maryland Alphabet. What may be particularly special to local residents is the fact that the illustrations were painted by Laura Stutzman, a resident of Mtn. Lake Park. See story. There is a book-signing with the artist planned for Saturday, Oct. 16, 10 a.m. to noon, at the Book Mark'et in Oakland.

FSU Theatre Set To Present The Mischief Makers

Frostburg State University's Children's Theatre will present Lowell Swortzell's The Mischief Makers on Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 23 and 24, at 2 p.m. in the Drama Theatre of the FSU Performing Arts Center.

"The Mischief Makers" involves many tricksters from the folklore world – Raven the Native American trickster, Anansi the African spider, and Reynold the European fox. These three tricksters enter a contest to see who is the most clever in the group and end up having to "out trick" one another. The play is stage managed by Diana Abrecht and directed by Justine Poulin.

All tickets are $2 and can be purchased at the door on the dates of the performances. For more information, persons may call 301-687-7462.

Francs To Present "Light Music" At St. Paul's Church

MURIEL ROBINSON FRANC

"A Little Light Music" will be presented on Sunday, Oct. 24, at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, 318 E. Oak Street in Oakland. Muriel Robinson Franc, along with two of her sons, Mark and Matthew, will play and sing musical favorites in an informal atmosphere.

This is the fifth time Muriel and her family members have presented a performance at the church. She is the director of music at St. Paul's, having moved to the Oakland area in 1998 to live in the family farmhouse south of town.

Her parents, Felix and Lucille Robinson, are remembered by many residents for their contributions to the county's history and music culture. Felix wrote and published Tableland Trails, a historical quarterly that came out in the 1950s. He and Lucille founded and directed the Mountain Choir Festival Association in the 1930s, bringing to the area many noted musicians of that era and combining many local choirs to perform "music of the masters" in summer programs at the Mtn. Lake Park Ampitheatre.

Muriel was active professionally for more than 30 years in the Pittsburgh, Pa., area, directing both adult and children's choirs, performing as soloist with the Mendelssohn Choir, participating in opera workshops with Claudia Pinza (daughter of Ezio Pinza), and playing the organ and piano.

Mark, a tenor, has done musical theater in Pittsburgh, Wheeling, W.Va., and Washington, D.C.

Matthew, also a tenor, was a member of the Mendelssohn Choir and does cantoring in Pittsburgh.

Muriel's six sons and three daughters all play and sing. She had hoped that Bernard and John would be able to perform with her at St. Paul's, but their schedules conflicted. In the rare times they all can get together, however, "making music is their top priority," Muriel noted.

"I really took for granted the years when I had all those tenors as well as the girls singing either alto or soprano, depending on where they were needed," she said.

Young Readers Set To Discuss Historical Novel

The Ruth Enlow Library Young Readers Club will meet at 4:15 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 4, at the Oakland library to discuss Scott O'Dell's Sing Down the Moon, a historical novel about a young Navajo girl. The discussion is open to all students ages 9 to 11.

"One loveiy spring day," reads the book description, "14-year-old Bright Morning and her friend Running Bird take their sheep to pasture. The sky is clear blue against the red buttes of the Canyon de Chelly, and the fields and orchards of the Navajos promise a rich harvest. Bright Morning is happy as she gazes across the beautiful valley that is the home of her tribe. Happy until the barking of Black Dog disturbs her and she turns. It is then that she sees the Spanish slavers riding straight toward her."

Persons may stop by the Oakland library or call 301-334-3996 to reserve a copy of the novel.

The Ruth Enlow Library offers three book clubs serving first-graders through teens. Persons may consult the library's Web site at www.relib.net, call 301-334-3996, ext. 105, or e-mail megan@relib.net for more information. All book clubs are funded in part by the Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library.

Local Writers' Group To Meet

A newly formed Garrett County regional writers' group will meet next Wednesday, Oct. 20, at Oakland Town Hall from 7 until 9 p.m.

Member Carolyn White, Aurora, W.Va., will moderate the meeting. A book designer by trade, White will discuss her business, BookMakers Ink, and the print-on-demand industry.

The members will also critique each others' work and vote on a name for the group.

You can get Maryland Tax Credits!

In a competitive grant application, Our Town Theatre received an allocation of Maryland Tax Credits for 2004 from the Department of Housing and Community Development. These tax credits are available to any business that pays Maryland State Tax and makes a donation to the theatre. The program works like this: A business donates $1000 to OTT and receives a tax credit equal to 50% of the donation—$500. The company receives this credit in addition to approximately $220 of federal and state charitable tax deduction, meaning that the actual out-of-pocket expense for the $1000 gift to the theatre is $280! The tax benefit is greater depending on the size of the business and the amount of the donation. This is a wonderful way to help OTT build its Backstage, which will house our Scene Shop and The Prop and Costume Shop, and is vital to maintaining and improving our service to the community.

$1,000 — 50% Tax Credit

$500 — $220 Federal and State Charitable Tax Deduction

$280 Out-of- pocket expense for donation.

Anyone interested in learning more about this program should call the theatre (301-334-5640) or Project Coordinator, David Bertsch (301-334-6563).

If you believe Our Town Theatre has been a wonderful addition to our community, this is a great way to help us grow!

Roldán Slated To Hold Performance Workshop Oct. 23

A performance workshop for musicians will be presented by Dr. Nancy Roldán, pianist and faculty member at the Peabody Conservatory of Music, on Saturday, Oct. 23, from 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. in the Great Hall at Penn Alps in Grantsville.

Titled "Tuning the Body for Optimal Performance – A Practical Guide and Workshop," this event is designed for students, teachers, and performers who have experienced anxiety, stage fright, or similar symptoms before or during a performance. Topics discussed will include preparation, practice, physical appearance, stage fright, and other aspects of the performance process.

Participants will learn breathing, relaxation, and concentration techniques and the use of movements to enhance musical performance. Up to four participants will be selected by prior agreement to prepare a short musical piece to perform during the workshop.

Pianists will use the Yamaha concert grand piano in the Great Hall. All other musicians must bring their own instruments. Penn Alps is located east of Grantsville on Old Route 40 between exits 19 and 22 of Interstate 68.

Dr. Roldán, a native of Argentina, has been on the faculty of the Peabody Conservatory since 1976. She has appeared numerous times as soloist, accompanist, and ensemble participant for Music at Penn Alps and was the principal organizer of the 2002 International Piano Festival to benefit the Dr. Alta E. Schrock Memorial Fund. She has performed extensively throughout the United States, Europe, and Latin American, and is also renowned as a teacher and clinician.

The workshop is presented and underwritten by Music at Penn Alps Inc. All participants are requested to pre-register. The $25 fee can be paid at the door, but those under 19 may participate at no charge. For information, persons may contact Nancy Salmon at 301-729-4171.

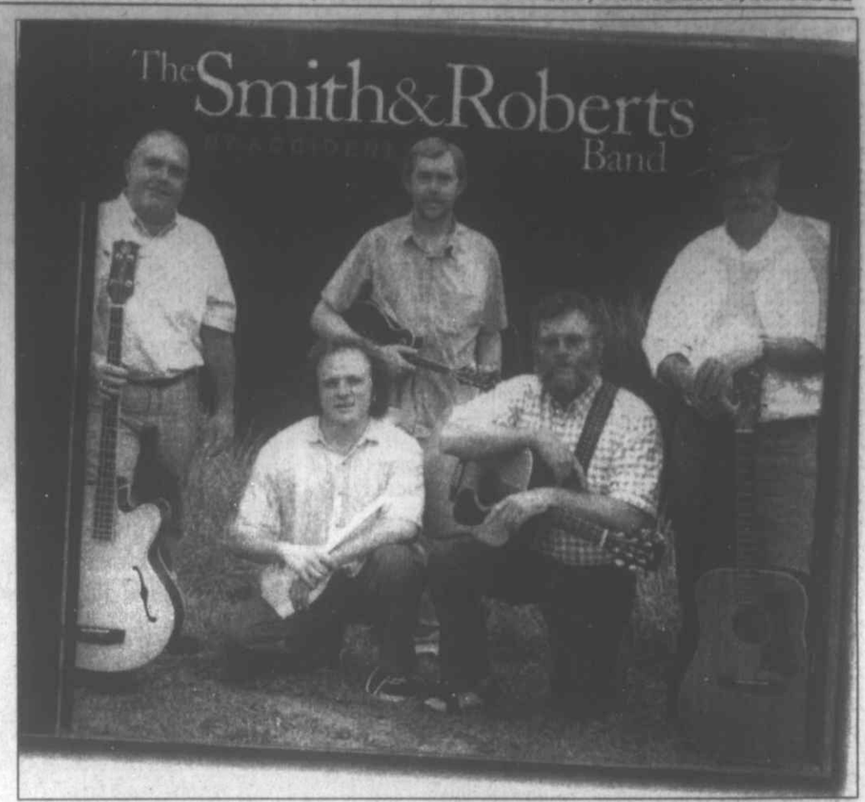
The event will be held Saturday, Nov. 6, from 7 until 11 p.m. at the Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake, and features a silent auction, dinner, dessert, dancing, DJ JonnyRock, and more. Tickets are $35 and are available at Brenda's Pizzeria, Animal Crackers Pet Grooming, and Just Us Hair Salon. Persons who would like to donate items for the Hopefest or help in any way may call Bob Green at 301-746-6144.



SMITH & ROBERTS BAND RELEASES NEW CD – Garrett County music lovers had to wait 25 years for a new recording by noted local talents Rob Smith & Keith Roberts, but one listen to By Accident makes it worth the wait. A dozen original compositions are featured on the disc, which was digitally recorded in Roberts' Accident studio at his Appalachian Land Services Office, and produced in a "grueling mix-down process of six months and hundreds of hours," by Smith in his Friendsville home. "I've given By Accident a good listen for only the third time, but I am already finding fresh licks and lyrical phrases starting to eek into my musical psyche," Annapolis musician and reviewer Don Cosdon wrote this week: "One of the first things that struck me was the 'spare-ness' of the production. If you close your eyes, you can imagine the band right in your living room sounding just as they do on the CD. This may be because Rob Smith mixed and produced all of the songs in his home, and it's a refreshing sound in today's musical world of endless overdubs and double tracks. The CD is a little gem." By Accident can be purchased in downtown Oakland at the Garrett County Arts Council Gallery and the Book Mark'et.

Cloggers Set To Perform During Autumn Glory

The Still Kickin' Cloggers have just been added to the schedule of events during the Autumn Glory Festival. The dancers will perform on the stage in front of the Oakland Train Station at noon on Saturday, Oct. 16.

"Clogging is a distinctive form of American folk dance," noted a group spokesperson. "It can be done to country, folk, swing, bluegrass, or Celtic music. It's a great exercise for both men and women as well as kids. Come watch us dance during Autumn Glory. Better still, join us Thursday evenings at Southern Middle School."

New classes will begin Oct. 21 at 6:30 p.m. at SMS. Beginners' classes last 45 minutes, and the first one is free. The cost after that is nominal.

Anyone wanting more information or to sign up may call Sara Donley at 301-387-0035.

FSU's Season Too! To Present The Piano Lesson

Frostburg State University's Season Too! will present August Wilson's Pulitzer Prize-winning play The Piano Lesson on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 29 and 30, at 8 p.m. in the F. Perry Smith Studio Theatre of the FSU Performing Arts Center.

The play focuses on the Charles family and their elaborately sculpted piano, which has survived in their family for 137 years. The piano has been kept in the basement of Berniece Charles' home and has served as a reminder of the struggles her family has endured. When her brother, Boy Willie, comes to town in an attempt to purchase the land that their family has worked on as slaves, the two siblings encounter a tough decision on whether to sell the piano for money or keep it for the sentimental value it contains. The Piano Lesson is directed by Larin Walker.

All tickets are $5. For reservations and information, persons may call the FSU Theatre box office at 301-687-7462 Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

news, Robert Wayne Shaffer, 38, Meyersdale, Pa., pleaded guilty last week to driving while suspended. Sherbin assessed a $500 fine against him.

Maryland State Police had stopped Shaffer along I-68 for a seatbelt violation in June 2003. A check of his driver's privilege in Pennsylvania showed he was then suspended for failure to pay child support, according to the state's attorney.

In another case, Sherbin reimposed a six-month sentence in the Garrett County Jail for Hugh Everett Fazenbaker's violation of probation. Fazenbaker had pleaded guilty to possession of oxycodone in January, and the court at that time had imposed a six-month suspended sentence.

While on probation, Fazenbaker had incurred a driving under the influence charge in Howard County, and reportedly had tested positive for the continued use of cocaine on a number of occasions, said the state's attorney.

In another court case, a charge of second-degree assault against John Ervin Paugh, 54, Swanton, was placed on the stet docket. Paugh was charged after a complainant alleged Paugh had pointed a gun at him while inside Paugh's residence in April. Conditions attached to this disposition require Paugh not to have contact with the victim, said the state's attorney.

driving under the influence and related charges. She remained incarcerated after this arrest.

Jenkins had entered pleas in the District Court and was sentenced in April by Judge Ralph Burnett to serve five years in the Division of Corrections. Jenkins appealed the judgment, and both cases were sent to Circuit Court. In August, a jury convicted Jenkins of the homicide charge, and she pleaded guilty last week to the second alcohol charge.

Southern Boys Stop 'Cats Before Falling To Campers

It was a .500 week for the Southern High School boys' varsity soccer team this past week, as the Rams topped visiting Westmar on Saturday, 3-1, but were then shut out by host Allegany on Tuesday, 3-0.

The split left the Rams with an overall record of 5-7 and a Western Maryland Interscholastic League mark of 2-6. They will conclude their regular season this evening with a 7:30 match at Northern.

In Saturday's contest with Westmar, Ethan Chorpenning put the first goal in the net for the Rams, scoring unassisted at the 33:48 mark of the first half.

Taylor Crabtree scored an unassisted goal with 21:22 remaining in the half to put the Rams up 2-0.

Westmar's Eric Morris cut Southern's lead in half with an unassisted goal at the 16:45 mark, and the score remained 2-1 the rest of the half.

With 11:07 left in the match, Chucky Burton scored an insurance goal for the Rams, also unassisted.

Southern dominated in shots on goal, finishing with a 30-10 advantage, and also held a 7-2 lead in corner kicks.

Ram goalkeeper Drew Proudfoot was credited with nine saves, and Westmar's Adam Stott turned away 26 of Southern's attempts.

The loss was the 10th in 11 starts for the Wildcats, who are 0-7 in WMIL matches.

The Rams were outgunned by Allegany (4-8, 4-5 WMIL) on Tuesday by a 24-9 margin.

The Campers took a 1-0 lead when Brett Showalter took a feed from John Pande and put the ball in the net with 25:18 left in the first half.

Showalter then recorded an assist, as Austin Persons made it 2-0 with a goal at the 7:39 mark.

The score remained that until the 23:13 mark of the second half, when Alco's Josh Pratte recorded an unassisted goal. It would be the only score of the half.

Proudfoot had nine saves for the Rams, and Garrett Mathews turned away seven of Southern's shots. The Rams finished with a 6-2 advantage in corner kicks.

Husky Booters Whip Alco, Thrash Westmar; Now 8-2

A 4-2 victory over host Allegany last Thursday, followed by a 7-1 thrashing of Westmar in Lonaconing Tuesday night upped the Northern High School boys' varsity record to 8-2 overall and 6-2 in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League standings.

The Huskies will host county rival Southern this evening in a 7:30 contest.

The win over Allegany last Thursday avenged an earlier loss to the Campers. The match was scoreless through most of the first half, but the Huskies put two quick goals on the board in the closing minutes to jump out to a 2-0 halftime advantage.

Gonzalo Velasquez put the Huskies up 1-0 with an unassisted goal at the 2:48 mark, and then with only 1:24 remaining, teammate Matt Beitzel recorded an unassisted goal.

The Campers rallied to knot the score at 2-2 in the second half, as Chris Herath scored on a penalty kick with 27:11 remaining, and then scored again off an assist by Drew Farrell at the 15:53 mark.

About two minutes later, Velasquez scored an unassisted goal, which would prove to be the game-winner.

Tacking on an insurance goal for the Huskies was Chris Speicher, who put the ball into Alco's net unassisted with 5:48 left in the match.

The Huskies finished with a commanding lead in shots, 26-8, and in corner kicks, 12-1.

Credited with 18 saves as Allegany keeper Garrett Mathews, while Chris Fickes had five saves for the Huskies.

The loss dropped the Campers to 3-7 overall and 3-4 in WMIL play.

The Alco jayvee team won the preliminary match, 3-0.

Total domination was displayed Tuesday night by the Huskies against host Westmar, as they out-shot the Wildcats by a 50-6 margin and finished with an 8-0 advantage in corner kicks.

Six different members of Coach Tom Ables' squad scored goals for Northern, with Velasquez finishing with two, plus two assists.

After spotting the Wildcats a 1-0 lead when Jesse Green scored off an assist by Jeremy Raines at the 33:43 mark, the Huskies scored four goals in a span of less than five minutes to take control of the match.

A goal by Speicher off an assist by Velasquez at the 33:14 mark tied the score at 1-1.

Scott Pusateri and Velasquez followed with unassisted goals at the 30:30 and 29:34 marks, and with 28:41 remaining in the half, Derek Cutter connected off a feed by Velasquez to put the Huskies up 4-1. That remained the score until the second half.

Velasquez got his second goal of the night, unassisted, about 10 minutes into the second half of action.

Brian Schlosnagle made it 6-1 with an unassisted goal at the 26:13 mark, and Casey Kamp concluded the scoring for the Huskies and for the night with an unassisted goal with 7:20 remaining.

Fickes recorded three saves in goal for the Huskies, while a busy Adam Stott turned away 30 of the Huskies' shots.

The loss dropped Westmar to 1-11 overall and 0-8 in the WMIL.

After tonight's big clash with Southern, the Huskies will conclude their regular season with a match at Beall next Monday. The jayvee contest will kick off at 6 p.m., and the varsity match will begin at 7:30.

Huskies Blank BW Before Edging Rams in GC Clash

In a battle to determine the county title in girls' soccer, the Northern High School girls edged the visiting Southern girls, 2-1, in a match played Monday.

The Huskies also handed host Bishop Walsh, the area's #2 ranked team, a 3-0 shutout on Saturday.

The victories upped the Huskies' overall record to 7-3 and their Western Maryland Interscholastic League mark to 4-3. The Rams dropped to 4-5-1 overall and 0-5-1 in the WMIL.

Freshman Sarah Voelkel scored a pair of goals for the Huskies in their win over Bishop Walsh, the first of which came off an assist by Brittany Milbourne at about the 18-minute mark of the first half, which gave Northern a 1-0 halftime lead.

Teammate Tiffany Yoder made it 2-0 with an unassisted goal just two minutes into the second half.

Voelkel's second score was off a feed by Britta Lais just about three minutes later. The rest of the match was scoreless defense.

The Huskies finished with a 13-11 edge in shots and a 3-2 lead in corner kicks. Kayla Kipp had seven saves for the Huskies.

The loss dropped BW to 7-7-1.

The match with Southern on Monday was decided by a penalty kick, as the score was knotted at 1-1 when Milbourne put the PK with in the net with about 17 minutes left.

The entire first half was all defense, ending in a 0-0 tie at intermission.

The Rams took a 1-0 lead three minutes into the second half when Lauren Neville scored an unassisted goal.

Milbourne tied it at 1-1 with a goal off an assist by Yoder with about 21 minutes left in the match, and kicked the game winning penalty kick four minutes later to conclude the scoring for the evening.

The Huskies finished with a 15-9 lead in shots on goal, with Ram keeper Jessica Petrella recording seven saves and Northern's Kayla Kipp getting four. Each team had three corner kicks.

The Southern junior varsity girls won the preliminary match, 2-1, behind goals by Julie Swerbinsky and Sarah Hanlin. Scoring for the Northern jayvees was Amy Lander off a feed by Ainsley Raley.

The Huskies are slated to play at Westmar this evening at 6 p.m. (varsity only). They will travel to Fort Hill on Saturday for noon and 1:30 matches, and then wrap up the regular season next Tuesday at Beall (6 and 7:30).

Southern played at Beall last night (see other story).

SHS Girls Nip Westmar, Lose To Huskies And Beall

One victory and two losses were recorded this week by the Southern High School girls' varsity soccer team, as the Rams edged visiting Westmar on Saturday, 2-1, but then dropped matches at Northern on Monday, 2-1, and at Beall last night, 3-1.

The results left Coach Ron Petrella and the Rams with an overall record of 4-6-1.

Corey Lewis scored both of the Rams' goals in Saturday's win over Westmar, both unassisted. Her first came with 22:33 remaining in the first half.

Westmar's Mariah Fitzgerald tied the score at 1-1 with a goal off an assist by Katie Sloan at the 35:45 mark of the second half.

Lewis scored what would be the game winner with 12:39 remaining in the match.

The Rams were out-shot by a 17-10 margin, but Southern keeper Jessica Petrella stopped all but one of the Wildcats' attempts. Rae Fazenbaker had 10 saves for Westmar, which fell to 4-6.

Details of Monday's loss to Northern appear in a separate story.

In last night's match against Beall, the Rams finished with a 17-16 edge in shots on goal and a 7-4 lead in corner kicks, but could not capitalize on those stats.

Brooke Africa gave the Mountaineers (4-4-1) a 1-0 lead with an unassisted goal at the 15:13 mark of the first half.

Southern's Sarah Anderson scored an unassisted goal with 6:49 left in the half to tie the score, but Beall took the lead for good about three minutes later when Kierstin Stevenson scored off a feed by Emily Livingston.

The only goal of the second half was scored by Beall's Jordin Mazer off an assist by Stevenson at the 25:23 mark.

The Rams are scheduled to play again at home on Monday against Fort Hill (5:30 and 7 p.m.) and wrap up their regular season next Wednesday at Allegany (6 and 7:30).

Northern Leaves Bishop Walsh Without A Prayer In 57-10 Romp

The Northern High School varsity football squad shook off a disappointing loss to Allegany the previous week to romp over visiting Bishop Walsh Friday night by a 57-10 margin. Wasting no time in marking their turf, the Huskies rolled to 38 first-quarter points against visiting Bishop Walsh Friday night.

"It was a wake-up call for us," NHS coach Phil Carr said. "Our execution was very good all the way around and we had no fumbles, which were what killed us in the Allegany game." (The Huskies fumbled nine times against Alco, losing possession on five occasions.)

Northern put seven touchdowns on the board in the first half, five in the first quarter alone. Senior halfback Michael Wolf scored first on a six-yard run just 3½ minutes into the contest. A little more than a minute later Wolf, playing in his safety position on defense, picked off a pass attempt by ace Spartan quarterback Chris Hendershot and returned the ball 33 yards for a touchdown.

On its subsequent possession, BW had a shot at a touchdown after a Hendershot connected with Brandon House for a big pass completion, but the NHS defense stiffened and held the guests to a 24-yard field goal that made the score 14-3 at the 5:29 mark.

Northern took what little wind the Spartans had out of their sails just seconds later – 15 to be exact – when on the Huskies' first play from scrimmage Wolf tore off on a 54-yard touchdown scamper. Two minutes went by before NHS quarterback Robert Stark hit Wolf with a 33-yard TD pass, then just over a minute had elapsed when Northern fullback Corey Carr romped into the end zone from 17 yards out – all still in the first quarter.

NHS got another touchdown from Carr early in the second quarter, when he reeled off a 28-yard scoring carry. Wolf capped the first half's scoring barrage with an 18-yard touchdown run. When the halftime gun sounded, the Huskies were up 51-3.

While the Huskies' offense was running wild through the first half, the NHS gravedigger defense was planting Spartans in the turf all over the field. "We told our guys to make the Spartans' receivers pay a price for catching passes across the middle, and we were really popping them with some good hits," said Carr. "By the end of the second quarter their receivers had 'alligator arms' – they weren't extending their arms very far from their body to reach for the ball. That's when we knew we had them where we wanted them."

Northern juggled an array of players through a variety of positions in the second half, and Darrick Lowdermilk closed out the Huskies' scoring with a 17-yard TD run with 7:46 remaining in the third quarter. With one minute remaining in the third stanza, Hendershot put the game's final points on the board with a 3-yard touchdown pass to House.

Wolf led all rushers with 123 yards on eight carries, and scored three touchdowns on the ground, one in the air, and one on the interception return. Corey Carr contributed 88 yards, and Mitch Fost recorded 85 as NHS amassed 433 rushing yards on the night.

Those offensive stats are reflective of the Huskies' entire season. Over its six outings, NHS has averaged 378.5 yards rushing per contest, and 8.2 yards per carry. Individually, Wolf has 936 yards on 74 carries, for a 12.6 average, while sitting out the second half of several contests. Warn has 432 yards on 67 carries.

"We base our offense on the wishbone schemes that the military academy teams use at the college level," Carr explained. "Army, Navy, and Air Force will always be giving away size when they play Division I schools that have the pick of high school recruiting talent. They base their offenses on speed and intelligence, and since we're smaller than most teams we play, we try to do the same thing."

As in years past, that philosophy is paying off in spades. The Huskies have outscored their opponents, on average, by a whopping tally of 44.5 to 15.6.

Northern's gravedigger defense was in fine form Friday night, as the Huskies held one of the best quarterbacks in the area to just 150 yards passing and one touchdown. Wolf and Carr recorded interceptions on defense, and on special teams Nick Payne netted a third pickoff by alertly snagging an attempted pass on a fake punt by the Spartans. Jeremiah Wilt paced the aggressive Northern tackling attack with 11 tackles.

"Our defense was superb against BW's strong passing offense," Coach Carr said. "Coach Frank Ewing came up with a good game plane, and we did some new things for this week on defense that our guys did a great job learning and adjusting to."

The Huskies will have to shift gears again this week, as they go from facing BW's passing-oriented offense to a Beall unit that "loves to hammer you and grind it out, just like we do," said Carr. "If you're an offensive lineman you've got to love this match-up, because there's no doubt that's where the game will be decided. Neither one of us will throw the ball more than five times, and I was joking with the Beall coaches earlier this week that the game could be completed in an hour."

Although last year's state championship runner-up, the Mounties will bring a 1-4 record to the Cove tomorrow night; however, looks can be deceiving. Beall's losses have been to the kingpins of the area, as they've played hard and physical in falling to Alco, North Hagerstown, Frankfort, and Keyser. "This game is going to be a bloodbath, because both teams like to hit and know how to hit," Carr stated.

Beall runs a fairly simple version of the Wishbone offense the Huskies utilize. The Mountaineers' three running backs are junior halfbacks Josh Harper (6-0, 200) and Jimmy Kline (6-0, 180), and sophomore fullback Pat Winebrenner (5-9, 190). "They don't read defenses mid-play as much as we do, they just like to power the ball between the tackles," Carr observed.

Beall operates a defensive scheme that can go into either a 4-3 or 4-4 formation, with lots of blitzing. The aggressive linebacker corps is made up of the three running backs mentioned above, with Winebrenner holding down the middle. The anchor of the Mounties' defensive line is senior defensive tackle Creade Brody (5-9, 220).

"Whoever has the offensive line that can manhandle the opposition defensive line is going to win this one, pure and simple," said Carr.

The Huskies' home field battle with Beall kicks off at 7 p.m. tomorrow evening in the Cove.

Celebrate the glory!

SKEWERING THE SPARTANS were some stout Huskies during Friday night's 57-10 demolition of visiting Bishop Walsh. Northern's gravedigger defense harassed dangerous BW quarterback Chris Hendershot and his receivers all night, knocking the Spartans' vaunted west coast offense off the map. Shown above corralling Hendershot are NHS senior defensive end Jeremiah Wilt (#76), who has the QB in his grasp, and senior defensive tackle Jared Beachy (#78). The Huskies' fifth of their eight touchdowns is shown below, as sophomore fullback Corey Carr (#30) is shown on his way to winning a 28-yard footrace to the end zone with tight end Brock Glotfelty (#81) readying to help mow down a path for his classmate. NHS Sets Senior Night, Gridiron Alumni Events

Tomorrow night's Northern vs. Beall high school varsity football contest will include some special pre- and post-game festivities designed for current and former students.

The evening will open with a 6:30 p.m. Senior Night observance, as Northern's senior football players and marching band members will be recognized for their many hours of practice and performance.

Following the Huskies-Mounties game, which gets under way at 7 p.m., the NHS football program will host a social for all former Northern football players in the school cafeteria. Special recognition will be given to the 1964 Husky squad, which is marking the 40th anniversary of its undefeated season.

Northern fans may wish to note that the game announcers in the booth for every Husky home game are George Edwards and John Braskey, both members of that stellar 1964 NHS team.

Rams Open Strong Against Knights, But Defeated 37-24

It was an outstanding start last Friday night in Kingwood for the Southern High School varsity football team, as the Rams on the first two possessions against the Preston Knights marched right down the field and scored touchdowns.

Both two-point conversion attempts were also good, and the Knights and their fans were stunned to see the Rams on top by a 16-0 margin.

However, that's where the real highlights of the evening ended for the single-A Rams, as the bigger, faster triple-A Knights woke up and ultimately wore down the Rams to record a 37-24 victory.

It was the fourth loss in six games for the Rams, while the Knights, who play an extremely difficult schedule, improved their record to the same mark of 2-4.

Brett DeWitt put the first points of the game on the board when he broke loose on a 58-yard touchdown scamper, crossing the goal line at the 9:53 mark of the first quarter.

Senior quarterback Cory Bosley ran for the conversion to put the Rams up 8-0.

Southern's next possession was capped by a 35-yard touchdown run by Andrew VanBogelen, who also ran for the conversion to make it 16-0 with 2:53 left in the first quarter.

The second quarter belonged to the Knights, who put two of their own touchdowns on the board. A missed conversion attempt on the second score left Southern with a slim 16-14 advantage at halftime.

David Shaffer hauled in a 35-yard touchdown pass from Dane Greaser for Preston's first points of the evening. Greaser passed to Chad Chambers for the two extra points to cut the Rams' lead to 16-8 in the first minute of the quarter.

A 50-yard run by Chambers with just 1:51 left in the first half pulled the Knights to within two points, but the pass for the two-point conversion was no good.

The Rams lost the lead for good at the 9:27 mark of the third period when Greaser fired a 15-yard TD pass to Shaffer. Chambers ran successfully for the conversion to give Preston a 22-16 lead.

The Knights made it 30-16 with a 25-yard scoring run and conversion run by Chambers with 10:39 left in the game.

Chambers then pulled in a 51-yard touchdown pass from Greaser at the 2:32 mark, and a successful conversion kick gave the Knights a commanding 37-16 lead.

The Rams came back for one final touchdown when Bosley connected with Ryan Dewitt on a 16-yard TD pass. Bosley then passed to Brad Reese for the two extra points.

VanBogelen, who had to leave the game because of injury, finished with 107 yards rushing.

Bosley had one of his best-ever passing efforts, completing eight of 11 attempts for 95 yards.

Spearheading the Ram defense was Tyler Graham, who had 12 tackles.

Greaser went seven for 12 in passing for 144 yards.

Maddawgs Take Two From Host Pee Wee Saints

The Northern Maddawgs overpowered the Cumberland Saints 33-14 in A&B squad Pee Wee Football League play over the weekend, while the Maddawgs' C team recorded a 19-7 victory.

The Maddawgs B team started the scoring with a 71-yard touchdown run by Chris Murdock. The A team's Kameron Kamp added a 6-yard touchdown run in the second quarter. Near the end of the stanza Northern embarked on a long drive that put the ball inside the Saints' one-yard line, but time expired leaving the 'Dawgs with a 14-0 halftime lead.

The Saints scored their only points of the game in the third quarter taking the opening possession in for a score. Cumberland's second drive turned into a Northern touchdown when Chris Murdock intercepted a Saint pass and rumbled 35 yards for the score. The saints answered with another touchdown to close out the third quarter scoring at 20-14.

Northern's A team took control of the contest in the fourth quarter. Tyler Bittinger scored on a 12-yard touchdown run before Kamp closed out the scoring with a 26-yard scamper.

Matt Thomas, Jason Opel, Adam Finzel and Garrett Raynor, and Austin Tombley stood out for the A team defense. Tristen Devaulk, Charles Hanek Seth Layton, Tyler Ireland, and Robert Hill were defensive stars for the B team.

Northern's C team outstanding players were cited as Trevon Jones, Aaron Rodeheaver, and Justin Durato each scored touchdowns, C-team defensive stand outs were Meshach Metz, Trevon Jones, Rusty Christner, and Justin Derato.

Northern will host the undefeated Keyser Steelers this Saturday, Oct. 16, at Northern High School. Kickoff is set for 9:30 a.m.

Ram Jayvees Joust Knights In Gridiron Win

Southern High School's junior varsity football squad avenged the varsity's Friday loss to Preston by downing the JV Knights 28-15 Monday night in Oakland. The Rams remain unbeaten with a 5-0-1 record heading into a Monday match-up at Meyersdale.

Preston scored first on a three-yard, first-quarter touchdown carry by Jeff Maine. Both defenses held sway until the third quarter, when Maine exploded for a 63-yard scoring carry that put the Knights up 15-0.

SHS's offense then began grinding out yardage and points in methodical fashion late in the quarter. The Rams got their first touchdown on a 7-yard run by Justin Ratliff. Dean Hoffman snagged a 23-yard touchdown pass from Adam VanBogelen to pull within one, 15-14, as the third stanza came to a close.

In the fourth quarter, Ratliff punched into the end zone on an eight-yard carry that put the Rams ahead for good. The Southern defense put an insurance touchdown on the board when Tommie Reams returned an interception 14 yards for the game's final score.

The Rams' Ratliff tallied 121 yards on 20 carries, in addition to scoring two touchdowns. Top defensive performances were turned in by Reams, defensive end Cody Broadwater, who had five tackles and two sacks, and linebackers John Knox and Eric Pike.

Steelers Shut Out, Shut Down Both CAYFL Ram Units

The Cumberland Area Youth Football League Northern Steelers took on the Oakland Rams Sunday in Oakland, and the Steelers came away with a pair of big wins to close out regular season play. Northern's Division I team claimed a 40-0 victory, while the Steelers' Division II squad walked off with a 38-0 triumph.

In the Division I contest, Nick Graham threw for two touchdowns, Zach Fratz ran for two, and Randy Wiley tallied 104 rushing yards.

Playing at quarterback, Graham helped put Northern on the board with two first-quarter touchdowns, completing scoring strikes of 25 yards to Cal Gillum and five yards to Bobby Wingrove.

In the second quarter Fratz snagged a 49-yard touchdown pass from Wiley, before scoring again on a 48-yard run.

Wiley reeled off a 54-yard touchdown run in the third quarter, and the Steelers got their last touchdown on a nine-yard run by Jared Rodeheaver.

Defensive standouts for Northern were Nathan Payne, Brian Bergham, and Ryan Evans. Oakland's noted performers were Dan Shockey and Ryan Sweitzer.

Northern's Division I squad takes a 5-2 regular season mark into Sunday's first-round playoff battle, a home contest against Frostburg.

Not to be outdone, the Steelers' Division II team scored 38 unanswered points against its Oakland opponent.

Josh Duckworth opened the scoring with a 59-yard run in the first quarter before the Steelers took the Rams to the woodshed with three second-stanza TDs. Ted Linton scored on a five-yard carry, Duckworth carried the ball in from 10 yards out, and Linton gathered in a 43-yard scoring strike from Duckworth to put Northern up 26-0 at the half.

In the third quarter, Duckworth found the end zone from six yards out before Linton rumbled 42 yards for the Steelers' sixth and final touchdown.

Rams Open

Rams trailed in total yards of offense by only a 326-290 margin.

"We came out ready to play and executed very well," said Ram head coach Fred Gregg. "But they soon began to wear us down with their superior size.

"We were extremely pleased with how hard our kids played. Even though Preston is twice as big as Southern, and we were definitely out-matched in terms of speed, size, and numbers, our kids really believed they could win the game, which is the attitude we are trying to foster."

The Rams will return home this week to host the Petersburg Vikings, a team that is also carrying a 2-4 record, but like Southern and Preston, against strong competition.

The Vikes' multiple-I offense is led by senior tailback Clifton Alt (5-10, 155) and sophomore fullback Casey Vance (5-10, 205).

"Petersburg also has very good speed, particularly at the skill positions," Gregg said, "and Alt and Vance really give them a nice combination of speed and power out of the backfield."

Their 5-2 monster defensive unit is also led by Vance and senior Adam Crews (5-10, 175) at linebacker spots.

Anchoring both the offensive and defensive line is 6-3, 265-pound senior Zach Poland.

"Size-wise we are pretty close to Petersburg, but they have more speed than we do," Gregg said. "The keys for us defensively will be to keep them contained and not let their backs get into the open. If they do, we are going to have a lot of trouble catching them.

"Offensively, we will need to run right at them, and our line is going to have to control things. We can't out-run them on the perimeter.

"We also plan to put the ball in the air, because our passing game is really pretty good right now," he said.

The game at Preston last Friday cost the Rams more than a notch in the loss column, as one of the team leaders was lost for the season, and two others are listed by Gregg as "very questionable" for Friday night.

Senior defensive end J.D. Plank played his last game for the Rams, as he is reportedly out with a knee injury. The "very questionables" are #1 running back Andrew VanBogelen and 230-pound junior lineman Rick Wotring.

"I just hate losing J.D.," Gregg said. "He's a very good player who has worked so hard and has literally done everything we have asked him to do.

"It's a little too early to tell about Andrew and Rick, but as of today (Wednesday), neither one had practiced yet this week."

Friday's kickoff is set for 7 p.m.

Runnin' Rams Finish Third, Fourth In Area Championships

In cross country competition this past week, the Runnin' Rams of Southern High School vied in the Area Meet last Thursday at Rocky Gap State Park near Cumberland and then hosted Tucker County and University in a home meet on Monday.

In the Area Meet, the Southern girls placed third among nine teams, while the Southern boys' squad finished fourth among 10 teams.

Sarah Cosner, who led the SHS girls, and Derek Upperman, pacing the Ram boys, were both named to the All-Area team for finishing among the top runners.

The Southern girls finished with 71 points, second only to team winner Keyser with 26 points and runner-up Frankfort with 40. Fort Hill was fourth with 99 points, followed by Hampshire with 108, Allegany, Calvary, Pendleton County, and Westmar, all with incomplete scores.

Cosner placed 10th individually, recording a time of 22:12. Elizabeth Thayer, Courtney DiSimone, and Melinda Smith finished 18th, 19th, and 20th, respectively, while Emily Bowman was 25th, Krista Hanline finished 31st, and Rikkilee Rose was 35th.

Allegany's Lauren MacFawn was the fastest female runner of the day, finishing with a time of 19:20, while Westmar's Jennifer Patton was a distant second at 19:56.

Beall won the boys' team title with 28 points, followed by Frankfort with 44, Keyser with 104, and Southern with 113. Tucker County was fifth with 126, followed by Fort Hill with 142, Hampshire with 155, Allegany with 228, and Calvary and East Hardy with incomplete scores.

Upperman's time of 17:08 was seventh best among the boys. Caiden Shaffer placed 11th in 17:17.

Southern's Andrew Goad was 29th, Mike McConnell placed 32nd, Michael Murphy was 43rd, Tim Preston finished 45th, and Andrew Kight was 53rd.

Dan DeWitt of Beall just broke 16 minutes to win the boys' race, crossing the line in 15:59. His teammates, Scott Bonnette and James Carney, placed second and fourth, respectively.

Both Southern teams were victorious in the tri-meet they hosted on Monday at their Broadford Park trail.

The Southern girls captured the first five individual places, and eight of the top 10 to finish with a best-possible score of 15 team points. University was second with 40 points, while Tucker County had an incomplete score.

Cosner again led the SHS girls and won the race with a time of 23:43. She was followed by Elizabeth Thayer, Courtney DiSimone, Melinda Smith, and Emily Bowman in second through fifth places, respectively.

Krista Hanline was seventh, Rikkilee Rose placed eighth, and Rachael Skipper was ninth.

The Southern boys won with a team score of 32, followed by Tucker County with 37 and University in third with 56.

Caiden Shaffer placed second individually with a time of 18:45 to lead the Rams, while Derek Upperman and Michael Murphy were fifth and sixth, respectively. Michael McConnell placed eighth.

Tucker County's Ian Beckner placed first with a time of 18:28.

The Runnin' Rams, who are coached by Steve Cosner (girls) and Jamie Beeman (boys) will compete again this afternoon in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League championships, to be held in Frostburg.

TAKING THE LEAD in a boys' cross country race hosted by Southern High School's Runnin' Rams Monday at the home course in Broadford Park was Southern's Caiden Shaffer, pictured above right. Shaffer went on to finish second-only to Tucker County's Ian Beckner, who completed the course in 18 minutes, 28 seconds. Shaffer's time was 18:45. The fourth runner back in the photo is Ram Derek Upperman (partially hidden), who placed fifth overall. At right is Southern junior Sarah Cosner, who easily won the girls' race with a time of 23:43. Four of her teammates finished second through fifth, which gave the Rams a perfect team score of 15 points. Besides Southern and Tucker County, University High of Morgantown also competed. Ram, Husky Golfers Link Up; SHS Strides To County Crown

The Southern and Northern high school golf teams met on the Wisp Resort Golf Course last Thursday, Oct. 7, to decide the Garrett County championship and the Rams walked off with a 30-stroke win, 165-195.

SHS's Matt Skidmore took low medalist honors with a 39, while teammate Joe Albert and Northern's Michael Bergstrom were one of that pace with 40s of their own. Southern's Josh Lear carded a 41, and the Huskies' Ben Margroff shot a 46.

Skidmore, Lear, and Bergstrom will be taking part in the upcoming Maryland State Championship Golf Tournament, slated for Monday through Wednesday, Oct. 25-27, at the University of Maryland College Park.

Southern ended its regular season with a 37-4 mark, while NHS finished up at 6-31.

Burner Named All-American Scholar-Athlete

Oakland resident and Frostburg State University junior Megan Burner has been named a National Fastpitch Coaches Association (NFCA) All-American Scholar-Athlete. This is the second year the starting catcher on the Bobcat softball team has earned the honor, which is bestowed to athletes who achieve a minimum 3.5 grade point average

The Frostburg State softball squad was ranked among the top academic teams in NCAA Division III for the 2003-04 academic year, having earned a 3.185 cumulative GPA.

Last season, Frostburg State finished 26-14 overall and won its first Allegheny Mountain Collegiate Conference regular-season title with an 11-1 league mark. The 26 overall victories and 11 conference wins are both school records. The Bobcats finished second in the AMCC Tournament, and earned their first-ever berth in the Eastern College Athletic Conference Southern Region Championship.

Burner is a 2001 graduate of Southern High School, and the daughter of Ronald and Brenda Burner of Oakland.

Lander Helps E-Town College Net Tennis Title

Accident native Heather Lander helped her Elizabethtown College (Pa.) women's tennis team take the 2004 Commonwealth Conference women's tennis championship last weekend. The host E-Town Blue Jays edged conference powerhouse Moravian College, winners of the four previous conference titles, in a come-from-behind 5-4 victory.

Lander played a big part in the thrilling win, as her 6-3, 6-1 victory at No. 5 singles cut a Moravian lead to 4-3 with only the Nos. 1 and 3 singles matches remaining. Elizabethtown took both matches in hard-fought play.

The Blue Jays take a perfect 13-0 record into their final match on their regular schedule, a home court battle with Immaculata College set for this afternoon.

Reeves Named AMCC Women's Player Of Week

Charlena Reeves, a senior at Frostburg State University, was named the Allegheny Mountain Collegiate Conference Women's Tennis Player of the Week for her performance last week.

The 2001 graduate of Southern High School won her first career match last week against Penn State Altoona when she defeated Erica Eckman at #5 singles, 7-5 and 6-0. She followed up that effort with another conference win against Vanessa Clise of Chatham at #5 singles, 6-3, 4-6, and 6-3. The victory helped the Bobcats gain their first team win of the season.

Reeves, who was a three-sport athlete for the Southern Rams, is the daughter of Sheila Reeves, Oakland, and Bill Reeves, Aurora, W.Va.

The Bobcats will play again this Saturday when they host the MCC Women's Championships.

Children's Hoops Clinic Set At GC

A fundamental basketball skills clinic for first through eighth grade girls and boys is slated for Saturday, Oct. 23, at the Garrett College gymnasium in McHenry. A 9 to 10:30 a.m. session is set for first- through fourth-graders, and a 10:30 a.m. to noon session is available for fifth- through eighth-graders.

The clinic is offered by the Laker men's and women's basketball teams. The cost is $15, and each participant will receive a T-shirt.

PLAYS GOLF WITH YOUNG SOCCER PRO — John Andrews, a 1998 graduate of and former soccer player for Southern High School, played golf last month in the third annual United for D.C. Celebrity Tournament in Reston, Va., and among his teammates was Freddy Adu, the youngest major league soccer player in history. It has been quoted that Adu will be the next Pele, famed pro from Brazil. Andrews, pictured left, is a marketing research analyst for Geico Insurance in Washington. "I had a great time playing golf with Freddy," he said. "It was an honor because I'm a big fan of his. He's not what you'd expect from a 16-year-old celebrity. He's very down-to-earth and was constantly apologizing for all of the media that was following us around all day." The tournament, for which Geico Insurance Company is a sponsor, is a fundraiser for the youth of the D.C. area, particularly those who are economically, physically, and/or mentally disadvantaged.

SHS Netters Down Keyser; Drop First Of Year To FH

The Southern High School girls' varsity volleyball team took a 3-2 victory over Keyser Monday before losing its first match of the year in a 3-1 defeat at the hands of arch-rival Fort Hill last night. The action gives the Rams and the Sentinels identical 9-1 overall records, and 7-1 WMIL marks.

Monday's home court outing with the Golden Tornado opened with a 25-14 Keyser win before SHS rallied to take the next two 25-7, 25-18. The guests stormed back with a 25-15 victory, but the Rams prevailed in the deciding battle by a convincing 15-9 margin.

Southern junior Chelsea Wassell tallied eight kills and four blocks, while senior Bethany Steyer netted 13 service points and nine assists. Classmate Kayla Nazelrod recorded 10 points and five kills, fellow senior Sarah Bittinger contributed nine assists and four kills, and Julia Bosley put together a nine-point, four-ace, five-kill performance.

Keyser was led by Aushia Beaver's 14 kills, five assists, and three blocks, while teammate Kayla Smith added 10 points and four assists.

The Southern junior varsity team won 25-16 and 25-11 to also remain unbeaten in nine matches. Sophomore Danielle Daniels had 13 points with six aces, and classmate Natalie Rohrbaugh recorded five assists to lead the Rams.

The atmosphere was at a fever pitch last night in Cumberland as Southern entered the hostile Fort Hill gym to defend its perfect record against the powerhouse Sentinels, who were primed for revenge. The Rams took the first game 25-17, but dropped the next three straight by narrow margins of 25-22, 25-20, and 25-18.

Bosley paced the SHS effort with 13 kills, and 16 points, while sophomore Sarah Stephens turned in seven kills and eight digs. Bittinger and Steyer dished out 14 and 12 assists, respectively.

Tracie Guthrie had 15 kills and three blocks, and Natalie Athey 14 service points and 12 digs to lead Fort Hill. Lauren Mouse tallied 26 assists and four kills.

Southern's JV squad also sustained its first defeat of the year, dropping 25-19 and 25-9 games to the host Sentinels. Amberly Lewis had six points and two aces for the Rams, while Leann Greise had 10 points and three kills for FH.

The Rams have two home matches this week, as they host Frankfort Monday and cross-county rival Northern Wednesday. Jayvee play begins at 6 p.m., with varsity action set to follow at approximately 7 p.m.

SOUTHERN SENIOR/ ALUMNI NIGHT

That upcoming Wednesday battle with Northern will also feature a salute to current and former Southern volleyball athletes with Senior Recognition Night and Alumni Night festivities. All former players and coaches are invited, and the Ram volleyball program will host a reception in the cafeteria after the game.

There will be no admission charge for SHS volleyball alumni for that contest.

The Northern High School girls' varsity volleyball team downed Allegany last night in a 3-2, come-from-behind thriller that left both teams exhausted after five superbly played contests.

Alco took the first game, 25-21, in a hard-fought battle that set the tone for the entire evening. NHS evened it up with a 25-20 win before the Campers squeaked out a 27-25 victory in the third contest. With their backs to the wall, the Huskies responded with a match-tying 25-22 victory. Northern claimed the fifth game, and the match, with a 15-9 nightcap victory.

NHS senior Lakin Weimer had 26 attacks, four kills, and eight points, while junior Keri Bachtel netted 14 attacks and three kills. Classmate Angie Umble tallied 11 points and eight attacks, and fellow junior Jessica Fratz contributed 11 points.

Allegany was led by Kylie Foster's 20 service points and one ace, while Justice Hoban recorded 15 service points, 10 hits, four kills and 32 assists.

Northern's junior varsity squad dropped a 2-1 match, despite freshman Emily Rosser's 10-point tally and six points from classmate Danielle Brenneman. Kelsey Hayes paced the Campers with 10 service points and one ace, and teammate Taunia Philips recorded 15 points and five aces.

The Huskies have just one outing on their slate this coming week, a Wednesday road trip to Oakland to take on the Southern Rams. The junior varsity squads square off at 6 p.m., with varsity play following at approximately 7 p.m.

Southern Band Wins Another Group I Title

Competing in a United States Scholastic Band Association tournament at Francis Scott Key High School in Union Bridge on Saturday, the Southern Garrett Marching Band captured another first place in the Group I division.

The local band earned a score of 74.65 to win the division and place third overall in the competition, which featured bands in four divisions. Southern also captured the Best Color Guard, Best Music, Best Drill Placement, and Best Marching specialty awards.

The only bands in the entire competition that placed higher than Southern were Atholton High School from Columbia with a top score of 78.25, and Centennial High School, a Group IV band also from Columbia, in second place with a score of 75.05.

Duane Salisbury, assistant director of the Southern band, is the former director of the Atholton band, which has been one of the top programs in the state for a number of years.

"It was a real honor for our students to place so well among programs that are of the quality of Atholton's and Centennial's," Salisbury said. "Mr. [Rick] Clever (SHS director) and I, along with the rest of the staff, remain very pleased with the team effort we are getting, from the color guard, to the drum line, percussion pit, woodwind, and brass players, to the managers, boosters, and teaching staff.

"We look forward to future competitions with great excitement and anticipation," he added.

Southern's 2004 show, the theme of which is the movie Pirates of Caribbean, can be seen locally this Saturday evening when the SHS Band Boosters host their annual Western Maryland Tournament of Bands, held in conjunction with the 37th annual Autumn Glory Festival. The tournament, which will feature a record-number 19 bands this year, will begin at 6 p.m. at the Southern High School athletic field.

LEMLEY EVENT BENEFITS COMMUNITY – The seventh annual Al Lemley Memorial Golf Tournament, held recently at the Oakland Golf Club, raised $15,800 for local non-profit community service organizations. Over the past seven years, this event has raised $75,000 for local charities. These five photos show tournament organizer Jeanne Lemley, widow of Al Lemley, distributing the proceeds to representatives of the following organizations of her choice. The above left photo shows Lemley presenting a check in the amount of $2,635 to Jay Kesner, chief of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad. In the above middle photo, Lemley presents a check in the amount of $5,270 to Kathy Greaser of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Foundation. Above right, John Feather, chief of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department, accepts a check of $2,635. Barry Beal, chief of the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad, accepts a check for $2,635 in the bottom left photo. At the bottom right, Mike Phillippi, chief of Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company, accepts a check for the same amount.

with little or no vaccine, depending solely on which manufacturer health providers in those areas placed their orders. The Maryland Association of County Health Officers has been working with state Health Department officials to redistribute a portion of the vaccine in the public health sector so that no jurisdiction is without vaccine to address the most vulnerable populations.

The situation in Garrett County is compounded, Glotfelty said, because several private physician groups and practices, as well as local nursing homes, are without a supply of vaccine. Additional vaccine may be made available by the other United States supplier, Aventis, by reallocating their remaining supply to facilities that had ordered from Chiron, but state officials are waiting to hear the details of that plan.

The health department has been working cooperatively with Garrett County Memorial Hospital and several local physicians to assure that the supply of vaccine on hand reaches those in the highest priority groups. "Our first priority will be to assure that health care workers with direct patient care duties, and residents of our long-term care facilities receive vaccinations. Because normally healthy individuals are being asked to forgo or delay vaccinations this year, there will also be a limited supply of vaccine available for individuals in the community that fall into a high-risk group. I am impressed with the response from local employers and employee groups that have agreed to forgo immunization this year to help our most vulnerable individuals receive the vaccine," said Glotfelty.

To increase the available vaccine supply for the priority groups, health department employees who are healthy and are not involved with direct patient care will not be receiving vaccines this year. Hospital employees who do not have contact with patients are being asked to forgo immunization this year as well.

"While we do not yet know how bad this flu season will be," Glotfelty continued, "there are measures individuals can take to reduce their risk of getting ill or spreading the disease to others." Because flu is easily spread through coughing, sneezing, and simple hand contact, individuals can practice the basics in flu prevention such as frequent hand washing, covering the nose and mouth when sneezing or coughing, staying at home when ill, keeping children home from school when ill, avoiding close contact with individuals who have flu symptoms, and avoiding touching nose, eyes, or mouth if hands become contaminated with germs. Individuals with flu germs. Individuals with flu symptoms should stay at home, get plenty of rest, drink plenty of fluids, and see their physician if symptoms persist.

The health department will continue to provide the latest information about the flu situation through the web site at the above address.

Who Should Be Vaccinated With the Flu Shot This Season

Priority groups for vaccination with inactivated influenza vaccine this season are:

1. All children ages 6-23 months,
2. Adults ages >65 years,
3. Persons ages 2-64 years with underlying chronic medical conditions,
4. All women who will be pregnant during influenza season,
5. Residents of nursing homes and long-term care facilities,
6. Children 6 months to 18 years of age on chronic aspirin therapy,
7. Health-care workers with direct patient care, and
8. Out-of-home caregivers and household contacts of children ages < 6 months.

PAWS Photo Contest Winners Are Announced

Partners for Animal Welfare and Safety (PAWS) announced the winners of the 2004 PAWS Photo Contest during a special ceremony at the third annual Volkswaggle celebration, held last week. A photograph taken by Jeannette Z. Hunt, Ridgeley, W.Va., was chosen from among 206 entries to win the $125 Best of Show Award, sponsored for the second year by Naylor's Hardware. The winning photograph is now on the cover of the newly published 2005 PAWS Calendar. The picture was entered in the "Quiet Moments" category (see photo).

The other three categories in the contest were "Clowning Around," "Pets and People," and "At Work and Play." In each category, winners received $100 for first place, $50 for second, and $25 for third. Judges for the photo contest were photographer Guy Hinebaugh and members of the PAWS organization.

In addition to Hunt, the winners of the contest were as follows: "At Work and Play" (32 entries): Leslie Omenitsch, Bethesda, first place; Timothy DeWitt, Philippi, W.Va., second; and Holly Huxford, Oakland, third.

"Clowning Around" (47 entries): Hazel Stewart, Oakland, first; Michelle Kelbaugh, Cockeysville, second; and Harry S. White, Grafton, W.Va., third.

"Pets and People" (46 entries): Debra Henry, Charlestown, Mass., first; Brittany Upole, Terra Alta, W.Va., second; and Michelle Dordevic, Cumberland, third.

"Quiet Moments" (81 entries): Benjamin Knepp, Oakland, first; Colleen Garrett, Woodsboro, second; and Michael A. Harper, Reedsville, W.Va., third.

For the third year in a row PAWS has published a calendar featuring all the winning photos of the contest. The 2005 calendar was unveiled at the Volkswaggle fundraiser. It will be on sale from now through Jan. 1, 2005, at the following locations:

The Book Market and Gregg's Pharmacy in Oakland, Bill's Outdoor Center at Deep Creek Lake, School House Earth at Hoyes, Cobblestone Alley Gift Shoppe in McHenry, Animal Crackers Grooming in Accident, and Muttworks and Fernwood Soaps in Grantsville.

Calendar order forms are available from the organization's web site at www.garrettpaws.org for those wishing to order by mail. They will also be sold during this weekend's Autumn Glory Festival.

The cost of the calendars is $8, with all proceeds to go toward animal welfare in Garrett County by supporting the humane education and spay/neuter programs of PAWS.

A spokesperson for the group expressed gratitude to all who entered the photo contest and all the advertisers in the 2005 calendar.

Del. Edwards To Speak For Bush In FSU Debate

While the third and final debate between President George Bush and Senator John Kerry took place last night in Arizona, there will be one more "Bush-Kerry" debate held next Monday, Oct. 18, at Frostburg State University.

Representing President Bush in the 7 p.m. event, to be held in the Pealer Recital Hall, will be Delegate George Edwards of Grantsville, while Senator Kerry will be represented by Dan Rupli, Maryland state field coordinator for the Kerry-Edwards campaign.

The program is being sponsored by the FSU History and Political Science departments. Members of the panel that will present the questions will consist of Don Sincell, editor of The Republican newspaper; Richard Kerns, editorial page editor of the Cumberland Times-News; Tony Wisniewski, associate editor of FSU's student newspaper, The Bottom Line; and Justin Quissenberry of Hagerstown TV 25. They will ask questions of the "candidates" in two general areas: domestic issues and foreign affairs/security.

Serving as moderator will be Steve Simpson, provost of FSU.

The debate, which is open to the public, will last 1½ hours, according to John B. Wiseman, FSU professor of history and coordinator of the debate.

Speakers Bureau Available Through The Dove Center

The Dove Center, a local resource addressing domestic violence and sexual assault, has a Speakers Bureau available to community groups. The Speakers Bureau is an outreach program designed to share information on domestic violence and related topics with agencies, schools, club, organizations, or church groups.

"We believe that when persons have more information available to them they can be better equipped to make wise choices that will impact their future," said a spokesperson. "Our goal is to make that information more readily available to all."

The following topics are currently available for presentation: Overview of Dove Center Services; What is Domestic Violence?; The Cycle of Violence; Sexual Assault; Rape; Teen Safety; Elder Abuse; Are You Abusive?; Abuser Intervention Program; Healthy Relationships; Alcohol, Drugs, and Date Rape; Are you a Male Victim of Abuse?; Sexual Harassment in the Workplace; Warning Signs of an Abusive Relationship; How to Help a Friend in an Abusive Situation; and Safety Planning.

Other topics may be available upon request as well. All presentations can be tailored to the group's specific needs and topics can be presented individually or in combination with others.

Persons may contact the Dove Center at 301-334-6255 to schedule a presentation or for individual or group counseling.

GCMH CELEBRATES MATERIALS MANAGEMENT WEEK – Garrett County Memorial Hospital recently honored employees from its Materials Management Department as part of National Healthcare and Materials Management Week. The GCMH Materials Management Department is responsible for all the ordering and receiving of all items and equipment for the hospital. They also maintain an inventory of over 4,000 different items in the hospital's storeroom, according to a GCMH spokesperson. Materials management supervisor Sandy Kulak also serves as chairperson of the Product Standardization/Evaluation Committee, which evaluates new products for quality, safety, efficiency, and cost effectiveness. "Our department is responsible for ensuring that all purchases are centrally controlled," Kulak said. "Materials Management strives to provide GCMH with quality products at a cost that is most beneficial to the institution." Pictured, left to right, are members of the GCMH materials management staff: materials technicians Donna Dawson, Robin Simms, and Janet Hinebaugh; buyer Diane Frederick; and Kulak.

STUDENTS HONORED AT DENNETT ROAD – Students at Dennett Road Elementary School were honored as Character Education Students of the Month for September. These students were honored for displaying self-discipline. In the front, from the left, are Bethany Rush, Matthew McCullough, Logan Cvetnick, Jaquelyn Rowan, and Andrea Kimble. In the second row are Tess Watson, Cody Murphy, Acie Friend, Tonya Sanders, Torey Moats, and Kelly Maffett. In the third row are Amber Glotfelty, Derek Hinebaugh, Jaxon Schwab, and Andrew Cvetnick. In the third are J.P. Payne, Rachel Reichard, and Sammantha Bessey. In the back is Joshua Viar. Absent from the photo were Brandon Mersing, Brooklyn Flanagan, and Brooke Martin.

EVELYN HEISE NAMED GOLDEN AMBASSADOR – Evelyn Heise, who has helped in numerous efforts of increasing tourism in Garrett County, was named the Honorary Golden Ambassador for the 37th annual Autumn Glory Festival. She was born in Terra Alta, W.Va., and moved to Garrett County at the age of 19. She was involved as a volunteer with the early stages of the promotion council and helped answer the phones and coordinate visitor's accommodations. She also helped formalize the entity of the promotion council, now known as the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, and was on the board of directors for many years. Heise also helped in the early years of Autumn Glory by greeting the passengers getting off the train in Oakland, and helped with other trains that carried skiers to the newly developed Wisp in the 1950s. The announcement was made at last night's kick off event held at the Wisp, with close to 300 people in attendance. She is pictured above with several of the previous Honorary Golden Ambassadors. From the left are Jerry Thayer, Karen Myers, John Marple, Asa McCain, Helmuth Heise, Randy Rodeheaver, Ernie Gregg, Evelyn Heise, Jerry Geisler, and Jeff McCauley. Heise will be the guest of honor at many of this weekend's festivities.

SWAN MEADOW CHALLENGES OTHER SCHOOLS IN MATH – Swan Meadow School is challenging all math departments in the Garrett County school system to win first place in this year's Harvest for the Hungry "Kids Helping Kids" Food Drive. As an incentive, Swan Meadow School has donated $20 to each participating math department. Last year, Swan Meadow was recognized as the top small school in Maryland by collecting the most pounds per student and received $200 for its efforts. This is being used as the incentive money for the schools. Amy Piper-McConnell, who is the AmeriCorps coordinator at Garrett County Community Action, is organizing the project. For more information, persons may contact 301-334-9431, ext. 132. A majority of the schools have accepted the challenge, but only a few were available for a photo. In the front, from the left, are Piper-McConnell; Amy Flanigan, Broad Ford Elementary; and Arlene Lantz, Southern Middle. In the back are James Friend, Friendsville; Erica Foley, Southern Middle and Broad Ford; Jessica Fratz and Danielle Hazelwood, both of Broad Ford; and Jarrod Hauser, Friendsville.

GATORS DISPLAY SELF-CONTROL – Students at Yough Glades Elementary School were recently honored for August and September for displaying the character trait of self-control. In the front, from the left, are Lauren Moon, Darren Cosner, and Jessica Thayer. In the middle are Paul Wilt, Katelyn Collins, Amy Skidmore, and Bryanna Wilson. In the back are David Dilley, Tasha Vansickle, Tiffani Tasker, Tayler Roth, Michaela Bosley, and Scott Cooper.

Ask The Everyday Scientist

by Dr. Thomas P. Sheahen

FROST & FOG

Q. How can there be both frost and fog on the same morning?

A. This is one of those unusual weather conditions which (in our climate) can only happen in October. The conditions have to be just right – in a narrow band of temperature and atmospheric conditions – for this to happen.

Ordinary frost is easy to understand: On a cold night, radiation from objects on the ground lowers their temperature below freezing (32 F), the surrounding air likewise cools, and when water in the air contacts a cold surface (like an automobile), it turns to ice. Get out the scraper in the early morning.

Ordinary fog in the morning is somewhat similar: The surface (either ground or lake water) reaches a fairly warm temperature the previous afternoon. Then a cold night comes along. Even though the air is cold, the surface (perhaps lake water) is still warmer all night long, and so water evaporates from the surface. At a cold temperature, the air may easily become saturated with water vapor, and the humidity rises to 100% locally. When more molecules enter the region of cold air (just a couple feet above the water surface) they soon condense into tiny droplets, making fog. Actually, fog is nothing but a cloud at ground level.

If a wind comes along, it can blow the fog away. But in the absence of wind, the fog sits still until early morning. When the sun comes up and starts to warm the surface, the zone of warm air just above it increases in size, and we say the fog "lifts." The condensed water droplets are all gone by mid morning, and the sky is clear and blue once again.

So how do you get both? You need to have one surface that cools rapidly (the metal of an auto will do) and another surface that retains its warmth (lake water, pavement, etc.). With the air temperature a bit below 32 F very early in the morning, and a warm lake nearby, you'll get plenty of water molecules evaporating into the air, condensing into droplets (fog). A small fraction of that moisture will freeze out onto the cold surface. Standing around a boat dock in the morning, you can find frost on the boat cover (made of canvas) when there is fog all around.

During the hours when the water is substantially warmer than the air, continuing evaporation will contribute more water molecules to the air, and the fog will be sustained. Instead of the fog "lifting" around 8 a.m., it might take until 9:30. But eventually, sunlight warming the surface wins out, the air temperature begins to rise above the dew point, and the fog fades away. By that time, the frost will have melted off your automobile windows as well.

GC's "College And Me" Program Rolls Out Red Carpet For Youth

by Joan Crawford

For the 16th year, the smiling faces of fifth grade students in the College and Me program are brightening the halls and classrooms of Garrett College. Although the schedule the young students follow and the classes they take are similar to those of other years, there are some new aspects to the program this year.

Most noticeable is the new coordinator of the program this year, Joseph Winters, who has worked for the Garrett County Board of Education as a classroom teacher and an administrator for almost 40 years. From 1979 to 2003, he was coordinator of the Hickory Environmental Education Center. Winters says of the College and Me program, "It is a valuable experience for the young students to have outside of their schools. They become familiar with the college, and they have great enrichment activities with hands-on components."

Another "new" aspect of the program is that one of the classes for the fifth graders is being taught by two Garrett College students. Chad Messerly and Amo Oliverio have teamed up to teach the Natural Resources/Wildlife class that meets every Monday. Scott Richardson, a graduate of the Adventure Sports program, is teaching the Adventure Sports class.

Other classes and their instructors are: Rivers and River Safety, Mike Logsdon; Library Treasure Hunt, Linda Tomblin; Health Careers, Lynette Sines; Biology, Carolyn Deniker; Art, Edna Bender; Math Think, Linda May; Computers, Terry Beachy; Music, Sue Abe; Origami, Vicki Teets; and Theatre, Ben Sincell.

At the end of their four-day college experience, fifth grade students are asked to evaluate the program, and to rate their classes on a scale of 1 to 5. As Winters shared the evaluations by the students of Bloomington and Kitzmiller schools, who were the first ones to come to campus this year, it was evident that they enjoyed their classes. There was an overwhelming number of 5s. One student even wrote, "I don't have a least favorite class."

As in years past, parents are invited to College and Me when they can attend class and have lunch with their child.

On Thursday of each week, every student receives a College and Me T-shirt with a new logo designed by the sponsors, First United Bank and Trust, Jason Rush, and the Print Shoppe. According to Winters, a total of 360 students will participate in College and Me this year.

FROM SMALL THINGS, BIG THINGS COME – These youngsters are among the 360 local elementary school students taking part in the annual College and Me program at Garrett College. For 16 years, local fifth graders have been "scoping out" possibilities for their futures during the four-day college experience program, which has drawn rave reviews from participants and their parents and teachers. Tephabock Named W.Va. Regional Director For ACS

Kevin Tephabock has been named the regional executive director for the state of West Virginia by the American Cancer Society, South Atlantic Division. In his new role, he will be responsible for income development and cancer control priorities for all 55 counties in West Virginia.

Tephabock, a 1979 graduate of Southern High School, began his career with the American Cancer Society in 1997 as a community specialist in the Cumberland office. In Cumberland, his work with volunteers saw the introduction of Relay for Life and cancer programs to a number of counties in West Virginia and to Allegany and Garrett counties in Maryland.

In 1999, he was promoted to income manager where he was responsible for an income development budget of $1.9 million in 24 counties in West Virginia and two counties in Maryland. He served on the Mid-Atlantic Relay for Life Task Force from 1998 to 2002, and in 2003 was chosen to the Staff Leadership Development Program of Excellence.

Prior to his work with the American Cancer Society, Tephabock resided in North Carolina, where former Gov. Jim Hunt recognized him for his volunteer work with HIV and AIDS and the American Red Cross.

Tephabock holds degrees form Garrett Community College and West Virginia University. He is currently pursuing his master's degree at Marshall University.

Zion Lutheran Women Set To Hold Fall Bazaar

The women of Zion Lutheran Church, Accident, are sponsoring a fall bazaar on Saturday, Oct. 23, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Lunch will be served the entire time.

Arts and crafts, quilts, comforters, woven rugs, holiday items, baked goods, homemade soup, and homemade sauerkraut will be sold. Parking is available behind the church. Handicapped-accessible entrances are located in the front off Rt. 219.

The public is invited to attend.

Huxford Chosen For Leadership Howard County

Krysta S. Huxford, regional campaign director of United Way of Central Maryland, was among the list of participates recently chosen for the Leadership Howard County 2004-05 Program, according to an announcement by Susan M. Rosenbaum, chairman of the board of directors.

Huxford is the daughter of Marshall and Cindy Stacy, Swanton. She is a graduate of Southern High School and McDaniel College, formerly Western Maryland College.

"The selection of these outstanding participants was a difficult task," said Rosenbaum. "Howard County is blessed with a wealth of talented and committed people. The candidates who are selected for this program reflect a balance of interests and backgrounds, bringing an array of perspectives, talents, and resources to the class.

"We are very pleased that these individuals and their respective organizations are making this commitment to enhancing the pool of leadership talent here in Howard County."

The leadership program was launched in 1985 to develop capable, well-informed individuals committed to formulating plans for community improvement. The program addresses countywide issues in monthly, daylong seminars where these concerned citizens meet with established leaders in business, government, and community services.

For more information on Leadership Howard County, persons may call Stacie Hunt Irish at 410-730-4474 or visit www.-leadership.org.

Richter Named Student Advisor At Susquehanna

Kathryn Richter has been named a student advisor for the class of 2008 at Susquehanna University.

As part of the orientation team, student advisors are upper-class students who act as mentors to first-year students. They assist new students during orientation and throughout the first semester with registration, study hints, and answering questions about life at the university.

Richter, a junior biology major, is a 2002 graduate of Southern High School. She is the daughter of Donald Richter and Sheila Edwards.

Rev. Whidden To Serve As Speaker At Revival Services

Revival services will be held at the Deep Creek Baptist Church this Sunday, Oct. 17, at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m., through Wednesday, Oct. 20, at 7 p.m. nightly, with the Rev. Mitch Whidden Jr. as guest speaker.

Whidden is the current pastor at Central Baptist Church in Paoli, Ind., and is attending Boyce College of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary.

BANQUET 400 REVIEW

Way to go, JOE

Chase competitors stay out of the mix as Nemechek rolls

By RICK MINTER
Cox News Service

Kansas City, Kan.

The 10 contenders for the Chase for the Nextel Cup rode in the back seat during Sunday's Banquet 400 at Kansas Speedway, gathering more attention for their misfortunes than for their successes.

For the first time in four Chase races, the day belonged to the also-rans, those outside the top 10 in points.

Joe Nemechek, driving for a team and a crew chief that had never won a Cup race, beat resurgent Ricky Rudd, who chased down Nemechek in the closing laps and briefly took the lead before finishing second by a margin of .081 seconds.

Another non-Chase driver, Greg Biffle, appeared to have the fastest car and led four times for 64 laps. He was shuffled to the middle of the pack during a late-race round of pit stops but drove his way back to third at the end. Chase contenders Elliott Sadler and Jeremy Mayfield completed the top five.

Two Chase drivers, Jimmie Johnson and Ryan Newman, put themselves on the brink of elimination when they wrecked their cars in separate crashes. Both fell more than 230 points behind leader Kurt Busch, who finished sixth and boosted his lead from 12 to 29 points over runner-up Dale Earnhardt Jr., who was ninth.

Busch came close to disaster when he spun on Lap 152, but escaped with no damage to his car.

He said he was driving too aggressively, something he must avoid if he is to remain at the top of the standings.

"It is the key to dodge an event like that," Busch said.

Rudd said he hopes his performance and the performance of winner Nemechek aren't overshadowed by coverage of the Chase.

"Hopefully Joe Nemechek was mentioned [on TV]," Rudd said. "Journalism and television ought to [show] the same things the fans sitting in the stands saw."

Nemechek also won Saturday's Busch race, completing a double at Kansas Speedway. His victory Sunday gave his team and crew chief Ryan Pemberton their first Cup win. Nemechek said he was afraid his team's achievement might get ignored amid all the Chase hoopla.

"Only time will tell how all this works," he said. "But you have to take care of all sponsors in this sport or they won't be here, and you won't have a full field of cars."

The show Nemechek and Rudd put on at Kansas was hard for anyone to ignore.

Both drivers gambled and stayed on the track for the final 67 laps, hoping their fuel wouldn't run out, while Biffle and the rest of the leaders dropped to midpack when they stopped for gas 10 laps later.

As Biffle charged through traffic, Rudd tried to pass Nemechek, making one last desperate bid to the inside as the two charged toward the checkered flag.

Even though he didn't win, Rudd's run was a major boost for his Wood Brothers team, which has thrived since crew chief Michael "Fatback" McSwain and engineer Hoyt Overbagh came to work in midseason.

Team co-owner Len Wood, who remembers the days when his team's cars dominated the superspeedways with drivers like David Pearson and Cale Yarborough, was obviously pleased with the turnaround.

"We're tickled to be back on the right track," Wood said. "We know this team can perform at this level. We've just got to start doing it week-in and week-out."

He said watching his No. 21 Ford make a late-race dash for the checkered flag resurrected a familiar feeling.

"It brought back butterflies that I hadn't felt in a while," he said.

Nemechek boss dashes to track

By RICK MINTER
Cox News Service

Kansas City, Kan.

Nelson Bowers, co-owner of Joe Nemechek's winning Chevrolet, had to run almost as hard as his driver to make it to Victory Lane at Kansas Speedway.

With 60 laps remaining in the Banquet 400 and Nemechek mired in 14th place, Bowers gave in to the pleadings from his pilot and left the track early so they could beat the traffic.

As Bowers' plane soared eastbound at 10,000 feet, he checked his radio and learned that Nemechek had taken the lead. He immediately ordered the pilot to make a U-turn, and back to Kansas City they flew.

"We landed at the airport, got a rental car and made it to the track just in time to go to the Winner's Circle," Bowers said, adding that the victory eased the frustration of seven years of winless struggle. "It makes it all worthwhile."

Teammates tussle

Tony Stewart and his Joe Gibbs Racing teammate Mike Bliss were taken to NASCAR's version of a rolling woodshed on Sunday.

The two, who raced against each other in Saturday's Busch Series race at Kansas Speedway, were involved in some bumping on the track and an exchange of some sort in the infield after the race.

Stewart, who races for Gibbs in Cup, was driving the No. 81 for Dale Earnhardt Inc., while Bliss is Gibbs' regular Busch driver.

NASCAR spokesman Herb Branham said the sanctioning body met with the drivers in the NASCAR hauler but the incident is still being investigated.

Profanity warning

NASCAR president Mike Helton issued a stern warning about the use of profanity when he addressed the crowd in Sunday's drivers meeting.

Helton said drivers could still face a penalty even though NBC and the radio networks will delay their broadcast so that any profanity can be bleeped out before it hits the airwaves.

"Do not expect that the delay is going to keep you out of trouble," Helton said.

Stewart blasts 'petty' penalty

By RICK MINTER
Cox News Service

Kansas City, Kan.

The old outspoken Tony Stewart showed up at Kansas Speedway Saturday morning ready to pick a fight with political correctness.

After being quiet during the first three races of the Chase for the Nextel Cup championship, Stewart fired an array of verbal barbs, focusing on the penalty NASCAR handed Dale Earnhardt Jr. after his use of profanity at Talladega.

"What happened last week was highly blown out of proportion," Stewart said. "We're starting to nit-pick and scrutinize way too much in this series.

"Since when does something that somebody says have an effect on winning the championship? The last time I checked, we had freedom of speech. Since when did that change?"

Stewart said that Earnhardt's slip didn't affect the outcome of the race, so he shouldn't have been docked 25 points.

"It's been totally unfair to him and his race team what has been assessed of him," said Stewart. He said he is worried about the growing emphasis on political correctness and NASCAR's increasing control of all aspects of the sport.

"Where is this process going to stop?" he said. "What's going to be the next thing? If we don't show up to the car for practice on time are we going to lose 25 points? Where is it realistically going to end?"

The 2002 Cup champion said that even though he has been penalized frequently in the past for his behavior on and off the track, none of his punishments were as severe.

"I've never been punished for anything as petty as that," he said.

Stewart, and others, think the penalty could cost Earnhardt the title.

"If he were to lose the championship by 25 points, I would hide all the sharp objects from him," Stewart said. "I can promise you'd have to for me."

He reiterated his position that NASCAR is an all-powerful organization and he and his fellow drivers are little more than bit players.

"The way to sum up the relationship between NASCAR and the drivers is that we are pawns on a chess board," he said. "We don't make the big moves. We're just the sacrificial lambs. They have their ways of explaining to you very quickly that you can be replaced very, very easily, no matter how popular you are."

At the Busch Series drivers meeting, Stewart repeated his complaints about the Earnhardt situation to NASCAR Vice President Jim Hunter, who said he appreciated Stewart's frankness.

"One thing about Tony Stewart and other drivers is that you always know where they stand on issues, and Tony made it very clear where he stands on [the Earnhardt] issue," Hunter said.

Tony Stewart: Letting off steam.

Jarrett making the best out of '04 season

By RICK MINTER
Cox News Service

Kansas City, Kan.

Dale Jarrett has six more chances to extend his series-leading string of consecutive seasons with at least one victory to 12.

The driver of the No. 88 Ford, who is two seasons ahead of Bobby Labonte in consecutive seasons with a victory, had a strong run at Kansas, which put him closer to that lucrative 11th-place spot in the final standings.

Jarrett's eighth-place finish in the Banquet 400 lifted him to 12th in the standings.

Jarrett remains disappointed he's not competing in the 10-driver, 10-race Chase for the Nextel Cup while his Robert Yates Racing teammate Elliott Sadler is.

"It has been difficult," Jarrett said. "Once you reach a level of success, you get accustomed to that, and you like to think that with the people and the hard work and effort that you won't ever go down that other side."

But Jarrett has seen other good drivers slide down the slippery slope.

"I can understand that it's out there and can happen to anyone," he said. "It's helped me somewhat knowing that we have sponsors and I have a car owner like Robert Yates that is going to do anything that he possibly can to help us to get back."

4-H Club News

NORTH STAR 4-H
by Kevin Haenftling, reporter

Members of the North Star 4-H group met on Sept. 14 at the Accident Volunteer Fire Department. Roll call was answered by members telling their "greatest achievement at the fair."

Dawn Diven was the guest speaker. She spoke about the scrapbooking crop club. Kevin Haenftling gave a demonstration on gardening; Brett Stanton gave a demonstration on "Journey Into the Imagination"; and Kara Savage gave two demonstrations, one on sport fishing and one on her computer project.

The group took a trip to the recent Springs Folk Festival and will go to the Carnegie Science Center on Oct. 15.

The members decided to serve lunch at the Dean Georg farm auction, which was held Thursday, Sept. 16, and Saturday, Sept. 18. Each member was to bring baked good items.

Kara reported on the fair booth and the Accident townwide yard sale fundraiser. Kevin reported on the Krispy Kreme donut fundraiser. Rachel gave a report on the sale of Beanie Babies at the Garrett County Fair. Kevin, Kara, and Rachel reported on the trip to the corn maze.

Kara took her dairy cows to the Southwest Championship Show, Somerset County Fair, and the qualifying show for Harrisburg, Pa. Brett took his Holstein to the Somerset County Fair. Rachel took her rabbits to the Westmoreland County, Pa., rabbit show and won a trophy for the "best opposite."

Members were reminded that the "Learn by Doing Day" would be held Saturday, Oct. 23, at Garrett College.

RYAN'S GLADE
by Katelyn Gnegy, reporter

Our monthly meeting was Tuesday, Sept. 21, at the community building. Sam Moon of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad came and gave a talk on the history of the rescue squad, as well as giving us information regarding what medics have to do. After his demonstration, we were able to check out the inside of the squad vehicle.

The club gave Moon and Gary Pritts of the Gorman Volunteer Fire Department a donation of $100 each.

Fair reports were give by each member. We had five members attend the Maryland State Fair. Aaron and Lei Lantz showed their goats. Jennifer Steyer and Charise Tasker were on the FFA dairy judging team. Greg Tichnell represented our club in intermediate lawn tractor competition.

Members who worked at the fair corn booth were Randi Bennett, Tara and Dale Marple, Brandon Manko, Nolan Marple, Aaron and Lei Lantz, J.B. and Katelyn Gnegy, and Brittney Sweitzer.

Members who helped with the float and parade were B.J. and Barry Upole, Laura Pritts, Jessica Steyer, Nolan Marple, Greg and Eric Tichnell, Faith and Nathan Tichnell, and Aaron, and Lei Lantz.

Katelyn and J.B. Gnegy, Aaron and Lei Lantz, Brittney Sweitzer, and Amy Kight constructed the 4-H banner, which won first.

Those members working on the 4-H booth were Aaron and Lei Lantz, J.B. and Katelyn Gnegy, Tara and Dale Marple, Jessica and Andrea Steyer, Gary and Zach Pritts, Nathan and Faith Tichnell, Greg and Eric Tichnell, Greg Hartner, Brittney Sweitzer, and Andrew Lucas. Our booth won reserve champion and a conservation award.

Our swimming party at Mt. Storm was rained out; however, a few members were able to attend at another date.

Our club discussed what we would like to do for National 4-H week, Oct. 3-9. Members who did radio spots for "4-H Days" are Lei, Aaron, J.B., Katelyn, Andrea, Jessica, Amy, and Tara. We also toured WKHJ radio station at that time.

4-H Days will be held at Garrett College on Saturday, Oct. 23. This will be a fun activity for all members, as there will be a variety of workshops.

The annual Garrett County Livestock Association meeting was held Oct. 10 at the 4-H Center. Members discussed changing the sale time and sponsoring the rodeo again.

The Autumn Glory Grand Feature parade is Saturday, Oct. 16. We need 4-H'ers to walk in the parade.

Our next meeting will be Tuesday, Oct. 19, at which time officer applications will be due. We will meet at Bill and Charlotte Mousch's home at 7 p.m. for a program regarding cuts of meats.

TRAILBLAZERS
by Sarah Cosner

The monthly meeting of the Trailblazers 4-H Club was held Sept. 16 at Yough Glades Elementary School. Cody Ferguson led pledges, and Melinda Smith read the treasurer's report.

We discussed our projects we took to the fair.

Emily Green handed out the beef raffle tickets from the Extension Office. Our club is also raffling two prizes of ½ hog, which was donated to our 4-H club by Bachtel Enterprises. Hog raffle tickets were handed out for selling by our members. Anyone interested in a hog raffle ticket may contact a Trailblazer 4-H member.

Emily also told us about a pig roast sponsored by North Glade 4-H.

We welcomed three new members into our club: John, Jacob, and George Zimmerman, and Mikal Zimmerman will be our Clover 4-H leader.

Linda Rush presented a program on how to pick the proper beef steer.

The Rushes served refreshments.

The next meeting will be Thursday, Oct. 21, at 7:30 p.m. at Yough Glades Elementary School. Raffle tickets for the hog and the beef must be turned in at that time. Anyone interested in joining 4-H is welcome to attend!

Del. Edwards To Attend Library Board Meeting

Del. George Edwards will attend a Ruth Enlow Library board of trustees meeting on Thursday, Oct. 21, at 4 p.m. in the Grantsville library.

Edwards and the board will discuss library funding, initiatives, and programs.

The meeting is open to the public.

Pa. Historical Society Seeks WWII Veterans

The Turkeyfoot Valley Historical Society (TVHS), based in Confluence, Pa., is seeking World War II veterans from throughout the Turkeyfoot Valley and surrounding area for a WWII book the society is compiling. The TVHS will be hosting oral interview sessions from 1 to 4 p.m. on the Saturdays of Oct. 30 and Nov. 13 at the Confluence Lutheran Church parish hall, where refreshments will be available.

"There are more than 19 million war veterans living in the United States today, but every day we lose 1,700 of them," a TVHS spokesperson said. "Motivated by the urgent need to collect the stories and experiences of war veterans while they are still among us, we are collecting and preserving audio- and video-taped oral histories, along with documentary materials such as letters, diaries, maps, and photographs of all Turkeyfoot area World War II veterans. We encourage veterans and their families to stop in for an interview, and take advantage of the opportunity to share stories and reminisce with other veterans.

For further information, persons may contact the Turkeyfoot Valley Historical Society via e-mail at tfvhs@tfvhs.com.

TV PIPELINE

'CSI: Miami' actor was ready to leave show

By Taylor Michaels
© Zap2it

Q: I'm a huge fan of "CSI: Miami." Why did they kill off Tim "Speed" Speedle (Rory Cochrane)? –Kaitlin via e-mail.

A: It was a mutual decision. A CBS publicist tells me the show's producers didn't decide to kill off the character until Cochrane asked to be released to pursue other projects. He co-stars with Keanu Reeves in the 2005 sci-fi feature film "A Scanner Darkly."

Rory Cochrane

It may seem nuts for a rising young actor to leave a successful series, but in large ensembles such as this one, many actors feel it's best to make an impression and then move on to more distinctive roles. For instance, Bobby Cannavale left NBC's "Third Watch" early on for higher-profile roles in A&E Network's "100 Centre Street," and even more acclaimed work in NBC's "Kingpin" and HBO's "Oz."

And I still have the letter a reader sent me several years ago firmly insisting that George Clooney clearly had lost his mind, leaving a secure job on the female-dominated "Sisters" in favor of a generic-sounding new NBC medical drama called "ER."

Q: Now that the third season of "The Wire" on HBO has premiered, why do you think this series is totally ignored by the Emmys? Its first season far surpassed "The Sopranos" in terms of writing and acting. Please give us your thoughts. –Mary Vidone via e-mail.

A: Two things to note: First, you're asking me to second-guess a totally subjective voting process, so all I can do is speculate. Second, I wholeheartedly agree with you that "The Wire" is superb, award-worthy television, although I think you'd have a fight on your hands getting most critics to agree that it is clearly superior to "The Sopranos."

That said, "The Wire" also is pretty relentlessly dark, even bleak, in its depiction of innocent people caught in an unwinnable war between police and sophisticated criminals. "The Sopranos," "Deadwood" and "Six Feet Under" – three other HBO dramas that certainly have their own darker-than-dark moments – offer flashes of comic relief now and then, which could explain why all three pull in more viewers than "The Wire."

Emmy voters tend to be pretty conservative in their selections. Just ask any fan of "Homicide: Life on the Street" or HBO's "Oz," two other uncompromisingly dark dramas that seldom got their due on awards night.

Still, it's hard to take seriously any awards show that totally ignores fascinating work by "Wire" actors such as Idris Elba (as silky villain Stringer Bell) and several others in this cast. By the way, season one of "The Wire" recently was released on DVD.

Alliance Coal Names Thomas Vice President

Alliance Coal LLC, the operating subsidiary of Alliance Resource Partners L.P. (ARLP), has announced that David Thomas has been named vice president of government affairs, with responsibilities of directing government relations activities at state and federal levels.

Thomas has 25 years of experience working at Mettiki Coal in environmental compliance, human resources, and government relations. He has lobbied for coal interests extensively in Maryland, West Virginia, and Virginia, as well as at the federal level.

He graduated from West Virginia University with a master's degree in agriculture, which was preceded by two bachelor of science degrees, one in animal and veterinary science and another in agriculture. Thomas is also a 1995 graduate of Leadership Maryland a 2000 graduate of Leadership West Virginia.

He currently serves on the executive board of the Maryland Coal Association, and is on the boards of directors of the West Virginia Coal Association, the University of Maryland Center for Environmental Studies, and the Potomac Heritage Partnership in Washington, D.C.

He serves on the advisory boards for Frostburg State University's College of Business and the University of Maryland's Appalachian Environmental Laboratory. Thomas also serves on the Environmental and Workers Compensation committees for the Maryland Chamber of Commerce.

He is active on the Government Affairs Committee for the National Mining Association, the West Virginia Chamber of Commerce Committee, and the West Virginia Coal Association. In 2002, Thomas was also elected to the Garrett County Republican Central Committee.

He will be moving his office to the Alliance Coal office in Lexington, Ky.

Alliance Resource Partners is the nation's only publicly traded master limited partnership involved in the production and marketing of coal, according to Thomas. It currently operates mining complexes in Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, and Maryland.

Friendsville UM Church To Hold Harvest Dinner

The Friendsville United Methodist Church will hold its annual harvest dinner on Saturday, Oct. 23, from 4 to 7 p.m. in the church social room located on Water Street.

The menu will feature turkey, mashed potatoes, gravy, dressing, green beans, sauerkraut, cranberry salad, rolls, dessert, and beverage. Baked items may also be purchased.

Take-outs are available. Cost is $6 for adults and $3 children under 12.

AARP Tax Aide Program Seeks Area Volunteers

AARP Tax Aide, a free volunteer-run tax counseling and preparation service, is seeking volunteers for the local program to learn tax law and help prepare tax returns for middle and low income taxpayers and senior citizens.

AARP Tax Aide volunteers will be trained locally in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service, and are expected to serve at least four hours a week at the Mary Browning Senior Center in Oakland. Volunteers will be reimbursed for mileage to and from the tax site at a given rate or a flat fee of $35 for the period.

Persons interested in volunteering to be a tax aide may call Gerald Gank at 301-334-1323.

Life.
The inspiration for our most flexible loan yet.
M&T CHOICEQUITY
WITH EASY ACCESS TO FIXED-RATE LOANS, IT'S MORE THAN A LINE OF CREDIT.
SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY RATE 3.70% VARIABLE APR* FOR FIRST 6 BILLING CYCLES
REGULAR RATE 4.75% VARIABLE APR* THEREAFTER
Thinking about a new roof? Dreaming about a bigger family car? Need to consolidate your debt? At M&T, we've got a loan that can help you keep up with life. M&T CHOICEquity gives you the flexibility of a line of credit and a loan in one account. Use it as a fixed-rate loan to pay off higher interest credit cards, or keep it as a line of credit to help finance those badly needed home repairs. And with M&T CHOICEquity, you'll only have one monthly payment, with no closing costs or application fee.* Best of all, you never have to reapply – making your life that much easier. To learn more, stop by any M&T Bank branch or call the M&T Telephone Banking Center at 1-800-724-3222.
Understanding what's important: M&T Bank
www.mandtbank.com *Prime -1.05%, currently 3.70% APR, is an introductory rate applicable to the Base Account for the first six billing cycles of the account for a line amount of $25,000 or more. After that, for the life of the line, the regular variable rate for the Base Account will be: Prime +0.95%, currently 5.70% APR, for lines of $25,000 to $39,999; Prime +0%, currently 4.75% APR, for lines of $40,000 to $500,000. For CHOICE Loans the regular fixed APR, based upon term length, is 6.50% APR for 12-36 month terms; 7.00% APR for 37-72 month terms; and 7.50% APR for 73-180 month terms. Rates as of 10/01/04. Maximum APR of 15.00%. Your APR during and after the introductory discount period for the account may vary monthly, based upon changes in the Prime Rate, which is the highest rate published by the Wall Street Journal in its "Money Rates" table. Once a CHOICE Loan is established, the APR for that CHOICE Loan will not vary over its term. Loan-to-value ratio not to exceed 85%. Property insurance and flood insurance, if applicable, are required. If you cancel the line within 48 months, you must reimburse us for third-party fees paid in connection with opening the line. This does not apply to Pennsylvania properties. See your tax advisor for details on the tax deductibility of interest. Other terms and conditions may apply. Rates are subject to change. Offers subject to credit approval and are for new accounts only. M&T CHOICEquity accounts cannot be used to pay off existing M&T CHOICEquity or HOMEquity accounts. Offers good on properties located in DC, DE, MD, NY, PA, VA and WV only. © 2004 M&T Bank

How determined are you? How much faith do you have in your beliefs? Would you try for seventeen long years, amid jeers and humiliation, spending your meager savings and journeying miles upon miles to attain your goal? Would you keep returning to beg to be heard... or just give up?

If Christopher Columbus had given up, we might not be living in this land of opportunity. He was a most determined individual - he was looking for riches to honor Queen Isabella and King Ferdinand of Spain. But beyond riches, Columbus wanted to fulfill a religious quest and bring Christianity to unknown parts of the world. Though Columbus did not realize either goal, he ultimately found "riches" beyond measure when he landed on our shores. God had different plans for Columbus.

God has plans for us as well when we have faith in Him and seek to discover His will for our lives. We must not become discouraged when we do not meet our goals, for our Creator guides us to greater rewards when we follow Him. We read in Hebrews 10:35-36... "Therefore, do not throw away your confidence, which has a great reward. For you have need of endurance, so that you may do the will of God and receive what is promised."

Won't you worship this week? When you discover your faith in God, your rewards will be priceless.

Hatred Cannot Conquer Hatred

When one is attacked, the natural impulse is to fight back, and while this may be natural, and even justified (at least from a legal perspective), spiritually it is far better to turn the other cheek. Jesus' admonition to turn the other cheek and resist evil, is the same advice which the Buddha gave when he said, "Hatred does not cease through hatred at any time. Hatred ceases through love." This is the eternal law. By trying to conquer hatred with hatred we set the stage for more hatred, but when we oppose hatred with love, we open the door for reconciliation. And although this reconciliation may not come easily or readily, much of the moral beauty of nonviolent resistance is the determined discipline to avoid giving in to one's natural impulse to hit back. Great spiritual leaders such as Jesus and Buddha exemplified this discipline over their natural impulses, and we should try to emulate them.

"You have heard that it was said. 'An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth.' But I tell you not to resist an evil person. But whoever slaps you on the right cheek, turn the other to him also. If anyone wants to sue you and take away your tunic, let him have your cloak also."

Three Natural Ways to Control High Blood Cholesterol

Prescription medicines are available to help persons reduce high cholesterol levels. These medicines are especially important to those individuals who have inherited the trait to overproduce cholesterol. Even with use of these medicines it is important to limit intake of foods containing large amounts of cholesterol (e.g., eggs, liver) and foods that contain saturated fat (e.g., any animal fat, including chicken and turkey skin, pork, beef). Therefore, one "natural" way to reduce cholesterol is through attention to diet.

Another natural approach to cholesterol control involves the daily use of the fiber supplement psyllium. This fiber, which some people use to prevent constipation, can reduce cholesterol by as much as 20%. Psyllium apparently interferes with absorption of fats into the bloodstream from the intestine. Another natural approach involves eating foods that contain garlic or using garlic extracts in supplement form. Many studies have shown a significant drop in cholesterol among garlic extract users.

How It Should Be

"At least you don't have cancer." It may be an odd thing to say when reasoning with a young person, but sometimes we have to put things into perspective.

We Americans, especially our youth, have really high expectations about "how things are supposed to be" and feel perfectly justified in the way we behave when our expectations are not met.

When we don't have everything "good" — an artificial standard set for us by economic analysts and commercial television — we host an elaborate pity party during which exactly nothing is accomplished.

Don't like where we are? Change it. But first, maybe we ought to take a close look at whether or not our life is really all that bad.

What we need most these days is a good dose of gratitude.

An article in Fortune magazine by Noshua Watson chronicled the "plight" of so-called Gen-Xers. One lady worked her way through college only to find that she couldn't get the sort of job she wanted with the paycheck she felt she deserved. So she quit her field of expertise and began working in real estate to help her husband establish himself as a bar owner. Sounds like a pretty gutsy lady who is making a success of her life, right?

Except she describes herself as "angry" and "bitter" because she has only $5,000 in her 401(k) and $20,000 in home equity and "can't seem to catch a break." She's only 32, apparently has an industrious husband, and says nothing about bad health, a handicapped child, ailing parents or a recent house fire. Poor thing.

And she doesn't have cancer, although she may develop bad health from worrying so much about how she is going to pay for health care.

The article goes on to say: "Ideally, someone her age should have at least $100,000 stashed away."

Says who? Maybe that is the "ideal," but who among us is living the "ideal" life? And who gave economic "experts" the right to tell Americans what they should or should not have when there is nothing more certain in life than its uncertainties?

Setting financial goals is one thing, but letting yourself somehow believe your nation owes you the fulfillment of those goals is nothing short of irrational.

The inability of our young people to "roll with the blows" is a little disconcerting. The ingenuity, gut-level courage and sense of humor that brought many of our ancestors through adversity is sadly missing in the character of young America.

A TV documentary recently featured an elderly man who plays on a hockey team composed only of 80-plus-year-olds. He said a good practice session is if nobody has to be taken to the hospital.

When asked how he was doing personally, he replied, "Well, I haven't been painted over yet."

Hallelujah. That's how it should be.

Strange BUT TRUE

• The next time you're vacationing in Hawaii, keep this in mind: It's unlawful to annoy any bird within the confines of a public park.

• A couple in the Wutan province of China went in an unusual direction when deciding on a name for their newborn son: Saddam Deng Sars. "Deng" is the family name, but the rest requires a bit of explanation. The father says that since his son was born on the day that war broke out in Iraq, he chose the name "Saddam"; by the time the baby was brought home from the hospital, the SARS epidemic was rampant in China. It's unclear as of yet whether the Chinese government will allow the couple to register the name, so the parents are reportedly considering alternatives for the official records.

• A Pygmy, if average, is only about 4.5 feet tall.

• The very first creature to try a parachute was, you might be surprised to learn, a sheep. The Montgolfier brothers, famed for inventing the hot-air balloon, also designed the first parachute way back in the 1780s. Unable to find a willing human to test the new device, they attached a parachute to a sheep and threw the unfortunate creature off the top of a tower — not once or twice, but six times. The sheep received no injuries, and the brothers were finally able to persuade a man to give it a try. It's interesting to note that although the Montgolfiers had utmost confidence in their parachute, neither of the brothers attempted the jump himself.

• In the classic film "The Wizard of Oz," the dog who played the role of Toto earned a salary of $125 per week.

Fell Swoop Takes Finzel Family From Empty Nest To Full House

by David Foster

Growing up in a family of six siblings leaves one with many fond memories, and I can vividly recall a meal when the usual controlled chaos was loose at the supper table, as plates were going back and forth along with the usual lively (and at times whiney) children's banter. My soft-spoken dad was in his seat at the head of the table and, taking it all in as he slowly twirled his fork in the air, he looked over at my mom and said with a grin, "We might not have much, but I wouldn't trade this for anything in the world."

There's a family in the Finzel area which has learned that valuable lesson by a factor of five – all at once. While living in Texas last year, Michele and Tony Howard adopted five children, and since then the couple wouldn't think of trading their anything-but-routine daily "routines" for anything in the world. With their new brood of 11-year-old Carlos; Kristen (9), Jordan (8), Sergio (6), and Marco (5), Michele and Tony went from empty nest to full house in one fell swoop.

The seven Howards and their menagerie of 11 pets (now an even dozen) gave Finzel's census a quick boost when they arrived from San Antonio on June 8. The 2,000-mile drive (by way of Tony's hometown of Pensacola, Fla.) pales in comparison to the family's journey of love and luck that began when Tony and Michele met at Georgia's Warner Robbins Air Force Base in 1991, before Carlos was born.

Both Howards were in the military at the time, with Michele in her 10th year of service and Tony still several years off from retirement after a 21-year career. Tony, a veteran of Operation Desert Storm, had just returned to the states after a short tour in South Korea. Michele was assigned to the base armory, where she handed Tony his M-16 every day as he reported for security duty. Love soon bloomed over the gun sight, and from that inauspicious beginning the couple took their first steps toward a Finzel home filled with five kids.

SOMETIMES THE POT OF GOLD IS IN THE MIDDLE OF THE RAINBOW, as the Howard family can attest. Tony and Michele are shown flanking their happy children Jordan and Carlos (foreground), and Sergio, Marco, and Kristen at a local playground. After adopting the five siblings in Texas, the Howards arrived here in June – having moved here in an expedition (a Ford Expedition) they won't soon forget. The couple loaded a U-Haul trailer, stacked the roof of their SUV with luggage, and stuffed its interior with their five kids and a menagerie of five black Labs, three cats, two hamsters, and a mouse. Happily, every member of the family (two- and four-legged) made the journey intact, although since then the demise of one dog and one hamster has led to the addition of two puppies and a bunny.

After seven years of marriage and a move to San Antonio, Tony and Michele decided that after his impending retirement from the service they would make plans to adopt a child. Before that bridge was crossed, however, Michele called Tony at work in the fall of 2002 to tell him that there was a young boy in her elementary school classroom that needed a home. The boy was special, Michele told her husband, because he was "such a warm and smart child. He behaved well in class, and I couldn't get over how easily he attached himself to other people. I loved him right away."

The 9-year-old was not the only one who gave of himself with ease. "She got instantly attached [herself]," Tony said of his wife. "She talked about him all the time."

Carlos bore out Michele's initial impressions day after day until, two months later, she learned from the boy's foster parents that he was being placed up for adoption. Even before that news had fully registered with the elated Michele, the foster mother, added "You know, there's more. Carlos has four younger siblings."

The five children, born to the same mother, were wards of the Texas social services system, and had spent time in a San Antonio children's shelter as well as in foster homes. When Michele told Tony about the five, the couple decided there was no way they could split up the children by taking just one – so they threw their doors and arms open to the whole kit and caboodle.

At the age of 40, Tony, and Michele, 37, had hit the stork's jackpot. "It was kind of tough because I saw Carlos in my classroom every day, but I couldn't tell him we had started the process," Michele said. "It was a very exciting time."

The Howards decided that the children would keep their given first names because, as Michele said, "We wanted them to be aware of their own heritage and know that they have Hispanic roots. One child even asked to change his name, and we told him, 'No, you'll be proud of that name someday.'"

The kids gave Michele and Tony new names almost immediately – Mom and Dad.

First on their own, then later with the children, the couple went through several months of required adoption counseling to make sure the match was a fit for the adults and children. Those adjustments may have come a little easier to Tony, who had grown up in a family of seven children, than to Michele, who grew up in LaGrange, Ga., with just one sister, but where there's a will, there's a way. The adoption was finalized before a San Antonio judge, and a courtroom full of teary-eyed family, friends, and supporters, in December 2003.

"We both preach adoption, especially adopting through a government agency," Tony stated. "They want to help you so much, and there are so many good kids in the government system who need help. People shouldn't limit themselves to just infants either; there are plenty of nice older kids out there.

"Our caseworker, Gretchen Hokenson, will always be near and dear to us. She had been the intervention worker who initially had to take the kids from their home because of neglect issues, then she changed jobs within the department and happened to be their placement counselor who worked through the adoption process with all of us from start to finish," he said. "It was a moving experience when we met her and told her of our intentions, because she had been told to plan for splitting the kids up in order to get them adopted."

"We were worried about the size of our house and our income, but it turned out that those things were not as important as a willingness to provide a stable home," Michele recalled. "Everyone wanted to work with us and help us out."

Tony added, "We came to believe in adoption so strongly that we volunteered as liaison parents for adoptive parents at the children's shelter," helping out with advice and encouragement. "A buddy of mine and his wife in San Antonio are finalizing their adoption of three girls."

Here in Garrett County, where Tony took a job at Accident-based Garrett Container Systems in the spring, the big family has bounded into studies at Northern Middle and Route 40 Elementary schools, worship at St. Ann's Catholic Church, and a variety of sporting and Scouting activities.

"Education is a priority for us," said Michele, who is working on her master's degree in educational administration and supervision at Frostburg State University. "We want them to do the best they can. Part of that is being disciplined, so we instill discipline by having set chores like having them make their own beds, keep their rooms clean, and share in the house chores and yard work. The two older boys take out the trash, and the three oldest children help me fold the laundry and put it away – a big job, because we do laundry every day. We also have firmly set bedtimes based on their different ages."

"They appreciate our rules and discipline, which aren't harsh but are pretty clear," Tony said. "Those things were lacking in their lives before, and like all kids they want to know who the adults are.

"And these kids never seem to take anything for granted, so we're getting them into ball playing and anything they're interested in," said Tony, noting that they are adjusting well to their new home. "Snow's going to be something new for them – they can't wait for winter."

"I keep a scrapbook for each of them, and someday when they're older they'll be able to go back to them for some good memories," Michele said. "We know that one day they'll fully appreciate the fact that they got to stay together."

Even after their family of five kids, six dogs, three cats, a hamster, and a bunny rabbit have had almost a year to turn the Howard home upside down, Tony and Michele wouldn't trade their lives for anything in the world.

"There's quite a lot to do," said Tony, before Michele finished his thought without missing a beat – "It's all do-able."

Beitzel Family Reunion Held

The 66th annual reunion of the descendants of John George Beitzel and his four sons, Henry, Lewis, Christian, and George, was held Sept. 5 at the Bittinger fire hall. The family came to America from Germany in the mid 1800s. The 150 in attendance drove from Illinois, Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, and Maryland.

John Beitzel, president, welcomed the gathering. Rev. Randy Nairn offered prayer before the meal.

The business meeting followed with prizes being awarded. Those awarded were oldest lady, Becky Martin, 89; second oldest lady, Mabel (Beitzel) Harris, 84; oldest man, Marvin Beitzel, 87; second oldest man, Sherman Bittinger, 85; youngest child, Anna Mae Major, 4 weeks; next youngest child, Tari Beitzel and Logan Beitzel; longest marriage, Sherman and Alice (Beitzel) Bittinger, 62 years; newest wed, Craig and Victoria Miller, 4 years; largest family, Lean Beitzel, 5; and traveling farthest, David Cline, Chicago.

A candy pick-up was held for the children, and Robin Durst and Arlene Beitzel were in charge. Many door prizes were also awarded. The five candy count jars were won by Joe Massaro, Callon Lewis, Catherine Lewis, and James and Susie Beitzel.

Officers for the year are Doug Beitzel, president; John Beitzel, vice president; and Hollie (Beitzel) Fazenbaker, secretary/treasurer.

The next reunion will be held at the Bittinger fire hall on Sept. 4, 2005.

YOUNG MARINES REMEMBER 9/11 – Members of the Young Marines Mountaineer Platoon recently participated in the first Tillerman's Pub 9/11 Remembrance Ceremony, which took place along Rt. 135 near Mtn. Lake Park. VFW and American Legion members also participated in the event. The platoon consists of 19 young marines under the command of Sgt. Michael Chewning and executive officer Cpl. Adam Shaffer. Pictured below, 7-year-old Melanie Wilson, a sister of one of the marines, sings the "Star Spangled Banner" during the ceremony, which was coordinated by Walt and Patti Janson and K. McDonald. Camp For Children With Asthma To Be Held Next Sat.

Garrett County Memorial Hospital, in cooperation with the Garrett County Health Department, will hold Camp Mountain Air on Saturday, Oct. 23, from 2 p.m. until 6 p.m. in the conference room at the Health Department, Oakland. Children ages 5 to 13 who suffer with asthma are encouraged to participate in this free event.

"Camp participants will not only learn how to monitor their asthma, but will also learn things they can do to reduce their symptoms," said Garrett County Memorial Hospital pharmacist and certified asthma educator Frank Tomblin. Camp Mountain Air will also feature asthma friendly games, and camp goers will participate in making a craft. Food will be provided.

"Our goal is to reach as many area children with asthma as possible," said Eric Tribbey, GCMH director of cardiopulmonary/mobile medical services. "Registration information will also be distributed to local physicians' offices and pharmacies."

This program is offered at no charge; however, preregistration is required. Parents are encouraged to attend with their children. Reservations can be made by calling Bethany Browning, GCMH education coordinator, at 301-533-4318.

Crellin School To Hold Old Fashioned Party

Crellin Elementary School will hold an old fashioned taffy pulling party on Tuesday, Oct. 19, at 7 p.m.

Students will share projects demonstrating what they have learned about the Crellin community. Projects include an original song, 3-D models, drawings, written reports, a dramatic play, and PowerPoint presentations. Students in grades kindergarten through fifth will entertain with songs "that will bring back old memories of Crellin," said Dana McCauley, principal.

In addition, the design of the new playground, which is based on the history of Crellin, will be unveiled.

All are welcome to attend and bring old photographs or artifacts from Crellin to share.

Refreshments will be served.

Sanders Set To Hold Workshop For Garden Club

The Mountain Laurel Garden Club will meet Tuesday, Oct. 19, at the Oakland fire hall at 10:30 a.m. Members and guests are asked to bring a bag lunch, including beverage. Following the business meeting, Barbara Sanders will conduct a bulb planting container workshop.

At the workshop, participants will plant bulbs to overwinter for early spring bloom. Those participating are asked to bring bulbs and no more than two containers, 12 inches or less. Soil and instructions will be provided.

Sanders, a native of Connecticut, moved to Preston County, W.Va., with her husband following his retirement. She joined the Mountain Laurel Garden Club in 1991 and looked to the club for help learning about landscaping the area surrounding her new home. "Through the program offered by the club and contacts with other gardeners as well as reading different gardening publications, I acquired enough information to get started."

She has been an active member of the club, serving as president from 1997 to 1999 and presently serving as horticulture chairman. She is a charter member of the Mountain Fresh Producers Association begun in 1989 and has been a member of the Preston County Master Gardeners since 1997.

Persons interested in attending the meeting or wanting more information regarding the program may call Sandy Zakaluzny at 301-387-4404. The Mountain Laurel Garden Club is a member of National Garden Clubs Inc. and the Federated Garden Clubs of Maryland Inc.

Cathy Hook underwent surgery recently at Garrett Memorial Hospital. Cards can be sent to her at P.O. Box, Friendsville, MD 21531.

If you know someone whom you would like mentioned in the Wishing Well or Birthday Wishes, please contact me at 301-746-5933 or P.O. Box 411, Friendsville, MD 21531.

PERSONALS

Robert and Beulah Savage are back in their home after a recent fire damaged it. They thank everyone for their help and concern during this difficult time.

SCHOOL NEWS

Grades 4 and 5 will be going to Hickory on October 20 and 21.

The PTO will be hosting a Fall Festival on Friday, Oct. 22, from 6 to 8 p.m. There will be games and karaoke. The cost of admission for the festival is $5 per family or $1 per single person. Refreshments will be for sale also. The PTO is also holding a membership drive. Persons may contact the school for more information.

Students will be holding a dress-up parade beginning at 2 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 29. Parties will follow in each classroom.

There will be no school Oct. 14 and 15 for students.

Students are also collecting "box tops for education" and Campbell soup labels. These items can be dropped off at the school.

TOWN NEWS

The town of Friendsville will be sponsoring a door-to-door Trick or Treat on Saturday, Oct. 30, from 5:30 to 7 p.m. All who wish to treat the children are asked to have a light on. A parent or guardian should accompany small children. Participants are asked to please be cautious in crossing the roads and intersections.

Fall Cleanup has been scheduled for October 23. Residents are encouraged to show their civic pride by participating in ridding their yards of useless items. Old furniture, broken appliances, and other useless items will be collected that day beginning at 9 a.m. No tires or construction debris will be accepted. The fall cleanup applies only to residents who have paid their garbage collection fee. Normal trash collection will be held on Friday.

The next meeting of the Mayor and Town Council will be held Tuesday, Oct. 19, beginning at 7 p.m.

LIBRARY NEWS

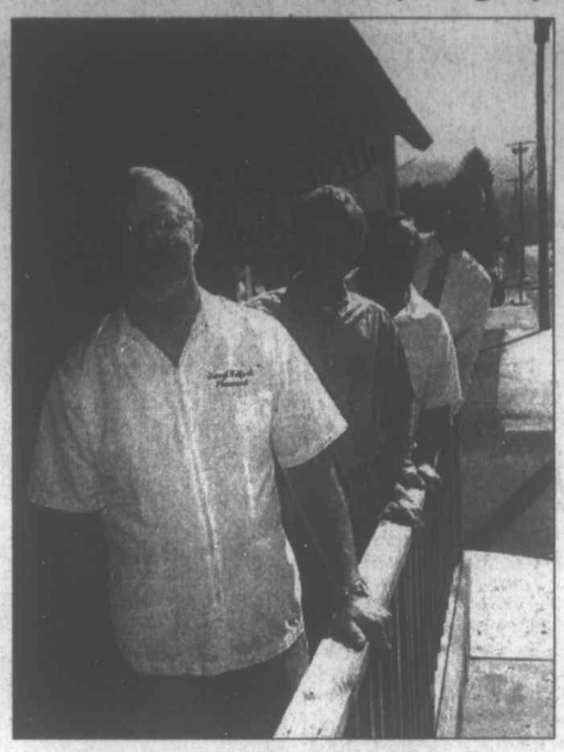
The Friendsville Library Quilters are currently working on a new quilt. Patches may be picked up at the library Mondays and Wednesdays (2-8), Tuesdays and Thursdays (noon-5:30), and Saturdays (9-2).

COLLECTING ALUMINUM CANS

Mary Ann Umbel is currently collecting aluminum cans, with the proceeds to go toward the Tim Umbel Memorial Scholarship Fund. All help is appreciated. People who have cans that they would like to donate to this cause may do so by contacting Mary Ann at 301-746-5109 and she will come pick them up.

The Tim Umbel Memorial Scholarship Fund is a scholarship set up by Coach Edwards of the Northern High School boys basketball team in Tim's name to be presented to an NHS senior boy or girl athlete who has played four years of basketball, is a leader in the community, and has achieved the academic requirements set forth by the fund. The fund is through the First United Bank, and donations can also be made at any bank location in Tim's name.

Friendsville Is "Sprucing Up," Thanks To Community Legacy



FRIENDSVILLE GETS "REVITALIZED" – Friendsville pharmacist Jarryl Wolford recently had the façade of his drugstore redone under the Garrett County Community Legacy Program. Three other businesses in the town also participated in the program: Friendsville Discount Liquors, Riverside Hotel, and Yough Valley Motel. See story for details. Pictured behind Wolford are two members of the Friendsville Revitalization Task Force, Jim "Cosmic" Naeseth and Tom Fike, and Friendsville mayor Spencer R. Schlosnagle. Photo by Glenn Tolbert.

by Glenn Tolbert

Friendsville is sprucing up. Four businesses have totally redone their storefronts thanks to monies from the Department of Housing and Community Development's Community Legacy Program.

"We have four businesses who participated," said Tom Fike, chairman of the Friendsville Revitalization Task Force and a member of the town council. "It's been a great program. At first some businesses were reluctant to participate because of past experiences with government programs. But now we've got people asking to join, but all the money is gone."

The four businesses who participated in the 50/50 program are Friendsville Pharmacy, Friendsville Discount Liquors, Riverside Hoel, and Yough Valley Motel.

"Our hope is that we started something within the community," said Wendell Keaton, Community Legacy administrator. "Through the grant we were able to show what is possible with a little bit of effort. A nice façade is not only an attraction for town residents but to visitors as well."

In addition to the $12,666.66 given to the town for the Friendsville façade program, another $13,666.66 went to streetscape improvements. The bulk of this money was spent on street lamps, trash receptacles, and tree planting and mulching.

"We put most of our streetscape monies on Maple Street, which is our main street," Friendsville mayor Spencer R. Schlosnagle said. Schlosnagle, who has headed up the town government as mayor for the past 19 years, said the changes to the town made possible through the grant represent some of the best improvements seen in his community for many years.

"We were even able to work on our 'Welcome to Friendsville' sign," he said excitedly. "What we did was enough work to show citizens the possibilities that exist in our community. But the changes, even without an incentive motive, are pretty spectacular just by themselves."

"The town is waking up," said Friendsville task force member Jim "Cosmic" Naeseth. "It's exciting to see these positive changes taking place."

In addition to Fike and Naeseth, the other task force members are Mike Palenear, Agnes Lichaner, Les Helapy, Brenda Frazee, Michelle Wojnor, and Brandi Folk.

Under the Community Legacy Program, through which the Friendsville renovations were funded, every community in the county is slated for similar work to be done, pending the availability of funding.

The streetscape and façade improvement programs are a result of a strategic planning process conducted by Terrell Ellis of Terrell Ellis and Associates of Charleston, W.Va.

The Garrett County Community Legacy Program is directed by Duane Yoder, president of Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc.

Town Hall

MTN. LAKE PARK

•The town will hold its final Community Legacy Meeting today, Thursday, Oct. 14, beginning at 6 p.m.

•The Town of Mtn. Lake Park will be picking up leaves from now until the snow begins to fall. Residents are asked to rake all leaves to the ditches along the roadways. No sticks or other debris can be placed in the leaf piles.

•Mtn. Lake Park has hired a Code Enforcement Officer who will be enforcing ordinances throughout the town.

•The towns of Mtn. Lake Park, Loch Lynn Heights and Deer Park will hold Trick-or-Treat on Saturday, Oct. 30, from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. Residents are asked to turn on their porch light if they want to participate.

ACCIDENT

The town meeting was held on Wednesday, Oct. 6, at the town hall.

•Trick-or-treating will be held on Saturday, Oct. 30, from 6 to 7 p.m. Residents are asked to turn on their porch lights if they wish to participate.

•The town is installing four park benches around the walking trail. The benches were purchased with 2003 Program Open Space money.

•A slot is available at the town hall for water/sewer customers to drop off their water and sewer bills after town hall hours.

•Newspapers will be picked up for recycling on Thursday, Nov. 4. Papers should be placed at the curbside that morning by 9 a.m.

The next meeting will be Thursday, Nov. 4, at 7:30 p.m. at the town hall.

LOCH LYNN HEIGHTS

•Yard debris clean-up will be held the week of Oct. 18. Persons are asked to place all branches and sticks (bundled) along the street and not to place these items with the leaves.

•Mtn. Lake Park is once again picking up leaves with a leaf truck. Leaves should be raked to the edge of the street. Bagged leaves may also be placed there. Leaf pick-up will continue through the month as weather permits.

•Filing for re-election are Mayor Larry Friend and council members Carolyn Corley and Ron Friend. Although they are running unopposed, residents are urged to vote on Nov. 1 to show support of the town government.

•The municipal election will be held at the town hall on Monday, Nov. 1, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. To be eligible to vote, residents must have been living in the state of Maryland for one year and have resided in Loch Lynn Heights for six months preceding any town election, be registered with the town and/or the Garrett County Election Board, and voted within the past five years.

•Persons wishing to acquire an absentee ballot must appear before the clerk or write to the clerk requesting a ballot before Oct. 18.

•Trick-or-treat is set for Saturday, Oct. 30, from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. Residents wishing to participate should turn on their porch lights. Mtn. Lake Park and Deer Park have set the same time.

To Sell Doughnuts Before AG Parade

Krispy Kreme doughnuts will be sold at Broad Ford Elementary School prior to the parade on Saturday, Oct. 16, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Proceeds will be used for new playground equipment.

This sale is one of the first activities of the Bobcat group, a parent-teacher organization at Broad Ford.

FINAL YARDS OF THE MONTH RECOGNIZED – The Kitzmiller Yard of the Month competition has concluded for this season. Above, Mayor Browning recognizes Melinda "Wilma" James of West Main St. as the September winner. In the bottom photo, Roger and Barbara Welch, residing on Hazel St., are presented a certificate as the October winner. Both winners were awarded a $25 Green Acres Garden Center gift certificate from the town. Residents participated by either voting for a worthy yard or by putting the extra effort into keeping their own property well kept and attractive. The Yard of the Month winners were chosen each month by nominations deposited into ballot boxes located at the post office and the town hall. The nominations were counted at the monthly town council meeting, and the resident with the most nominations was determined to be the winner. The mayor and council said that there were many properties worthy of the Yard of the Month Award, and they anxiously look forward to next year's competition beginning in May. Other Yard of the Month winners were June, Bill and Louise Hardesty; July, Mrs. Muriel Mills; August, Mrs. Mary Hesse; September, Mrs. Wilma James; and October, Roger and Barbara Welch. "It takes a lot of work on the behalf of all residents to keep a community beautiful. Keep up the good work, and good luck next year," said Browning.

Wilsons To Be Guest Ministers At Loch Lynn

Pastor Lovell and Minister Verna Wilson will be special guests of the Loch Lynn Church of God on Sunday, Oct. 24, and Monday, Oct. 25. Pastor Lovell will minister on Sunday at 8 and 11 a.m., and again at 6 p.m. Minister Verna will speak at a ladies' rally on Monday at 7 p.m.

Lovell serves as executive pastor of Maranatha Church in Frederick, where his wife Verna serves with him. Recently married, the Wilsons have 10 children and 17 grandchildren between them.

The pastor is the president of Dottie Wilson Ministries, which was started by his late wife. A non-profit evangelistic outreach, the ministry is designed "to feed the hungry, clothe the naked, shelter the homeless, and help heal the brokenhearted."

He is a retired U.S. Air Force chief master sergeant, a retired manager of a Fortune 500 company, and a graduate of the University of Maryland. He also attended graduate school through Frostburg State University. In 1996, Lovell became a full-time minister.

"He is gifted to teach the word with clarity and simplicity," said a church spokesperson.

Verna was born in Washington, D.C., to Bishop Robert and Sara Parran. She was reared in a home whose motto was "As for me and my house, we serve the Lord."

"She is a strong woman of God who was introduced early into the church ministry," said the spokesperson. "She has a heart for intercessory prayer."

She has served in many capacities, such as praise team leader, Sunday School superintendent, teacher, and preacher. Verna was very active in the Walkersville Assemblies of God with her late husband.

She holds an associate's degree in mental health and will be attending the Ministerial Internship Program to be licensed with the Church of God, which is headquartered in Cleveland, Tenn.

LOVELL AND VERNA WILSON

The Loch Lynn Church of God is located along First Avenue in Loch Lynn. For more information, one may call the church office at 301-334-3221.

Hiking The Appalachian Trail

Editor's note: The following is the last in a series of articles by McHenry resident Julia Geisler as she and her friend walked the entire length of the Appalachian Trail.

I won't tell a fib. Climbing Mount Katahdin ("The Great One") was difficult and among the hardest ascents along the trail. Nonetheless, we were so anxious to climb this one last mountain that I don't really remember feeling the pain. For days, well actually for six months, we had been sizing up this mountain as it towered in the distance, but we were now ready to meet its challenge.

Our very last night on the trail was spent at "The Birches," a Baxter State Park camping area reserved for thru-hikers only. Many thru-hikers sat around that last camp fire, some in quiet contemplation, others full of funny stories from the trail, sharing memories that only days before had been realities. Our journey was ending, and it was time to bid adieu to the trail community. We all knew that other adventures awaited us at home, and we were all excited to be back into the "comfort zone"; however, I couldn't help but to be a little sad in our parting.

The morning of our "due date" – many hikers joked that we would be shedding our 25 pound packs on this day much like a birthing mother – was gloriously beautiful. We were absolutely stunned at our good fortune with the weather on this very important day, and we ran/walked through the woods to our mountain. We passed the treeline quickly and were surrounded in crisp blueness with sunshine coloring the turning leaves with brilliant gold. Met with a cold and constant blast of dry air, we scrambled over the alpine zone of rocky terrain lined with metal rebar, having to grip firmly to steady ourselves in the wind. "The Gateway" section of the trail signified that the steep alpine climb was over and we were free to walk easily in the "Table Lands," which is a mile of barren flatness before the summit of Baxter Peak (also named Mt. Katahdin). We were spurred on by the faint echoes of yips and yells being emitted by a cluster of already finished thru-hikers standing at the top.

The final mile on the 2,174 mile journey seemed to last an eternity. We walked in silence, Mike looking back at me every two minutes with wide, anticipating eyes; an exchange of buzzing energy flowing from one unto the other. The journey had been made with both of us never fully assuming we would reach the end; we were always aware that past hikers had made it all the way to the border of Maine, then broken their leg or gotten sick with giardia (an intestinal-eating bacteria that lives in water). However, as we walked that last mile, I was, for the very first time, absolutely certain that we had done it, that we had touched every white blaze with our feet from Springer to Katahdin. A sense of real relief coursed through me. A happiness. A fulfillment. A quiet and humble sense of accomplishment, and great inner pride.

Fellow thru-hikers cheered, as hand-in-hand (just as we had started with those first steps on Springer Mountain, Georgia) Michael and I walked those last few steps up to the sign atop Mount Katahdin, Maine. To touch the summit sign is the symbol for the end of the 2,174 mile trek as a thru-hiker on the Appalachian Trail. Tears welled up in our eyes as we looked at each other, counted to three, and laid our hands down upon the wood. Leaving our stones we had carried from Georgia resting on the last white blaze, Mike let out a beastly roar of excitement! Beaming, we turned to congratulate the other thru-hikers with hugs and firm handshakes. The celebratory whiskey was plucked from our pack, cigars were lit, and Mike led a toast, "To 2,174 Miles!" A collective exclamation of approval found its way out of our open mouths, and echoed into the mountains as 15 hikers shared in a slug of that burning fire. Summit dances, sign poses, and smiles filled every hiker to the brim.

The moment will ever be stark and fresh in my memory.

"MADE IT!" is the thought if not the words of every Appalachian Trail thru-hiker who gets to the spot where Julia Geisler and Michael Snyder are shown standing. The summit of Maine's Mount Katahdin is the AT's northern terminus, 2,174 miles and approximately 4 million steps from Springer Mountain in Georgia, where Geisler and Snyder set forth six months previous to conquer the physical, mental, and emotional challenges of the trail. The hikers will be greeting the public at a reception set for 6 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 20, in Shenanigan's at the Wisp, and they will present a slide show of their expedition beginning at 7 p.m. that evening. Groups interested in attending are asked to provide prior notification by calling Garrett College's Adventure Sports Institute at 301-387-3330.

ACCIDENT NEWS

Taylor Glotfelty returned to Detroit Sunday after spending the weekend with relatives and friends in the area. He joined a group of fellow Roush employees on a Monday morning flight to Denver, where they will be doing automobile testing for the next two weeks. Donna Glotfelty accompanied Taylor to Detroit where she joined her son Tom on a Monday Spirit Airlines flight to Florida. They visited Cape Canaveral and Cocoa Beach, toured the Villages near Ocala, and attended the Dolly Parton's Dixie Stampede at Orlando. They returned to Detroit Wednesday and flew to Morgantown.

SPAGHETTI DINNER

The Northern High School boys' and girls' basketball teams will be holding a spaghetti dinner this Friday, Oct. 15, from 5 to 7 p.m. at the Northern High School cafeteria. The cost is $5 for adults and $2.50 for children 12 years and under. This is an "all-you-can-eat" event. The public is urged to come out and support the basketball teams.

There is no school for students today, Oct. 14, and Friday, Oct. 15.

NGRS OPEN HOUSE

Northern Garrett Rescue Squad will hold an open house at its new location in McHenry on Sunday, Oct. 17, from 2 until 5 p.m. Station 2, formerly located in Accident, is now located at the Wisp Mountain Resort near the Ski Patrol Room. The public is invited to visit the new station. Refreshments will be available, as well as free blood pressure and blood glucose screenings. This will also be an opportunity for anyone interested in joining the rescue squad as a driver or an EMT to have questions answered. Applications will be available.

NHS SPORTS

The girls' soccer team will compete at Westmar this evening, Oct. 14, at 6 p.m. They will also compete at Ft. Hill on Saturday, Oct 16, at noon and 1:30 p.m. Their last scheduled games for this fall will be played at Beall on Tuesday, Oct. 19, at 6 and 7:30 p.m.

The boys' soccer team will host Southern this evening, Oct. 14, at 6 and 7:30 p.m. Their last scheduled game will be held Monday, Oct. 18, against Beall at NHS beginning at 6 and 7:30 p.m.

The volleyball team will compete at Southern on Wednesday, Oct. 20, at 6 and 7:30 p.m. Their last scheduled game this fall will be on Thursday, Oct. 21, against Bishop Walsh at NHS at 6 and 7:30 p.m.

The varsity football team will host Beall on Friday, Oct. 15, at 7 p.m.

The J.V. football team will compete at Beall on Monday, Oct. 18, at 7 p.m.

All game dates are subject to change.

SENIOR NIGHT

Seniors of the Northern High School Football Team will be recognized Friday, Oct. 15, during halftime at the game against Beall. Special recognition will also be given to the 1964 undefeated Huskies.

Brantner Chosen To Attend Parent Leadership Class

Amy Brantner of Kitzmiller recently attended the second annual Maryland Parent Leadership Institute in Ocean City. This was the first of three weekend sessions scheduled for this fall.

Brantner, who runs the after-school program at Kitzmiller Elementary and is president of the Empowerment Group, was one of 21 applicants chosen for this class.

The institute, established in 2002 by the Family Works of the Family Services Agency Inc., assists parents in becoming full partners in their children's education by providing free training to nearly two dozen parents representing the demographic and geographic diversity of Maryland's local school systems.

Brantner has a son in third grade and a daughter in Head Start.

"I was tickled to death to get this opportunity," she said. "I always knew that parental involvement was very important, but I learned so much in the first weekend. We have a lot of parent volunteers, but I can see that we can move this to the next level."

According to Vicky Strella, coordinator of the Parent Leadership Institute of the Family Works, a program of the Family Services Agency, parental and family involvement is essential. "Parent and family involvement increases student achievement and success," she said. "This is essential and has been shown to be the critical element in education."

Candidates were selected from a pool of 55 applications. The selection team focused on the strengths of the individuals and their ideas about the role of parents in education, said Strella.

MICHAEL FAMILY SUPPORTING HOUSE OF HOPE FUNDRAISER – The Michael family, Oakland, is again supporting the House of Hope's annual fundraiser, Hopefest, by donating items for the silent auction. Pictured are Bailey, Crockett, and Barb Michael, who will donate her popular Little Yough Chocolates for the event. Unavailable for the photo, Rob Michael, State Farm Insurance, will also donate sports memorabilia. The Hopefest is slated for Saturday, Nov. 6, from 7 until 11 p.m. at the Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake. In addition to the silent auction, the event includes dinner, dessert, and dancing. Tickets are $35 per person and are available at Brenda's Pizzeria, Animal Crackers Pet Grooming, and Just Us Hair Salon. To donate items for the auction, persons may call Bob Green at 301-746-6144.

SPAGHETTI DINNER

A spaghetti dinner will be served this Friday, Oct. 15, from 5 to 7 p.m. in the Northern High School cafeteria as a fundraiser for the installation of a new sound system in the gymnasium. Cost will be $5 for adults and $2.50 per child for "all-you-can-eat" salad, spaghetti, bread, drink, and dessert. Come out and support this event and then stay and cheer on the Huskies as they host Beall in a football game.

MY NOTES

I was shocked and very sad to learn this morning that a fellow traveler on my lonely path, Christopher Reeve, best known as "Superman," died from a wound and a heart attack. But I believe he died from a broken heart because he is like me in that he used to do anything he wanted to do. He was a scholar, actor, and rider, but he was like me and Humpty Dumpty, who had a bad fall, which in his case was a bad fall from an unworthy horse, and all the King's men couldn't put him back together again. Even his large personal fortune and his Spinal Research Foundation could not allow him to walk again. He did get off the respirator machine thank God. I prayed so hard about that because to have to rely on a machine to breathe is just terrible.

Christopher is especially close to my heart for many reasons. The biggest one is his younger brother, Kevin Johnson, who was a Peace Corps colleague and friend of my little brother, Scott. Kevin has since worked for a non-profit organization to help set up elections in new democracies in the Third World. He may have been in Afghanistan to help set up their first election. He is in as much danger in his work as many troops, and his kind of work does not generate much support or praise as military service, but it is important. Why should Scott and Kevin, with a very bright future in America, choose to turn their back to personal earnings and a nice lifestyle to go into the worst part of the world? Because they were "bleeding-heart liberals."

How scared are the conservative (Republican) part of Bittinger's community. They are in so much panic about the upcoming election. They couldn't be satisfied to plug their choice with campaign signs, but they must resort to removing our signs as fast as we could replace them. Why we do not go and remove their signs is because we believe in freedom of expression, even if we do not agree with what someone else is saying. I think they see that they have already lost the election. They do have plenty to lose, such as the ability to exploit our environment, and I might add, God's creation for their personal financial gain. One theme of the sermon delivered by our retired Lutheran Bishop Black at the Bittinger Parish joint worship service was pointing out that we should give to the earth and not to exploit it. We are put here for it as a gardener cares for a garden. He talked about his former hometown, Beaver, Pa., where if you removed a tree you were required to replace it, and now the streets of Beaver are lined with beautiful trees.

It was well worth our time to arrive early enough on Sunday morning at our Appalachian Sunday to hear some special performances. As usual, our "Mountain Man" Bob Brenneman played his fiddle about "The Place Where I Worship," is the wild open spaces where every mountain, every silver stream, and all the wild lives proclaim the glory of the Creator. That was heartfelt from Bob, as no one loves our beautiful wild country any more than Bob does. It is not just his Christian beliefs, but also a strong strain of Native American heritage too, which says we don't own the earth. The same theme came out in the duet by Lana Roby and Linda Buckel, the "singing Brenneman sisters," as they sang the song most parents know of the recent Disney's version of the Pocahantas story. Every rock, tree, and creature has a spirit and name, and if you ever hear a wolf call to a new moon or ask why bobcats grin. Bob did, and I too, actually heard a mountain lion scream on Meadow Mountain. Cindy and Sally and I encountered a bobcat during our wanderings.

Leora Yaste performed on the Jews harp and another instrument that I call a trumpet harmonica. I must find out where she got it. Our "Grand Ol' Gale," Ferne Beachy rocked and rolled in a hickory rocking chair with her regular harmonica. Wanda Reynolds and a group of hers played the dulcimers. Pastor Pat and son Jeremy performed on guitar and banjo. Representing the younger generation was a duet on guitar by my sweet, blonde, twin nephews, Darryl and Elliot Glotfelty. Unfortunately, our songbird Leslie Buckel Steven had car trouble which prevented her from giving us another wonderful vocal solo. The congregation joined Pastor Pat and Jeremy singing a song about "the power in the precious blood of the Lamb" composed by Ellis Jones at a camp meeting in Mtn. Lake Park in 1902. None of this kind of service would be complete without "The Church in the Wildwood." Lana Roby also rendered a beautiful solo during the service.

It was wonderful to hear our old bell tolled again by Bob Brenneman and Ferne Beachy and other lucky folks. Bob and Ferne are the oldest members of the

THE GARRETT COUNTY HUMANE SOCIETY has been in existence for over 20 years, during which time it has helped hundreds of neglected, abused, and homeless animals. Last year, it also helped over 300 pet owners to get their pets spayed or neutered. "This year we have already helped over 200," said member Lisa Baker. "Spaying and neutering are important. This will help reduce the numbers of feral animals in our communities and lessen the number of unwanted animals that enter our County Shelter every year." The organization will be selling animal totes this year as part of its fundraising efforts. "These totes are a practical gift since they are a stuffie and a purse!" said Baker. "We have dogs, cats, ponies, birds, plus a rabbit and a bear." They are $12.00 each and will be available for "adoption" in Oakland on Friday, Oct. 15, at the Farmers Market along Rt. 219 from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m., and Saturday, Oct 16, next to the C.A.M.O. booth near Oak-Lee Dairyland along Rt. 219. For further information, persons may call Baker at 301-387-4425. Pictured, left to right, are Laurel and Sarah Baker holding some of the various pet totes.

New Dosage Form: Fast Dissolving Tablets

A new development in pharmaceutical technology has allowed some drug manufacturers to put their products into a new type of dosage form, a fast-dissolving/disintegrating tablet (FDDT). FDDTs are designed to dissolve rapidly when exposed to saliva, thereby eliminating the need for a glass of water or swallowing. Such medications can be very convenient when administering a medication to a child that is too young to swallow a tablet or an elderly person with difficulty swallowing. Acetaminophen has also been made into a FDDT.

FDDT formulations can be a good addition to a traveling first aid kit when obtaining an 8 ounce glass of water is inconvenient or impractical. Because they take less time to get into the system, some medications that are needed to work immediately are being made into FDDTs. The FDDT formula is also very useful for cancer patients who are too nauseous to swallow the needed anti-nausea medication.

church. The bell tower is now housing the old bell. That, as well as the sight of the brilliant autumn sunshine, shining through the stained glass windows from our old church with the familiar pictures I used to study when I was a little kid caused me to feel almost at home in the new church. Leaders from the three churches of our parish and leaders from Bittinger participated in the burning of the mortgage. Also some members of the Mission Builders who helped construct the new church were in attendance, as was a representative of Peoples Bank. Bill Buckel was in charge of constructing the bell tower, along with his son Derek, Bill Hady and his son Andrew, Mike Simpson, Pete Buckel, and others whom I have unintentionally missed. Derek and Andrew will complete the roof housing the bell.

Among the many worshippers at Emmanuel's Appalachia service was our first Autumn Glory Queen, Pam Klotz Cutler, who was queen in 1969. I was pretty sure of that fact, but had to ask her to make sure, as it was some time ago. Pam was joined by her parents, Hazel and Danny Klotz. Danny was celebrating his birthday on Sunday and it was no better place to celebrate than at this service. I was surprised to learn from Hazel that Emmanuel was the site of their wedding. I knew Danny was one of my father's attendants at my parents' wedding and that my Dad was an usher at their wedding in our old church. One of my favorite photographs from my parents' wedding was of Dale and Aunt Dot, who was wearing bobby socks with saddle oxfords, decorating their car with the usual things – signs, string of cans, etc. It looked like the classic 1950s wedding. Their marriage lived up to the promise, too. They reared five children in the same old church and we all had our weddings and baptism of our children there, too. Sadly, that old church also saw too many funerals of family members.

I almost can't stand to be outside today because it is the classic autumn day in this neck of the woods, meaning cobalt blue sky and the glorious display of every shade of red, yellow, and even green. Maybe it is stupid to cry, but that's how I am, especially in autumn because it has such a short life. Same reason I cry when I see new babies. We did have quite a nice crop of them at church on Sunday. I know how fast those tiny sweet things turn into teenagers. Then they will go to college or whatever the future holds for them. We even had a chance to meet Beulah Moon's great-grandson from South Korea. He was absolutely adorable, and the new baby girl Stanton, as her big sister Alyana told me, "is even cuter in real life than those pictures I showed you!" She has a quite a headful of lovely, silky, brunette hair.

Bittinger has had over the years more of its share of beautiful babies. I am sure there will still be a crowd of people fighting to get a chance to hold the little ones. Some things never change in Bittinger, including the absolute love we shower on our community's children. I could just burst with pride watching the twins playing their guitars so sweetly last Sunday. If I could stand the crowd in Oakland for Autumn Glory (which I can't), I would burst with pride to see our beautiful Autumn Glory princess, my niece Blakely Glotfelty, on her float. But I will have to wait to see the pictures.

There is no better place to appreciate autumn glory than on Rock Lodge Road from the lake end to that breath-taking spectacle of Brenneman's Grove in full autumn dress. It is already in peak form. Someone on the west coast asked my aunt when they saw a picture photograph of our autumn, "Is that a real photograph?" It is amazing that our landscape is totally green for a few months and then turns into a riot of color, then again turns into something else, the whitest landscape imaginable. The only thing you can be sure of in Bittinger is that it is always changing. That is true about life – as wonderful as it is right now you never know what is around the corner. Or maybe as bad as it is now, you never know what is next. Even with the worst winter around here, it is always followed by another wonderful spring.

I did somehow face another crowd-filled weekend. It was not easy, but I did it. I was among a nice-size crowd for the artist reception for Sue Arnson's art show at the Garrett College Gallery. It featured a raffle of one of her paintings to benefit the Garrett College Art Department. I once again was not the winner.

LOCAL RESIDENT ATTENDS TRIBUTE LUNCHEON FOR FIRST LADY – Deep Creek Lake and Edgewater resident Catie Ravenscroft James recently attended a FEDPAC luncheon honoring First Lady Laura Bush. The event took place in New York City during the Republican National Convention. FEDPAC, a political action committee, was organized this year to "build on the work of the National Federation of Republican Women" (NFRW). James is a regent with the NFRW and member of the Maryland Federation of Republican Women executive board of directors. In the front row, left to right, are Jennifer Lu, California; the First Lady; FEDPAC executive director and president of the NFRW Dianne Thompson, Texas; Beverly Davis, Utah; and Stephanie Sheeran, New Jersey. In the back row are Martha House, California; Jeannine Long, Oklahoma; James; Sue Lynch, Wisconsin; and Jessie Morton, Louisiana.

Now I am busy selling the Livestock Association Baby Beef tickets for my 4-H'ers. Of course, I will buy some of them myself.

The Bittinger 4-H Club will have a special event this Monday evening as they will go on an owl hunt with Kevin Dodge. Our woods are filled with many varieties of animal sounds and it is hard to tell which belongs to which. It will be a little chilly for outside activity this evening. But they are young, so what the heck! This bright sun-drenched golden afternoon can't fool me. I know the clear sky means cold air and the sun can't warm enough to compensate for it. I did see our first real frost a few mornings ago. The fields were a frosty blue shade at first daylight. I have not yet tried to paint that effect yet. I did capture the soft landscape of a rainy October day successfully. It is so much more soft and peaceful with a pale grey sky and softer autumn leaves.

Cousin Courtney Englar is headed to South America like so many people I know. Only instead of Brazil, he plans to visit Peru to look at birds. He may even catch a glimpse of his and our barn swallows there for their winter vacations. Not even Courtney could recognize individual birds. So the best he can do if he sees any barn swallows is to just say "howdy" in case.

Speaking of southern visitors, Alison Buckel was at church last Sunday after her visit to Costa Rica a few months ago. Her cousin, Landon Southerly, had a rare home visit from St. Mary's College of Maryland. Also home from college from North Carolina was Torrey Poholsky, who is spending fall break with his parents, Sally and Lenny.

The Glotfelty family spent Saturday at College Park with their son, Robbie Glotfelty, and attended the football game and his band practice before the game.

"OVER 55" OPTIONS!

If you're retired or retiring soon, have you ever wondered how you could turn your property into a windfall for your retirement lifestyle?

If you've only just wondered, it's time to develop your plan now. Avoid the stress associated with having to make a sudden decision based on an unforeseen illness or other misfortune. You understand the peace of mind that comes with planning and having control at this stage of life. There are ways to maximize your gains if you plan to sell your home.

You can obviously sell your home and buy another for less, investing the profit in CDs, money market accounts, and the like. Married couples can take up to a $500,000 tax deduction on the profit from sale of their home (if you lived there at least two of the last five years). This can create a tax-free gain for reinvestment.

You could also sell your home, buy a rental property, and live on the premises. Even though you'll probably pay someone to manage the property, you'll enjoy the tax advantages of owning a permanent residence, and you'll get income from renting.

Of course, consult your financial advisor to be sure the tax implications are right for you and fit into your overall retirement plan. It's never too late, or too early, to maximize the value of your biggest investment your home!

If you'd like to sell your home, but feel "out of touch" with what's happening in real estate, give me a call today!

Sheridan And Nina Layman To Celebrate Their 70th Anniversary

Sheridan and Nina Layman, Aurora, W.Va., will celebrate their 70th wedding anniversary on Oct. 23. They were married in Bayard, W.Va., by the late Rev. Hatfield.

Sheridan is the son of the late Charles Frederick and Anna May (Boring) Layman, and Nina is the daughter of the late Cyrus Lincoln and Nellie Gay (Sanders) Pifer.

The couple are the parents of two sons: Charles L. Layman, Tallahassee, Fla., and the late David C. Layman, who lived in Eglon, W.Va. They have four grandsons and three great-grandsons.

A card shower has been requested. Persons may mail cards to Rt. 1, Box 341-A, Aurora, WV 26705.

Simpsons Celebrate 60th Anniversary

Dale and Dorothy Simpson of Mtn. Lake Park were honored with a reception on Sept. 18 by their children and grandchildren in celebration of their 60th wedding anniversary.

They were married Feb. 26, 1944, at the parsonage of St. Paul's Methodist Church in Oakland, with the Rev. Minor Sprague officiating.

Mr. Simpson was self-employed, and Mrs. Simpson retired from the Garrett County Board of Education as cafeteria manager of Southern High School after 31 years of service.

The Simpsons are the parents of two sons, Ronald Simpson of Edgewood, and Earl Simpson, who resides in Deer Park with his wife Cynthia. Their grandchildren and great-grandchildren are Kim Goessler and husband David, who live in Brunswick, Ohio, with their children Kyle and Courtney; Jeff Simpson and wife Kendra, who live in Deer Park with their sons Garth and Tyler; and Doug Simpson who lives in Oakland with his daughter Kadi.

The festivities were held at the American Legion Post 71 in Oakland, with a buffet luncheon catered by Debbie Auvil and her staff. The anniversary cake was designed and provided by David P. Herring of Edgewood.

Lakeside Assembly Of God To Host Celebration Of Howes' 70th Anniv.

Rev. David and Mrs. Dorothy "Millie" Howe will celebrate their 70th wedding anniversary on Oct. 20. To help mark this milestone, the Lakeside Assembly of God Church, where Rev. Howe served as pastor for several years, will host a celebration for the couple on Sunday, Oct. 17. The service will begin at 10:30. The church is located at 18012 Garrett Highway.

David L. Howe married Dorothy Mildred Combs on Oct. 20, 1934, in a ceremony in Keyser, W.Va. The wedding was officiated by Rev. C.O. Showalter, pastor of the Brethren Church. The bride's parents' names were Sylvia and Lonnie Combs, Keyser, and the groom's parents were Elsie and William Howe, Westernport.

The reverend was ordained with the Assemblies of God Movement in 1947. Evangelistic work took the Howes to several states, including West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Washington, D.C., and Delaware. The Howes served at the North Side Assembly in Pittsburgh, the Highway Tabernacle in Philadelphia, and the First Assembly in Dallas, Texas.

After Dallas, they accepted a pastorate in Trenton, N.J., at the First Assembly of God Church, and then moved to Topeka, Kan., and then on to Hamilton, Ohio. Throughout this ministry, Rev. Howe preached at several camp meetings in Kentucky, Maine, and Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Howe retired in 1979 from the South Mountain Restoration Center in Pennsylvania, where she worked as an EKG technician. Rev. Howe retired as pastor of the Lakeside Assembly in the late 1980s, but has continued preaching at special engagements for various churches in the local area.

The Howes reared a niece as their daughter, Janet Tipton, who resides in Aspen, Colo. The reverend and his wife now reside in Bridgeport, W.Va.

All are invited to attend the special service on Sunday.

Marriage Permits Recently Issued

Nine couples recently applied for their marriage licenses, according to David Martin, clerk of the Garrett County Circuit Court.

Jeremy Michael Spudich, 27, and Felicia Hope Hensley, 22, both of Turtle Creek, Pa.

Schwings Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Schwing, Accident, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Aug. 17.

On Aug. 17, 1954, Melvin R. Schwing and Sally A. Carr of Fairview, W.Va., motored to Oakland, purchased a bouquet, picked up their marriage license at the Garrett County Courthouse, and went next door to St. Paul's Methodist Church, where Rev. Winfield S. Patterson performed their wedding ceremony.

The Schwings have made their home in Garrett County for the past 50 years.

Melvin attended schools in New Martinsville, W.Va. He served in WWII in the U.S. Army in the Pacific Theater. He played in Ashford General's Dance Band at Ashford General Hospital, White Sulphur Springs, W.Va. – now the Greenbriar. After the war, he entered West Virginia University, graduating in 1951 with a bachelor's degree in music. He was band director at Northern High School until his retirement. He is a member of Post 214 American Legion and WVU Alumni Emeritus. He enjoys sports and genealogy.

Sally was born in Fairmont, W.Va., and attended school in West Virginia. She was in outside sales for 26 years, and was a field assistant for Girl Scouts USA. She later entered the health care field. She belongs to St. John's Lutheran Church ELCA, Cove, where she has been active in the Ladies Aid. She is a member of the Garrett County Historical Society, is on the advisory committee of Hospice of Garrett County, and attends Flowery Vale Fitness Center. She enjoys creative arts and authored the book Do You Think it Snows in Heaven?. She enjoys physical fitness activities and doing good deeds for others – especially sharing food and flowers.

Both Melvin and Sally continue to play trumpets, and are members of the Accident Concert Band, where Melvin is the concert master. He also continues to play "Taps" at most military services in the area.

The Schwings are the parents of Dr. Franklin (Skip) Schwing and wife Dr. Holly Price, Monterey, Calif.; David (Chip) Schwing, San Francisco, Calif.; and Scott Schwing and wife Cindy, Zelienople, Pa. Two sons, Robert Christopher and Timothy Andrew, are deceased. They have three grandchildren: Casey Schwing, Niles, Ohio; and Ryan Christopher and Savannah Aileen Schwing, Monterey, Calif.

They are also "Nanny" and "Mr. Nanny" to Ryan VanNosdeln, a "special young man" who spent a large portion of his first four years in their home.

On Aug. 17, the couple returned to St. Paul's in Oakland alone as they did on their wedding day, and returned to West Virginia.

The final event of Appalachia Sunday was a soup and sandwich meal at the fire hall. It was also a full-house event. During the worship service we used a new set of pottery chalices for communion. They were made by Lynn Lias, who also attended the service. At the fire hall we enjoyed another performance of the traditional mountain clogging by the Teets girls, Vicki, Nancy, and Judy.

I hope our local bears are as sleepy as I am right now so they will crawl into a nice cozy safe den safe away from the guns of the fall bear hunt. Sorry, but bear hunters are not welcome on our farm. They should go to the lake end of Rock Lodge Road where the bears are a nuisance with the trash containers. But I love to know they are in our woods. They don't venture out of the woods on our farm, as there is plenty of grub in the dead woods – berries to eat, enough to not bother my bird feeder. I don't know yet how Sheila's feeder fared this year, but she did have lots of trouble in the past since she is right in the middle of their habitation. The deer did their usual damage to her garden this summer.

I talked to editor Don Sincell and he said the same thing as I did about the passing of Christopher Reeve. Although his dream was to walk again, he is now flying again. Even though I personally did not know Christopher, I know well enough his little brother and know how much he is hurting now.

I just saw one of the most sickening news story I ever heard. Now some greedy people are trying to make themselves rich by charging $1,000 for a flu shot. Now it seems as if only the rich can afford to protect themselves from the flu.

On the brighter side, my lawn looks like the end of the rainbow.– golden.

NORTHERN GARRETT COUNTY RESCUE SQUAD, INC.
"At the Lake"
McHenry

The Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad is pleased to announce the opening of its new "Station 2" relocated to the Deep Creek Lake area at McHenry. This will better serve the large service area within the northern portion of the county by having the three stations strategically located. Currently, Northern Rescue services the area with two other locations, Station 1 in Grantsville and Station 3 in Friendsville.

Station 2, located off Marsh Hill Road within the confines of the Wisp Mountain Resort, near the Ski Patrol Room will have duty crews in the station on most days and evenings. Crews will continue to respond from home during the nighttime hours from midnight to 6 a.m.

Moving to the McHenry area has been a goal of Northern Rescue for some time. There are currently 28 members who are eagerly pulling out of Station 2; however, many more volunteers are needed, especially within the lake area to cover the midnight to 6 a.m. duty shift. We're always looking for interested persons to stop by, visit, take a tour of the facility and perhaps pick up an application, according to Assistant Chief Rod Bowser. We're always glad to recruit new members, who will be offered training and education, equipment, uniforms and an alert pager at no cost to them. Volunteer members even enjoy the privilege of having a tax break on their Maryland tax returns, using the Maryland Income Tax Incentive, which provides a $3500 deduction for qualified individuals.

Plan on stopping by for a visit, have some light refreshments at our Open House scheduled during Autumn Glory weekend on Sunday, October 17 from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m. The members at Station 2 are looking forward to meeting you and will be providing free blood pressure and blood glucose screenings.

Native Plants To Be Discussed At Garden Club Mtg.

Liz McDowell will present a slide program, "Native Plants: A Welcome Sign for Wildlife," at the Cranberry Garden Club meeting on Thursday, Oct. 21, at 7 p.m. at the Alpine Lake Boathouse. The event is free and open to the public.

McDowell, a professional naturalist and wildlife manager, and her husband, Ron Boyer, own and operate Elk Ridge NatureWorks in Grantsville, Md. Their company offers nature programs and ecotours, and sells native wildflowers that have been propagated from seeds collected locally.

During McDowell's presentation, participants will learn how to enhance biodiversity by creating rain and butterfly gardens or backyard habitats using native plants.

McDowell will discuss a variety of native plants and habitat basics, explain the importance of preserving regional diversity, and demonstrate low-cost methods for attracting birds, turtles, butterflies, and other wildlife to one's backyard.

The Cranberry Garden Club welcomes women and men as members and meets the third Thursday of each month in the Kingwood and Terra Alta area. For more information, persons may call Peggy Nagel at 304-789-5555 or Nancy Reger at 304-789-5927.

Benefit Dinner Slated For Child Cancer Patient

A fundraiser buckwheat cake and sausage dinner is slated for 1 to 5 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 24, at the White Oak Church. The event is a benefit for Megan Lantz, a 6-year-old who has bone marrow cancer. Musical entertainment will be provided.

The cost for the fundraiser dinner is $6 for adults and $3 for children. The church is located along Cranesville Road, 4½ miles from Terra Alta.

AURORA/EGLON

MARTIN SERVICES

Graveside services for Lee R. Martin, 87, who died Saturday, Oct. 9, at his home near Aurora, will be at 10 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 16, at the Eglon Cemetery. His wife, Maxine Fike Martin, invites friends and neighbors to be present for this brief interment ceremony.

SHOOTING MATCH

A shooting match will be held Saturday, Oct. 16, at the Lantz Ridge Community Building beginning at noon. Persons may use 12, 16, or 20 gauge shotguns or .22 rifles, but no target guns are allowed. The public is invited.

70TH ANNIVERSARY

Sheridan and Nina (Pifer) Layman of Aurora will observe their 70th wedding anniversary on Oct. 23. By way of celebration, the family suggests a card shower. Cards may be addressed to the couple at RR1, Box 341-A, Aurora, WV 26705. Mrs. Layman also has a birthday on Oct. 26.

CANDIDATE FORUM

The Mountain Lions Club will sponsor a forum for the public to meet the various local candidates. This event will be Oct. 28 at the Union Ambulance squad hall, and doors will open at 6 p.m., with the meeting to get under way at 6:30 p.m.

LOUGHRY BIRTHDAY

Janice Arnold Loughry will celebrate a birthday on Oct. 23. This former resident will enjoy hearing from those who know her, and cards may be addressed to her at: Chestnut Knoll, 120 W. 5th Street, Boyertown, PA 19512.

FOOD HANDLERS' CLASS SET

A food handlers' class is scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 19, at 7 p.m. at the Aurora fire hall. All persons who need to attend such a class are urged to attend.

PERSONAL MENTION

George and Beatrice Dean of Walnut Creek, Calif., have been recent visitors with Dale and Wilda Harsh at Aurora. Mrs. Dean is Mrs. Harsh's sister. Also visiting them this weekend were Dale's son, Roy Harsh, of Fairview, Pa., and Roy's father-in-law, Paul Ryan, of Erie, Pa.

Don and Lois Beckman of Horse Shoe Run were weekend visitors in Delaware with Don's children, Brian and Diane, and their families.

Glenn Strawser has returned to his Eglon home from Garrett County Memorial Hospital, but continues recuperation from his recent illness and surgery.

Hallie Hartsell remains a patient in Preston Memorial Hospital, but was reportedly slightly improved Sunday.

Joe Spaid of Eglon was moved last week to the subacute area of Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Dennis Swartzentruber of Aurora was taken Sunday to Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Bill Moats of Stemple Ridge was also taken to Garrett Memorial Hospital and was admitted there.

Claude and Jean Winters of Eglon accompanied their son and daughter-in-law, Carl and Nancy Winters, of Manassas, Va., on a weekend visit in Mt. Vernon, Ind., with the latter's daughter and family, Brian, Suzanne, and Owen Sapp.

Musical Program Slated At Terra Alta United Methodist

Organist Kent Pomeroy and vocalist Sebert Tamplin will present a musical program Sunday, Oct. 24, at the Terra Alta First United Methodist Church at 7 p.m.

Pomeroy will play both the organ and the clavinova. His performance will include Toccata and Fugue in D Minor by J.S. Bach and Scott Joplin's "Combination March."

Tamplin, a former singer with Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians, lives in Clearwater, Fla., during the winter and Alpine Lake in the summer. He and his wife Doris attend First Church.

His performance will include "Danny Boy," "Amazing Grace," and "You'll Never Walk Alone."

A coronation will be held at 7:30 p.m. to crown a high school king and queen and a middle school prince and princess. Proceeds from this event will benefit the academic and athletic programs at the school.

Persons wanting to donate a door prize may contact Jamie Tallman at 304-693-7612 or 301-693-7880.

Sgt. Patrick Gass To Be Portrayed

Helen Markwell will portray Sgt. Patrick Gass, a member of Lewis and Clark's Corps of Discovery, on Monday, Oct. 18, at 7:30 p.m. at the Moomaw Library in Petersburg.

Gass was a native of Wellsburg, Va. (now West Virginia), and kept a diary during the entire expedition, which was published in 1807. He served as the expedition's carpenter.

Gass died in 1870 at the age of 98.

Markwell's historical enactment is presented by the Grant County Arts Council. For more information, persons may call 304-257-4674 or e-mail buckgeary@frontiernet.net.

Thank You

Overwhelmed by love and support and expressions of sympathy, the family of Jerry L. Browning want to thank our neighbor Jeff for being there, Sarah, Southern Garrett Co. Rescue Squad, Dr. Douglas Delo and Garrett Co. Memorial Hospital emergency room staff, Rev. Sam Moore for letting God have him at the right place for our family that night, Stewart Funeral Home and staff, Rev. L. Joe Robinette and Rev. Neil Parsons for the beautiful funeral service, Debbie for the song, Vonda, pianist, pall bearers– Douge, Randy, Matthew, Fred, Nathan & Curt for the service at the Garrett Co. Memorial Gardens. Thank you to the combined veterans' organizations, and the Garrett College Pipes & Drums, funeral dinner provided by the Deer Park Vol. Fire Dept. Women's Auxiliary, Deer Park Homemakers Club and Deer Park United Methodist Church.

Thank you to everyone for the prayers, cards, calls, food, visits, flowers, money and donations to the Deer Park United Methodist building fund.

A special thank you to our "daughters" Chris, V, Amy, Brenda and Karen, who called us Mom & Dad Browning as they went through high school and college with Paul & Barbara and have shared many events, moments and meals with us and kept us young at heart and at this time provided comfort to our family.

Thank you and may God bless you all,

WARM THE CHILDREN

Providing New Winter Clothing For Needy Children

For the eighth year, The Republican is asking for your help. Without it, many Garrett County children will go cold this winter.

Just what is The Republican newspaper's WARM THE CHILDREN PROGRAM?

The Republican's WARM THE CHILDREN PROGRAM is basically neighbors helping neighbors. We here at the paper are asking for monetary donations (tax deductible) from you, the readers. The collected funds are being used to purchase new winter clothing for Garrett County children in need. Because the newspaper administers the program, there are no added fees or overhead costs. Every penny donated is used to buy the winter items.

How are needy children being identified?

A special corps of volunteers is working right now to identify those in need this year. (Please do not call for the service. If you have been selected, you will be notified.)

How will the children's clothing be purchased?

Members of the Civic Club of Oakland will soon be taking the families shopping at Wal-Mart. The children, with the help of their parents, may select their own new coats, hats, sweaters, long johns, jeans, boots, pajamas, or other needed winter items, spending up to $100 per child.

The Civic Club of Oakland is again heading up the volunteer/shopping coordination in the southern part of the county. Betty Ellington and Bobby Andersen are the head coordinators, assisted by several other Civic Club members. For the northern part of the county, Lisa Broadwater will continue her role as the coordinator of shopping at the LaVale Wal-Mart. Many other functions of the program are being handled by Civic Club members, for which the newspaper staff is very grateful.

THE REPUBLICAN with the GWFC Civic Club of Oakland

To make a donation, please complete the coupon below, cut it out, and mail it along with your tax-deductible contribution to the address noted. All checks should be made out to Warm the Children.

Please make your donations before December 3, 2004. Those collected after December 3 will be saved for next year's campaign.

Farming On The Mountaintop

Grant Applications Available For Ag Promotion Projects

The Maryland Agriculture Council is now accepting applications for educational grant funding "to help make the connection between farming and the everyday lives of Marylanders."

Grants will be awarded for projects that promote agriculture and educate the general public on the importance of farming in their lives.

A total of $7,000 is available to individuals or organizations that submit qualified projects or programs. Emphasis is on smaller, high-quality projects. The deadline to submit applications is Oct. 31, 2004.

The role of the Maryland Agriculture Council Inc. is to educate the public on the importance of agriculture. The council's grant program is funded by proceeds from its annual Agriculture Dinner held each winter.

For grant application forms and guidelines, persons may contact Faith Elliott Rossing, 2005 grant chairperson, at 410-758-4056 or rossing@dmv.com.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a public hearing on Thursday, October 21, 2004, starting at 7:30 p.m. in the County Commissioners' meeting room, Second Floor, Courthouse Annex, Oakland. The Board will review the following docketed cases:

1. VR-587 – an application submitted by Hugh D. Umbel for a Variance to construct a proposed residence to come within 15.0 feet of a rear, lakefront property line instead of the required 40.0 feet. The applicant previously submitted building and site plans and received approval for the same rear yard Variance under Docket VR-580, heard in June 2004. However, the applicant now proposes to enlarge and modify the building plans for the proposed residence and is reapplying for the specified Variance to come within 15.0 feet of a rear property line. The property is located adjacent to 2710 State Park Road and is zoned Lake Residential. This case was postponed from the September meeting of the Board.

2. VR-588 – an application submitted by Scott and Elizabeth Johnson for a Variance to build an addition to a residence to come within 28.0 feet of the rear property line instead of the existing, grandfathered 35.25 feet. The property is located at 90 Kuhnle Drive and is zoned Lake Residential.

Interested persons are invited to attend.

INVITATION TO BID
DEEP CREEK LAKE WASTEWATRE TREATMENT PLANT EXPANSION

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners will accept sealed bids for furnishing all labor, equipment and materials to complete all work required for the expansion of the Deep Creek Lake Wastewater Treatment Plant. The work consists of the following tasks: construction of one new headworks building and associated equipment; construction of one new oxidation ditch and associated equipment; construction of two new clarifiers and associated equipment; construction of one laboratory addition; construction of one new ultraviolet disinfection facility, including plant process water pumping station, effluent meter, and post aeration cascade and all associated equipment; construction of one new electrical/chemical building and associated equipment; construction of one aerobic digester, blower building and associated equipment; and associated site work, electrical service and utility piping. The successful contractor will be required to complete the construction of the expansion project within five hundred forty-eight (548) calendar days after issuance of the Notice to Proceed. A bid bond in the amount of 5% of the total bid amount shall be submitted with each bid. A performance/payment bond in the full bid amount will be required of the successful contractor.

A Pre-Bid Meeting will be held at 10:00 a.m. on Wednesday, October 20, 2004, in the Commissioners' Public Meeting Room located at 203 South Fourth Street, Room 209, in Oakland, Maryland.

Bid documents and specifications may be obtained in person from the Procurement Office of the Garrett County Department of Financial Services, 313 East Alder Street, Room 105, Oakland, Maryland 21550. The cost of the bid specifications and drawings is $150.00 per set and is nonrefundable. All out of town contractors must pre-pay for shipping and the cost of the plans. Inquiries may be made by calling 301-334-5003.

Sealed bids must be submitted to the Procurement Office of the Garrett County Department of Financial Services, Courthouse Room 105, 313 East Alder Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, on or before Tuesday, November 16, 2004, at 1:30 p.m. (local time). Sealed bids will be publicly opened and read aloud in the Commissioners' Meeting Room at 2:00 p.m. on November 16, 2004. All bidders are required to submit three (3) copies of their bid documents at the time of submission. All bids submitted should be enclosed in a sealed envelope and should be clearly marked "Deep Creek Lake Wastewater Treatment Plant Expansion Bid" on the outside of the envelope. Any bids received after the time due will not be considered for award and shall be retained as documentation for the bid file.

Town of Grantsville, P.O. Box 296, 171 Hill Street, Grantsville, Maryland 21536, applied for renewal of the permit to discharge an average of 600,000 gallons per day of treated domestic wastewater for the Grantsville Wastewater Treatment Plant (WWTP) located at National Pike (Alternate Route 40) ¼ mile east of town limit, Grantsville, Garrett County, Maryland 21536, to the Casselman River which is designated Use IV waters protected for recreational trout fishing.

Tentative Determination:

Reissue the discharge permit with the following effluent limitations for existing Outfall 001: BODs, 30 mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic mean, 45 mg/l maximum weekly arithmetic mean, total suspended solids, 30 mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic mean, 45 mg/l maximum weekly arithmetic mean; total kjeldahl nitrogen (TKN), 15 mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic mean, 23 mg/l maximum weekly arithmetic mean from May 1 through September 30; E. coli, 126 MPN/100 ml maximum monthly steady state geometric mean value; total residual chlorine, 0.027 mg/l maximum when chlorine or chlorine compounds are used in any treatment process; dissolved oxygen, 5.0 mg/l minimum at any time; and pH maintained between 6.5 and 8.5. Ammonia nitrogen limits of 3.9 mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic mean, 9.4 mg/l maximum daily arithmetic mean from May 1 through October 31 will become effective three years after the issuance of the permit and replace the TKN limitations. Regular effluent monitoring and reporting is required. The effluent limits reflect water quality based requirements necessary for compliance with the state water quality standards.

A public hearing on the tentative determination will be scheduled if a written request is received by October 28, 2004. The request should be sent to the Maryland Department of the Environment, Water Management Administration, 1800 Washington Blvd., Baltimore, Maryland 21230-1708, Attn.: Stephen Luckman, and must include the name address, and telephone number (home and work) of the person making the request, the name of any other party whom the person making the request may represent, and the name of the facility and permit number. Failure to request a hearing by October 28, 2004, will constitute a waiver of the right to a public hearing on the tentative determination. Written comments concerning the tentative determination will be considered in the preparation of a final determination if submitted to the Department, to the attention of Mr. Luckman at the above address, on or before November 8, 2004. Any hearing-impaired person who requests a hearing may also request an interpreter at the hearing by contacting Mr. Luckman at 410-537-3671 or 1-800-633-6101 by written request to the above address at least ten working days prior to the scheduled hearing date.

Information supporting the tentative determination, including the draft permit and fact sheet, may be reviewed by contacting Mr. Luckman at the above telephone number to make an appointment or by written request to Mr. Luckman at the above address. Copies of documents may be obtained at a cost of $0.32 per page.

PUBLIC NOTICES

INVITATION TO BID

Proposals are requested for selective excavation, grading, and culvert removal associated with the Flood Levee Improvement Project to restore water flow through the Kitzmiller Mill Race. All work will be accomplished in accordance with plans provided by the Town.

The scope of work includes excavation to specified grade for a 200 foot segment of the Mill Race and the removal and disposal of two 18 inch diameter and 25 foot long culverts. Work areas are subject to Maryland Dept. of the Environment and U.S. Army Corps of Engineers permit requirements for which application responsibility will remain with the Town.

The project to which construction work pertains is being assisted by the United States of America and the successful bidder must comply with Federal Labor Standards Provisions.

Bids must be received by 3:00 p.m., Thursday, 11 November 2004, at the Kitzmiller Town Hall, located at 104 W. Centre Street, Kitzmiller, MD 21538. Call 301-453-3449 for plan information.

The contract will be awarded to the lowest qualified bidder. The Town reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive irregularity in bidding.

An appointment for a pre-bid site inspection can be arranged by calling 301-453-3449.

Saturday To Be Garrett Day Of Caring, Sharing

The United Way of Garrett County's second annual Garrett County Day of Caring and Sharing is scheduled for this Saturday, Oct. 23, beginning at 8:30 a.m.

The local Day of Caring and Sharing corresponds with the National Make a Difference Day that is sponsored by USA Weekend. Each year on the fourth Saturday of October persons around the country volunteer in their communities to make a difference, a spokesperson said.

Registration for the Garrett County Day of Caring and Sharing will begin at 8 a.m. with breakfast and an opening ceremony at the Mary Browning Senior Center, located along Center Street in Oakland. The breakfast is being sponsored by Browning's Foodland, Perkins Family Restaurant, and the Oakland Wal-Mart.

After a morning of volunteer work, participants will meet back at the Mary Browning Senior Center at 12:30 p.m. for a box lunch and to celebrate the day's accomplishments, the spokesperson said.

This year participants will be given commemorative T-shirts, compliments of sponsors for the event, including Fitzwater Furniture, Rudy's, and the Wisp Mountain Resort.

Many participating United Way agencies have projects scheduled for the day, including the Dove Center, Habitat for Humanity, Mountain Glade Adult Day Services, Maryland Salem Children's Trust, and Garrett County Community Action.

Other United Way agencies will be providing volunteers around the community, including Boy Scouts, Big Brothers Big Sisters, and Girl Scouts.

Bob Stephens, a volunteer for United Way and the event chairman, said last year's event was a success.

"We were able to help the community through our labor and also raise the

BRAVING THE WORST AGF WEATHER EVER were the stalwart members of the 2004 Autumn Glory Festival Royal Court. Hard, driving rain mixed with ice and snow fell relentlessly Saturday afternoon, creating a miserable situation for all involved. However, hardy parade-watchers sat out in it anyhow, and band members still marched and twirlers still tried to twirl. Withstanding the foul conditions was an adventure in itself, and will surely be remembered for years to come. The court, Queen Erin Ashley Rhodes, King Eric M. Johnson, Princess Blakely Glotfelty, and Prince Andrew Goad, reigned over a number of Autumn Glory events, not all of which were rainy and cold, thankfully. (Good heavens, it looks like King Eric is having a royal cough in this photo. Hope he didn't catch a cold!) Photo by John McEwen (who was also drenched, by the way).

Landfill Disposal Regulations To Be Enforced Nov. 1

Director Gary Mullich, Garrett County General Services Department, told the commissioners this week that waste delivery regulations at the Garrett County Landfill need to be enforced.

Beginning Nov. 1, residents and permitted haulers will be required to have their loads separated, secured, and covered before they will be allowed to dispose the waste at the landfill.

Mullich noted that the regulations were not anything new. Maryland law requires that loads be covered. Enforcing the covered-load requirement will prevent trash from being deposited along Sang Run and other roads, he said. Local law officers may be asked to help enforce the covered-

Public Hearing Held On Changing DCL Marina Zoning Regulations

The Garrett County commissioners held a public hearing this week on three amendment proposals to the Deep Creek Watershed Zoning Ordinance relating to the sale and rental of boats and other watercraft. The proposals were submitted by developer Karen Myers, Swanton.

Under the ordinance's current definition, a "marina" includes the sale or rental of boats and other watercraft as part of the services typically provided by marinas, which usually include boat repairs, boat storage, and fuel sales. A minimum land area of two acres, therefore, is currently required in order to establish a "marina" with all the expected amenities. Persons wanting to start a watercraft sales/rental business in the Deep Creek Watershed, however, still need at least two acres of land, even if they do not plan to repair or store watercraft or sell fuel.

Myers would like to establish a boat rental/sales business with a showroom in McHenry on a lot smaller than two acres. Boat storage, repairs, and fuel sales would not be within this business, noted John Nelson, director Garrett County Planning and Zoning.

In early July, the Garrett County Planning Commission approved the amendments by a vote of 6 to 1. They must now be approved by the commissioners before they are added to the ordinance.

Myers said she looked at the amendments as more of a clarification of the definition of marina, rather than a change to the ordinance.

"I think the amendments will promote free enterprise," she said. "I think all of us should be business like enough to welcome competition."

The first amendment proposal suggests that a new use category be added to the ordinance's "Table of Use Regulations." Added would be "sale and/or rental of boats or other watercraft and all accessory equipment including assembly of such vehicles and equipment, excluding repair and long-term storage of such vehicles and excluding sale of fuel."

This use would be permitted in the Rural Development, Town Center, and General Commercial zones; permitted by special exception in the Town Residential, Commercial Resort 1, and Commercial Resort 2 zones; and not permitted in the Lake Residential zone.

The second proposal suggests adding a new land use category to the "Table of Dimensional Requirements" under Section 401.B.210: Sale and/or Rental of Boats or Other Watercraft. The change would establish the same dimensional requirements as the recreational vehicles category, which are a minimum of 10,000 square feet per use, minimum lot width of 100 feet, and setbacks of 20 feet on the front, 15 feet on the sides, and 25 feet at the back of the lot.

The third proposal would

Frederick Pleads Guilty To Abu Ghraib Charges

Garrett County native Staff Sgt. Ivan "Chip" Frederick II, one of a handful of Army Reserve soldiers with the 372nd Military Police Company accused in the Abu Ghraib Prison scandal in Iraq, entered guilty pleas to five charges before a U.S. military judge yesterday in a Baghdad courtroom.

This morning the Buckingham, Va., resident received an eight-year prison sentence from Army judge Col. James Pohl. In addition to the jail term, the 20-year veteran received a reduction in rank to a private's status, and a dishonorable discharge.

Frederick, 38, expressed remorse as he pleaded guilty to charges of conspiracy, dereliction of duty, maltreatment of detainees, assault, and committing an indecent act. "I was wrong about what I did and I shouldn't have done it," he told the judge. "I knew it was wrong at the time because I knew it was a form of abuse."

A plea bargain agreement led to several other charges against Frederick County Officials Discuss Universal Ad Valorem Rates

The Garrett County commissioners and Department of Public Utilities staff this week discussed combining the county's sanitary districts and charging universal ad valorem tax rates. The purpose would be to more evenly distribute the cost of 11 water and sewer projects costing more than $10 million among all sanitary district customers.

"We have studied the situation with regard to the need for water and sewer infrastructure [in the county] over several months," said Mark Tonkovich, director of Garrett County Public Utilities. "We think it would be appropriate to combine the 10 water and seven sewer districts into one water and one sewer district to benefit the economically disadvantaged communities and others served by water and sewer districts to better serve and spread the cost of the expansion [projects] and improvements."

Accountant Jeff Broadwater of Public Utilities outlined the benefits of having universal ad valorem tax rates: financial flexibility, affordable rates for all customers, rate flexibility, utility cost consistency, rate stabilization, reduced administrative cost, additional project options, shared growth benefits, and project efficiency.

Commissioner Dave Beard asked how combining the districts would affect grant funding for projects. He said he was told that if a universal district was formed, some depressed areas in the county may not get funding for their water and sewer projects if they were attached to the more affluent Deep Creek Lake district.

Broadwater said there was nothing in writing, but the U.S. Department of Agriculture and Maryland Department of the Environment said it would not affect the grant selection process. "Grants are awarded based on priority funding areas, not necessarily districts," he said.

"I would like it in writing," added Tonkovich.

Commissioner Fred Holliday was also concerned that universal rates would negatively affect rural area customers and "mom and pop" businesses. The commissioners indicated they would discuss that issue further.

Broadwater also noted some common misconceptions about universal ad valorem tax rates. He said some people think that under a universal district, residents who are not in a district before would be in the future.

"The rate structure does not change any district boundaries," Broadwater

A VERY MESSY PRINCESS – Blakely Glotfelty, the Autumn Glory Festival princess, didn't let her tiara get in the way of competing in the annual No-Hands Ice-Cream Eating Contest at the Lakeside Creamery Sunday afternoon. The popular event attracted lots of contestants ready to plunge their faces into the cold (yet tasty) stuff on a very windy afternoon. Princess Blakely didn't win in her category, but she obviously gave it a good try. The event raises funds each year for the Garrett County Big Brothers Big Sisters organization. Oakland Man Dies From Injuries Sustained In Single-Vehicle Mishap

An Oakland man was pronounced dead at the scene of a single-vehicle accident Tuesday night on Cranesville Road just north of Herrington Manor Road, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies. See complete obituary on page A-6.

John F. Dragoo, 80, Oakland, was traveling northbound on Cranesville Road when for an undetermined reason the vehicle left the roadway, entered a soft culvert on the northbound shoulder, and came to rest after striking a utility pole, police said.

The accident is currently under investigation by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

Southern Rescue Squad and Oakland firefighters assisted at the scene of the 10:20 p.m. accident.

Multiple Charges Filed After Gas Theft In McHenry

An Accident man faces a variety of charges–including drug possession–filed by the Maryland State Police after a Wednesday morning theft of $20 worth of gasoline from the McHenry BP station.

Brant Alan Green, 23, was apprehended shortly after the 2:02 a.m. incident during a traffic stop by a state trooper who had heard the radio broadcast that relayed the BP clerk's description of a suspect and the suspect's vehicle that had fled north from the gas station. Tfc. Clapper noted the green 2000 Jeep just as it was passing the police barrack, and followed it for a short distance, during which he noted that the vehicle was speeding and repeatedly drifting across the double yellow center lines.

Upon being stopped just past Doerr Road, Green was arrested for theft, driving while under the influence, driving while intoxicated, negligent driving, failure to drive right of center, consuming an alcoholic beverage while driving, and failure to display registration plates on the vehicle.

A search following the arrest uncovered a metal smoking pipe filled with suspected marijuana in the center console of the Jeep, and two suspected marijuana cigarettes in the dash ash tray. Green was then further charged with possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

Green was later released from the Garrett County Detention Center after he posted a $1,000 bond set by a District Court commissioner.

DAVE BENDER RECOGNIZED AS STATE TEACHER FINALIST – Dave Bender, who was named one of the Teacher of the Year state finalists, was recognized at last week's Autumn Glory kick-off dinner. Above, Bender is commended by Senator John Hafer as Charlie Ross, president of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce looks on. Bender was recognized recently at the 14th annual Teacher of the Year Gala in Baltimore, which was attended by more than 1,000 people, including Gov. Bob Erhlich and state school superintendent Dr. Nancy Grasmick. Also in attendance were 35 friends and family members from Garrett County to celebrate Bender's achievement of being one of seven finalists for the coveted honor. Tables at the event were sponsored by Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, Southern Garrett Alumni Association, and Howell Trucking. Bender, who is starting his 25th year of teaching at Southern Garrett High School, is Garrett County's first ever finalist for this award. He is known for his local, state, and national leadership in programs such as the Maryland News Bowl, the Model United Nations, and the State History Day competitions. The finalists were narrowed down from a group of 24, and were selected by a panel of judges from key Maryland education organizations representing principals, teachers, school boards, superintendents, and higher education. Bender's wife Lisa is also a teacher at Southern High School.

TANKER FIRE IMPEDES COMMUTE – When EMS and fire units arrived on the scene this morning, this gasoline tanker was engulfed in flames, according to Garrett County Emergency Management. The accident occurred on I-68 just west of exit 29, Finzel, and according to Maryland State Police, the westbound lane of the Interstate was still closed at press time. The driver was transported to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, by Frostburg Ambulance. According to reports, he escaped the truck before the fire started. Also assisting at the 7 a.m. scene were firefighters with Eastern Garrett, Grantsville, Frostburg, Claryaville, Shaft, Salisbury, Midland, and Deep Creek. Other agencies involved were Allegany County Hazmat Team, State Highway Administration, and the Department of the Environment. Photo by Lisa Broadwater.

Community To Join Forces In Veterans Day Parade, Program

BRYSON UPPERMAN

GEORGE EDWARDS

"Standing Watch," the Veterans Day speakers and music program of the Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross, is slated for 2-4 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 7, at St. Peter the Apostle Catholic Church in Oakland. The speakers' list includes Del. George Edwards, and Pleasant View Baptist Church children's choir member Bryson Upperman will perform a solo rendition of the national anthem.

The Standing Watch program immediately follows the Veterans Day Parade, which will get under way at p.m. that same afternoon at the Oakland Train Station. Retired House Delegate DeCorsey Bolden will serve as parade marshal, and Al Fauber is the parade chairperson.

As part of the annual Veterans Day program at St. Peter's, organizers are asking those in attendance to consider bringing phone cards (suitable for international calls), which will be collected and shipped to overseas to American military personnel. Phone cards may be purchased at local area discount stores, drug stores or grocers.

"Our community wants to do something for the service men and women who are overseas," said a Red Cross volunteer. "We can think of no better gift than hearing a loved one's voice. Phone cards are something that an individual or a group of individuals can purchase, depending on one's budget. Also, with the heightened security, right now phone cards are easier to ship rather than items such as toiletries or sundries."

A number of local churches, organizations, and groups are donating time and effort to the program, including St. Paul's United Methodist, Oak Park Church of the Brethren and St. Peter's Catholic churches; and the children's choir of Pleasant View Baptist Church. Dave Martin and Tim Miller will lead the assembly in the singing of the military songs, and Oakland's Andrew Sisters will perform a medley of World War II songs. Lt. Joseph Shaffer of Oakland will lead the Pledge of Allegiance and deliver a personal address to his fellow servicemen and servicewomen.

The American Red Cross is not a government agency, the ARC volunteer pointed out, and it relies on donations of time and funds to deliver critical services throughout the community. All money collected from a goodwill offering taken during the Veterans Day program will remain in Garrett County to assist local citizens in times of need.

Public Advised To Avoid Little Yough

The Garrett County Department of Public Utilities has advised the public to avoid contact with the Little Youghiogheny River at the southern edge of Mountain Lake Park. Because of a recent power outage caused by high winds, approximately 130,000 gallons of raw sewage overflowed from a manhole into that area.

This advisory will remain in effect until monitoring shows a return to normal water quality conditions, according to the Department of Public Utilities and the Garrett County Health Department.

For more information, persons may call Public Utilities at 301-334-6976 or the Health Department at 301-334-7777.

Destler To Be Speaker At "Our Story" Conference

University of Maryland Provost William W. Destler will be the luncheon speaker at the Our Story Conference on Friday, Nov. 12, at Garrett College.

"We are extremely excited to secure the expertise of someone with the stature of Dr. Destler," said Charlie Ross, president of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, which is coordinating this daylong forum. "I am sure that all who attend will benefit from his presentation."

The theme of this year's Strategic Thinking Conference is "Networking to the Action!"

Provost Destler, who is also senior vice president for academic affairs at U.Md., will speak on education, training, and the promise of work.

"The #2 administrator for the University System, Dr. Destler pioneered the offering of technological literacy programs to corporate audiences," said Ross. He presently is involved in several innovative cross-disciplinary educational programs.

He previously served the university as vice president for research and dean of the graduate school, as dean of engineering, and as chairman of the electrical engineering department. He received a bachelor of science degree from Stevens Institute of Technology in 1968 and a doctorate from Cornell University in 1972.

Destler's research interests have been primarily in the areas of high power microwave sources and particle beam technology, and he is the author or co-author of over 200 research papers on these and related topics. Destler is the recipient of numerous awards for teaching excellence, including the 1989 AT&T Award for Excellence in Engineering Education for the Mid-Atlantic States. In 1992 he was named a University of Maryland Distinguished Scholar-Teacher. He has pioneered the offering of technological literacy programs to corporate audiences, and is presently involved in several innovative cross-disciplinary educational programs.

Other government and business officials will speak on the benefits of networking to action throughout the day. Morning and afternoon workshops also will be offered. During that day optional excursions are planned for the ribbon cutting for the Garrett Container Systems expansion and groundbreaking for the Adventure Sports Center's whitewater course on top of Marsh Mountain.

This event is being coordinated by the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, Garrett County Economic Development, and other business sponsors. Persons interested in a sponsorship or in registering to attend may call the chamber office at 301-387-4386 for more details.

READING FIRST — Dr. Nancy Updegraff, internationally renowned reading consultant, recently spoke to staff members at Grantsville Elementary School. Dr. Updegraff is a specialist in teacher training and grant writing, author of 12 published articles, and currently the national consultant for state and federal funds for Harcourt Publishers. The presentation was part of ongoing teacher training at Grantsville and funded by a federal Reading First grant. Reading First, part of the federal No Child Left Behind initiative, is a systemic and explicit reading program that advocates instruction integrating phonemic awareness, phonics, fluency, vocabulary, and comprehension. Shown above, front row, from left, are Susan Burke, Reading First regional specialist; Cathy Heibig, Grantsville's Reading First coach; Dr. Updegraff; and Dr. William Bingman of Frostburg State University. In the back row are Tom Lombardo, Harcourt representative; and Grantsville's principal, Barbara Baker.

Lawyer Convicted Of Threatening Garrett Co. Sheriff

Oakland-based attorney Barry Eugene Sweitzer was found guilty of threatening a state official and was handed an 18-month suspended sentence during a Garrett County District Court hearing last week.

Sweitzer, 37, pleaded not guilty to the charge but was nonetheless convicted by visiting Judge Charles Foos III. The defendant had been jailed in February for posting signs in the window of a Third Street building he owns that threatened Garrett County Sheriff Dick Sanders.

In addition to the suspended sentence, Sweitzer was placed on two years' supervised probation. At the time of his arrest Sweitzer was employed by the county's Department of Public Utilities, but has since been terminated.

Freyman Named '04 Volunteer Ski Patroller Of Year

William Freyman has been named the 2004 Volunteer Patroller of the Year for the National Ski Patrol's Eastern Division. The National Ski Patrol is a volunteer organization of 28,500 members who promote safety and care for injured skiers and snowboarders. Its Eastern Division has over 8,000 members spanning 15 regions from Maine to West Virginia.

A ski patroller for over 35 years, Freyman has served as a patrol leader at Wisp and most recently at Canaan Valley resort. His duties have included training and evaluating fellow patrollers in first aid, skiing, and tobogganing. He has earned a National Appointment, several Merit Star citations and has previously received the Eastern Division Tyler Davis Outstanding Instructor Award.

Freyman is a certified patroller, having passed the highest test level of the ski patrol, and also administers examinations at the patroller, senior, senior examiner, and certified levels. He also serves on the Eastern Division Ski and Toboggan Staff.

Freyman volunteered at the 2002 Salt Lake Olympics, and has been involved as a coach with local ski racers for the last 15 years. He has been a ski club advisor, and has had several coaching positions while employed as a teacher for 36 years.

Oakland Man Charged After Theft Incident

A shoplifting arrest early Monday morning led to additional charges for an Oakland man, according to the Oakland Police Department.

Brandon Alexander Louden, 20, was arrested at his residence by police who investigated a theft complaint at the Oak Street BFS convenience store. An employee contacted police after allegedly witnessing Louden take a pepperoni roll and candy from the store with a combined value of $4.74. Officers located Louden at his residence, and after further investigation discovered that he was carrying a suspected marijuana smoking device and determined that he was intoxicated.

Louden faces charges of misdemeanor theft, possession of drug paraphernalia, and underage drinking. He was released from the Garrett County Detention Center after he posted a $1,000 bond set by a District Court commissioner.

5-4-3-2-1— BLAST OFF! Fifth graders at Dennett Road Elementary School took part in a project recently that was both educational and lots of fun. For several weeks, three-person crews of youngsters worked on 3-foot long rockets, learning about such things as aerodynamics and team work. The project culminated in a launching day, with the teams sending their models into the sky via a very strong and large rubber band. The rocket named "Aquatech," built by Josh Viar, Anthony Mullan, and Billy Gower, traveled the farthest, landing 128.6 feet from the launcher. "Terrorist Attack," the rocket built by Andrew Cvetnick, Christina Cortez, and Dakota Pritt, tied with "Joker," the rocket by Shawn Gallagher, Logan Stewart, and Kearstin McDaniel, for the fastest. The average speed of the two was 43 miles per hour. John Sines and Val Drummond, both police officers as well as parents, offered their help in the project by using radar guns to determine the speed and distances. Teachers Patty Smith, Allen Skidmore, and Mike Warne, along with Principal Gary Galloway and several parents, were on hand for the afternoon of launches into the October sky. Photos by John McEwen.

Two Motorists Slightly Injured In Oakland Crashes

Two drivers were slightly injured in two separate motor vehicle collisions in Oakland Tuesday, according to the Oakland Police Department.

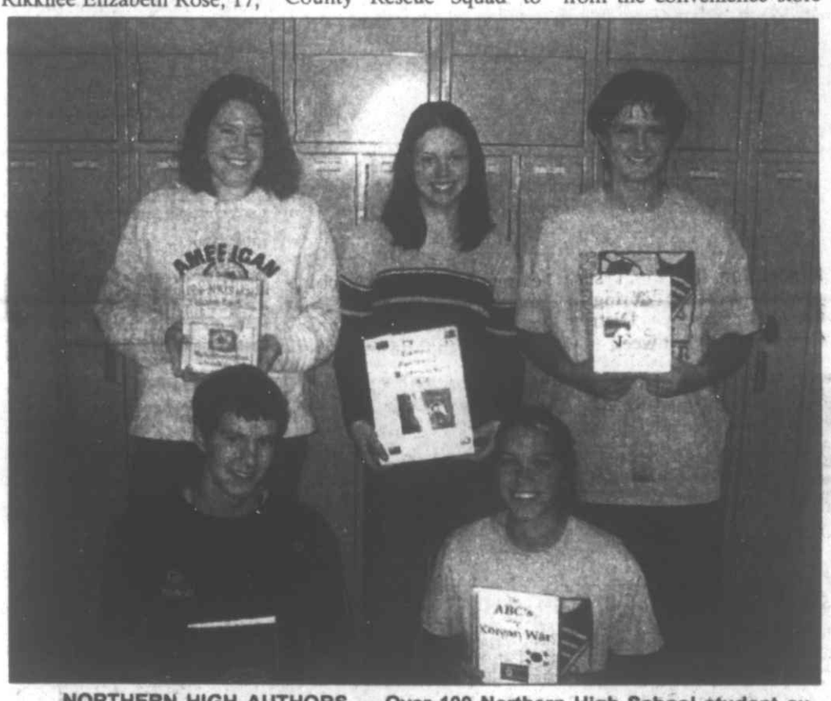
The first mishap occurred at 12:30 p.m. behind the McDonald's restaurant as a vehicle operated by Rikkilee Elizabeth Rose, 17, Oakland, reportedly failed to yield the right of way in turning left from eastbound Pennington Street onto northbound Fourth Street. Rose's 1998 Mitsubishi Eclipse allegedly pulled into the path of a southbound 1997 Chevrolet Lumina operated by Susan Jeanette West, 43, Mtn. Lake Park, and the two vehicles collided.

West was transported by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, along with her 3-year-old son, who was not injured. Police reported that the child was properly restrained in his safety seat.

No charges were filed by the investigating officer.

The second crash occurred at 6:15 p.m. at the entrance to Markwood's Citgo on Garrett Highway, when a vehicle operated by Stephanie Marie Abe, 17, Oakland, allegedly pulled from the convenience store parking lot into the path of a northbound pickup truck. Abe, who sustained minor injuries in the collision, was transported to Garrett Memorial by the Southern Rescue Squad, while the driver of the Ford F-150, Timothy Gail Skipper, 40, Oakland, was not injured.

Abe was charged with failure to yield right of way.



NORTHERN HIGH AUTHORS — Over 100 Northern High School student authored books were featured at Johns Hopkins University Montgomery Campus this past month by Shawn Nicklin, a teacher at NHS. Nicklin presented them at Hopkins, and also gave a presentation to the Garrett County Reading Council. Over 100 books on world history topics will be donated to the four northern Garrett County elementary schools next spring. Besides donating the books, high school students will visit with several schools in April and May. During these visits, each elementary student will receive a free, professionally-bound blank book and one-on-one instruction time with a Northern High student. "The success of the project is not because of me, but of the quality of the students' work," said Nicklin. "It has surpassed my greatest expectations from three years ago when this project first began." Nicklin offered special thanks for support and ideas to Lynn Bell, director of secondary education; Gary Reichenbecher, principal of Northern High School; and Mrs. Karen Ray, service learning coordinator. Pictured above are five of the 100 authors. In the front, from left, are Andrew Minnick (History of Japan) and Amy Shaffer (History of Korean War). In the back are Amanda Kinsinger (The Reformation), Siobhan Howe (Australian Bushrangers), and Kayla Kipp (Empires of Asia).

Microsoft PowerPoint Class Set

A one-day Microsoft PowerPoint "crash" course will meet from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Friday, Nov. 5, at the McHenry campus of Garrett College.

Participants will learn the advantages and operations of PowerPoint as a tool for speakers notes, handouts, slide shows, and other presentations. The program is adaptable for personal use, the board room, or classroom.

For additional information, persons may contact the Continuing Education and Training Division at 301-387-3069.

Chamber Receives Impact Award For Second Year

The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce captured for the second time in two years the "Impact Award" from the Maryland Tourism Council. The honor was given for the "tremendous economic and tourism development impact made by the Chamber's Oakland Visitors Center and the Shoppe at Heritage Square."

During Autumn Glory weekend the Shoppe did nearly $10,000 in gross sales. Money generated by the Shoppe over and above expenses goes into the marketing budget for the county. Nearly 40 vendors now sell their Garrett County crafts and processed agricultural products at the Shoppe.

"What a great evening we had," said Chamber president Charlie Ross as he and his wife Cherie, Oakland's Main Street manager and creator of the Shoppe at Heritage Square concept, received personal congratulations from Aris Melissaratos, Maryland secretary of business and economic development, and Dennis Castleman, his assistant secretary for tourism and state director of marketing.

"Mountain Maryland was all over everything. Allegany County ran away with the New Electronic Marketing Award while we captured ours. With the results from Autumn Glory, the secretary turned around and asked Dennis to come up and represent him at the November 12 'Our Story' Conference. Now that's results!" Ross added.

"I am very honored to be a part of it," said Cherie Ross on the Shoppe, which she and Chamber staff members, working closely with Mayor Asa McCain of Oakland, helped to create.

"Starting with the business plan, the May opening, drafting of contracts, vendor recruitment, and procedures and policies for operation," Charlie Ross said of the Main Street manager's work, "the 1884 Queen Anne Railroad Station is 99% Cherie's effort."

Oakland rehabilitation is continuing up Liberty Street two properties down from the train station where the Acorn Building has been purchased for a toy collectibles shop. Across the street Garrett County Community Action is planning to demolish the Pritts Press Release-Tourism Award Building and erect a "historical period" building in its place that will serve in part as an artisan incubator to complement the current train station use.

"Jobs, income and the attraction of money from outside the area," Charlie Ross added, "these factors combine around the tourist theme to make progress for quality living in Garrett County."

Local Woman Charged With Drunk Driving

A Friendsville woman was arrested on drunk driving charges early Friday morning on 10th Street at Dennett Road, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Robin Renee Stemple, 27, was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, driving on a suspended license, and failure to stop at a stop sign. She was released on her own recognizance.

A female juvenile passenger was also cited for possession of alcohol under the age of 21.

A Double Standard?...

Filmmaker Michael Moore's "documentary" critical of the Bush administration raked in a gazillion dollars earlier this year in theatres across the country, and outside the country. There will also be a special pay-per-view airing of Fahrenheit 9/11 available the night before the election, and, of course, the DVD and VHS versions are plentiful for purchase.

Many Republicans were incensed about the film, alleging that it was full of innuendo, half-truths, and some outright falsehoods. It's production was politically motivated and intended to hurt Bush's bid for re-election, they said. Many Democrats said no, this was a film that is not politically motivated and really depicts the Bush administration for what it is. It is objective news reporting. And besides, trying to stop the airing of the film would be a blatant violation of the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

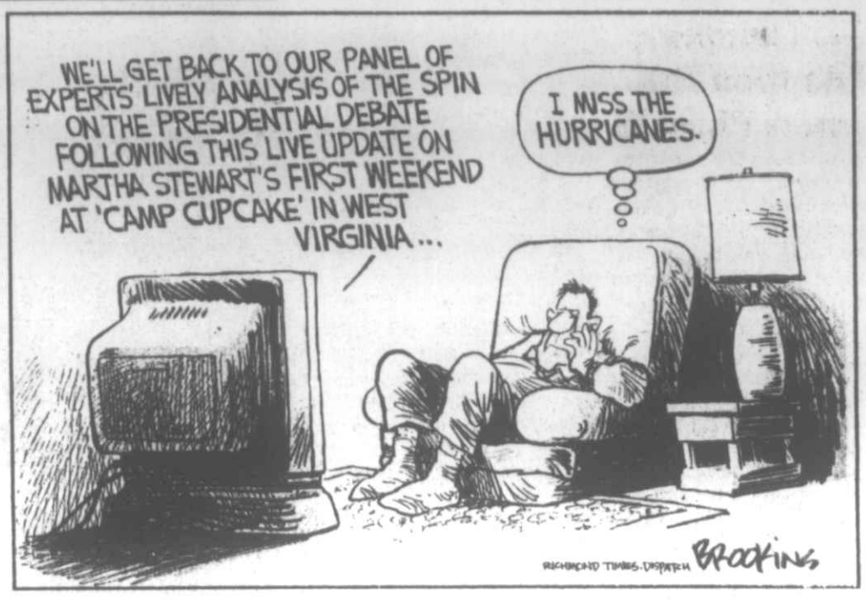
Now there is a new "documentary" (note the use of quotation marks in both cases) that has been produced by the Sinclair Broadcast Group; one highly critical of Senator John Kerry during and immediately following the Vietnam war titled Stolen Honor: Wounds that Never Heal. The same furor has erupted again, but with a 100% role reversal.

Now it's the Kerry supporters who are shouting no fair, that this film is "biased political propaganda, with clear intentions to sway this election." The Democratic National Committee has filed a complaint with the Federal Election Commission contending that airing the film should be considered an illegal in-kind contribution to the Bush campaign.

Yes, there is one difference, in that the Moore film was, at least to date, "limited" to being shown in thousands of privately owned movie theaters, while the Sinclair group intends to use public airwaves to broadcast its program over its 62 TV stations this weekend. But the pressure is on to keep privately owned theaters from airing the Sinclair film as well, with threats of "civic disturbances" being issued. There is no recollection of any theater in the country pulling the Moore film because of threats of "civil disturbances."

Freedom of speech? Biased political propaganda? A clear intent to sway the election? Illegal contribution? Could this be a perfect example of the pot calling the kettle black?

Once again, this is not really intended to be a pro-Bush, anti-Kerry column, nor is it even meant to be a pro-Republican, anti-Democrat column. It's just that this writer is admittedly confused about just what the difference between these two film scenarios is, and how the total role reversal can be justified. Letters of explanation are welcome (400 words or fewer, please).



Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

How low can you go?

For Senator John Kerry, while addressing the nation in a debate with the president of the United States, to bring up the sexuality of the daughter of the vice president is just plain sleazy. How can we trust a man of such low moral fiber to lead America and set an example for the rest of the world?

Sincerely,
James G. Klein
Baltimore

To the Editor:

There are extreme differences between these two candidates. Kerry doesn't seem to have a consistent stand on any issue. President Bush has been consistent, and he has done what he says he is going to do. I support President Bush because he is a man of morality and conviction. And his goal is to keep our homeland safe. He will not waver; he has and will continue to stand firm.

America has a choice: It can continue to grow the economy and create new jobs as the president's policies are doing, or it can raise taxes on American families and small businesses, hurting economic recovery and future job creation. President Bush's pro-growth agenda, strong education system, and policies to help American workers gain the skills to secure good jobs are the right ways to respond to the challenges of our growing and changing economy.

This is a very important election, and I feel more secure with President Bush running this country, and keeping my children and future grandchildren safe!!

Sincerely,
Stacey Long

To the Editor:

On Tuesday Republicans in the House of Representatives voted overwhelmingly against legislation that called for reinstating the draft, and the bill was soundly defeated. This was an important moment in today's political climate because both Senator John Kerry and Senator John Edwards have falsely claimed that it is Republicans, and President Bush, who support draft reinstatement.

While this vote should put the issue to rest, it is necessary to point out that it is another Democrat–South Carolina's Ernest Hollings–who has introduced similar legislation in the Senate. No Republican in Congress has introduced any draft legislation.

John Kerry is on record saying he might be open to the idea of a draft, and President Bush, in his closing statement in the first debate, made it clear that under him America's military will remain all-volunteer.

President Bush understands that the men and women who volunteered to defend America, and who serve in our military today, deserve our greatest appreciation and respect. As a candidate to be commander-in-chief, John Kerry should know better than to play politics with military service.

Sincerely,
John Haddox

To the Editor:

We would like to take this opportunity to thank several individuals and area businesses that helped to make a cold, rainy Autumn Glory Saturday much warmer and brighter.

We'd like to start by thanking Blair of Marvin's Men's Wear and Milton of Proudfoot's Oakland Pharmacy for allowing us to change into our formal attire in their establishments. Second, we'd like to extend a thank you to Evie Fike of Fox's Pizza Den for allowing the four of us and many others to seek refuge for several hours while we waited for the Autumn Glory parade to begin. Third, to David Moe, we really appreciated your willingness to pull our float through the rain and snow, and then even to help undecorate it. Fourth, we would like to thank Dave Taylor and Green Acres for allowing us to borrow all the flowers and greenery for the float. Fifth, to Railey Realty and Marvin's Men's Wear along with the Chamber of Commerce, we thank you all for sponsoring the Autumn Glory Royal Court. And last, we would like to thank our parents, without whom all the decorating, arrangements, and logistics would not have been possible.

To each and every one of the businesses and individuals mentioned, we want you to know your efforts and sacrifices were greatly appreciated, and each has helped to make this 2004 Autumn Glory experience a memorable one.

Submitted with gratitude,
The 2004 Autumn Glory

To the Editor:

About a month ago, I, having a senior moment, left my wallet in the Foodland store in Grantsville. It is with more regularity, as I grow older, I find myself leaving things around the house in odd places. That part of the human mind must pull in its parameters, and the place where one thinks of tasks becomes smaller.

The dish cloth in the freezer and the ice cubes melting in the refrigerator are the norm now. I am not writing this letter to talk about my shortcomings, but of the honesty of the workers at the store.

Roger checks me out regularly and smiles a lot. The ladies behind the office counter are always very busy, but they take the time to say hello. When I returned home and started to take the groceries into the house I noticed my purse had become much easier to carry. Then I knew I had left the very heavy wallet in the store.

I called, they found it, and it was picked up by my husband on his way home from work, complete with the cards and not one penny was missing. My heroes!

I have left my purse in other places, like a fast food place on Route 95 in Virginia that was returned with all the money gone. Another time I left it under a table at a Williamsburg eatery and I got it back because we went back and found it before anyone else did.

One moral of this story is the fact that great people work at the Grantsville Foodland! And the other moral of this story is I need a keeper or I have to instruct my Guardian Angel on how to nudge me, hard, when I get ready to leave my purse somewhere.

I promised myself that I would not write any more letters to the editor. I broke my silence to let your readers know that we have some very special people working and living here in Garrett County, and I thank my God (because he may not be someone else's God) every day that I am able to spend the rest of my life here.

To the Editor:

I'm sorry to hear that Food Lion is closing, but I'm not surprised. It is the climate of our times – corporate takeover. I think we're very lucky in this community to still have a locally owned newspaper in this time of media giants.

One of the things that I hate so much about President Bush and his administration is their support for corporate wealth. Did you know that the recent tax bill that Bush signed, calling it a tax break bill for the middle class, gives $137 billion in tax breaks that will go to companies? That's how this administration distorts and distracts.

And did you know that the takeover in Iraq is not all about oil after all? Check this out in the September issue of Harper's magazine. In her explosive article, Naomi Klein brings to our attention the work of Paul Bremer III, Bush's man in Baghdad, who spent his time while Iraq burned, busily issuing decrees that opened up Iraq to a complete corporate takeover. For example, his decrees open all of that nation's assets to foreign companies, and they allow 100 percent of the country's industries – from banking to food – to be owned by foreigners. And Bremer ruled that 100 percent of the profits that companies make can be taken out of the country – no requirements to reinvest or pay taxes in Iraq. Doesn't sound much like liberation to me – maybe legalized looting. Ms. Klein points out that this activity is fueling the continuing anger and armed resistance by the Iraqi people, who are determined not to have their nation looted or occupied.

But, this administration likes to tell us that all is going well in Iraq. More distortion, more lies, and worst of all, no honoring of the innocent young people fighting this war in the name of corporate greed. Where are the faces of our dead and wounded? When will we hear the list of names of the fallen and maimed? Why can't we see the coffins arriving every day? Which of these brave servicemen will become the voices to speak out against this immoral war? Who will lead the Veterans Against the Iraq War.

And, here's the rest of the story. Our young people are dying in the name of arms manufacturing and arms sales. Seriously. Check out Fahrenheit 911 and the scenes concerning the Carlyle Group. There you will see our current president among those who stand to profit from this war and any ongoing wars. You will also see Hamid Kharzi, the administration's hand-picked man in Afghanistan. These men should be filled with shame – their actions are despicable.

Sincerely,

being dropped, and the soldier has agreed to cooperate in further investigations and to testify at additional trials if needed.

The emotional court hearing included testimony from one of the Iraqi detainees the soldier was accused of abusing. Frederick admitted to taking part in photographed incidents of prisoner maltreatment last fall that drew worldwide attention when they came to light in early May.

The highest-ranking soldier formally charged in the prison case, Frederick reiterated statements he had written in his personal journal when the Army first began investigating soldiers' behavior at the prison in January. Then, and again yesterday, Frederick stated that the prisoner abuse was conducted on orders from Army military intelligence officers, an investigator for the Army's Criminal Investigation Command, and a civilian contractor carrying out interrogation of prisoners.

Asked by his own civilian attorney, Gary Myers, why he had not made detailed reports of problems at the prison at the time they were occurring, Frederick said he feared other soldiers might retaliate against him.

THE EUROPEAN VOTE

"Have you experienced any anti-American sentiment?" It is a question that comes up from time to time in letters and phone calls from home. I can answer categorically, explicitly and adamantly in the negative.

In fact, on two occasions Frenchmen have taken the trouble to volunteer that they are not anti-American, only anti-Bush. I have not ventured to challenge their good will by asking what they think of that half of the American population who support Bush. When people are trying to be nice, it is generally a good idea to let them.

My time in France is spent in both French and international circles. Of the five students who live in this house, there are two Frenchmen, one American (me), a Colombian and an African. Nearly all the students in my French language courses are Europeans. In my academic courses, there is an admixture of French and non-French.

What I sense in all my different spheres is a desire to have American leadership in the world, but a leadership which they want to follow. Their collective voice says something like this: "Lead us; don't boss us! Persuade us, don't bully us!" What reasonable person would feel any differently?

The current sense of European upset with the United States is that they feel bossed and bullied. They also believe that the Bush Administration has acted and continues to act in Iraq and on the world stage, in general, with egregious stupidity. Worst of all, they are certain that American foreign policy has made the world a more dangerous place for everybody.

If the American presidential election were held in Europe, John Kerry would not only win, he might win with as much as 90% of the vote.

What I heard from Americans before leaving home and what I still hear by e-mail and in the newspapers is that it is the president of the United States we are talking about, and, therefore, Europeans ought to mind their own business.

There is a fundamental problem with that view. It is a problem grounded in the origins of the American republic, namely that government without representation is tyranny. The fact is this: The president of the United States of America is, in many ways, the "President of the World." The difficulty with that fact is that the world does not get to vote for their President.

Not only is the president of the United States in many respects the President of the World, but he is the President of the World whether he wants to be or not. We have had two presidents in a row, Clinton and Bush, of two different temperaments and two different political parties who have entered the White House with the determination to be domestic presidents. Both, against their wills, became international presidents.

The United States is simply too big, two powerful, too rich not to play the leading role on the world stage at the beginning of the 21st Century.

Europeans and people around the world understand this better than Americans do. One reason they understand it better than we do is that they know lots more about the United States than Americans do about the rest of the world.

I was in the Paris bookstore which specializes in German books, and I was speaking in both French and German to the different clerks. Another customer, a German woman, started laughing. I asked her what was so funny. "It is very unusual," she said, "to meet an American who can speak French and German." I confessed that she is right, even if he only speaks French and German badly.

So here is the question: How is America to lead a world which it does not understand? Recasting the question in a sadder key, how is America to lead a world which it does not seem even interested to understand?

On November 2 the citizens of the United States will elect the next President of the World. The rest of the world, which he shall lead, is disenfranchised in this election. If that next President of the World continues to press a foreign policy aggressively in a world that does not want it, that world shall begin to think it smells a whiff of tyranny.

Tyranny begets revolution. That is an axiom taught by history and confirmed in history.

At the moment, Europe and the rest of the world want American leadership. Woe betide us if that desire is so frustrated that it dies the death of bitter resentment. One nation may be great enough to lead the world; no nation is great enough to take on the world.

That hour has not yet arrived, and it need not arrive. America has still the chance to fulfill a vision, a destiny which it seems to many that God himself has conferred upon her. This election may determine decisively whether that destiny is realized or denied.

For my part, I shall cast my vote in this election as Europe's representative, unelected, unofficial, unknown, for the next President of the World.

GC Computer Adoption Proj. Enters Phase II

The Garrett County commissioners, with support from a coalition of county agencies and businesses, have announced that the second phase of the Garrett Computer Adoption Project (GCAP) has begun.

"The commissioners have initiated this project to improve the availability of computer technology to county residents," said an Garrett County Economic Development spokesperson.

The GCAP provides computers and Internet access to Garrett County households with school-age children who currently lack any computer technology in their homes.

"There is a world of opportunity and learning available to children and families through computer technology," said the Garrett County commissioners. "The GCAP offers a way for county families to benefit, through increased skills and knowledge."

GCAP will be soliciting donations of computers capable of being refurbished and configured to run popular applications such as word processing, spreadsheets, and e-mail. Local high school and college students will assist in "recycling" the donated computers, using new parts if necessary.

Adopting families will be asked to complete a brief application describing how they would use the computer, and the benefits they hope to gain through technology in the home. A team of volunteer county citizens will evaluate the applications and select the recipient families.

Local Internet service providers – GCNet, ICEweb, and TWR/HereInTown.net – have agreed to donate six months of free Internet access to the adopting families, according to the spokesperson. Training and support will be provided to each family to help assure the systems are delivering the intended benefits requested by the families.

Since the program's inception in April 2002, more than 40 Garrett County families have adopted computers, the spokesperson noted.

"A recent survey of these families showed a very positive reception for GCAP," he said. Benefits mentioned by family members include assisting with schoolwork and homework assignments, supporting research, family communication (e-mail), shopping, and continuing education.

The GCAP project is the result of public/private and interagency teamwork. Frank Shap, technology development officer for Economic Development, has been the program manager since its inception.

"This is really an exciting win-win program for the county," he said. "The past two years' history demonstrates the many benefits for this program, and makes its extension an easy decision."

The GCAP team has volunteers from Econmic Development, the Garrett County Board of Education, Garrett College, the GC Partnership for Children and Families/Local Management Board, Ruth Enlow Library, and GC Chamber of Commerce, as well as the local Internet service providers.

Officials with GCAP Phase II anticipate placing an additional 25-40 computers with families during the next six months. Applications for computer adoption will be available at all county public schools, the Ruth Enlow Library branches, and the Economic Development office in Oakland.

More information about the program is available online at gcap.info or by calling 301-334-1921.

Disposal Regs.

load requirement, the director noted.

"That's reasonable," said Commissioner Ernie Gregg. "That's the law." Commissioner Fred Holliday concurred.

Additionally, the landfill has required for some time that haulers separate items such as yard waste, refrigerators, freezers, shingles, and tires from regular household debris.

"But we're still getting some tires mixed in," said Mullich. He also noted that problems have occurred because of 10- to 15-foot metal pipes being mixed in with regular waste. The pipes have gone through the window of the trash compactor, damaging the equipment and nearly injuring the operator.

Andy Damon of Garrett County Solid Waste and Recycling issued the following information:

•The safety of the public, customers, and landfill personnel is of highest priority. Customers shall use all necessary care to assure safety while at the landfill. Garrett County shall not be responsible for any injury or damage.

•Vehicles arriving at the Garrett County Landfill with untarped loads or loads not adequately secured will not be permitted to dispose of their refuse.

•Vehicles with materials loaded above the sides will not be permitted to dispose of their refuse.

•Customers will be required to separate types of waste for disposal at the proper locations – such as appliances, metal, and tires – prior to arriving at the landfill. Metal items should now be delivered to local scrap recyclers and not the landfill.

For more information, persons may call the Solid Waste and Recycling Division at 301-387-0322.

A Tribute to Charlie Grubb

Feb. 25, 1938 – Oct. 18, 2004

Every life has a purpose from the beginning to the end.
For Charlie Grubb I believe it was being a great friend.
He knew how to comfort and he would genuinely care.
I can still hear his laughter from a joke he would share.
He was never concerned about the state he was in.
Instead he would ask about that of his friends.
Through my life and yours too,
we all felt his embrace.
We knew any visit would put a smile on his face.
In fact, I've lost count of the lives this man touched.
Everywhere that I go people say they'll miss him so much.
He was a great classmate,
He was proud of his friends.
And when they needed anything, on Charlie they could depend.
As a coach he cared deeply for each kid on his team.
He'd cheer them on and inspire them to believe in their dreams.
I remember so clearly how he'd remember each of their names.

He'd talk about when he coached them and he'd remember every game.
Many of us remember how well he could dance.
He would spin you around if you would give him a chance.
And when he no longer could,
he took up the guitar.
He could carry a note but would say, "Not very far!".
At Browning's and Beachy's,
he was dependable and kind.
Of course, where there were people,
Charlie Grubb would always shine.
I was one of the lucky children that
Charlie would call his own.
He was always just like family,
our house was his second home.
For this I am grateful, through the years we had a lot of fun.
After all, we had a Godfather, a Santa and a true friend wrapped up in one.

Everyone here today and all around this town who knew
Charlie Grubb is feeling pretty down.
Yet, if he were here,
he wouldn't want a tear shed.
He'd want a party with old music and fried chicken instead.
Everyone of us has a story or memories that we'll hold dear.
Of this wonderful life that is no longer here.
When God called Charlie home
it was a sad day on earth.
But they say to rejoice at a funeral and cry at a birth.
I believe this is true and we should celebrate today.
The great friend we had in Charlie and the difference his life made.

Garrett County Celebrates "Lights On After-School"

All across the country, people held "Lights On After-school" events on Oct. 14, as an effort of children, parents, community and after-school supporters to join together to call attention to the importance of after-school programs. In Garrett County, the "Lights On" theme was celebrated with a flashlight nature hike held at the 4-H Camp near Bittinger.

This was just one of many activities the young people from Friendsville Elementary School after-school program experienced during their overnight camping visit. In addition to the night-time hike, the participants participated in a campfire, worked as a team to make their way through the challenge course, and made take-home nature craft projects.

"4-H specializes in real-life or hands-on learning activities for young people. We are pleased to be able to bring some of these fun activities to support the after-school programs," said Ann Sherrard, 4-H Youth Development educator.

The after-school activities provided by the 4-H staff receive funding from the J.C. Penney 4-H After-school Project and the United States Department of Agriculture.

"The children had a great time at the camp. They are looking forward to a return trip in the spring and asked if they could stay longer next time," said Tammy Humberson, Friendsville after-school coordinator.

The 4-H After-school Project is a partnership with the countywide 21st Century Community Learning Centers Grant coordinated by the Partnership for Children & Families and the Garrett County Board of Education.

AFTER-SCHOOL PARTICIPANTS FROM FRIENDSVILLE Elementary School experienced an after-dark nature hike led by Zach Fowler, VISTA member at the Garrett County 4-H Camp. Each after-school participant used a flashlight to spot interesting flora and fauna along the way. A highlight of the hike was an opportunity to turn off all the lights and listen to owl calls in the darkness. See story.

GC Names Career Services, Global Ed. Coordinator

Judy A. Carbone, a certified life coach, has accepted the position of coordinator of career services and global education at Garrett College. Her responsibilities will include helping students make career choices and plan their academic programs plus serving as liaison and mentor to international students.

Throughout her career, Carbone has coached individuals and groups seeking to make changes in their careers and lifestyles. She has worked on the career services staff of three universities.

At George Mason University in Fairfax, Va., she served as career consultant to technical students and conducted workshops and seminars on employment skills, networking, and interviewing strategies. She also served as liaison to the International Student Services Office, where she acquired expertise in U.S. foreign student employment regulations and enhanced her sensitivity to cultural diversity.

At the University of Maryland, where she was a program director with the Career Center, Carbone administered the cooperative education program and participated in individual career counseling sessions, job fair coordination, student and parent orientation, and program marketing.

For six years she directed the cooperative education and placement program at Maryville University in St. Louis, where she was also an adjunct instructor of learning strategies courses for adults.

In 1998, Carbone became affiliated with Working From the Heart, where she managed curriculum development, marketing, and service delivery for a diverse clientele of individuals seeking to make significant career and life changes. For the past several years she has been self-employed, providing individual and group coaching, including facilitating coaching skills classes for foreign service nationals employed as supervisors with U.S. embassies in Europe.

Carbone is active in community organizations, serving as president of the Garrett County chapter of the AAUW, newsletter editor of BPW, and member of the board of directors of the House of Hope. She and her husband Ken live at Deep Creek Lake.

4-H Club News

RED HOUSE
by Brittany Green

The meeting was called to order by Stephanie Brenneman. Catlin Jones read secretary's report, and Nathan Sines read the treasurer's report.

The club will host a buckwheat cake and sausage dinner from 4 to 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 30, at the Pleasant Valley Community Center. The cost is $5 for adults, $3 for ages 4-12, and free for children under 3.

The beef tickets must be returned to Tina and Lisa at the November meeting. Beef weigh-in is scheduled at the fairgrounds on the Saturdays of Nov. 6 and 13.

The club will be sending a "care package" to Chuck Graham's military unit in Iraq, and members are asked to bring their donated items to the November meeting.

The Fitzwater family attended a show in Harrisburg, Pa. A livestock meeting and picnic were held at the Maryland 4-H Center on Oct. 9, and the club had good attendance.

Rick Rush will be our next president.

Levi Green, Jacob Stahl, and Ryan Miller presented October demonstrations.

BITTINGER
by Darryl Glotfelty

During October the Bittinger 4-H Club was busy with activity. In addition to the regular meeting the club participated in two other activities. There was a special owl presentation by Kevin Dodge. Dodge gave a comedic and informative presentation of owls near to the area. Throughout the course of the program he gave very good interpretations of different owl calls as he spoke about them.

In addition, the club was invited out to the owl nesting side located on Orendorf Road. The club was lucky to see that a saw-whet owl had been caught. Kevin gave a demonstration on how to hold the owl and allowed members to handle it. Members in attendance included Emma and Scott Bass; Darryl, Elliot, and Blakely Glotfelty; and Caity and Mere Sussman. Adults in attendance included Marci and Rodney Glotfelty. The club would like to give Kevin Dodge special thanks for his great presentation.

Also the club participated in the Adopt-A-Highway program. This was done on Thursday, Oct. 14. This was the second time this year that the club picked up trash along the two mile stretch of Rt. 495. Members in attendance included Matthew and Scott Bass; Darryl, Elliot and Blakely Glotfelty; and Caity and Mere Sussman. The club leader, Marci Glotfelty, was also in attendance.

We all sent get well wishes to our advisor, Don Sealing, who was in the hospital last week.

Haunted House Set At Garrett For House Of Hope

A House of Hope benefit at Garrett College will take a decidedly ghoulish turn when the Halloween Haunted House opens for tours from 7 to 9 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 28.

The Haunted House, which is open to the public, has no admission charge, but "guests" are asked to bring canned goods for the House of Hope. Treats will be given to children after a guided tour led by members of the Student Government Association, sponsor of the event.

Cumberland Man Slated To Ride Bike To Annapolis

Robert Sinclair, 62, will depart from the Oakland Sheetz store on Sunday, Oct. 24, at 8:30 a.m. to start his bike ride to Annapolis to focus attention on some of the community support systems that he credits for supporting his recovery from a lifetime of chronic illness.

He said his goal to let people to know that is possible to recover from a lifetime of chronic physical and mental illness. Sinclair, who at times lived in a state of homelessness and destitution, is now a Cumberland small-business owner who serves as a consultant to a local mental health rehabilitation program and is a respected community member.

Sinclair said he isn't out to change the world, but he does have several messages for people who may feel there are no solutions or resources available that can be of real help:

•It is possible to recover from severe mental illness as well as debilitating heart disease. In 1999, he was 100 pounds overweight and had coronary artery blockages. Less than three years later, Sinclair, by implementing a holistic healing regimen of diet, exercise, meditation, and prayer, began his path to recovery. Less than three years later, he rode his bike from Maryland to North Carolina.

•Mental health is frequently tied to physical health. After two decades of having a wide variety of debilitating psychiatric illnesses, he is now helping others in their path to recovery as well as being a successful contributing member of the community.

•There are community support systems – frequently free – that can be of help to people with disabilities. These include the Division of Rehabilitation Services, Archway Station Inc., Allegany College of Maryland, Finan Center, Allegany County Mental Health Center, various churches, and other organizations.

Sinclair said he believes that healing and recovery are "not just possible, but probable."

He plans to arrive in Annapolis on Thursday, Oct. 28.

Adorable Adoptables

BUDDY, pictured above left, is a 1-year-old neutered male black Lab-chow mix, who is up to date on shots and wags his tail when he sees people. He was given up by his owner and is waiting to be adopted from the Garrett County Animal Shelter. He has been at the shelter for two weeks and desperately needs a new home. The male tabby, above right, was brought in as a stray. He and numerous kittens at the shelter are also looking for homes. Below are a female black Lab mix, left, and a female chocolate Lab mix, both picked up as strays. "If these two dogs had tags and licenses," noted a Humane Society spokesperson, "their owners could have been contacted." Last week's featured longhair male orange tabby and the grey/peach female calico are still available for adoption. "Please begin to prepare your pets' outside homes for the winter," said the spokesperson. "Make sure they have sufficient shelter from the wind, rain, and snow. Place their shelters out of the wind and provide straw for the inside, especially in the plastic-type doghouses. Rabbit cages should also have a box and roof to cover the cage and be partially covered to block the winter winds." For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-443-3553.

Several Juveniles Arrested During Oktoberfest Event

The Oakland Police Department has reported that several arrests were made during the town's Oktoberfest celebration of last Thursday, Oct. 14, but none of the incidents were directly related to the festival.

Working together with the Garrett County Sheriff's Office and the Maryland State Police, Oakland officers charged two juveniles with underage drinking; one juvenile with underage tobacco possession; one juvenile with carrying or wearing a weapon and giving a false name to police; and two juveniles with second-degree assault.

Haunted House Benefit Set By Golden Glows

The Grantsville Golden Glows drill team will sponsor a Halloween Haunted House on Friday, Oct. 29, and Saturday, Oct. 30, from 8 until 11 p.m. each evening.

A hayride will leave from the Casselman Valley Sportsman's Club and travel to the haunted house and then return. The cost of the trip is $4.

The event is a fundraiser to help the team raise money for new uniforms and for travel expenses.

A daughter was born to Michael and Jennifer Diaz Droppleman, Elk Garden, W.Va., on Oct. 14 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Video Conf. On Grant Proposal Skills Slated

The Development District Association of Appalachia will present an interactive video conference titled Grant Seeking for Resource Development. The program will be held on Friday, Nov. 5, from 1 until 4 p.m. at several locations in western Maryland.

The Tri-County Council for Western Maryland, in partnership with the Technical Innovation Center in Hagerstown, will host the event at Garrett College in Oakland, Allegany College in Cumberland, and at the Technical Innovation Center.

The video conference will feature David G. Bauer, president of David G. Bauer & Associates. Throughout the session, persons may call, e-mail, or fax in questions to him. Agenda items include suggestions of fundraising techniques, pro-active grant seeking, proposal writing, and other topics.

Persons interested in participating may obtain more information by contacting Wanita McLaughlin at 301-777-2158 or e-mail: wmclaughlin@tccwmd.org.

CUB SCOUTS of Pack 49 recently kicked off the year with their first official pack meeting at New Germany State Park. Over 100 people were in attendance as naturalist Eric Savage led the boys and their families on a night hike with a rope and blindfolds. Special features included owl calls and a wintergreen experiment. The pack concluded the evening with s'mores and a campfire. The next pack activity is Thursday, Oct. 21, at the Cove-Run Farms Corn Maze, beginning at 6 p.m. Pictured above are some members of the group at the night hike. Above, right, are Cub Scout leader Darrell Yoder (left) and Savage. Pictured below, from left, are members Jacob Williams, Joseph Burdock and Jordan Howard.

Red Cross Nets 22 Units During Accident Visit

A visit of the American Red Cross bloodmobile to Zion Lutheran Church in Accident on Monday yielded 22 productive units of blood. Twenty-eight persons responded to the visit, with six prospective donors having to be deferred for various reasons.

Tom Davis, Accident, was a first-time donor. Reaching the one-gallon level at the visit was Eugene Close, while Carl Lohr completed his sixth gallon.

Local volunteers serving at the drive were: Arlene George and Mildred Haenftling, greeters; JoAnn Kociolek and Lena Fratz, walkers; Carol Edmiston, Mabel Fike, Ruth Bowman, Shirley Higdon, Rachel Karsten, and Lynette Karsten, canteen; and Hobert Bowser, Jim Fratz, and Lloyd Oester, setup. Sandwiches, cookies, and juice were provided by the Zion Lutheran Ladies Aid, the sponsor of the visit.

1910 GC Census Book Available For Purchase

A compilation of the 1910 Garrett County Census was recently released by the Youghiogheny Glades Chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution. (Purchasing information appears below.)

The 1910 United States Census was the 13th census in the nation's history, and DAR member Susan Webster copied and compiled the Garrett County book from old handwritten records. The spiral bound, 233-page book is indexed, and survivors of the Civil War living at the time the 1910 census was conducted are listed on the last page of the book.

Webster also compiled the 1890 Garrett County Military Census, and the 1880 Garrett County Census, which was the first census conducted after Garrett County became a separate county.

The Yough Glades DAR chapter has also published Maryland's Garrett County Graves Volume II, a culmination of several years of work copying grave markers that picks up where the previous volume ended. Included are newly found cemeteries and the large Nethken Hill cemeteries.

To purchase a copy of the 1910 Garrett County Census book, or for additional information, persons may write to Martha Kahl, 877 Fricks Crossing Rd., Deer Park, MD 21550, or call her at 301-334-8603.

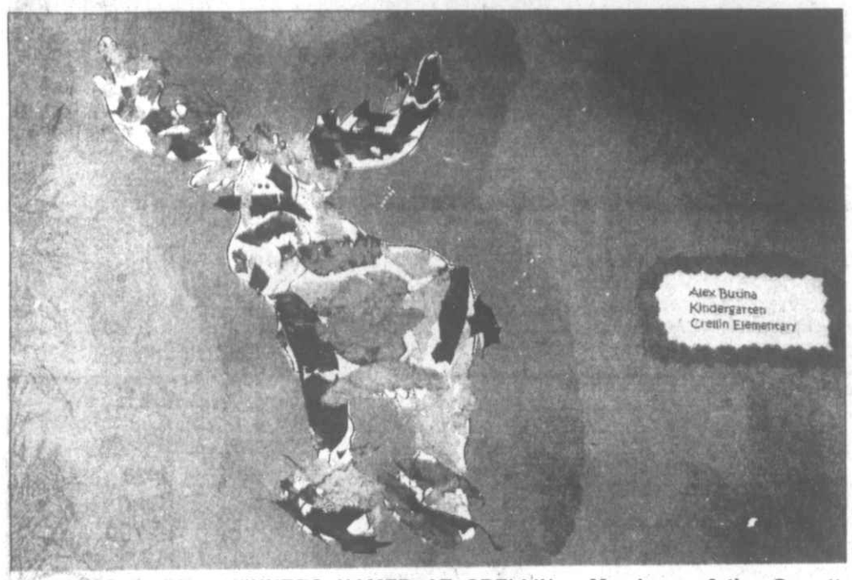
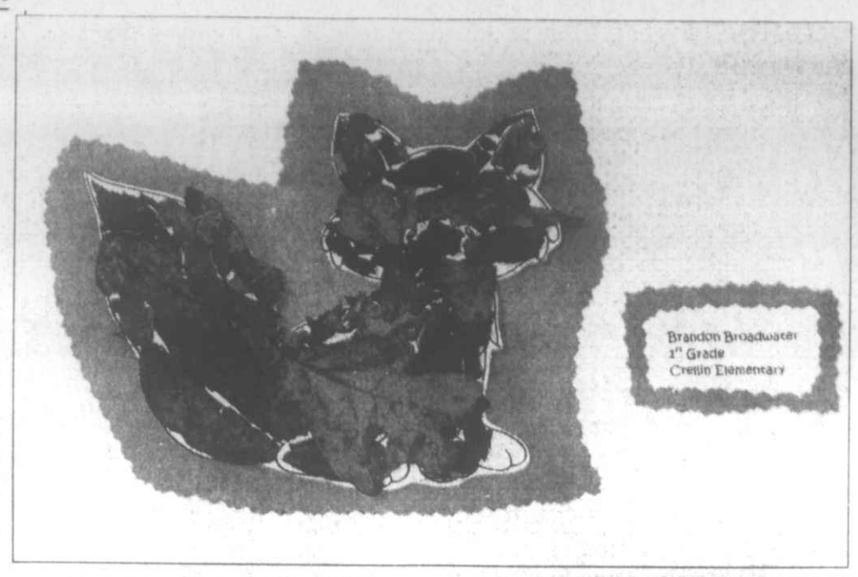
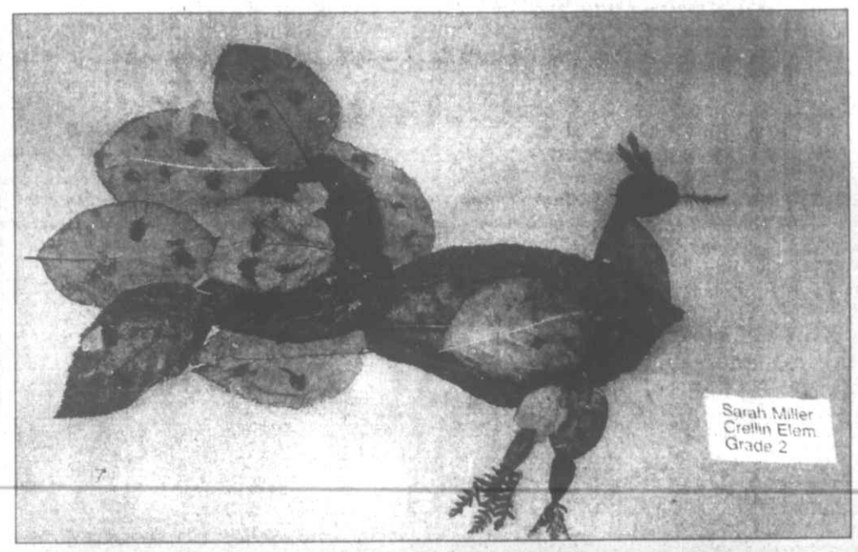
The Arts



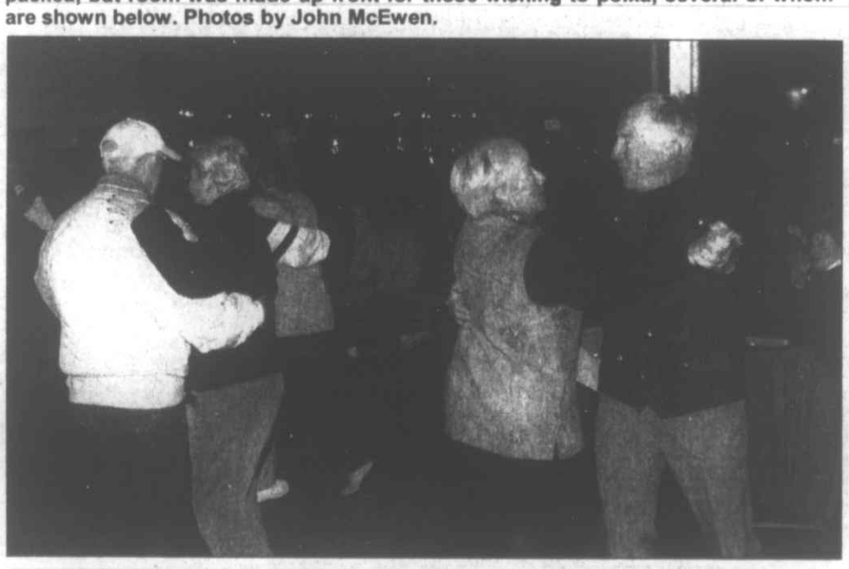




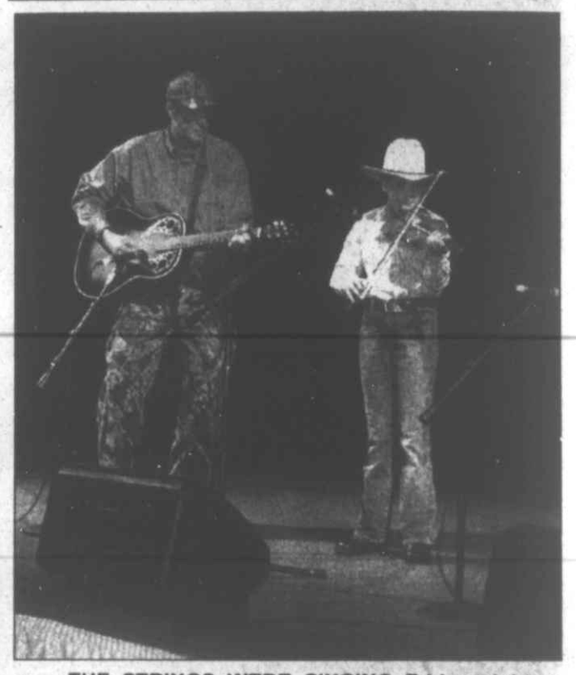
LEAF ANIMAL WINNERS NAMED AT CRELLIN – Members of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce chose a winner from each grade level that participated in the leaf project at Crellin Elementary School. The students took part in a leaf hunt and identification project with Kevin Dodge of Garrett College and then used their leaves to make the leaf animals. Students and teachers participating received a small gift from the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce for emphasizing the educational benefits of the Autumn Glory Festival. Above is a moose by Alex Butina, kindergarten. At right is a fox by Brandon Broadwater, first grade, and below is a free form peacock by Sarah Miller, second grade.

ANOTHER SCARY "GHOSTWALK" series has been prepared by Our Town Theatre in Oakland, with five spooky monologues to be performed by these five spooky actors. The stories are specifically about eerie episodes of Garrett County's past, said Jane Avery, director and writer. The monologues will be given in the theatre, which is located at 121 Center Street. The performers, pictured above, are Gail Herman (left) and Erin White, seated, and in the back, from left, are Richard Hill, Carol Peracchio, and Aaron White. The show will be given on Oct. 28, 29, and 30 at 8 p.m. Tickets are $5 on Thursday and $8 on Friday and Saturday. For reservations, persons should call the theatre at 301-334-5640 and follow the directions on the answering machine.

A GENUINE GERMAN CELEBRATION was enjoyed again this year at the 27th annual Oktoberfest, hosted by the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department at the fire hall. Manning Smith, pictured above, led the popular Oom-Pah Band in another successful concert, featuring polka music, marches, jazz, and college fight songs. Shown behind Smith are Joe Ashby, trumpet, and Don Sincell, trombone, both charter members of the band. (Larry Perez, trombone, is at left.) The place was packed, but room was made up front for those wishing to polka, several of whom are shown below. Photos by John McEwen.



FRANC FAMILY TO PERFORM – Mark, left, and Matthew Franc and their mother, Muriel Robinson Franc, will present "A Little Light Music" at St. Paul's Methodist Church, Oakland, this Sunday, Oct. 24, at 2 p.m. Muriel is the music director at St. Paul's and was active professionally for more than 30 years in the Pittsburgh, Pa., area, directing both adult and children's choirs, performing as soloist with the Mendelssohn Choir, participating in opera workshops with Claudia Pinza (daughter of Ezio Pinza), and playing the organ and piano. Mark has done musical theater in Pittsburgh, Wheeling, W.Va., and Washington, D.C. Matthew was a member of the Mendelssohn Choir and does cantoring in Pittsburgh.



THE STRINGS WERE SINGING Friday night at Southern High School, where the annual banjo and fiddlers Autumn Glory Festival contest took place, drawing a large crowd and many entrants. Pictured above are two members of the Jones family, Sara on violin and Jim backing her on guitar, of Blakeslee, Deep Creek Lake. Also pictured is Accident resident Abe Folmsbee as he shows his talent on the banjo. The results of the contest have not been released, but will be published when they are received. Most Of State Congress Passes On Free Flu Shot

by Christina Cepero
Capital News Service

WASHINGTON - Maryland voters might want to shield their babies from kissing politicians this fall — most members of the state's congressional delegation will be hitting the campaign trail without their flu shots.

At least six of the state's 10 members of Congress said they have turned down a chance for a free flu shot in light of a current national shortage of the vaccine.

The Capitol's attending physician has strongly recommended that all members of Congress get flu shots, especially if they are shaking people's hands and kissing babies on the campaign trail. The offer for quick and free flu vaccines also extends to the thousands of Capitol employees.

But most local congressmen have passed on the offer and asked their staffs to do the same, unless they fall into one of the categories of people who the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention suggest should be vaccinated.

"The congressman has not gotten a flu shot, is not planning to get a flu shot, and is not encouraging his staff to get a flu shot unless they are in the high-risk category," said Marilyn Campbell, press secretary to Rep. Chris Van Hollen, D-Kensington.

The CDC states that priority should be given to children between 6 and 23 months old, adults 65 and older, nursing home residents, individuals with underlying chronic medical conditions, women who will be pregnant during flu season, and health care workers involved in direct patient care.

Frederick Republican Rep. Roscoe Bartlett, 78, and Democratic Sen. Barbara Mikulski, 68, were needled by the Capitol physician's office into getting their shots before the news of the shortage broke Oct. 5, their staffers said Wednesday. Both are old enough to be at risk, according to the CDC.

"When they have the supply, and the members stop by, they guilt them into it," said Lisa Wright, Bartlett's press secretary.

Mikulski sent a letter to attending physician John F. Eisold on Wednesday asking that any extra Capitol flu shots be sent to local public health departments for individuals at high risk of developing serious complications from the flu.

The only other Maryland congressmen who are old enough to justify a shot, under the CDC guidelines, are Democratic Sen. Paul Sarbanes, 71, and Mechanicsville Democratic Rep. Steny Hoyer, 65. But aides said Hoyer has not received a shot and Sarbanes does not intend to get one.

Rep. C.A. "Dutch" Ruppersberger, 58, got vaccinated because his doctor advised him to, said spokeswoman Heather Moeder Molino. That is because the Cockeysville Democrat has asthma, a risk factor cited by the CDC for developing complications from the flu.

In addition to Van Hollen, other Maryland lawmakers who said they turned down shots because they do not fit risk factors include Reps. Elijah Cummings, D-Baltimore; Albert Wynn, D-Mitchellville; and Wayne Gilchrest, R-Kennedyville.

"We are hearing from a lot of our constituents who need them," said Cathy Bassett, a spokeswoman for Gilchrest. "Hopefully, they will go to the neediest people."

said.

Some may also believe that if their property assessments increase then they will be paying more ad valorem taxes.

"The tax rate is set to achieve a fixed revenue number to pay the debt service," Broadwater said. "As assessments go up, the ad valorem tax rate comes down."

"Obviously, we'll have to ponder on this for a while," said Commissioner Ernie Gregg about adopting universal ad valorem rates.

AND THE BANDS PLAYED ON – Despite rainy and cold conditions Saturday evening, the Western Maryland Tournament of Bands went off almost as planned, with just two bands dropping out because of the foul weather. A total of 17 schools stayed for the duration, competing in four categories. Representing Garrett County are the groups shown here, Northern High School above and Southern High below. Northern took first place in Group I and captured three specialty awards as well. As the host band, Southern did not compete but performed in exhibition. The complete report of scores will appear in next week's issue of The Republican. Northern is conducted on the field by Blakely Glotfelty, center, who was also the Autumn Glory princess. Allison Richter leads Southern, and is shown below. Photos by John McEwen.

establish the same parking requirements for the new sale/rental of boats category as the current marina-use category does, which is one parking space for each two boat slips, plus one space for each 600 square feet of showroom area and one space for each full-time employee.

Phil St. Moritz, owner of Bill's Marine Service, objected to adding the amendments.

"I have nothing against competition, but I think you're opening a Pandora's box," he said about the changes.

St. Moritz noted that one of the determining factors in his purchase of the business a few years ago was the potential for competition. The two-acre requirement led him to believe that he could compete in the area and could anticipate debt return and a reasonable profit, he said.

"Our purchase price was based on this analysis, and in fact, the strict control of marina development with the ordinance allowed us to pay a premium price for this business," Bob Nickel, vice president/general manager of Bill's Marine, wrote in a letter to the commissioners.

If the size requirement is reduced, St. Moritz said, people will be putting in many trailers on quarter acre lots and selling or renting boats. "I think it will hurt my employees," he said, adding that he wanted to expand Bill's Marine Service. It currently employs more than 40 people, according to St. Moritz.

"Don't change the rules on me and get competition jammed in there," he asked the commissioners.

Penelacre Lane resident John Cobb, who owns several rental properties, supported the amendments. He said with all the growth at the lake, modifications to the ordinance were needed to address the need for expanding commercial operations there, not only for tax purposes but for the residents' benefit as well. He added that he supported Bill's Marine Service, but there needed to be more services at the lake.

Carol Doctor, whose Aquatic Center is located along Deep Creek Drive, also supported Myers' proposals. Doctor said she thought the current two-acre lot requirement created a monopolistic environment.

The commissioners will hold the record open on the amendments for further public comment, and will announce their decision on Thursday, Nov. 4, during their weekly public meeting. Normally, their meetings are held on Tuesdays, but because of the general election on Nov. 2, the meeting that week has been moved to Thursday.

Huskies Trounce Rams Twice; To Host #1 Beall This Evening

A 4-1 victory over county rival Southern High School last Thursday in the Cove, and another 6-1 thumping of the Rams last night in a make-up match at Oakland upped the Northern High varsity's record to 10-2, setting the stage for a major clash this evening with Beall, the area's top-ranked team.

The match with Beall was originally slated for Monday on the Huskies' pitch, but foul weather conditions forced a postponement.

In Saturday's meeting with Southern, the Rams took a 1-0 lead about nine minutes into the first half, when James Naylor scored off an assist by Taylor Crabtree.

Southern's lead was short-lived, though, as Northern's Derek Cutter knotted the score at 1-1 about 2½ minutes later off a feed by Gonzalo Velasquez.

The Huskies took the lead for good at the 20:20 mark when Chris Speicher scored off an assist by Scott Pusateri, and they made it 3-1 just one minute later when Cutter recorded his second goal of the night, this time unassisted.

The second half was scoreless defense, with the exception of a goal scored by Velasquez off an other feed by Pusateri with just 6:26 to play.

The Huskies dominated in shots on goal by a 37-4 margin and finished with a 4-1 advantage in corner kicks.

Drew Proudfoot was kept busy in goal for the Rams, where he stopped 23 of the Huskies' attempts. Chris Fickes had three saves for Northern.

Last night's match with Southern was statistically closer than the score would indicate, as the Huskies led in shots by a 23-17 margin and in corner kicks, 4-1.

But Fickes stopped all but one (16) of the Rams' attempts, while Drew Proudfoot was credited with 17 saves for Southern.

Northern's Derek Cutter scored the first goal of the evening, which came at the 17:06 mark of the first half off an assist by Scott Pusateri.

Pusateri then fed Gonzalo Velasquez, who scored with 6:50 left in the half to give the Huskies a 2-0 advantage at intermission.

Velasquez scored again just over seven minutes into the second half, unassisted, and Mike McKewen followed with another unassisted goal at the 17:11 mark to give the Huskies a commanding 4-0 lead.

The Rams finally got on the board via an unassisted goal by Bobby Bonser with 14:54 remaining, but unassisted goals by Northern's Chris Speicher (2:35) and Zach Cupler (:01) followed.

The match was the regular-season finale for the Rams, who will take a 5-9 record into the playoffs.

Tonight's big match-up with Beall, a team that edged the Huskies in the first meeting several weeks ago, will be Northern's final regular-season match. Regional playoffs will begin next week.

TROUNCED TWICE this week by the Northern High School boys' varsity soccer team were the Southern High Rams, who fell to the Huskies last Thursday, 4-1, at the Cove and lost to them again last night in Oakland, 6-1. Last night's match was played in a downpour, the evidence of which can be seen on the lens of staff photographer John McEwen in the photo above, taken just a split second before Northern's Zach Cupler (#22) scored the final goal of the night, with just one second left on the clock. Trying to stop the attempt is Southern keeper Drew Proudfoot. At far right is Southern's Joey Simson (#7). Pictured below, from left, are Cody Brack of Southern, and Mike Rush (#8) and Randy Wilhelm (partially hidden) of Northern. The Huskies, ranked second in the area, will play a huge match this evening when they host the top-ranked Beall Mountaineers in the regular-season finale for both teams.

Northern Girls Record Tie, Win, Loss; Record Is 8-4-1

Results of soccer matches played this past week by the Northern High School girls' varsity ran the gamut, as the Huskies played to a scoreless tie with host Westmar last Thursday, recorded a 2-0 victory over Fort Hill in Cumberland on Saturday, and were then upset Tuesday by Beall, 2-0, in Frostburg.

The results left Coach Lynn Lais and his squad with a final regular-season record of 8-4-1, which they will take into next week's regional playoffs.

Northern goalkeeper Kayla Kipp earned a shutout against Westmar last Thursday, as she turned away all 11 shots by the Wildcats. But the Husky offense was also unsuccessful on all eight of its shots, as Rae Fazenbaker was credited with four stops.

Westmar finished with a 7-2 advantage in corner kicks.

Kipp earned a shutout victory on Saturday against Fort Hill, stopping six of the Sentinels' attempts, while teammate Brittany Milbourne put two unassisted goals on the board.

Milbourne's first score came at the 24:17 mark of the first half, giving the Huskies a 1-0 lead. She scored her second with 27:54 remaining in the match.

Sentinel keeper Rebecca Zajdel was credited with seven saves.

The Huskies finished with a 16-12 advantage in shots, and Fort Hill had a 3-0 lead in corner kicks.

The loss dropped Fort Hill to 6-6-1 overall.

Tuesday's match was in some ways a repeat of Northern's win over Fort Hill, as one player was responsible for scoring the only two goals of the night, both unassisted, one in each half of action; however, they were scored not by a Husky, but by Beall's Tasha Wilhelm.

Wilhelm's first goal came with 9:09 remaining in the first half to give the Mountaineers a 1-0 lead at intermission.

She doubled the score with a successful penalty kick at the 36:48 mark of the second half.

The shots on goal were almost even, with Beall holding a 10-9 edge. The Mountaineers also finished with a 3-0 lead in corner kicks.

Kipp had eight stops for the Huskies, while Katy Holcomb was credited with three saves.

The win evened Beall's record at 5-5-1.

The junior varsity match ended in a scoreless tie.

SHS Girls Upset Fort Hill, Then Tie Top-Ranked Alco

An upset, Western Maryland Interscholastic League win over visiting Fort Hill on Monday and a WMIL tie with heavily favored and top-ranked Allegany last night in Cumberland, concluded the regular season on a high note for the Southern High School girls' soccer team.

The Rams will take an overall record of 5-6-2 and a WMIL mark of 2-7-1 into the regional playoffs next week.

Freshman Lauren Neville, who was moved from the SHS jayvee team up to varsity, scored both goals in Monday's 2-0 victory over Fort Hill, the area's #4 ranked team, and was the only scorer in last night's tie with #1-ranked Allegany.

After a scoreless first half, and nearly 50% of the second half without a goal, Neville took a feed from Corey Lewis and put the ball into the net at the 20:32 mark to give the Rams a 1-0 lead.

She tacked on an unassisted insurance goal with 9:19 remaining.

The Rams also dominated in shots on goal, 26-9, and earning the shutout in goal was Jessica Petrella, who was credited with stopping all nine of the Sentinels' attempts. It was Petrella's fourth shutout of the season.

Rebecca Zajdel had nine saves for Fort Hill, which concluded the regular season with a 6-7-1 mark.

The Southern jayvee team was also victorious in the preliminary match, rolling over the Fort Hill junior varsity, 4-1, behind two goals apiece by Sarah Beckman and Julie Swerbinsky.

The Rams took a 1-0 lead midway through the first half last night against Allegany at Greenway Avenue Stadium, but the Campers tied it at 1-1 with a goal nine minutes later, and that's how the match ended after two 10-minute overtime periods generated no more goals.

Lauren Neville again accounted for the Rams' goal, an unassisted effort with about 19:00 remaining in the first half.

Allegany's Megan Langan got a ball past Southern's Jessica Petrella with 10 minutes left to ultimately send the contest into extra periods.

Runnin' Rams Place Third In Western Maryland League Meet

The girls' and boys' cross country teams of Southern High School both placed second in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League championships, held last Thursday at Frostburg State University.

The Southern girls finished with 33 team points, second only to Fort Hill with 22, while the Southern boys were a somewhat distant second place with 62 points. Beall's boys, who captured five of the top six spots, earned the team title with 16 points, just one shy of the best possible score of 15.

Leading the Southern girls was Sarah Cosner, who finished fourth overall with a time of 24:04. She and teammate Melinda Smith were both named to the All-WMIL team, as Smith placed ninth with a time of 22:58. The top 10 finishers receive All-WMIL honors.

Just missing the top 10 was Southern's Elizabeth Thayer, who finished 11th (26:12). Emily Bowman was 13th (27:23), and Krista Hanline was 15th (28:07).

The winner of the girls' race was Lauren MacFawn of Allegany, who recorded a time of 20:50, easily outpacing Westmar's Jennifer Patton, who finished second in 21:28. Patton's teammate Tiffany Blubaugh placed third in 23:11.

Allegany and Westmar placed third and fourth, respectively, but both had incomplete scores for not having enough runners.

Pacing the Southern boys was Caiden Shaffer, who also made the All-WMIL team with a ninth place finish in 19:11. Teammates Derek Upperman, Andrew Goad, and Michael McConnell finished 13th, 14th, and 15th, respectively, with times of 19:53, 20:05, and 20:06.

Dan DeWitt of Beall won the race with a time of 17:14, and was followed by three of his teammates in second through fourth places, Scott Bonnette, J.T. Carney, and Chris Morgan.

As a team, the Allegany boys finished third with 72 points, and Fort Hill was fourth with 77.

The Runnin' Rams, who are coached by Jamie Beeman (boys) and Steve Cosner (girls), have completed their regular season. Their next competition will be the 1A West regional championships, which will be held Friday, Oct. 29.

Disappointing Effort By Rams Results In Loss To Petersburg

In what is possibly their most disappointing effort of the season, the Southern High School varsity football team fell to visiting Petersburg, 18-6, Friday night, dropping the Rams to 2-5 overall.

Weather conditions for the contest were cold, wet, and windy, but the Vikings, who also came into the game with a modest 2-4 record, seemed to want the win more than the Rams did.

"We were very upset with our team's effort and execution," stated head coach Fred Gregg, "and that's not meant to take anything away from Petersburg. They came to play, and we didn't."

Viking running back Clifton Alt proved to be the biggest problem for the Rams, as he paid no attention to the wet turf and proceeded to rack up 150 yards on 28 carries, scoring a pair of touchdowns along the way.

His first came at the 8:47 mark of the first quarter, when he capped a Petersburg drive with a 20-yard touchdown run. The run for the pair of conversion points was stopped short, leaving the Vikes with a 6-0 advantage.

That lead would last until the final minute of the third quarter, when Southern's Andrew VanBogelen scored on a two-yard carry. The run for the conversion was also unsuccessful, making the score tied at 6-6 going into the final period.

Casey Vance, who contributed 55 yards on 14 carries, scored what would be the winning touchdown for the Vikings when he cracked the Ram defensive line and raced 24 yards to the end zone. Again the conversion run was no good, leaving the visitors with a 12-6 lead.

The Vikings added an insurance touchdown with 1:17 to play when Alt carried the ball to pay dirt from 11 yards out. An attempted conversion kick was no good.

Turnovers proved extremely costly for the Rams, as they gave the ball up twice via interceptions and once with a fumble. The Vikings gave the ball away just one time, by interception.

VanBogelen, who missed almost the entire week of practice because of injury, was the leading ground gainer for the Rams, as he recorded 69 yards on 19 carries.

"We had played with such intensity and emotion in three of our four previous games, we thought we had turned the corner in that area," Gregg said. "But for whatever reason our kids let up, and we couldn't convince them that Petersburg had come to play, and they came to win. It's a very hard lesson, but hopefully our players have learned it.

"Our team is pretty young, and peaks and valleys are pretty characteristic of a young team," he said. "Our best games this year have been against our toughest opponents, but even in those we came up a few points shy of a win. It's very frustrating."

The frustration could easily continue this week for Coach Gregg and the Rams, as they must travel to play a strong, 5-3 Frankfort team, a team that is stinging from being upset last Friday night by Berkeley Springs (39-37).

"I'm sure that they (the Falcons) are having a week of practice very similar to ours, as they also got a real wake-up call Friday night," Gregg said.

The Falcons' wing-T offense is powered by a talented senior quarterback in Corey Dolly (6-0, 160) and three excellent running backs in junior halfback Travis Moreland (6-0, 190), and senior co-fullbacks Andre Lopez (5-10, 220) and Nathan Metz (5-9, 170).

"Dolly can throw the ball, and he's probably the best running quarterback we will see this year," Gregg said. "He does a great job running the sweep out of their wing-T.

"Moreland runs very hard and has excellent speed, Lopez is a bruising fullback, and Metz also runs and blocks well."

Among the top linemen for the Falcons is senior Robbie Ackerman (6-0, 180). "He's fast and very athletic," Gregg noted.

The 6-2 and 5-3 Frankfort defensive units are anchored by Lopez and senior Marcus Haines (6-3, 260) at linebacker positions, making them two of the biggest linebackers faced this year by the Rams.

"We will do everything we can to run away from them," Gregg said. "Because of their size they don't have tremendous speed, but believe me, they can and do hit when they get in front of the ball carrier.

"Once again, we are really out-matched in size," he continued. "There is no one on their offensive line who is less than 220 pounds. That's been our nemesis all year. So once again, we are going to have to be technically and fundamentally sound to overcome the size difference, obviously far more sound than we were last week if we hope to have a shot at winning the game."

Friday's kickoff at Frankfort is scheduled for 7 p.m.

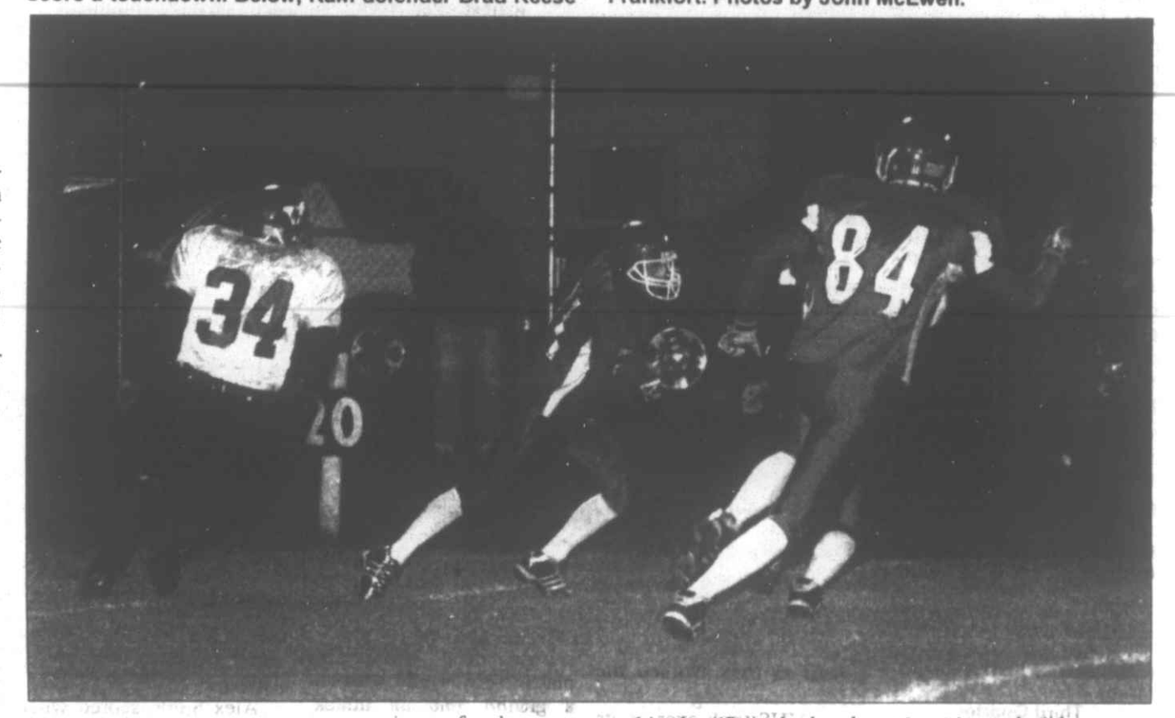
SPARKING LOUD CHEERS by Southern High Ram fans were these two moments caught on film (disk) by staff photographer John McEwen during Friday night's game between the Rams and visiting Petersburg. Above, with the goal line in sight, Southern running back Andrew VanBogelen crashes his way through some Viking defenders, and ultimately did score a touchdown. Below, Ram defender Brad Reese (center) halts a Petersburg threat by picking off a pass. Ready to lead him the opposite direction is teammate Ryan DeWitt (#84). Unfortunately for those Southern fans, the times for cheers were few and far between, as the Vikings handed the Rams an 18-6 defeat, dropping them to 2-5 for the season. They will try to get back into the win column this Friday evening at Frankfort. Photos by John McEwen.



Ram Jayvees Tame Raiders For Sixth Win

The junior varsity football team of Southern High School remained undefeated Monday night, as the Rams rolled over host Meyersdale, 38-15, in monsoon-like conditions on the Red Raiders' field.

Despite the downpour of rain and wet, muddy field, the Rams amassed 316 yards rushing and had but one fumble, which occurred with about two minutes to play and was recovered by the Rams.

Justin Ratliff paced the Southern offense by recording 164 yards and three touchdowns on 23 carries, an average of over seven yards per attempt.

Ratliff's first score came on an 11-yard run in the first quarter, and John Knox ran successfully for the extra two points.

Later in the same period, Ratliff capped a drive with a six-yard touchdown run, and Adam VanBogelen picked up the two-point conversion to give the Rams a 16-0 advantage.

Ratliff made it 22-0 in the second quarter with a seven-yard touchdown carry. The conversion run was stopped short.

The Red Raiders got on the board just before intermission via a 24-yard touchdown pass and a successful pass for the extra two points.

A 34-yard touchdown run by VanBogelen in the third stanza, followed by a two-point conversion carry by Dean Hoffman, put the Rams on top 30-8.

Southern's Tommie Reams carried the ball 14 yards for a touchdown in the fourth period, and Hoffman again ran for the extra two points to conclude the Rams' scoring.

Meyersdale tacked on a touchdown late in the game on a three-yard run and then kicked the extra point.

The Rams, under head coach Jim Bosley, are now 6-0-1 for the season and will play a big game Monday at Frankfort. The Falcons are also unbeaten at 6-0-2. The kickoff is set for 7 p.m.

Lander Ties Elizabethtown Singles Record

Heather Lander, a 2003 graduate of Northern High School and a student athlete at Elizabethtown (Pa.) College, tied the college record this past weekend by finishing the season with 18 singles victories in women's tennis.

Lander, a 5-7 sophomore, tied the mark Sunday when she won the #5 singles title in the Middle Atlantic Conference's Individual Singles and Doubles Championships, hosted by Drew University in Madison, N.J. The event pits individuals and doubles teams from all of the schools of the Freedom and Commonwealth conferences against each other.

Lander, who was the #1 seed in the #5 singles bracket, was awarded a bye in the first round. She then defeated Sadie Sumner of Messiah College in a close match, 6-7 (2-7), 6-2, (10-5), to advance to the semifinals. There she faced Cassie Malone of Wilkes College, whom she blanked 6-0, 6-0, sending her to the championship round.

Lander topped the #2 seed, Fiona Burns of Drew University, 7-5, 6-4, to gain not only the singles title in that bracket, but also her 18th singles win to tie the Elizabethtown mark.

Mel Parenteau, Lisa Abel, and Kristy Trimbey, all teammates of Lander, were runners-up in singles #3, #4, and #6, respectively, while the Elizabethtown doubles team of Stacy Shapiro and Trimbey won the #1 doubles flight title.

The Elizabethtown Blue Jays concluded their regular season last week by winning the 2004 Commonwealth Conference team championship.

Lander, who was a multiple-sport athlete at Northern High School, is the daughter of Joyce and George Lander, Accident.

Huskies' Playoff Drive Stalls As Mounties Take 14-8 Win

The Achilles heel of the Northern High School football team struck again Friday night as a Husky fumble, which killed a long fourth-quarter drive, helped visiting Beall walk off with a 14-8 victory. While NHS's playoff hopes remain alive, the Huskies' two losses so far, to the Mounties and Allegany, have tossed a monkey wrench into their hopes of gaining a home field advantage.

"It was the kind of game we expected, a real battle along both offensive and defensive lines," Northern skipper Phil Carr commented. "We just didn't execute as well as we wanted to, therefore Beall was able to control the ball and the clock. We only had the ball for 17 offensive plays over the course of the entire second half, but even still we had a good shot at winning until that last fumble."

Northern got off to a good start in the contest when linebacker Corey Yoder recovered a Beall fumble in the first quarter. The Huskies went on to mount a 42-yard scoring march, capped by Tyler Warn's 16-yard touchdown run with 3:55 remaining in the stanza. Michael Wolf carried for the successful two-point conversion.

Northern's first case of "fumble-itis" struck in the second quarter, when the Huskies lost the ball on an option play. The Mounties turned the miscue into a touchdown with just under five minutes to go to the half, when Jimmie Kline plunged into the end zone from one yard out. The Huskies' defense stuffed Beall's two-point conversion attempt, and NHS carried an 8-6 lead into the intermission.

The second half opened with Northern kicking off to the Mounties, and the guests marched off on a grinding, 14-play touchdown drive that ended with Pat Winebrenner's three-yard scoring carry. Kline rushed for the extra point to put Beall up for good, 14-8, with 5:30 remaining in the third quarter.

Northern took its best shot at claiming the battle in the fourth quarter. Taking over on its own 10-yard line with little more than five minutes left in the contest, NHS got a nine-yard run from Warn followed by a short Wolf carry that gave the Huskies a first down at the 25 and some much-needed breathing room. On the next play, quarterback Robert Stark found Wolf open in the flat, and Wolf gathered in the pass and raced 25 yards up the Beall sideline to put the ball at midfield with just over four minutes left to go.

On the very next play, Warn took a handoff and broke through the Mountaineer line, scooting well into the secondary on his way to a good gain; however, the Beall safety came up from behind on an angle that allowed him to pull the pigskin free from the ball carrier's grasp, and the Mounties recovered at the 25-yard line.

Beall managed two first downs as they worked the clock before being forced to punt. NHS took over on its own 15-yard line, left with one shot at the end zone 85 yards downfield. The Huskies' prayers for a miracle went unanswered, however, when a "Hail Mary" pass was picked off as the clock ran out.

Wolf led all ground-gainers with 97 yards on 15 carries, putting his area-leading tally for the season at 1,033 yards. Warn carried 11 times for 78 yards.

Beall's Kline paced the victors with 95 yards on 22 carries, and Josh Harper added 70 yards.

The two offenses were fairly evenly matched in the wet and windy conditions, as Beall tallied 236 yards of total offense to NHS's 207-yard output.

The Husky "gravedigger" defense was led by Wolf's 17 tackles from his strong safety position, while lineman Trevor Butler had 16 tackles. Yoder recovered two Mountaineer fumbles.

"It was tough playing without three of our starters, as Ben Wagner, Eric Johnson, and Corey Carr each had ankle sprains," Coach Carr said. "We hope to have them all back this week against Pendleton County."

Tomorrow night's contest against Pendleton, a Single-A West Virginia school, marks the first meeting of the two teams. The contest will likely be a battle pitting Husky speed against Wildcat brawn, as the guests pack an offensive line that averages 280 pounds, and the roster boasts four players who exceed 300 pounds each.

"Pendleton has a very decent team, and they can beat anybody," said Carr. "They play a tough schedule, and have to deal with some major powers like Moorefield and Stonewall Jackson (Va.)." The Wildcats' last outing ended in a 37-0 loss to Stonewall Jackson, long a power in Virginia's Shenandoah Valley.

The Huskies will be facing up against a Wildcat offense that likes to run a shotgun and divides its plays fairly evenly between a ground and air attack. Junior quarterback Thomas Ruddle (6-2, 175) is noted for an accurate arm and good scrambling ability, while the running game is anchored by a powerful senior fullback, Jon Harper (6-0, 200), who is known to run over defenders. Senior halfback J.T. Pope (5-10, 185) is noted for his pass-catching ability. The Wildcats' mammoth offensive line features a pair of big blockers who line up side-by-side, senior tackle Doug Jackson (6-2, 280) and senior guard Corey Teter (6-0, 262).

Pendleton fields a defense that relies on 5-3 and 4-4 schemes. Senior middle linebacker Jared Moore (5-8, 185) is a speedy, aggressive hard hitter, much in the Husky mold, while senior defensive tackle Joey Ours (5-10, 320) has a good bit of weight to throw at opposition blockers.

"It's the same story for us," stated Carr. "Even though they are bigger, we're faster, and the game will go to the team that executes well and doesn't turn the ball over."

Kickoff for the contest, which is Northern's 2004 Homecoming date, is slated for 7 p.m. in the Cove.

Steelers Iron Out Mounties In Post-Season

The Division I Northern Steelers came out swinging in the Cumberland Area Youth Football League (CAYFL) playoffs Sunday, and the Division I squad hammered the visiting Four Star Mounties in a 44-0 shutout win, while the Division II Steelers went two better in romping to a 46-0 shutout.

In the Division I contest, Northern's Randy Wiley got the ball rolling by scampering 30 yards for a game-opening touchdown carry. The Steelers added two more touchdowns before the first quarter ended, as Ryan Evans plunged into the end zone from two yards out before Zach Fratz reeled off a 35-yard scoring carry.

Northern put its fourth touchdown on the board in the second quarter when Nick Graham hit Kyle Gillum for a 33-yard strike. The TD reception gave the home team a 30-0 halftime lead.

Wiley hit pay dirt again as the second half got under way when he rumbled 41 yards for a touchdown. Northern teammate Nathan Payne finished off the scoring when he exploded for a 50-yard TD run in the fourth quarter.

Wiley finished with a game-high 104 yards rushing, while Jared Rodeheaver and Brian Bergheim cemented the Steelers' defense.

Northern's Division II unit demolished its Four Star counterpart behind a combined five-touchdown rushing tally by Teddy Linton and Josh Duckworth. The pair both reeled off 20-yard TD carries in the first quarter, then Duckworth scampered 31 yards for a second quarter touchdown and Linton added a 29-yard scoring carry. Duckworth marked the third quarter with another TD from 21 yards out.

Alex Smith scored when he recovered a fumble in the end zone. The last touchdown came courtesy of Dylan Day's 16-yarder.

Duckworth finished with 97 yards and Linton had 71. Mark Miller, Dylan Miller, and Chris Funk were cited for fine defensive play.

Northern will play at Keyser in the CAYFL semi-finals this weekend.

WISP GOLF TOURNEY BENEFITS LEUKEMIA CHARITY – The first Mason Dixon Golf Classic was played at the Wisp Resort recently to benefit the Vicki Via Dotson Foundation for Leukemia. Over 50 golfers from seven states took to the Wisp Resort links to help the Dotson Foundation meet its annual goals of donating $25,000 to the Greenbaum Research Facility for Leukemia and generating $10,000 in local allocation funds. The winners of the four-person scrambler, pictured flanking Frostburg resident Al Via, father of the late Vicki Via Dotson and founder of the foundation that bears her name, are, from the left, Betty Whiteley of Still Pond, Veri Perkins of Frostburg, Jack Parker of Florida, and Doug Whiteley, also of Still Pond. The charity event was sponsored by Long & Foster Real Estate, Golf Card International, and the Western Maryland Grasshoppers Club, and received additional support from Patriot Chrysler–Jeep, the Anchor Mart, Prosperity Mortgage, Debbie Beitzel of Long & Foster, Deep Creek Marina, and Accident Garage. To date, the Vicki Via Dotson Foundation has raised over $800,000 for leukemia research.

Maddawgs Hand Keyser First Defeat

Northern hosted Keyser in Pee Wee Football League action Saturday, and the Maddawgs handed the Mini-Tornados their first loss of the year by a 25-19 margin. The win closed out Northern's regular season, and the Maddawgs enter the playoffs perched at the top of the league's standings.

The Maddawgs' win was a come-from-behind effort, as the hosts were down 19-12 at the half. The tide turned in the second half as Northern's defense stifled Keyser while the Maddawg offense rolled up 13 unanswered points. A key to the hosts' comeback was superb blocking by the offensive line and hard running by backs Seth Layton, Robert Hill, Chris Murdock, Cameron Kamp, Cody Rodeheaver, and Alex Baker.

The biggest run of the day came midway through the final quarter, when Baker reeled off a game-winning 31-yard touchdown carry.

Kamp finished with 10 carries for 70 yards, and Baker added 114 yards on 11 carries. The Maddawg running attack was sparked by offensive linemen Guy Vignoli, Kenneth Friend, Alex Ruff, Jacob Bosley, Derek Yoder, Matt Thomas and Josh Bittinger.

Northern A team defensive standouts were Matt Thomas, Austin Tombley, Jason Opel, Guy Vignoli, and Zack Meyers, while Tristen Devaulk, Charles Hanek, Seth Layton, Tyler Ireland, Chris Murdock, and Robert Hill turned in fine performances for the B team defensive unit.

The Maddawgs' C squad turned in a hard-hitting game, but after Northern's Aaron Rodeheaver scored the first touchdown of the contest the 'Dawgs bogged down in the muddy field conditions. Northern's defense, paced by Trevon Jones, Aaron Rodeheaver, Justin Durato, and Meshach Metz, played hard, but the Maddawgs eventually fell to their Keyser counterparts by an unreported score.

Northern opens in the first round of the Pee Wee playoffs this weekend. The A & B teams are slated to host the Frostburg Cougars in a 10 p.m. battle set for this Saturday at Northern High School.

The C team begins its post season safari on the road against the LaVale Lions in a 12:30 p.m. battle Sunday at Cumberland's Donahue Field.
